AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one, but many nations, have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Family alcohol has rid in their closet for the readyand prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt-Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Direct Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

"Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it, 'I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes.'"

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to fall prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus branded, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; bald hair regrows with lively vigorous growth; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and speedy. It cures humors, dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—unique which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its graceful and agreeable fragrance, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Daily Chronicle.

Two Days of Murder.

[Cincinnati Times, July 6.]

The most careless and philosophical of readers can hardly glance over the columns of yesterday's and this morning's papers without a shudder at the crimes recorded there. It will be worth our while to glance over the list for a moment, remembering, by the way, that it is but the record of two days, and of only those few cases from the many whose incidents were sufficiently out of the common to justify the use of the telegraph in describing them.

The list opens with the finding of a murdered man in the Mississippi, below Quincy, on Friday morning. His throat had been cut from ear to ear with a heavy iron mining drill, which lay beside him. The instrument had also been driven clear through the head at the temples. St. Louis is the next contributor, in the shape of a man with his skull pounded into a shapeless mass by a hatchet, the object of the murderer being to obtain twenty-four dollars paid to the man on that day. In the same city, on the next day, Saturday, a drunken soldier, passing a young man on the street, managed to get into a controversy and killed him with a knife at about the fourth sentence.

Boston brings to the list a most horrible murder of a young girl in her sleeping chamber. The weapon was a carving-knife, the murderer having stabbed her nine times, five of the cuts penetrating the skull. The bed and pillows clotted with blood furnish a ghastly picture, on which the sensational reporter loves to gloat. Brooklyn comes next to the front, with a drunken laborer who finds his wife asleep on her pallet, and beats her head into a jelly with a soda-water bottle, scattering brains and blood about the room and against the walls and ceiling. In New York, from a score of ordinary murders and assaults, we select only the cases of a poor vagrant clubbed to death by a policeman, a sailor stabbed by his comrade with an ordinary pocket-knife, and an Italian murdered by his companion in misery because they differed just two cents in their private cash accounts.

Geneva, N. Y., with its usual enterprise, furnishes its quota in the shape of a farm laborer who saw fit to vary the monotony of agricultural pursuits by splitting his employer's skull with a hoe. Terre Haute contributes a prosperous German of thirty-four years who, having no one else to kill, put the muzzle of a revolver into his mouth and blew himself into the other world. Providence, Rhode Island, sends the sad case of an old couple butchered at night by a burglar. The old man raised a cry for help, and was ruthlessly murdered in his bed, while the old lady died from the shock.

In our own vicinity there has been no lack of enterprise. We have held our own very well, considering the facts of a cool breeze and the soporific effects of beer. On Saturday a man at Lancaster knocked down his aged father and brutally struck his invalid sister as she lay on her bed. The old man retaliated with his knife, laying the dutiful son open from collar-bone to abdomen. At Loveland an Irishman displayed unusual energy by stabbing a German shoemaker nine times. In Covington a couple of celebrators warmed up into a little altercation, when the knife argument was introduced with effect, the victor remarking suavely "that that was the way to get away with 'em." In the city three men attacked a policeman, with alleged intent to kill; two others carved each other with pen-knifes, while a woman attempted suicide with both poison and knife. Ripley, O., closes the list with the greatest horror of all. A young man, making love to his sweetheart in her parlor, is ordered out by the father. He forthwith shoots the stern parent, and being pursued by two brothers of the girl, kills one of them.

And these are only the leading crimes of only two days. In our efforts to avoid dwelling upon their horrors our mention may savor something of levity. There is very little of it at the most, however. The record of the past is too fresh in memory to escape the knowledge of the fact this is but an echo of former summers, only that the list of murders seems to grow larger with every return of the midsummer heat. Our laws are to thank for it;—our rules of evidence, our dilatory proceedings, new trials, bills of exception, appeals, our jury system, and our pardons. Men evilly inclined see clearly how nineteen out of twenty murderers escape justice, and the small risk of the twentieth chance is too shadowy to restrain them when passion moves to deeds of violence. It is time there was a speedy, thorough, sweeping reform, else it were better to go back to the days of the "Avenger of Blood" and the "cities of refuge" of Israel.

Base Ball.

[Baltimore Evening News.]

The Biddle Alley Rangers and the Sarah Ann Larks, two base ball organizations, the members of which are colored youths, met upon the diamond field, Madison Avenue extended, the other afternoon, and enjoyed a most extraordinary game of base ball. The members of both nines were dressed in white tights and loose fitting knit shirts. The Rangers had their muscular calves encased in blue stockings, and their heads covered with caps of rainbow colors, while their yarns sported army brogans heavily spiked.

The Larks sported white and blue stockings, white caps with variegated stars in the centre, and shoes similar to those worn by the Rangers. Fully 2,000 colored persons, many of whom were damsels, witnessed the game, and when Clarkson, of the Larks, opened the game with hot ball to left field, and made a home run, the yells of the excited Sarah Anners could be heard full a half mile distant.

By terrific batting, aided by wild throws, the Larks scored twenty-four runs before their side was declared out, and the inning was only closed at that time from the fact that the Larks had exhausted their respiratory organs by batting. The game throughout was rich in incidents. A hit to the right field at one time caused a damsel to double herself up like a jack-knife, the ball having struck her in the left side. Her gallant was extremely anxious to send the batter who caused the mishap out on a foul fly over his eyes, but contented himself with remarking, "Jim Spurgeon, you better not slosh any more dem balls dis way, for if you do I'll take your measure for a coffin."

Jim heeded the admonition, and during the remainder of the game "sloshed" the balls to another portion of the field. At one time, while a high fly ball was descending with the velocity of an ærolite, Charles Murray elevated his hands for the purpose of capturing the fly, but failed to notice that he was standing in close proximity to the edge of a sand-bank; the concussion of the ball against his hands staggered him to such an extent that he pitched down the embankment. He however held on to the ball and put his man out. Another player, while at second base was hit on the forehead by a "hot-liner," and taken from his pins as clean as though he had been kicked by a pair of mule heels. For three hours and a half did the game thus progress, and at the conclusion of the ninth inning the score stood: Rangers, 75; Larks, 163; majority for the Larks, 88.

—A certain lad of five summers made his debut in one of the public schools recently. At night his mother asked if he had learned anything that day at school. "Oh, yes," said the boy. "Well, what was it, my son?" inquired the anxious mother. "Well," said the pupil of one day, with an air of proud satisfaction, "I learned golly!"

—A wedding took place, recently, at Gouldstown, Mich., in which the parties to the transaction are aged thirteen and twelve years, named respectively Joseph Monroe and Jennie Marks. What makes the matter "more binding," the father of the groom and the mother of the bride were married about a week previous, so that the father-in-law and mother-in-law are all in the family.

Readables.

The switchman, upon whom the coroner's jury place the responsibilty for the disaster at Stony Creek, Conn., was also postmaster, station agent, express agent, baggage master, freight clerk, and occasionally did some telegraphing for the company, as in this emergency.

In Hartford, Conn., on Thursday last, a New York burglar was sentenced to three years in State prison. He broke into the Collinsville Savings Bank in the morning, stole a lot of money, was caught in a short time, tried, convicted, sentenced and lodged in prison before sundown of the day he committed the crime. Good work.

A man, two women and a boy, all residents of Philadelphia, were drowned at Atlantic City, N. J., on Friday, by the capsizing of a yacht.

Mr. Beecher, immediately after the publication of Tilton's letter, requested a committee of Plymouth Church to investigate the whole affair, and it has been going on ever since in private. The result will soon be known.

The floors of a bonded warehouse in East Boston fell into the cellar on Friday, with a lot of merchandize. A gang of workmen had just left the building, and no one was hurt.

Ninety thousand barrels of petroleum were burned in Weehawken, N. J., Friday night, by a stroke of lightning.

At University College, London, England, the first prize in jurisprudence was awarded to a young lady who two years ago, at the same college, achieved a like success in political economy. The second place in the same class was attained by another lady. Another obtained honors in political economy; and prizes were gained by three, and certificates by several, in the fine art classes. If a woman, competing with men, can obtain prizes in political economy and jurisprudence, why should she not be allowed the chance of obtaining a degree in arts or laws.

The Montreal Witness speaks of the French Canadians, who prefer this country to Canada, as "our exiled brethren," and learns that while "they think Montreal a very nice city," they prefer Fitchburg, Woonsocket and other cities like them as homes. The Witness indicates its fear that instead of being coaxed back to Canada, the "exiles," by their visit, will draw a great number of their fellow countrymen to this side of the line.

The Mock Session.

[Concord Monitor.]

Our Solons held the customary mock session, last evening. Like almost everything else in connection with this Legislature, it was a failure—unless, indeed antics that would disgrace a school boy, salacious jokes that would not discredit a bawdy house, and an almost entire absence of genuine wit divested of nastiness, are held as evidences of a successful mock session. At the opening the gallery was closely packed with spectators, many of them ladies, who were compelled not only to breathe the foul air of that locality, but to listen, perforce, to even fouler language uttered in stentorian tones by the speaker pro tem. who hesitated in the reading of nothing which the coarse and prurient imaginations of the members could invent. As soon as they could do so, all the ladies present left the scene, and the more decent of the members betook themselves to the ante-rooms and corridors for the time being. A mock-session, which is made a burlesque on the regular proceedings, producing a friendly contest of wit and humor, hitting off the foibles of members, thus relieving the serious work with a little fun, is well enough, indeed commendable; but if such an exhibition of nastiness, of puerility, and of school-boys' nonsense, as that of last evening in the Hall of Representatives, is the proper thing on such an occasion, then we say that hereafter mock sessions would be more honored in the breach than in the observance.

Family Sports in Texas.

A Corsicana correspondent of the Galveston (Texas) News writes as follows under date of June 22:

Quite a serious shooting affray occurred in this county last week, between Mr. Harrington and his brother-in-law, Mr. Boggett, two-well known and respected citizens, between whom an old family feud had existed for some time. Harrington left his home shortly after dinner and proceeded to the river to fish, leaving his rifle on the bank. He then descended the bluff to the water's edge. He carried with him a pistol, to shoot the large fish if he should catch any, the better to enable him to land them safely. He had been fishing but a short time, when he heard a noise above him, and, looking up, beheld Boggett over him with an oar upraised to strike him, and who said, "Now, Harrington, I've got you where I want you, and you can't get away. I am between you and your rifle. You've been talking about my father long enough, and I am going to kill you." Harrington immediately raised his pistol and fired, the ball taking effect in Boggett's breast, ranging upward and lodging in his left shoulder. He immediately fell into the water.

After floating around for some little time, he begged Harrington to help him out, as he had already killed him. This Harrington consented to do, and after much trouble and hard work, he succeeded in getting him to land, and upon the bank. Boggett then said, "For God's sake, run for a doctor, for I am dying." Harrington started on a run. As soon as his back was turned, Boggett reached for his rifle and exclaimed, "Hold on; you've killed me, and I can't wait for a doctor to come, and I'll be —— if you are going to get off so easy." He deliberately aimed and shot at Harrington, the ball striking him in the right side and passing nearly through. Harrington then exclaimed: "—— you, I've shot you once, and now I'll shoot you again," and fired a load of shot into Boggett's right arm. He then walked all the way up home and told his friends the whole circumstances.

Boggett was found lying on the ground where he had received the last shot. He was at once conveyed to his home, and medical aid summoned. Strange to say, both are still alive, and Harrington is in a fair way of recovery, while hopes are entertained of Boggett's recovery. Both tell the same identical tale, even to the minute. There is not much hard feeling between the two, more than that of rivals in a fisticuff match. It is altogether the coolest affair ever known to our citizens.

Some Modern Sayings.

"Honesty is the best policy," unless you can get about $50,000, and effect a settlement at fifty per cent.

Honor thy father and thy mother, particularly about circus time, when you don't know where to raise fifty cents.

Never run in debt when you can avoid it. It is much better to go stubbing around in a broadcloth coat than to be in debt for a suit of Scotch mixed.

Let your motto be, "Liberty or death," and if it comes to the pinch, take the most of it in liberty.

Remember the poor. If you know of a family who are out of provisions and fuel, keep them in your thoughts until you meet Smith or Brown, and then tell them that they'd better make a donation. If they hold off, tell them that "He who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." It is very easy to remember the poor. I can remember cases twenty years ago.

Respect old age. If you have a maiden aunt forty years old, and she is passing herself off for a girl of twenty-three, there is no call for you to expose her. The more you respect her age and keep still about it, the more she will respect you.

Never marry for wealth, but remember that it is just as easy to love a girl who has a brick house with a mansard roof and silver-plated door-bell as one who hasn't anything but an auburn head and an amiable disposition.

Love thy neighbor as thyself. Borrow his plow, hoe, or horses whenever you can, but if he wants to borrow yours tell him that you're very sorry, but you were just going to use them yourself.

Be guarded in your conversation. There are times when you may freely express your opinion of a political candidate, but you had better wait until his friends are over in the next county visiting.

Remember that appearances are often deceiving. Many a pale, thin young lady will eat more corned beef than a carpenter. Because you find her playing the piano in the parlor, it is no sign that her mother is not at the corner grocery running in debt for a peck of potatoes.

Restrain your temper, particularly if a policeman is in sight. Fits of anger hasten death. If a man should call you a horse-thief and you should get highly indignant, it would cut your life short by several days; and if it was in Texas, and there was a vigilance committee handy, it might cut it short altogether.

Rise with the lark. That is, during cold weather, as soon as the lark rises, waken your wife and tell her that it is time to build the fire. If she makes any objections, you can refer her to a dozen works on the benefit of early rising. Any man who cares a cent for his wife's health will take pride in hearing her around the house at daylight of a winter's morning, getting up a red hot stove and warming his socks and boots.

—Would-be-contributor: "I wish you would tell me something to write about." Editor: "Well! right about face."

—"Excursion tickets to participate in the festivities attending the execution of Jim Davis," are advertised at half-price in Texas.

—The Peoria woman who wanted to throw herself into her husband's grave a few months ago has just married a lightning-rod man.

—A Fort Wayne girl engaged herself to a young man "for fun," but she fainted when she found that he had procured the publication of the engagement in a newspaper.

—A Maryland farmer discovered a tree across the railroad track, and he stayed there six hours to stop the train and have the conductor punch his head for not getting an axe and clearing the track.

—An Irishman being recently on trial for some offense, pleaded "not guilty," and the jury being in the box, the District Attorney proceeded to call Mr. Furkisson as a witness. With the utmost innocence Patrick turned his face to the Judge and said, "Do I understand, yer honor, that Mr. Furkisson is to be a witness fornenst me again?" The Judge said, dryly, "It seems so." "Well, thin, yer honor, I plade guilty, sure, if yer honor plaise; not because I am guilty, for I'm as innocent as yer honor'r suckin' babe, but just on account of savin' Misther Furkisson's sowl."

It is a Crime

To exhaust still further the vitality of an already feeble invalid with sharp evacuants and other strength-destroying medicines. No case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness or periodic fever was ever cured in that way. What the debilitated sufferer needs is a remedy in which the properties of an invigorant, a stimulant, a mild aperient, a sedative, and a blood depurient are combined, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation before the world in which these essential sanitary elements are united in the proportions necessary to overcome disease without prostrating the patient. This agreeable and potent vegetable elixir is in the truest sense of the word a restorative, for it restores the strength of the body, re-establishes functional regularity, enriches the degenerated blood, and clears the clouded brain.

Sufferers with PILES should erect a monument to Dr. Silsbee for his beneficent discovery of ANAKESIS, an infallible cure for the worst cases of piles—a failure in 20,000 cases has not been recorded. It is a simple suppository, painless and easy of application, gives instant relief, acts as an instrument, soothing poultice and medicine, and can not fail to cure. Lotions, ointments and internal remedies may fail, but ANAKESIS is infallible.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker St., New York.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

Appendix.

In our hurried report, Saturday morning, of the High School exhibition, we omitted to mention the name of Miss Emma F. Magraw, who has been acting as assistant teacher since the resignation of Miss Morgan, and has so acquitted herself in her trying position as to merit the heartiest commendation. We believe Miss Magraw now retires and will seek a new field of labor. We wish her the success in her profession that she so richly deserves.

Miss Emma L. Hayes should have been credited with commendation and award for gracefulness and beauty of style of essay, instead of Miss Hazel, as the types made us say. [The types wouldn't have made us say Miss Hazel if we hadn't written it so. We make the correction regarding the names at the request of committee-man Shannon, and add this bracketed note at the imperative demand of "the devil." We scorn to add a feather's weight to the load of deserved opprobrium that demon has to bear.]

The absence of Mayor Miller was occasioned by an unintentional and unfortunate failure to notify him of the date fixed for the exhibition, so that he knew nothing about it until the evening of the day before, —too late to postpone an important meeting with other gentlemen on the 10th, in Boston, on affairs connected with county business, Mr. Miller being chairman of the Board of County Commissioners as well as Mayor of the city.

The changes introduced by the committee in the management of the High School are improvements as well; and to them (and particularly to Charles A. Shannon, Esq., who has devoted much time and attention to the affairs of the school,) is due much of the credit for the success of this exhibition, which was the most pleasing given by any school in this city for many years.

Hope It's True.

From the Omaha (Nebraska) Bee we take the following concerning a young printer who for some years worked in the CHRONICLE office:

"Robert Shorrock, a compositor in the Bee job rooms, is in big luck. He received a letter yesterday from his brother in New Hampshire, informing him that he and the writer of the letter had fallen heir to £40,000, or nearly $200,000, they being the only heirs-at-law of an English relative. The young man was considerably excited over this good news at first, as this fortune is something that he never expected. However, he intends to keep on sticking type, and let his brother, who is a business man, attend to the securing of his share of the fortune."

The worst we wish "small Bob" is that this legacy may not have to be classed with the Burnham estate and other English fortunes left to heirs in America. From what we know of him—and we know him pretty well—and his good sense and regular habits, which are well exemplified by his keeping on at sticking type notwithstanding his belief in his prospective fortune, we do not imagine he will make such a precious ass of himself as some suddenly enriched people have done, even if that $100,000 should fall into his pocket.

A New Incendiary.

We often hear or read of buildings being destroyed by fires caused by lightning, but the rain cannot often be blamed for incendiarism. The fire which occasioned the alarm at 1 o'clock, P. M., Sunday, however, was kindled by a stream of water running into the cellar of the unfinished house on the corner of Union and Middle streets. This burglarious water found in the cellar a quantity of unslacked lime and the rubbish usually collected in such a place, and slacked the lime, thereby setting the rubbish on fire and causing the alarm. The lower floor of the building was burned through, but the damage is not large. Assistant Engineer M. T. Betton, of the fire department, burned his hands badly in getting out the hot lime. Had the fire occurred in the night the building would have been destroyed, and "the incendiary" would have been credited with one more crime.

Maginley and Co.'s Circus,

Menagerie and museum, came to town on Saturday as advertised. The street show was an extensive affair, the band chariot leading off with a team of forty horses, in ten ranks, four abreast. Then came a baby elephant about the size of a small pumpshed, with ears about the size of wood-shed doors. Following this ton-weight infant came the big elephant "Empress,"—an animated hay-stack, very badly fitted with a loose and much wrinkled covering of coarse leather; the contrast in size between the huge beast and the pretty little pony on which the mahout (we believe that's what they call him) rode beside her, was amusing. The animals' "dens" were very numerous, and being strung out after the orthodox custom of street shows, extended a great distance. The exhibition was fairly attended in the afternoon and drew a good audience in the evening; and both entertainments were entirely satisfactory. The band is good, the ring performances ditto, the museum well worth inspecting and the collection of animals large and interesting. Maginley & Co.'s combination is a big thing, gives the best show of the kind we have seen for years, tolerates nothing indelicate or offensive, and fully deserves the liberal patronage it receives. It would have drawn a crowd here but for the storm.

Laconics.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Portsmouth Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held Monday evening, July 6th, it was voted that the thanks of the Board be tendered to the late Secretary, Dr. C. A. Norton, for the faithfulness and efficiency with which he discharged the duties of that office.

A boat race took place on the North Mill pond on the 9th, in which three boats were entered,—the Wild Mac, White Harry, and Dolly Varden. The first start-off was between the Wild Mac and White Harry, in which the latter was distanced. The second start was between the White Harry and Dolly Varden (a punt), the former pulled by its owner, Harry Booth, the latter by Engineer Johnson. The Dolly Varden won easily. An odd feature in these races was "scoring" at the start, the same as is done in horse trots, the contestants taking their places some distance from the point at which the race actually commenced and pulling down to it, so as to have good way on when they got the word. In each race the boats were recalled several times by the starter before the "go" was given.

William Mouer has been appointed captain of the watch at the navy yard vice Daniel L. Randall, removed.

The diplomas for the High School graduates are now ready for delivery, at the Mayor's office.

The alarm of fire shortly before noon on Saturday was occasioned by a combination of a small and defective chimney with a big cook-stove and rousing fire, in a small tenement on Noble's Island, occupied by Thomas Ward. The fire department turned out promptly but their services were not needed. The damage was trifling.

New Hampshire Game Law.

We print for general information—particularly for the information of those persons who like to destroy birds and lay poison around for their neighbors' dogs and cats, of which people there are some in this city,—and for the encouragement of those other persons who would put put a stop to such works, of which people also there are some in this city,—the Game Law passed at the late session of the legislature. It will be seen that the penalties, while not excessively heavy, are severe enough to "take the gilt off" the fun of poisoning an enemy's cat or dog, or killing a fierce robin or sparrow, if the culprit is detected.

An Act for the better preservation of Birds, Game, and fur-bearing animals.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened.

Section 1. No person shall in any way destroy, between the first day of April and the fifteenth day of October, in each year, any mink, otter, beaver, sable or fisher, under penalty of twenty-five dollars for each animal so destroyed.

Section 2. No person shall in any way destroy, between the first day of May and the first day of October, in each year, any muskrat, under penalty of five dollars.

Section 3. No person shall take, kill or destroy, any of the animals known as hares, between the first day of March and the first day of October in each year, under penalty of five dollars.

Section 4. No person shall expose poison for the destruction of animals, or any other purpose, under penalty of fifty dollars.

Section 5. If any person shall at any season of the year, take, kill, or destroy, any of the birds called robins, thrushes, larks, blue-birds, sparrows, finches, buntings, martins, orioles, swallows, fly-catchers, warblers, tanagers, bobolinks, vireos, nuthatches, creepers, woodpeckers, humming birds, or any other of the song birds, or insectivorous birds, he shall forfeit the sum of five dollars.

Section 6. If any person shall between the first day of February and the fourth day of July, in any year, take, kill, or destroy, any woodcock; or shall between the first day of February and the first day of August of each year, take, kill or destroy, any of the birds called plover, yellow-legs, sandpipers, or rails; or shall between the first day of February and the first day of September of each year, take, kill or destroy, any ruffed grouse, partridges or quail; or shall within the respective times aforesaid, sell, buy, or have in possession, any of said birds, he shall forfeit for each bird so taken, killed, destroyed, bought, sold, or had in possession, the sum of ten dollars.

Section 7. No person shall at any time or place within this State, take any grouse, partridge, or quail, with any trap or snare, under penalty of ten dollars, except upon his own grounds.

Section 8. Section 5 shall not apply to any professional taxidermist, or to any one collecting specimens for the purpose of illustrating natural history, in any educational institution, nor shall this act apply to any person who may kill or destroy any of said birds or animals doing damage on his premises.

Section 9. Section 3 of Chapter CCLI, of the General Statutes, is hereby repealed, together with all other acts inconsistent herewith. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved July 2d., A. D. 1874.

Paid in His own Coin.

In one instance at least the Pope has had an opportunity of realizing the force of that passage of Scripture which says: "With what measure ye mete it shall be measured unto you again." He who has pronounced the decree of excommunication against others has himself been excommunicated. The official organ of Freemasonry published at Cologne contains a decree which reads as follows: "A man named Mastai Ferretti, who received the baptism of Freemasonry, and solemnly pledged his love and fellowship, and who afterward was crowned Pope and King under the title of Pio Nono, has now cursed his former brethren, and excommunicated all members of the order of Freemasons. Therefore, said Mastai Ferretti is herewith, by decree of the Grand Lodge of the Orient, Palermo, expelled from the order for perjury." This decree of expulsion was signed by Victor Emmanuel, King of Italy and Grand Master of the Orient of Italy. The charges against the Pope were first made in the lodge of which he was a member, being preferred in 1865. A copy of them was sent to him, and he was requested to attend and meet them, but made no reply. The matter was then allowed to rest, and it was not until he urged the bishops of Brazil to act aggressively toward the Masons that his case was pressed to trial. The result is as just stated, and while the pontiff will probably give no sign that he is hurt, he must be insensible indeed if the fact that he has been publicly expelled from membership in an influential body for that which even he must acknowledge as perjury does not make a severe impression upon his inner consciousness.

—Should all the editorials upon the comet be strung together that luminary would be so ashamed of the length of its own tail, in comparison, that it would draw it in like a tortoise.

—A California paper says that twenty years ago a Senator of that commonwealth remarked: "I would not give six bits for all the agricultural land in California." This year the State will harvest wheat enough to load a thousand ships, each of a thousand tons burden, and have enough left for home consumption.

—The latest style of bonnet for horses has long floating scarlet strings which tie under the chin, and are trimmed with black lace and edged with chenille fringe. The crown of this bonnet is shirred transversely, and it is trimmed with a dainty puffing of ribbon and a white muslin fluting, edged with Valenciennes lace. It is just lovely.

—A small boy approached the great showman Barnum in Montpelier, and asked him what he would give for a cherry colored cat. "Ten dollars," replied Barnum, "if it is really cherry colored." Soon the boy returned to Barnum's hotel and unloaded a black cat at Barnum's feet. The showman saw the point and gave the youngster $10, with the remark, "Boy, you've stolen my trade."

—A good story is told of the ex-rebel General Forrest as follows: Being under the hands of a colored barber, the latter discovered who his customer was, and informed him that he had a brother who fought at Fort Pillow. "Ah," said the General, "and where is he now?" "He was killed there," replied the "artist." The General was only half shaved, but quickly and quietly he slid out of that chair, paid for a whole shave and sought some other shop. In reply to the curious gaze of friends whom he met on the way, he said, "I like to have only half of my face shaved at a time."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. All assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for us over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of your Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of Mr. Coolidge's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exists in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Punctuality.

Mr. Higgins was a very punctual man in all his transactions through life. He amassed a large property by untiring industry and punctuality, and at the advanced age of ninety years was resting quietly upon his bed, and waiting calmly to be called away. He had deliberately made almost every arrangement for his decease and burial. His pulse grew fainter, and the light of life seemed just flickering in the socket, when one of his sons observed:

"Father you will live but a day or two; is it not well for you to name your bearers?"

"To be sure, my son," said the dying man, "it is well thought of, and I will do it now."

He gave a list of six, the usual number, and sank back exhausted upon his pillow. A gleam of thought passed over his withered face like a ray of light, and he rallied once more.

"My son, read that list. Is the name of Mr. Wiggins there?"

"It is, father!"

"Then strike it off," said he emphatically; "for he was never punctual, was never any where in season, and he might hinder the procession a whole hour!"

—"Gotham's immortal mule" is the other name of Mayor Havemeyer.

—"Bob, how is your sweetheart getting along?,' "Pretty well, I guess; she says I needn't call any more."

—A lecturer aptly demonstrates the theory that heat generates motion by pointing to a boy who accidently sat down on a piece of lighted punk.

—Rochefort's Lanterne appeared at Geneva on June 26 and sold immensely. It was a hoax; but they thought it just as witty, and perhaps it was.

—At a recent meeting of a society composed of men from the Emerald Isle, a member made the following motion; "Mr. President, I move yee's whitewash the ceiling green, in honor of the owld flag."

—A bevy of students in Wooster, O., were out serenading one evening last week, and in order to ascertain how it struck the feminine ear, a young hopeful approached one of the favored the next morning, and asked her how she liked the serenade. "Oh, perfectly splendid!" said she; "the march was grand." "The march?" quoth the hopeful, "we played no march." "Oh, yes, you did; I refer to the march out of the gate!" and he vanished.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 10. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt or dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form most convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old stove polishes.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blacking, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DRO PSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an alkaline, and is thus prepared and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron constitution.

Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public for thirty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly allow how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole system. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic influence it nourishes the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Starting a Newspaper.

[Burlington (Ia.) Hawkeye.]

The Peoria (Ill.) Review is to be sold at sheriff's sale this morning to satisfy a mortgage. We are under obligations to a Peoria friend for promptly advising us of this opportunity to regain an interest in that excellent paper cheap, but we don't want any. We have loved the Review: so did the gods, hence it has died young, less than a year and a half old. It marked an era in our journalistic career which we love to ponder over with tears. It was the only daily paper we helped to start. It precious soon got the start of everybody connected with it. We had that little twilight twinkler for nearly a quarter of a year. Then it had us the rest of the time. The insatiable maw that pretty, deceitful little sheet, in its nobby, metropolitan dress of minion and nonpareil, had for coupons; the wild, ungoverned appetite it had for shekels; the excellent voice it had, which it retained to the last, for louis d'ors; the avidity with which it reached out for base bullion, and the equal avidity with which it didn't get any! Such a fearful old inflationist it was on the Dr. side; such a terrible contractionist it was on the Cr. side. We hope it will sell well. We hope the mortgage will be satisfied. If it is it will be the first thing the Review ever satisfied. We hope some good man will buy it and run it successfully, though we doubt that it can be made to do better than it did under Mr. Coffinberry's excellent and careful management.

But with all due regard and tender feeling for the journal of our earliest love and highest aspirations, we do not wish any more of the suit, if you please. Life is too short to throw away on such a hollow vanity as a Peoria evening daily. We would much rather not kind of try to have scarcely a little to do with it; hardly any at all. If at any time we desire to renew the fierce excitement of those sweet days, we can wait till harvest and go up in the country and crawl into a threshing machine, or, in a city where so many saw mills ply the busy buzz saw as in Burlington, we can find pastime—of a less exciting and arduous character than running the Review, it is true, but still sufficiently exhilarating for a man of rather phlegmatic temperament. We do not wish to run any evening daily on our own book. That is, not just at present. We may after a while, along some time after the millennium, may be, but are too young for such onerous duties now. And then since we came to Burlington we have become so dreadfully addicted to telling the truth that we are about ruined for Peoria newspaper work anyhow.

A Nice Society.

An interesting account of a secret society in England, established by and for the benefit of woman, is given by Mr. Lyulph Stanley, assistant commissioner (Friendly Societies Commission), in his report just issued. There are, he says, in Oldham several societies of women, but they are not as a rule in a flourishing condition. Thirty or forty years ago, when the affiliated orders were making great progress and gaining in popularity, the idea spread, and secret societies of women were formed on the analogy of the Odd Fellows. Such a society is the Female Secret Insurance Society in the Oldham, Saddleworth, Mossley and Stalybridge districts. There are twenty lodges, and the list makes a fine show on paper; but their numbers have been dwindling for many years, and so have their funds. They can only show at the close of 1871, 330 members and £70. They have long ceased to give any sick pay, and are kept up for the sake of the funeral money. They meet monthly in their lodges, and 2d. a member must be spent in drink. They are apt to consume this in spirit, and the secretary of one of the lodges complains that he has witnessed very unseemly sights in consequence of this rule. At the quarterly meetings each delegate (a woman) receives sixpennyworth of liquor. The balance sheet of the society is curious. The expenditure is made up of 19s. 3d. for liquor, 5d. for contribution cards, and 6s. for secretary's salary. No other benefits or disbursements. There are nineteen members, and the year's contributions amount to £3. 18s. 6d.

Meanness.

Economy is an excellent thing. That is, it is very comfortable to be able to say to one's self, "I will do without this, that, or the other luxury, rather than run the risk of being a beggar in my old age," or even to find it possible to live without what is usually deemed a necessity, rather than to run into debt. But exaggerated economy, or rather meanness, is something which must render its possessor wretched, and something, too, which is often found in people who are too selfish to forbid themselves anything they desire. They covet rich food and fine dress, ease and idleness, but they begrudge to those who minister to their wants their well-earned price, and always forget that "the laborer is worthy of his hire."

From the lips of such people you hear nothing but complaints. Every one is overreaching them. The dress-maker has sent in a frightful bill; the cook has no right to such wages; the abominable landlord thinks no rent too much for his house; it is impossible to have anything done without being cheated. In fine, they want all that people have to sell, and have within their souls a miserly desire to get it for nothing. Always accusing other people of their own vice, they salve their conscience, and when they do get something for nothing, fancy themselves happy. But it is only fancy. They can never know the pleasant warmth that fills the heart when a generous action has been done at its prompting. Never can they feel the pleasant independence that follows liberal and ungrudging payment of those to whose toil or trouble one is indebted.

TUESDAY, JULY 14, 1874.

The Work of the Session.

The achievements of the democratic majority in the legislature, at the late session, if not entirely satisfactory to the democratic party—including the License Alliance and the Massachusetts Liquor Dealers' Association—should be eminently pleasing to any opponent of the democratic party who looks at the matter in a purely partisan light; for a more wretched record has never been made in the same length of time by a majority party in this State,—every one of the high-sounding promises with which the democratic party has for years baited the hook with which it has fished for power, having been thrown aside in the scramble for office or personal advantage.

We have often been told that with a democratic State government, the "infamous and corrupt lobby" would be only a memory of the years of republican misrule; yet the lobby has been larger, bolder and more influential this year than ever before, and when a direct charge of bribery was made by a representative whose reputation seems to stand high, a packed committee was appointed to investigate and whitewash the matter,—if we may believe Boss Bingham, who in the same breath exonerated from blame the man who appointed such a committee!

We have been told until we almost fancied it might be true, that the democratic party was unalterably opposed to railroad consolidation and undue corporation influence, and platform after platform have the democrats stiffened with a heavy anti-railroad-consolidation plank; yet by far the most important measure passed at the late session was one to permit consolidation of two railroads. True, some of the democrats say "it is a little thing;" a democratic paper now before us asserts that this measure "violates no principle which has ever been recognized by the democratic party," and wonders at all the fuss raised at allowing four miles of New Hampshire railroad to be controlled by a Massachusetts corporation; but the Concord People, one of the ablest democratic papers in the State, and Boss Bingham, opposed the bill because (as they asserted) it was consolidation pure and simple, and as such a rank "violation of democratic principles" by a democratic legislature. The People appealed to the republicans to oppose "a measure which, when their own party was in power, never had a shadow of a chance to succeed," and which "was almost literally kicked out" by a previous republican legislature; and the same paper charged that a "lobby of hired retainers, brought to the capital from every part of the State, and from Massachusetts," was at work for the bill. Now that the scheme is accomplished we await the utterances of the People with some interest.

We have had stump-speeches, editorials and orations ad lib. on the rum question; prohibition has been denounced as the greatest humbug of the age and a fruitful source of intemperance, and "a stringent, judicious license law" held up as the one thing needful to make the world happy,—to be procured only through a democratic State victory; the democratic platform pronounced squarely against prohibition and in favor of license; and the democratic victory was won on that platform. Yet the democratic majority in the legislature, which was large enough to carry out the most contemptibly unjust partisan schemes, did not fulfill the promises made the Liquor Alliance before the election. For the good of the State we are glad of this; but it shows of how much worth democratic promises are.

Concerning this action the Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror says: "Leading members of the License Alliance nurse their wrath and denounce the democratic perfidy which led to their defeat. They say that there has been no intention among democratic leaders from the start to pass a license bill; that Sinclair purposely drew a bill which he supposed they did not want and would not accept in order to shift the responsibility for defeating it upon them, and when they accepted this and it was likely to pass, he and the other schemers drew off their men and defeated it. They declare that last spring they furnished $20,000 to help the democrats carry the election upon the strength of the democratic platform and private democratic pledges, and they look upon this amount as deliberately swindled out of them."

The Mirror pays its respects to several of the important committees, as follows: "The committee on national affairs immortalized itself by two resolutions, one relating to General Fitz John Porter and another for the suppression of the Kittery Navy Yard. It did another characteristic thing in pocketing and refusing to report a resolution eulogistic of the late Charles Sumner. The election committee heard a large number of cases, sent home Caverly of Rochester and a member from Monroe and kept in their seats Clapp of Manchester, Frost of Weare, Huntley of Alstead and the Concord members. It is due to this committee to say that it was the fairest and least partisan of any in the House. During the Manchester contest a prominent democrat remarked, 'We made up the election committee of mules, but we supposed they would kick republicans instead of democrats.' It is certain that some of its members kicked as they judged right, irrespective of party. The judiciary committee has had a very large number of bills referred to it, but most of them have been smothered, a majority of the committee being determined to do nothing but political work."

The legislature voted pay (with interest) to all the members who have been sent home as not entitled to seats for the last twenty years, and also for the expenses of numerous unsuccessful contestants who have appeared before the election committees. Education has been encouraged by the disfranchisement of college students, and a pure ballot secured by the removal of certain very reasonable restrictions on the naturalization of aliens. A pretty clean sweep has been made in the offices of the State; and the senatorial and councillor districts have been gerrymandered in a way to make the hair on the head of old Gerry-mander's ghost stand on end, and several cities have been redistricted with an eye single to the public good,—the "public" meaning the democratic minority of voters.

The democratic Senate distinguished itself in a similar manner with the democratic House, but on a smaller scale. A bill to place the inmates of insane asylums under the protection of the law was defeated, but one to pay Sam Page for trying to turn out the republican representatives from Concord was passed. The bill to prevent bribery at elections, which served as an escape-valve for so much spread-eagle eloquence in the House, was so hashed up in the Senate that the House refused to adopt it and it died,—the democratic senators probably thinking their brethren in the House had done all that could be done for the party by their talk for buncombe, and fearing the mighty reduction which would take place in the democratic vote if every man who offered or accepted a bribe should be disfranchised. The apothecaries' bill was also defeated; but all the addresses for the removal of republicans from office were passed.

Concerning the doings of this legislature we heartily endorse the comments of the democratic Patriot, as follows: "We have no complaint to make. The sober second thought will set all right in due time, and the people will judge rightly of all things done or left undone. The people are now thoroughly aroused." Just so; we are very much mistaken if the people are not "now thoroughly aroused," and if they do not show that they "judge rightly" of the doings of the democratic legislature, when the next State election comes off.

An Explanation.

Rev. R. B. Moody, the Milford clergyman who was credited by the Milford correspondent of the Concord Patriot with having alluded to the decapitated republican office holders in this State as "thieves and burglars," in a 4th of July oration at Milford, flatly contradicts the correspondent in a letter published in the Monitor. Nothing of the kind, and nothing which a sensible man could torture into such a meaning, was said by the orator. The reporter was probably drunk, as became an advocate of free rum on that glorious day.

That Bribery.

Mr. B. F. Hutchinson, of Milford, declares in a card published in the Nashua Telegraph, that the statement of the clerk of the Nashua, Lowell & Boston Railroad to the effect that Hutchinson applied for a free pass is totally false. He further says that his statement to the House concerning the attempt to bribe him is true in every respect. The Concord correspondent of the Telegraph says he heard all the testimony, which was "direct, positive and irrefutable," before the investigating committee, and was astonished at their report, even though every member of the committee was in favor of consolidation. Bully Bingham called the committee's finding "a whitewashing report," and denounced the construction of the committee, while acquitting the Speaker of any intentional wrong in appointing such a packed committee! Who was to blame then?

Another Dam Deluge.

A reservoir at Middlefield, Mass., covering about 100 acres, broke away its dam on Sunday afternoon and flooded the country below it. Several bridges were carried away and much mill and farm property destroyed. The money loss is large, but no lives were lost.

A stone bridge on the Boston & Albany Railroad was washed away—damage $100,000. Another stone bridge—a $40,000 one—will have to be rebuilt, and others suffered to the amount of $15,000. The total loss to the road is $150,000.

A number of houses, barns and mills were carried away or ruined where they stood.

Readables.

Another baby-farming horror has come to light in New York city. Six inmates died in ten days,—starved to death.

Chicagos 17, Baltimores 12; Athletics 8, Philadelphias 7.

Brooks of Arkansas contemplates another war.

Miss Jennie Smith, daughter of Hon. Elyat M. Smith of Watertown, Conn., was at Quassepaug with a picnic party recently and amused herself by examining an unloaded pistol which a young gentleman took from his pocket to exhibit. Upon being told it was not loaded a Miss Peck thought she would try for herself, and did so, shooting and badly injuring Miss Smith.

Louisiana has premonitory symptoms of another attack of Ku-Kluxism. As in the first instance, the most alarming stories regarding negro conspiracies and contemplated massacres are widely circulated, and the whites are banding together for "protection," in the White Leagues. If this does not mean more Colfax massacres we shall be agreably disappointed.

A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser complains that on a recent trip of steamer "Meta" from that city to Nehant, there were 750 persons on board besides the crew, the vessel being licensed to carry but 238 all told. The correspondent asks conundrums as to what would have been the result of a squall or a panic. He shouldn't be so inquisitive; the coroner's jury, the newspapers and "an indignant public" will take care of that part of the business, as soon as a few hundred people are hurried to another world.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued an order to the commanders of national ships to make their ships self-sustaining on cruises, as extraordinary expenses will not be allowed without good reasons.

The Belfast Journal says a woman who was baptized there recently, lost her back hair in the briny wave. Her husband, believing that "religion never was designed to make our pleasures less," fished out the appendage with a hoop pole and dried it on the rocks.

The Game Cock of Prosperity.

[Avoca (Iowa) Delta.]

It is always the best policy to speak well of your own town, to liberally patronize every industrial and mechanical enterprise in it. The true theory of all progress, whether as related to nations, States, or communities, is to bring the agricultural and manufacturing and mechanical interests in close relationship to each other, to the end that there may always be a circulating medium—a quantity of money at home that will keep the wheels of commerce in motion. To foster and encourage home mechanics and merchants is to lay the egg that hatches out the spunky game-cock of prosperity.

Business Notices.

It is a Crime

To exhaust still further the vitality of an already feeble invalid with sharp evacuants and other strength-destroying medicines. No case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness or periodic fever was ever cured in that way. What the debilitated sufferer needs is a remedy in which the properties of an invigorant, a stimulant, a mild aperient, a sedative, and a blood depurient are combined, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation before the world in which these essential sanitary elements are united in the proportions necessary to overcome disease without prostrating the patient. This agreeable and potent vegetable elixir is in the truest sense of the word a restorative, for it restores the strength of the body, re-establishes functional regularity, enriches the degenerated blood, and clears the clouded brain.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his Improved COMEDONE and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 19 4o 6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

Sufferers with PILES should erect a monument to Dr. Silsbee for his beneficent discovery of ANAKESIS, an infallible cure for the worst cases of piles—a failure in 20,000 cases has not been recorded. It is a simple suppository, painless and easy of application, gives instant relief, acts as an instrument, soothing poultice and medicine, and can not fail to cure. Lotions, ointments and internal remedies may fail, but ANAKESIS is infallible.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker St., New York.

Unfading Loveliness

Belongs only to the immortals, but whoever uses the fragrant SOZODONT can at least defy time to injure one of the elements of beauty, a good set of teeth.

Hair Restorers, &c., &c.—All sulphur and lead compounds have nearly disappeared; their poisonous mixtures having been found both ruinous to the public health and death to the human hair. Messrs Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors of the Celebrated Pain Killer, have lately introduced the Bearine which is rapidly taking the place of all other hair preparations, being a health-giving dressing perfectly delightful to use, prepared from the pure grease of the Canada Bear. 12

Heimbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Heimbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

THE VIENNA EXPOSITION awarded the medal of merit to Walter Baker & Co., for the superiority and excellence of their Chocolate and Cocoa preparations, the highest prize and only medal given to any American manufacturers of these goods. These preparations have received prizes and medals at the principal exhibitions of the world, and stand unequalled for their purity and highly nutritious qualities.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

HENDERSON & CO.,
ANNOUNCE THEIR SPRING OPENING
—OF—
Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.
The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,
From One Cent to One Dollar.
Hats, trimmed,
From 50 cts. to $10.00.
And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, ... 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 20 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.

Base Ball.

The first of a series of match games between the High School nine and the Kearsarge Mill club was played Monday afternoon at the Plains, and resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 20 to 17, the game being the best and most exciting one played on the Plains this season. The following is the score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Kearsarge Mills	0	4	1	1	1	0	9	1	3	—20
High School	0	3	2	1	3	4	1	0	3	—17

Time of game, 2 hours and 15 minutes; umpire, Daniel Casye, of the Resolutes. Double plays—High School 1, Stearns and Pfeiffer; Kearsarge 1, Tobey. Home runs,—High School 1, Stearns.

The second game will be played this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, at same place.

A Good Selection.

Mr. Nelson Goodrich has been appointed by the new Board of Pilot Commissioners, a pilot for the river and harbor of Piscataqua,—a first-rate selection, for Mr. Goodrich is a thorough seaman and a cool, careful, intelligent man, and will make as good a pilot as is likely to be scared up in this vicinity, or any other, for that matter. Long before he reached his majority he had charge of a watch, under a skillful and exacting shipmaster of this port; and during the war filled the responsible position of boatswain in one of the large steam frigates of the navy, winning the unique honor (for a boatwain) of a highly complimentary notice in the report of the Secretary of the Navy, for his skill, his coolness and his bravery in action. As an attache of the CHRONICLE he has proved himself entirely trustworthy and competent to perform whatever he was willing to undertake, and we are assured he will give equal satisfaction to any masters of vessels who desire his services as a pilot.

Laconics.

The Republicans of ward 6 under the new law, are requested to meet at the ward room in State street next Friday evening at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a Ward Committee. Per order.

There will be a Praise Meeting in the Court street Christian chapel this (Tuesday) evening, at half-past 7 o'clock, led by Rev. E. Edmonds of Boston. The public are cordially invited.

The Concord Monitor, in making "honorable mention" of the hard-fighting republicans of the legislature during the late session, deservedly commends Messrs. Newell and Briggs of Manchester and Emery and Kent of this city for their gallant defence of prohibition, and says Mr. Sanborn of Franklin is as skillful a parliamentarian as Sinclair of Littleton.

Mr. Adolph Nelson is appointed captain of the watch at the navy yard instead of William Mouer as stated in our Monday's issue.

Rev. C. C. Mason, pastor of the Methodist church at Kittery, has retired from the pulpit for the present on account of ill health.

Forty-one of the candidates for admission to the High School passed successful examinations on Saturday.

Dr. J. F. Hall, having stuck to his senatorial duties until "the legislature and democratic party adjourned sine die"—vide Kent—will rest and refresh himself by a few days' run in the mountains, and then resume the professional harness. Skillful physician though he is, he couldn't doctor the democratic party into health even if he wanted to,—which he don't, by no manner o' means.

The Times closes its report of the High School Exhibition as follows: "We would humbly suggest that hereafter some larger room—hall or church—be procured, so that the public may enjoy, as they feel they have a right to do, these graduating exercises. Such a course is pursued everywhere else, and adds to the interest taken in the school." The school room is certainly much too small to accommodate even the relatives and immediate friends of the pupils in comfort, and the number of other persons who would like to attend but are necessarily left out in the cold is very large. We respectfully commend the Times' suggestion to the consideration of the proper parties.

We learn that Mr. Daniel L. Randall, recently removed from the position of captain of the watch at the navy yard, has been interdicted by an official order from going upon the yard at all! We can hardly credit this information, for Mr. Randall is a respectable citizen, so far as we know or have ever heard, and an order that he or any other reputable citizen shall not be allowed upon the yard looks as though somebody was indulging in an arbitrary exercise of a very questionable authority.

State News.

Some sacrilegious young men got into the Hillsborough Methodist church through the windows, on the 4th, and smashed all the spittoons!

Two convicts have escaped from the Lancaster jail, and the establishment is now lorn and alone. The Coos Republican wants a guard organized to keep the public from falling into the jail while passing.

The Maine editors started on an excursion to Mount Washington, the Franconia Notch, Lake Winnipesaukee and other points of interest, on Monday.

The heavy rain in Manchester, Friday night, did a great deal of damage. A new brick building was undermined and ruined.

The Great Falls liquor sellers are greatly excited over the receipt of postal cards from James A. Edgerly, the young lawyer who prosecuted many of the liquor dealers, last Fall. The cards read as follows, and are written and signed by Edgerly: "Take notice that you will be prosecuted for all sales of ale and cider in violation of the law after the 20th of this month."

James P. Hallisey was crushed to death between two cars in Nashua on Monday.

Hiram Quimby and George Parmeter were badly injured by the explosion of a charge which they were engaged in drilling out of a rock, at Concord on Saturday.

Baxter Codman of Hillsborough left home one night recently. He remembered to take $800, but entirely forgot his family.

Henry Davis has lived a hermit's life in Warner for twenty years, to punish the world or himself because he was disappointed in love. He has not been able to stand for two years past, and is supported by charity.

The Bartlett Land and Lumber Company have 6,000,000 feet of logs on hand to manufacture during the season. They now have a large force of men in the woods peeling bark, and will put into market 2000 cords this season. The company are paying the Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad Company over $2000 monthly.

General Thom, United States engineers, has been at Exeter taking steps for the improvement of the Squamscott River.

Democratic "Justice."

The persistent howling of the democrats for years over "partisan legislation," the "rights of the people," etc., may have deceived some few persons into the belief that they really did care something for the public welfare outside their own party interests; but their late legislation in this State will leave no one in the dark as to how that much the democratic party cares for the "rights of the people" or any other rights or decencies which stand in the way of democratic victories and office-distributing. We have already spoken (and shall speak again, a good many times), of the gerrymander of this city, which Daniel Marcy and Albert R. Hatch contended was a measure to reform abuses, yet which was intended to give four-tenths of the voting population seven-tenths of the legislative representation and a controlling majority in both branches of the city government! And not only that, but the bill (as first drawn) gave every check-list in the city into the hands of noted democratic partisans! and that it did not pass in that shape is not at all owing to the labors of the precious champions of political morality we have named.

Dover's overhauling gives us another instance of how ardently the democratic party loves fair play and how highly it respects a free expression of the will of the people. Dover was gerrymandered according to programme, so as to make a republican city return democratic officials. But the proposition to give one ward, because it was democratic, double the representation of a republican ward of equal size, was too much for even the present shamelessly-partisan legislature to adopt. The Dover Democrat—good authority enough on this question, surely—says "the provision in regard to aldermen and common council was changed by adding one alderman and two councilmen to Ward Three, which makes the City Councils a tie politically, with the casting vote in the Board of Aldermen, and in joint convention, in the hands of the Mayor. This, of course, secures the ascendency of the republicans in the City Government just the same as heretofore. Of course the republican leaders here are very much elated, as well they may be, while all true democrats are chagrined and disgusted at the defeat, which was caused by the shallow and stupid management of the very few self-constituted leaders here, who had the matter in charge. They were defeated by the sharp and well directed tactics of Daniel Hall and his backers. Hall went before that democratic committee of the House and completely outwitted and outgeneralled the shrewd lawyer who managed the case on the democratic side. These are the facts and we give them for the benefit of our democratic friends in Dover, in order that they may see and appreciate the consummate skill of those who have been running the democratic machine here since the last election. This result is not only a defeat, but an outrage upon the democracy of Dover, and it is time that the party here should thoroughly understand the matter, that they may apply a remedy which shall be effective and conclusive in the future." Of course (says the Democrat) the republicans have a majority in the city and will elect their candidate for Mayor, and it is "an outrage upon the democracy of Dover" that the ballot box is to decide who shall control the city, instead of a few democratic wire-pullers having the power placed in their hands in defiance of the "will of the people." We sympathize with the Democrat and the democrats; for it is hard indeed to have waded so deeply in filth to no advantage.

A Thousand Years Old.

The leftiest house and the most perfect in the manner of architecture ever seen was that which a wood-chopper occupied with his family one winter in the forests of Santa Cruz County. It was the cavity of a redwood tree two hundred and forty feet in height. Fire had eaten away the trunk at the base until a circular room had been formed sixteen feet in diameter. At twenty feet or more from the ground was a knothole, which afforded egress for the smoke. With hammocks hung upon pegs, a few cooking utensils hung upon other pegs, that house lacked no essential thing. This woodman was in possession of a house which had been one thousand years in process of building. Perhaps on the very day it was finished he came along and entered it. How did all jack-knife and hand-saw architecture sink into insignificance in contrast with this house in the solitudes of the great forest! Moreover, the tenant fared like a prince. Within thirty yards of his coniferous house a mountain stream went rushing past to the sea. In the swirls and eddies under the shelving rocks, if one could not land half a dozen trouts within an hour he deserved to go hungry as a penalty for his awkwardness. Now and then a deer came out into the openings, and at no great distance quail, rabbits, and pigeons could be found. What did this man want more than nature furnished him? He had a house with a "cupola" 240 feet high, and game at the cost of taking it. This Arcadian simplicity would have made a lasting impression but for a volunteer remark that nothing could be added to give life more perfect zest. "Well, yes," said he, "I reckon if you are going back to town you might tell Jim to send me up a gallon of whisky and some plug tobacco." It will not do to invest a hollow tree with too much of sentiment and poetry. If that message had not been suggested we should have been under the delusion to this day that the lives of those people dwelling in a house fashioned a thousand years ago, were rounded to a perfect fullness, without one artificial want.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of (second-growth matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. What Water Is.

On a certain occasion one Paul Denton, a Methodist preacher in Texas, advertised a barbecue, with better liquor than is usually furnished. When the crowd assembled, a desperado in the crowd cried out, "Mr. Paul Denton, your reverence has lied. You promised not only a good barbecue, but better liquor. Where's the liquor?"

"There!" answered the missionary, in tones of thunder, and pointing his long bony finger at the matchless double spring, gushing up in two strong columns from the bosom of the earth; "There!" he repeated, with a look terrible as lightning, while his enemy actually trembled at his feet; "There is the liquor which God the eternal, brews for all his children. Not in the simmering still, over smoky fires choked with poisonous gases and surrounded with the stench of sickening odors and corruption, doth your Father in Heaven prepare the precious essence of life, pure cold water; but in the glade and grassy dell, where the red deer wanders and the child loves to play, there God brews it; and down, way down in the deepest valleys, where the fountain murmurs and the rills sing; and high up on the mountain tops, where the naked granite glitters like gold in the sun, where storm clouds brood and the thunder storms crash; and out, out on the wild, wide sea, where the hurricanes howl music and the big waves roar their chorus sweeping the march of God—there he brews it—beverage of life, health-giving water. And everywhere it is a thing of beauty, gleaming in the dew-drop, singing in the summer rain, shining in the ice gem, till they seem turned to living jewels; spreading a golden veil over the setting sun, or a white gauze around the midnight moon; sporting in the cataract; sleeping in the glacier; dancing in the hail showers; folding its bright curtains softly around the wintry world, and weaving the many-colored iris, that seraph's zone of the air, whose warp is the raindrops of the earth, and whose woof is the sunbeams of heaven, all checkered over with the celestial flowers of the mystic hand of refraction—that blessed life-water. No poison bubbles on its brink; its foam brings no madness and murder; no blood stains its liquid glass; pale widows and starving children weep not burning tears in its depths! Speak out, my friends, would you exchange it for the demon's drink, alcohol?"

A shout like the roar of the tempest, answered: "No!"

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other substance capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 13. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong odd smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove that will waste is saved old stove polishes.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, assorted, or samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude; Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

WHERE DO YOU

BUY PAPER?

OF the Manufacturer or of "Middlemen"?—that's the question. While you are pondering it remember that we still make it out of RAGS, which is good enough for Newspapers or Books. And, besides making to order, we keep quite a lot on hand, of which we will send you a list, from time to time, if you will favor us with your address. The best looking Newspapers in New Hampshire and Vermont are Printed on paper made by

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simple at food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Only Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, it acts only on the energetic effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. But these virtues must be secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, long enough to test virtues of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely precaution. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are so wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulder, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scalds, Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humor and Diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus healthy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows, with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for its soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

LAWS

OF THE

UNITED STATES

PASSED AT THE

FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 19.]

AN ACT making appropriations for the construction, preservation, and repair of certain fortifications and other works of defense, for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-five.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following sums be, and the same are hereby, appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the following fortifications and other works of defense, for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, namely:

For Fort Preble, Portland Harbor, Maine, twenty thousand dollars.

For Fort Scammel, Portland Harbor, Maine, thirty thousand dollars.

For batteries, Portsmouth Harbor, New Hampshire, thirty thousand dollars.

For batteries at Long Island Head, Boston Harbor, Massachusetts, forty thousand dollars.

For Fort Adams, Newport Harbor, twenty thousand dollars.

For fort on Dutch Island, west entrance to Narragansett Bay, Rhode Island, twenty thousand dollars.

For Fort Trumbull, New London Harbor, Connecticut, twenty-five thousand dollars.

For fort on Wilet's Point, East River, New York, thirty thousand dollars.

For Fort Schuyler, East River, New York, twenty-five thousand dollars.

For Fort Hamilton and additional batteries, (for completing the same,) New York Harbor, New York, twenty-six thousand dollars.

For fort on the site of Fort Tompkins, Staten Island, New York Harbor, New York, thirty thousand dollars.

For Battery Hudson, New York Harbor, New York, thirteen thousand dollars.

For Fort Delaware, Delaware River, Delaware, twenty-five thousand dollars.

For battery at Finn's Point, Delaware River, New Jersey, thirty thousand dollars.

For fort, New Fort, opposite Fort Delaware, Delaware River, thirty thousand dollars.

For Fort Monroe, Hampton Roads, Virginia, thirty thousand dollars.

For Fort Moultrie, Charleston Harbor, South Carolina, twenty thousand dollars.

For Fort Sumter, Charleston Harbor, South Carolina, twenty thousand dollars.

For Fort Pulaski, Savannah River, Georgia, twenty thousand dollars.

For Fort Jackson, Mississippi River, Louisiana, thirty thousand dollars.

For Fort Saint Philip, Mississippi River, Louisiana, thirty thousand dollars

For Fort Taylor, Key West, Florida, twenty thousand dollars.

For fort at Fort Point, entrance to San Francisco Harbor, California, thirty thousand dollars.

For fort at Lime Point, San Francisco Harbor, California, thirty thousand dollars.

For fort on Alcatraz Island, harbor of San Francisco, California, twenty thousand dollars.

For torpedoes for harbor-defenses, and preservation of the same, one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars: Provided, That the money herein appropriated for torpedoes shall only be used in the establishment and maintenance of torpedoes to be operated from shore-stations for the destruction of an enemy's vessel approaching the shore or entering the channel and fairways of harbors.

For contingencies of fortifications, seventy-five thousand dollars.

For surveys and reconnaissances in the military divisions and departments, thirty thousand dollars.

For continuing exploration and survey of the Territories of the United States west of the one hundredth meridian, thirty thousand dollars.

Approved, April 3, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 20.]

AN ACT concerning the practice in territorial courts and appeals therefrom.

Whereas, by the organic acts establishing several of the Territories of the United States, it is provided that certain courts thereof shall have common law and chancery jurisdiction, and doubts have been entertained whether said jurisdictions must be exercised separately, or whether they may be exercised together in the same proceeding, and whether the codes and rules of practice adopted in said Territories which have authorized a mingling of said jurisdictions in the same proceeding, or a uniform course of proceeding in all cases legal and equitable, are repugnant to the said organic acts respectively: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it shall not be necessary in any of the courts of the several Territories of the United States to exercise separately the common-law and chancery jurisdictions vested in said courts; and that the several codes and rules of practice adopted in said Territories respectively, in so far as they authorize a mingling of said jurisdictions or a uniform course of proceeding in all cases whether legal or equitable, are confirmed; and that all proceedings heretofore had or taken in said courts in conformity with said respective codes and rules of practice, so far as relates to the form and mode of proceeding be, and the same are hereby, validated and confirmed: Provided, That no party has been or shall be deprived of the right of trial by jury in cases cognizable at common-law.

SEC. 2. That the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the United States over the judgments and decrees of said Territorial courts in cases of trial by jury shall be exercised by writ of error, and in all other cases by appeal according to such rules and regulations as to form and modes of proceeding as the said Supreme Court have prescribed or may hereafter prescribe: Provided, That on appeal, instead of the evidence at large, a statement of the facts of the case in the nature of a special verdict, and also the rulings of the court on the admission or rejection of evidence when excepted to, shall be made and certified by the court below, and transmitted to the Supreme Court together with the transcript of the proceedings and judgment or decree; but no appellate proceedings in said Supreme Court, heretofore taken upon any such judgment or decree, shall be invalidated by reason of being instituted by writ of error or by appeal: And provided further, That the appellate court may make any order in any case heretofore appealed, which may be necessary to save the rights of the parties; and that this act shall not apply to cases now pending in the Supreme Court of the United States where the record has already been filed.

Approved, April 7, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 21.]

AN ACT to amend the act entitled "An act relating to the enrollment and license of certain vessels,"

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the provisions of the act relating to the enrollment and license of vessels navigating the western rivers and the waters on the northern, northeastern, and northwestern frontiers of the United States, otherwise than by sea, approved February twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, are hereby extended to include all vessels of the United States navigating the waters of the United States.

Approved, April 17, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 23.]

AN ACT to authorize the employment of certain aliens as engineers and pilots.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That any alien who, in the manner provided for by law, has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and who shall have been a permanent resident of the United States for at least six months immediately prior to the granting of such license, may be licensed, as if already naturalized, to serve as an engineer or pilot upon any steam-vessel subject to inspection under the provisions of the act entitled "An act to provide for the better security of life on board of vessels propelled, in whole or in part, by steam, and for other purposes," approved February twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and seventy-one.

Approved, April 17, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 23.]

AN ACT to amend the act entitled "An act for enrolling and licensing ships or vessels to be employed in the coasting trade and fisheries, and for regulating the same," passed February eighteen, seventeen hundred and ninety-three.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the act to which this is a supplement shall not be so construed as to extend the provisions of the said act to canal boats or boats employed on the internal waters or canals of any State; and all such boats, excepting only such as are provided with sails or propelling machinery of their own adapted to lake or coastwise navigation, and excepting such as are employed in trade with the Canadas, shall be exempt from the provisions of the said act, and from the payment of all customs and other fees under any act of Congress.

Approved, April 18, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 24.]

AN ACT to establish the Bismark land district in the Territory of Dakota.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all portion of Dakota Territory lying north of the seventh standard parallel and west of the ninth guide-meridian be, and the same is hereby, created into a separate land district, to be known as the Bismark district; and the land office for said district shall be located at the town of Bismark, where the North Pacific Railroad intersects the Missouri River.

SEC. 2. That a register and receiver shall be appointed for said district land office, who shall be governed by the same laws and receive the same compensation as prescribed for similar officers in the other land districts of said Territory.

Approved, April 24, 1874.

Editorial Jottings.

NEW YORK, July 12.

The arrival of the CHRONICLE this morning reconciles us to the neglect of letter writing, thanks to the compositor whose blunders transformed portions of the first Jottings to nonsense. We hope he will not always be so accom"mun"dating!

The editorial party starts for home this afternoon, or rather the larger portion, a few of us remaining until Tuesday. We bade a to Fort William Henry Hotel, and took a last glimpse of the beautiful Lake George, Wednesday, riding over a plank road for nine miles to Glen's Falls, a beautifully situated village. A half-mile walk brought the party to the Falls, which well repaid the effort. Among the curiosities there is the cave referred to in Cooper's which several of the younger ladies visited. The heat during the day was excessive and one of the Portsmouth ladies was threatened with sunstroke, but happily by the unremitting exertions of friends the attack was averted. Cars were taken for Saratoga, twenty-three miles away, and by six o'clock we were comfortably ensconced at Congress Hall. The mineral spring water was partaken of with wry faces, but one gets used to it after a while. Those who visited are of opinion that they achieved a triumph. Balls are given at Congress Hall every evening, and at other hotels. The new United States Hotel is just completed, has 917 rooms and covers an entire square, having a park in the enclosure. The hotel is 1400 feet in length and six stories high. It is the largest hotel in the world and is furnished in such magnificence as it may be imagined the palaces of the have been in the past. Every first class hotel in Saratoga has a band, that of the United States excelling in every respect. Morning and afternoon concerts serve to wear the time away rapidly.

"LAST OF THE MOHICANS,"

THE COMING RACES

on the Lake are the topic of conversation. The crews practice daily. Harvard in particular has the most at stake, for its crews of next year will be weaker than the present. Yale has the prestige of and a good showing for admirable crews for 1875 and 1876. The contest would seem to be between the Yales and Harvards, although the Wesleyans are promising to be formidable opponents. It is singular that these three crews have drawn the three best positions in the race, Harvard in the centre. The course is for three miles down the Lake. With no wind, each has a fair chance. The crews are sun-burned, muscular men, and are the centre of attraction. Thousands of strangers are visiting the Lake daily, and it was our to be of a party which made its tour on the afternoon of Thursday, as calm and pleasant a day as could be wished for. A drive of three miles brought us to Lake Saratoga where a barge was in waiting. The passage over the Lake in this conveyance towed by the little steamer Commodore Brady, the motion being hardly perceptible, was keenly enjoyed. We landed at the sulphur spring and at the grounds of the Princeton crew, cheered the Dartmouth boys, the Browns, Yales and others who were practising, and left the Lake with a desire to return the coming week.

Our stay in Saratoga was too brief for its many attractions and enjoyments. The editors were shown about by that redoubtable democratic Congressman himself, who explained the mysteries of the games to our inquiring minds. Roulette is the most popular game, in which Mr. Morrissey claims that he has but 1 3-4 per cent. advantage over the player. The player selects a chip numbered and places it on a spot correspondingly numbered. A marble is then started around a revolving circular plate and as the latter slackens its speed, the marble drops into a hole. Should its destination be the number corresponding to the chip selected by the player, the latter wins that number of times the money he has invested. Mr. Morrissey declares that is surer for the broker than this kind of banking, but the broker and the bank have the best of the player. Morrissey's "Club House" is as finely furnished as the United States Hotel, and must be a popular resort when the sporting mania is at its height. The suite of rooms is brilliantly lighted, the first being for reception, the second for gaming and the third a restaurant outshining Delmonico's. Its proprietor is averse to the presence of ladies in his establishment, but is willing to admit them when requested to do so by the Young Mens' Christian Association, which endeavored to and failed to do so. He has $200,000 of the United States Hotel stock and is the heaviest tax-payer in the county.

At Albany, 38 miles from Saratoga, Friday, we took passage on the steamer C. Vibbard for a trip of 160 miles down the Hudson to New York. The beauties of the trip are too familiar to the general reader for descriptive repetition. Our steamer was fast and commodious, making the passage in nine hours and a half, 17 miles an hour, including nearly a dozen stoppages. Here the party has been quartered at the St. Nicholas, where better rooms and food have been furnished at $3.50 per day than at any hotel on the route of the excursion. New York has been or series of thunder showers since our arrival. The ever-vigilant Press Agent of the Hippodrome, Mr. Thomas, found us at the St. Nicholas and escorted the Association to the great show, which really eclipses everything of the kind seen in the country previously. A drenching rain came on during the performance; at Weehawken an oil manufactory was struck by lightning and consumed, the fire lasting all the next day. It was plainly visible from Central Park. New York is by no means a comfortable dwelling place in such warm weather as this, and these Jottings come to an end in consequence sooner than intended.

The Massachusetts Flood.

The Boston Advertiser says: The reservoirs burst their dams between four and five o'clock, and the foaming flood, with the volume and speed of a waterspout, rushed down a narrow, trough-like valley, eight miles, into the town of Chester. The long, narrow valley, with the reservoir at its head, like the charge in the bottom of a gun waiting to be exploded, made a situation precisely like that of the Mill River valley, and if the magnitude and heart-rending features of this catastrophe are less, it is only owing to the less crowded population of the valley and not to any lack of destructive force in the escaping waters. For the rest, the ruin wrought is large enough and costly enough to emphasize anew the warning of the Mill River horror. It fully justifies the anxiety in regard to reservoirs and dams, which has been so general since that catastrophe. The Springfield Union estimates the total damage done at $350,000.

There were two reservoirs at Middlefield, the largest of which covered nearly one hundred acres. The reservoir was made by raising the main road, the hills on either side of the stream forming the sides of the reservoir. The road dam was raised about twenty feet for a distance of from thirty to forty rods. The dam gave way once before it was finished, but since its completion it has been regarded as safe. About 12 years ago a second reservoir was built, about three miles farther up the stream. This was smaller than the lower one and covered from 25 to 30 acres. The upper reservoir broke away first, and swept over the lower reservoir with an immense volume of water, making a break of about four rods in the highway dam of the lower reservoir. The upper reservoir dam was simply an earth affair, and was considered not altogether safe. Deacon Harry Meacham went down to view it about four o'clock. After looking about the spot for some time, he was struck almost speechless to see a large section of the earth wall slide out about four feet from its position, beneath his very gaze. Recovering himself he instantly threw a bridle upon his horse and rode like mad in the direction of Blush Hollow, where the large reservoir is located. There was a general rush for the high ground, the people leaving their houses mostly with open doors, and in a few moments the waters had reached the large lower reservoir, and for a time poured over its top. There was hope that this would stand the pressure, and it did so nobly for a time, but finally the great flume near the easterly end of the great wall sank slowly for an instant, and then went down in the great whirl of waters, opening an aperture 60 feet long and 20 feet deep, through which the great mass of water rushed with the speed of a whirlwind. The dam at Church's factory held and the flood turned into the street while a branch passed down in the rear of the buildings on the east side.

—Some men are born to misfortune. At a Fourth of July picnic a chap got his eye punched for speaking to another fellow's girl, and when he tearfully explained that he'd "knowed her these thirty-five years," he got all his hair pulled out.

—If a tallow candle be placed in a gun, and shot at a door, it will go through without sustaining any injury, and if a musket ball be fired into the water, it will not only rebound, but be flattened as if fired against solid substance. A musket ball may be fired through a pane of glass, making a hole the size of the ball, without cracking the glass; if the glass be suspended by a thread, it will make no difference and the thread will not even vibrate. In the Arctic regions, when the thermometer is below zero, people can converse more than a mile distant. Dr. Jamieson asserts that he heard every word of a sermon at the distance of two miles. A mother has been distinctly heard talking to her child, on a still day, across water a mile wide.

—A man wants one million dollars from the Montreal Witness for defamation of character. What a magnificent character his must have been before it was injured! The man's name—good heavens! we have forgotten it.

It is a Crime

To exhaust still further the vitality of an already feeble invalid with sharp evacuants and other strength-destroying medicines. No case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness or periodic fever was ever cured in that way. What the debilitated sufferer needs is a remedy in which the properties of an invigorant, a stimulant, a mild aperient, a sedative, and a blood dépurient are combined, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation before the world in which these essential sanitary elements are united in the proportions necessary to overcome disease without prostrating the patient. This agreeable and potent vegetable elixir is in the truest sense the word a restorative, for it restores the strength of the body, re-establishes functional regularity, enriches the degenerated blood, and clears the clouded brain.

Sufferers with PILES should erect a monument to Dr. Silsbee for his beneficent discovery of ANAKESIS, an infallible cure for the worst cases of piles—a failure in 20,000 cases has not been recorded. It is a simple suppository, painless and easy of application, gives instant relief, acts as an instrument, soothing poultice and medicine, and can not fail to cure. Lotions, ointments and internal remedies may fail, but ANAKESIS is infallible.—Price $1.00. Sold by druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker St., New York.

Unfading Loveliness

Belongs only to the immortals, but whoever uses the fragrant SOZODONT can at least defy time to injure one of the elements of beauty, a good set of teeth.

Hair Restorers, &c., &c.—All sulphur and lead compounds have nearly disappeared; their poisonous mixtures having been found both ruinous to the public health and death to the human hair. Messrs Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors of the Celebrated Pain Killer, have lately introduced the Bearine which is rapidly taking the place of all other hair preparations, being a health-giving dressing perfectly delightful to use, prepared from the pure grease of the Canada Bear. 12

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all responsable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

TRAVELLERS will find an easily prepared and most satisfactory beverage in the Vanilla Chocolate prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston. Established 1780. A single trial of this agreeable drink will prove the truth of our endorsement. Most dealers sell it.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS. . . . . 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 20 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.

Republicans Attention !

The Republicans of Ward Six under the new law, are requested to meet at the ward room in State street next Friday evening at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a Ward Committee. Per order.

After Many Days.

The cable steamer Ambassador, after chasing a false report of the wreck of the Faraday from this port to the British Provinces, and carrying the shore end of the Direct Atlantic Cable with her, arrived once more in the lower harbor at about 7 o'clock on Tuesday morning, just in time to prevent the Faraday from again leaving for the Provinces without this end of the line being completed ere her departure. The connection between Torbay and Rye Beach will be completed to-day, operations having been resumed at daylight this morning.

Railroad Meetings.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, held in this city Tuesday, the following named gentlemen were chosen directors: Ichabod Goodwin, W. H. Y. Hackett, John Woolridge, F. W. Choate and Robert W. Hooper. Ex-Gov. Goodwin was re-elected President, John B. Parker, Treasurer, and William H. Hackett, Clerk.

The Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad stockholders elected a board of directors, consisting of John Woolridge, Ichabod Goodwin, W. H. Y. Hackett, G. W. Burleigh and T. K. Lothrop. The directors subsequently made choice of John Woolridge as President, J. B. Parker, Treasurer, and William H. Hackett, Clerk.

Laconics.

Newburyport Encampment of Knights Templar have forwarded to Harlow's Marine Band a handsomely framed copy of a very flattering vote of thanks for the courteous and complete manner in which the band carried out their agreements and the excellent music they furnished, on the occasion of the Knights' recent visit to Springfield, Mass., on which occasion they were accompanied by the band named.

A friend suggests that if the Shoals steamers had larger boilers they might possibly make more noise with their steam whistles—or at least continue it longer—than they do now.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Dover Democrat says: "One of the resorts in this vicinity to which our people go is the Sea View House, Rye Beach, Geo. G. Lougee, proprietor. This is an immense affair. It has 500 feet of piazza 15 feet wide, and a fine billiard room built the past spring. It has 90 rooms, all of them pleasant, the dining room seating 200 at one time. The stable can contain 25 horses which are mostly used for livery purposes. Two large ice houses containing 100 tons of ice are on the premises, and as for the table it is always supplied with the best the market affords. Gus Lougee, the clerk of last year, is to preside at the office again, and all who know him or have ever called guarantee good treatment at his hands. Gus is one of those fellows who don't believe it is a favor he confers on guests by receiving them at the house, but a favor he appreciates by having them come and stop there—an example which some hotel clerks can profit by."

A good haul of mackerel—seven thousand—was made at Smutty Nose Island at the Shoals, on Tuesday.

Mr. Stephen W. Clark, Principal of the High School, has declined to accept a similar position in the Vermont Methodist Seminary at Montpelier, a large and flourishing institution.

Butler & Laighton's grocery team ran away on Tuesday, collided with and smashed a wagon occupied by a Mr. Bragdon, of York, and bruised him a little. The runaway team was but little damaged.

The second game between the High School nine and the Kearsarge Mills club was played on Tuesday, the former winning by a score of 30 to 18. Double plays—High School 1, Cunningham, Moran and Stearns; Kearsarge Mills 2, Foley, Turner and Tobey.

"Nearly all great men in every department of human activity, in all ages, have been moderate drinkers. Nearly all the great contributions to human comfort, to science, to art and to literature have been made by moderate drinkers." Now add to it; Every drunkard, living and dead, has been a moderate drinker.

While Prince Bismark was driving in the country near Kissengen on the 13th, he was fired at by a young man. The ball grazed his wrist. The wound is insignificant. The would-be assassin was promptly arrested. His name is Kullman. He belongs to Magdeburg and is a cooper by trade. He is a member of the Catholic Journeymen's Society of that city.

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was celebrated by parades of Orangemen in Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal. The only disturbance was in the latter city, where the badges were torn from their coats.

The booms in the Connecticut River at Turner's Falls went out during last Sunday night, together with some six or seven million feet of logs. Large quantities of logs have floated against the bridge at Northfield, and there is some danger of its being carried away by the water rising.

General Pope reports from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, that the whole frontier of that State is now alive with troops in motion, and thinks it will be possible to protect all except careless stragglers from military lines and the more remote settlers. He says that a principal cause of the troubles south of the Arkansas river is the fact that considerable numbers of white men have established grog-shops in that vicinity, calling them trading posts, and driving an active trade with buffalo hunters and outlaws, and inflicting great outrages upon the Indians in gross violation of law. General Pope says that these traders deserve whatever may befall them, and that to their acts the murder of many innocent settlers is due.

A new invention in telegraphy, the property of the Western Union telegraph company, by which four messages can be sent at the same time on one wire, was successfully tested, Thursday.

State News.

During the thunder storm that visited the western portion of Sullivan County on the 2nd, four valuable cattle were killed by lightning—an extra fine pair of oxen and a large two year old steer, the property of Chapman & Stone, living in the western part of Cornish, and a very valuable heifer, belonging to Charles Gilkey. The cattle from which these were killed were kept in two adjoining pastures and had gathered under a tree standing near the line, the oxen upon one side and a large drove of young stock upon the other, and all were killed by the same stroke.

Foster, of the Dover Democrat, pays the following deserved compliment to Judge Daniel Hall: "The Police Court of Dover is an institution of a great deal of importance to this community. We believe the out going incumbent, Judge Hall, has administered its affairs in an honorable and impartial manner always, and with ability surpassed by no tribunal of the kind in this State. Judge Hall is a gentleman under all circumstances, and a man of culture and uncommon abilities. We say these things because they are true, although we by no means agree with him in party politics."

Poor Pay.

[Middletown (N. Y.) Press.]

"Jack" Hayes, engineer of the Erie switch engine at Middletown, N. Y., met with a novel experience the other afternoon. A car which had been cut loose from the train in the upper part of the Erie yard was coming down the side track at a fearful rate, and was about to strike a woman who was crossing directly in front of it, unconscious of her danger. Men halloed to her, but she did not hear them, and in six seconds more she would have been struck and crushed to death instantly, when "Jack" Hays, springing forward, caught her by the waist and ran with her across the track, just escaping the wheels, and thus saving her life. No sooner had he let go of her and her feet touched the ground than she whirled and struck him a stinging blow on his cheek with her hand, giving him at the same time an indignant look. "Jack" looked at her amazed, but walked off without saying a word. As soon as the woman saw the car and realized the danger from which the man had rescued her, she sank down apparently overcome with her feelings.

Number of Type in a Newspaper.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle, in an article on "How mistakes happen in newspapers," figures up the number of types used in a newspaper the size of the Eagle at 600,000, the actual number of bits of metal arranged and rearranged every day in preparing a newspaper the size of the Eagle for the press. We suppose few people think of the printing trade as the most exact and particular business, but it is. In making type, variations that might be allowed in the machinery of the finest watch would render the type useless. It is very rarely that type furnished by two different founderies can be used together, without a good deal of trouble, though they try to make it after the same standard.

We read once in a great while of a wonderful piece of cabinet work or mosaic work, containing ten, twenty, or fifty thousand pieces, the maker of which had spent months or even years of labor in producing it, and people go to see it as a great curiosity, but the most elaborate and carefully fitted piece of work of this kind ever made, does not compare with that which the printer does every day. The man who does the first is looked upon as an artist—a marvel of skill, and if a hundred of his pieces are put in wrong side up, or turned the wrong way, it is not observed in the general effect—but if the printer, in fitting ten times as many pieces together in the same day, puts one where another should be, or turns one the wrong way, everybody sees it, and is amazed at "the stupid carelessness of those stupid printers."

—Ministers of the interior—The cook and the doctor.

—In Benzie County, Michigan, is what is known as a "pigeon-post," that is, a place where millions upon millions of these birds build their nests and rear their young. They occupy a tract of forest laid sixteen miles in length by three in breadth, the trees of which are literally loaded with their nests; the sky is darkened by the flying squadrons, while the incessant hum and roar of countless wings sound like a distant tornado or an approaching thunder storm. The hunters are on their track, however, and are reaping a rich harvest, bagging them by hundreds of thousands, and sending them to market. Some they secure alive in nets and carry to different parts of the country in coops, while those intended for the markets within easy reach are shot or killed by poles and clubs, and packed in barrels for transportation.

All necessary for a Journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are heresaved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.
Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.
The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of nostification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

Sunstroke---How to Prevent It.

At the request of a subscriber we reprint from the Syracuse Journal the following, though what possible good it can do this year we are at a loss to discover:

About a year since I saw in a newspaper an account of a case of sunstroke, written by the party himself. After suffering a long time from the attack, and having in a considerable degree recovered, he experienced suffering even from the rays of the moon. This led him to the reflection that it was not altogether the heat of the sun that produced prostration. After much research he discovered that the injury came from the chemical ray and not from the heat ray. He was guided to this by observing the fact that a photograph could not be taken through a hollow glass. Accordingly he lined his hat with two linings—one of orange yellow to arrest the chemical ray, one of green to arrest the heat ray. Thus prepared he went where the rays of the sun were most intense with perfect impunity. It is well known that the negro is seldom sunstruck. The color of the skin over the skull being of the orange yellow may assist in accounting for the fact. I practiced upon this suggestion all last summer, lined my hat with green and orange yellow paper, and had confidence enough in the truth of the theory to neglect my umbrella, which I had never done before. I mentioned it to many, who tried it also, and in many cases that came under my observation they uniformly asserted that the oppressive heat of the sun upon the head was much relieved.

—Marriages in Kentucky are not always performed according to previously-arranged programmes. Quite an unexpected interlude occurred in a ceremony performed by 'Squire Payne, in Franklin county, a few days ago, between a very small lady and a six-and-a-half footer. When the magistrate asked the question, "whether there were any lawful objections why the two should not be joined in the holy bonds of wedlock," one of the company stepped forward, and, with much gravity, objected to further proceedings in the case, on the ground that one of the party was too short and the other too long; that it wouldn't begin to do, as there was no match in the case. After some confusion with the justice and commotion in the company present, the 'squire overruled the objection as frivolous, and proceeded to perform the marriage rites.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other substance of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for curing leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall, for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 6tm

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Hartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the relief and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgatives yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole body. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proved that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It dissolves the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus luxuriant, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions of disease of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and redness it lent to faded hair.

Daily Chronicle.

A Crab-Bed Verdict.

[New York Sun.]

Some time ago one Black, a mulatto clergyman, lost overboard a bag of tools while sailing up Spruce Creek, a tributary of the Halifax river. Among the blacks, Black was an important personage. He preached with great unction, collected a hatful of small stamps once a week, did an occasional job of carpentering and was the only negro on the eastern coast of Florida south of St. Augustine owning a boiled shirt. The loss of his tools was a serious misfortune. He could not give them up without endeavoring to recover them. So a reward of one dollar was offered for their return. The news spread among the settlements, and negros flocked to the shore of Spruce Creek. They stripped, and began to dive for the lost articles. The water was so deep that they found it difficult to bring up bottom. Convinced that the chances were against them, all but one gave up the search. This one was a good swimmer, known as Ephraim.

The plucky fellow spent several hours in the water, but finally caught a cramp and was drowned before his comrades could rescue him. They recovered the body and were about to bury it near the beach, when the circumstances came to the ears of Justice Sutton, an appointee of the carpet-bag Governor. Now in Florida the duties of Coroners devolve upon Justices of the Peace at the rate of ten dollars per corpse, payable in State or county scrip. Justice Sutton went for his ten dollars with the vim of a Twelth Ward politician. He ordered an inquest. Material for a jury was under his nose, and he utilized it. After the corpse was drawn up under the palmettoes, Ephraim's black comrades were impanneled. It was an odd jury. One without a shirt, another without a coat, a third destitute of a hat, and a fourth minus half of his pantaloons. There was not a pair of suspenders in the whole party. Three wore cowhide brogans, without stockings; the others were barefoot. All were greatly alarmed at the action of the Justice. They loudly proclaimed their innocence, and begged to be let off.

"Compose yourselves, gentlemen," said Mr. Sutton. "You are not prisoners, but American citizens called upon to fulfil a duty which you owe to society."

"Somebody done tole you a mighty lie, Judge," interposed one of the astonished negroes. "We aebber owe no 'siety nuffin. Don't owe nobody nuffin. Mus' be some odder cullered men 'sides we."

"Oh, good Lord!" exclaimed the Justice. "You're not on trial. You are a jury—a coroner's jury. You are to be sworn in, and do the best you can under the circumstances. Nobody cares whether you owe anybody anything or not."

The frightened negroes were more thau reassured by the explanation. They began to assume an air of importance.

"As I have no Bible at hand," the Justice continued, "You will be compelled to affirm. Hold up your right hands."

"Am dat 'xactly right, Judge?" asked one of thh proposed jurymen, whose trowsers were held in place by an old fish line.

"Certainly it's right," replied Sutton. "Why not?"

"Am it 'cordin to de law?" was the next question. "Cause 'ceptin' it amn't cordin' to de law, as cullered gemmens don't hab nuffin to do wid dis yah murder."

"Why, good Lord man," exclaimed the Justice, "who said it was a murder? Everybody can see that it's nothing but an accident."

"Well, den," concluded the questioner, "why you done made all dis yah fussin for?"

"It isn't me," the Justice answered, "it's the law. This body has been found. The law directs me to impannel a jury. That jury must hear the evidence, retire, find out who the dead man is and how he came by his death, and return a verdict in accordance with the facts. Can't you see?"

The Justice was warming up. The negroes looked as though they wanted to know all about it, before they were sworn in.

"How much you gwine to git for dis yah job, Judge?" asked another of the incipient jurymen.

"The law allows me ten dollars," said Mr. Sutton. "But that has nothing to do with your duties in the case. Your course is explicitly laid down by the law."

The negroes conferred together a few moments. Justice Sutton was becoming impatient when one of them stepped over the corpse and asked him "Whar de cullered man came in."

"What do you mean?" asked the astounded civil officer.

"De law done gwine for to drop ten dollars for you," said the sapient negro. "What de law done gwine for to drop for we?"

"The law regards your work as a duty you owe to yourselves and society, and don't allow you anything," answered the Justice. "You don't want pay for working for yourselves, do you?"

"Den we finds de werdict and does all de work an' you take all de money—am dat de law?"

"The law allows me a fee, and doesn't provide a fee for you," indignantly responded Mr. Sutton. "Hold up your right hands."

"Dis yere's jis like de ole plantation times," grumbled one of the darkies. "Ole massa he got all de money, an' de cullered man he do all de work."

"Hold up your right hands," repeated the Justice.

The negroes eyed him as if meditating a mutiny.

"Hold up your right hands," thundered his honor.

The colored men hesitated. Then one black hand was slowly raised in the air. The others followed it like the dumb blackbirds of a shooting gallery. The Justice repeated the oath, but his hearers remained dumb.

"Say 'we do,'" he shouted.

"We do," echoed the trembling negroes.

"Lower your hands," commanded the Justice, and the blackbirds dropped from their perches. The jury then squatted upon the furze about the dead man. They were cowed, but not convinced that everything was right.

"Gentlemen," spoke the Justice after all had squatted, "you are now sworn to perform the functions of the law. The law is explicit in its definition of the duties of a coroner's jury. The law prescribes that testimony shall be taken. In this case that is a mere matter of form, for you yourselves were witnesses of the death of this man. The law, however, requires that you shall carefully weigh the evidence, ascertain how the man died, who he was, and so on. This you will do by virtue of your oaths as jurors."

The witnesses were then produced. Their evidence was very clear. Ephraim had gone into the water with the intention of making an honest dollar by diving for Parson Black's tools. While his companions watched him from the bank of the stream, he sank, and was not seen again until his body was grappled and drawn ashore. The jury eagerly listened to all that was said, but asked no questions. They were evidently afraid of the Justice, and looked upon the whole thing as a sort of Voudou ceremony. His honor summed up by saying: "Gentlemen, you will now retire, and after carefully weighing the testimony return with a verdict."

The jury withdrew to the scrub. Their voices were soon heard above the music of the mocking birds who had gathered in the trees about them. The negroes were having a hot dispute, and the birds seemed to be enjoying the scene. In a few minutes one of the colored men returned. He told the Justice that the jury had sent him for the testimony.

"Pshaw!" exclaimed Sutton. "I haven't got the testimony. You heard the evidence, and have got all there is of it. There is no more testimony."

The black man shook his head, and rejoined his fellows in the scrub. Within three minutes, however, he reappeared.

"Ef de jury don't got de testimony, how de debbil de jury done gwine to weigh it?" he asked.

"Weigh it in your minds," screamed the almost frantic Justice. "You heard all the evidence and it's your place to decide upon it, not mine."

Back went the dumbfounded juryman. The mocking birds pitched in with renewed energy, but the voices of the disputing jurors were still heard above their shrill whistling. At last the noise partly died away, and the jury were seen picking their way through the palmetto scrub. They approached his Honor and asked permission to examine the body. He assented, and Ephraim was thoroughly overhauled. They felt of his pulse, put their ears to his heart, turned an old jack knife and several nickels out of his pocket, and looked in his mouth. "Done gone," said the juryman with the fish-line belt, and all again retired to the scrub.

They were gone but a few seconds. On their return Justice Sutton pulled a blank book and pencil from his pocket, and prepared to record the verdict.

"Well, gentlemen, he said, "have you found a verdict in this case?"

"Yes, sah," was the reply.

"What is it?" asked his Honor, wetting the end of his pencil.

"De wardict am dat de cullered man am dead, an' dat he had no business out dah on de watah."

"Good God!" exclaimed Sutton. "Is that all?"

"Dat am de wardict," was the answer.

"Now, look here," Sutton broke out. "For God's sake, what's the matter with you? Haven't you got common sense? Any cursed fool knows the man is dead. He was out in the water, was caught by cramps, and drowned. It's as plain as the nose on your face. The law makes it your duty to ascertain the cause of his death. You haven't even found out his name. Go back and bring in a common sense verdict, or I'll fine every mother's son of you. The man was caught by cramps and drowned. That's all there is of the case."

The terrified jury walked back to the scrub, and the jolly mocking-birds greeted them with a new flood of melody. They were out nearly twenty minutes. Justice Sutton, book and pencil in hand, impatiently waited their return. The weather was hot, and the negroes came out of the bush with streaming faces. They had had a hard time. They brought in the following verdict:

"De cullered man am dead. His name it am Ephraim Jenkins. The cause of his death it am crabs. Crabs done caught him, an' he am drownded."

If the poles of a magnetic battery had been applied to Sutton's temples he could not have been more excited. "Blame your stupid souls," he cried. "Did you ever hear of a crab big enough to catch a nigger?"

"Hole on dah, Judge," broke in one of the juryman. "Dat ah am your wardict. You done tole de jury dat de crabs caught Eph. and he am drownded."

"Crabs be hanged!" shrieked his Honor. "I said cramps. Get away from here quick, or I'll put a fine on every man of you. Hope I may be shot if I ever put another nigger on a jury."

The colored men sloped, and Sutton fixed up the verdict to suit himself. They had intended to fine the clergyman $10 for dropping the tools in the river, "because," said they, "us ought to make de money well as de Judge." Up to this hour they firmly believe that they were outrageously swindled.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1874.

Another Chicago Fire.

About half past 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 14th, fire broke out in a paint shop on the corner of Twelfth and Clark streets, Chicago, through an explosion of materials the workmen were mixing. The shop was in the midst of a dense mass of small wooden buildings and the wind was blowing a gale, causing the fire to spread very rapidly toward the better portions of the city. At half-past 6 o'clock the fire department commenced blowing up buildings, but the only effect was to increase the conflagration. At 7 o'clock the fire had reached the fire-line of the big fire of 1871, and at 9 o'clock the First Baptist church, on Wabash avenue, was in flames. At this time the persons living or doing business on the line between the fire and the lake were making frantic efforts to save their property by moving, and the scenes of 1871 were enacted over again; the fire had burned over a strip four blocks wide and half a mile long, had cut off the principal telegraph communication with the eastern part of the State, and was destroying the post office.

All the mail matter in the post office was saved, the last loaded wagon leaving at 8 o'clock; ten minutes later it took fire and in a half hour was one mass of flame. At the corner where the post office was situated, the point where the first great fire was stopped, the firemen made a desperate effort to check this one and for a while succeeded. Up to this time the slums of the city had mainly suffered, Robert Laird Collyer's church and a dozen or more fine residences having been the only buildings of much value destroyed.

At about 10 o'clock the St. James Hotel took fire, the Gardner House, Continental Hotel and Adelphi Theatre having been burned. The fire was within two blocks of the Palmer House at half past ten, and working toward the Exposition building. Engines were on the way from Milwaukee, Aurora, Elgin, Racine and other places, to assist in subduing the fire. At 11 o'clock the fire was within one block of the Palmer House, the Mattison House was in immediate danger, and the Michigan Avenue Hotel was in flames; but strong hopes of saving the Exposition building and Art Gallery were entertained.

By half-past 2 o'clock, Wednesday morning, the fire was under control; the Palmer House and Exposition building were saved. The fire desolated a space of fifty-seven acres, destroying seventeen hundred buildings, most of them cheap wooden structures. Loss estimated at from four to six millions. Three children, one woman and three firemen are known to have perished. The latest report of the origin of the fire is that it was incendiary, the barn of a Jew having been set on fire, probably out of revenge.

To Political Prohibitionists.

We commend to the consideration of the prohibitory men in this State who think they should vote only for candidates who regard prohibition as the only question proper to be legislated upon, the following extract from the Springfield (Ohio) Republic. The honest temperance men who voted with—or at least in favor of—the democratic party last Spring, and thereby gave the State to the democracy, must acknowledge that their action would have put back the cause of temperance for years but for the noble stand of the republicans, who were not to be drawn into the betrayal of a great principle even by a desire for revenge upon the ill-advised enthusiasts who had betrayed their own cause. The Republic says:

We have been asked, within a day or two, by intelligent men, who the prohibitionists are. We suppose they refer to the knot of men in each community who annually go through the form of nominating themselves for office, when quite as good temperance men are brought out by the republican party. These good, honest, zealous men, most of whom were republicans, voted against us last fall, and elected William Allen Governor of Ohio, and thereby placed democrats in charge of all the asylums and other public institutions. Coming mostly, as they do, from the republican party, they are now doing their utmost, really and practically, to put the State into the hands of the democrats, without the remotest expectation that they will prove themselves to be the friends of the cause. We do not question their sincerity or honesty, but we think it the better way for all temperance men who are republicans from principle to remain in their party, where they have personal influence and power, and do what they can to bring it up to the right position concerning this matter. The place for a republican is in the ranks of his own party; and so long as he does his whole duty in the way of creating the sentiment and influencing the action of his party, he is free from blame.

A Nice Superintendent.

[Nashua Telegraph.]

One of the peculiarly inexcusable and contemptible acts of the late legislature was the removal of Mr. Beede, the republican Superintendent of Public Instruction, to make way for Mr. Symonds, the democratic incumbent of the office in 1871-2. The policy of including this position in the spoils of office is utterly indecent at any time, but when we remember that Mr. Symonds himself was permitted by a republican administration to serve out his term, both he and his party are utterly lacking in equity and manhood in displacing Mr. Beede before the expiration of his term. It will not do to tell us that Mr. Symonds is better fitted for the position than Mr. Beede. We know better. Mr. Symonds can't spell. It is no credit to Gov. Weston that he did not display a little of Gov. Straw's independence and say to the political sharks who invest him: "Stand back! I can make your political and judicial removals, but when you ask me to drag the educational system of the State into the dirty pool of partisanship, you ask too much. There is the door!"

The Telegraph publishes the following letter "from a prominent young democrat" of that county:

"We do not see with what right as democrats we could at any future time again object to the white-washing investigating committees of Congress, or with what right we could recur to affairs of that nature now past, if we did not come out openly, and squarely condemn the palpably one-sided, time-serving and scandalous course of Speaker Hatch in his appointment of the committee to investigate into the charge of bribery in connection with the railroad consolidation bill. We enter not into the merits of the bill, but declare the method of its passage clearly against law and decency. Those democrats who uphold the method of its passage are no better than they might be, and there is no better evidence of a good measure of scoundrelism existing within himself than for a democrat to object to this criticism. Upon the whole we'd rather cut off from playing on the string of white-washing investigating committees? Alas, it is so."

A Startled Bridegroom.

Not many weeks ago a wealthy and middle-aged bachelor of San Francisco espoused one of the fairest daughters of that city, and the wedding was celebrated in one of the most fashionable churches of the city. The bridegroom was a forty-niner, and he had once been anything but a sober and industrious citizen. There had been even rumors to the effect that when he made the overland journey he left behind him in "the States" a wife and two children, and these rumors were awkwardly revived when his recent marriage was first announced. But nothing came of the gossip. The forty-niner was now undeniably rich and respectable, and people were generally disposed to pass over his antecedents without subjecting them to scrutiny that might prove disagreeable. And so the wedding day arrived.

When the forty-niner and his bride turned from their places in front of the altar, after the clergyman had pronounced them man and wife, the spectators were astonished to see a tall, dismal-looking, and sable-habited man rise from a place in the front pews, approach the bridegroom, and gently tap him on the shoulder. The effect of this proceeding on the forty-niner was rather singular, for his countenance assumed a ghastly expression and he quickly resigned his newly made wife to her friends, and then anxiously looked to the stranger, who simply remarked, "I wish to talk with you a moment privately, sir." The forty-niner struggled hard to conceal his emotion, and finally said, "I assure you, sir, that—that—what in thunder did you come at such a time as this for?" "A moment will suffice," replied the funeral looking gentleman, very firmly; "please step into this pew." The forty-niner did so, while the assembled company buised itself in winking and looking alternately at the fainting bride and the agonized bridegroom. "When a man gets married, sir," said this dismal gentleman, "it is necessary for him to look with prudence upon the future, and he cannot begin too soon. Now, sir, a lot in the Oakdale Cemetery, which association I repre—"

This sentence was never finished. There was a chorus of female shrieks and a general gush of gentlemen, as the forty-niner was suddenly observed to seize his interviewer by the collar and kick him into the aisle. The enterprising cemetery agent was quickly disposed of, the trembling bride regained her color and composure, and thereafter all went merry as a marriage bell.

—The Vassar College girls, who were to remain at the College during the Summer, have gone to act as waiter girls at a Lake Mohonk hotel. This establishment which commands the services of the Vassar maidens is a Quaker house kept by the brothers of Miss Smiley, the preacher. Hence they are under religious influences, and are kept aloof from the world even while they are permitted to stay so immediately in it as they must be at a fashionable Summer resort. The young ladies are treated with every consideration by every one.

—Hon. W. Parsons, the lecturer, was telegraphed from a suburban town to learn the subject of the lecture he was about to deliver there. His answer was "Michael Angelo." Fancy his surprise when, arriving in town, he saw posted all over the walls, that he was to lecture on "Maniac Angels."

State News.

The corner-stone of a French Catholic church was laid at Suncook, on Monday, with imposing ceremonies. Bishop Bacon addressed the assembly in the French and English languages.

The house of Hon. John M. Hill, at Concord, was entered by burglars on the morning of the 14th, and about $40 worth of property stolen.

While the procession of Maginley's circus was passing down Washington street, Great Falls, on the morning of the 13th, the chariot containing the band tipped over, throwing the musicians out, injuring several, but not severely. Some came out with sprained ankles. Their instruments were more or less broken. The wagon was not much damaged. The accident was caused by the wheels sinking into a soft place in the road, which was owing to the heavy rain of Sunday.

Rev. John McKenna was ordained as a priest at St. Ann's Catholic church, Manchester, on the 14th.

Mr. Edwin S. Foster of Bristol a few days since captured on the platform of his store, in that town, an extremely rare insect, the "cylytus speciosus." The American entomologists state that only two specimens of this insect have been discovered,—one by Major Long (of Hopkinton) in his expedition to the source of the St. Peter's River, which is probably in the museum of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington; and the other in the Philadelphia Museum, probably captured in Pennsylvania. Mr. Foster has presented this to the Museum of the New Hampshire Antiquarian Society.

Since Cato's soliloquy, there has nothing appeared quite equal to this from a democratic Solon on the adjournment of the legislature: "Yes, this is a nice party. Last winter it went to work and made a platform pledging it against consolidation and in favor of a license law. Then its papers and leaders, after election, promised the people a short and economical session. And now they come here and use up the longest and most expensive session for ten years in passing a consolidation bill and killing a license bill."

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior merit to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his Improved COMPOUND and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 10 D 6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of drunkards, assumes his sources upon whom the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 1w

Something certain at last.—PILES is not only one of the most painful of human diseases, but professional men had almost despaired of finding a remedy, until the introduction of ANAKESIS by Dr. Silsbee, and after an experience of 20,000 cases in five years, doctors agree that an infallible remedy has been found. Sufferers will appreciate ANAKESIS after trying everything else in vain and then experiencing the bliss of instant relief and ultimate cure.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

In the Golden Age of Girlhood

Preserve the beauty of the teeth with SOZODONT, and then, when the hair is silvered and the eyes dimmed with years, the mouth will still revea two glittering rows of unsullied ivory.

Hair Restorers, &c., &c.—All sulphur and lead compounds have nearly disappeared; their poisonous mixtures having been found both ruinous to the public health and death to the human hair. Messrs Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors of the Celebrated Pain Killer, have lately introduced the Bearine which is rapidly taking the place of all other hair preparations, being a health-giving dressing perfectly delightful to use, prepared from the pure grease of the Canada Bear. 12

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity, notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 6th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

Local Matters.

Republicans Attention!

The Republicans of Ward Six under the new law, are requested to meet at the ward room in State street next Friday evening at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a Ward Committee. Per order.

As probably few of the residents in Ward Six (or any other ward) have any idea as to what ward they dwell in, we give the boundaries as laid down in the bill to reform abuses and secure an honest election by making one democratic vote equal to two republican votes,—engineered through the legislature by Marcy and Hatch, "Not because it was a partisan measure" but because justice and "the people" demanded it:

"Ward Six shall contain all that part of said city situated north of the northern limit of ward three, and easterly of a line commencing at the centre of Pleasant street, at a point opposite the centre of Richmond street, and running northerly through the centre of Pleasant street to Market square; thence in a straight line across Market square to the centre of Market street, thence by the centre line of Market street as far north as a point opposite the centre of Green street."

Bridge Company Meetings.

At the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Bridge Co., July 14, Ichabod Goodwin was elected President, and William H. Hackett, Clerk, with the following Board of Directors: Ichabod Goodwin, Samuel Hooper, Wm. H. Y. Hackett, Charles E. Barrett, William L. Dwight, Charles F. Hatch, S. L. Thorndike.

The Newcastle Bridge Co. has elected the following officers: T. Sheafe Coffin, President; William L. Dwight, Clerk and Treasurer; Wm. H. Y. Hackett, William W. Cotton, Thomas E. O. Marvin and John Walker, Directors.

The Cable Laid.

At last, after long and wearisome delay,—wearisome alike to the public and those immediately engaged in the work,—the telegraphic communication between Torbay and Rye Beach is completed. The Ambassador, at about three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, steamed from the lower harbor to an anchorage off Straw's Point, to the great delight of the thousands of spectators who lined Rye Beach for a mile of its length, on foot, on horseback and in carriages, and most of whom remained patiently through the afternoon and until darkness began to gather, when they reluctantly left. Two brass field pieces from Kittery had been transported to the beach with cartridges sufficient to fulfill the intention of firing a salute of one hundred guns upon the successful landing of the wire.

For the purpose of taking the cable on shore the Faraday's steam launch with two ship's launches in tow accompanied the Ambassador on her trip out from the lower harbor to Rye Beach. Upon arriving near the point at which the landing was to be effected, the Ambassador came to anchor about 1500 yards from the shore. After an hour or more spent in sounding, the launches were fastened together by means of strong ropes, and upon these two boats a platform of planks was constructed for the purpose of receiving the cable from the ship. This being done, this improvised floating barge was towed beneath the overhanging paying-out wheel at the stern of the Ambassador, and a sufficient length of wire was coiled upon the boats to run to the shore, the distance having first been measured by Sir William Thompson's sounding apparatus.

The transhipment of the fifteen tons of wire from the steamer to the boats took about four hours, and it was not till about six o'clock Wednesday morning that the splice with the land section was finished. The cable was successfully landed at three o'clock, amid the firing of guns and the cheers of the enthusiastic few who had determined to remain until the work was accomplished. The salute on shore was promptly responded to by the Ambassador's guns, and rockets and blue lights were let off from the ship, making it lively for Old Rye, and bringing quite a crowd to the spot to join in congratulating the managers upon the achievement. Ladies were present at the landing, some of whom laid hold of the rope attached to the wire and nominally assisted in dragging it to high water mark. It took about an hour to get the cable fairly laid in the long trench that had been prepared to receive it, after which the operation of splicing had to be performed, wherein some two hours were consumed. After the work of getting the cable on shore was concluded, ex-Gov. Straw invited to his house the cable managers and assistants and hot coffee was served out, which proved very timely and refreshing to the fatigued and jaded men, most of whom had been laboring incessantly for nearly twelve long hours. The sea was very smooth and everything favorable for the work. At 9:30 o'clock the Ambassador weighed anchor and steamed to the cable buoy off the Shoals, spliced the shore end with the end that had been buoyed, and then returned to Rye Beach to make sure the current was perfect and everything all right, arriving at seven o'clock in the evening.

The long delay in hearing from the Ambassador after the orders were sent to Torbay for her to return here at once, was owing to the dense fog, the steamer having laid at anchor at Torbay four days before her presence was known to the people in the station on shore! She also encountered fogs after leaving that favored spot, which delayed her arrival here.

Laconics.

We are informed that the order excluding Mr. Daniel L. Randall from the navy yard was issued on account of his using disrespectful language to Capt. Jonathan Young, the executive officer, when called upon to answer to a charge of not observing the police regulations of the yard, Mr. Randall being then captain of the watch. As we understand the matter, Mr. Randall considered his breach of discipline—a grave offence in military and naval estimation—a trifling affair about which a very unnecessary amount of fuss was being made, and spoke with more warmth than respect when questioned about it. We regret this whole affair, for Mr. Randall is a good citizen and we believe entirely trustworthy; and Capt. Young, unless the reputation he bears does not honestly belong to him, is as courteous a gentleman and as little inclined to trespass on the rights of others as any naval officer ever on duty at this station.

Mrs. William H. Swift of Watertown, Mass., formerly a Miss Gookin of this city, was killed by a railroad accident on the Troy & Greenfield Railroad in Massachusetts on the 13th. Another lady, and the paymaster and roadmaster of the line, were injured at the same time.

Commodore Bryson is to assume command at the navy yard, September 1st. Commodore Howell then takes the office of Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks.

The latest reports in regard to the investigation into the Beecher scandal state that Mrs. Tilton appeared before the committee before her husband was aware of the existence of such committee, and that Mr. and Mrs. Tilton have lived apart since the publication of the first Tilton letter.

At the launching of a schooner in Long Island, on Monday, four men were instantly killed and a number injured by the falling of a heavy timber.

During a recent thunder shower at Portsmouth, R. I., the powder arsenal at the coal mines, containing about half a ton of powder, was struck by lightning and the top part of the roof taken off as if cut off by some sharp instrument. From the roof the bolt seems to have left the building and to have struck outside of it in the ground. The building was of stone with a wooden roof, and stood at quite a distance from any other buildings.

A singular accident occurred at New Haven, Conn., on the evening of Sunday, July 12. A colored woman named Mary Taylor, twenty-four years old, created a disturbance at a prayer meeting at the Little Union church, and an officer of the society named Daniels undertook to put her out. When he got to the door he fell down the steps, his whole weight coming upon the woman. His knee struck her in the stomach, and it is feared she will die. Daniels is a heavy man, weighing nearly two hundred pounds. He has been arrested.

The house of Geo. G. Bailey, Esq., of the Patriot, at Concord, was broken into on the morning of the the 14th and $800 worth of valuables stolen. The thieves even stole the cuff buttons from Mr. Bailey's shirt.

—A good story is told of the manner in which the volunteer artillery practice with an Armstrong gun, by the London Figaro. Having set up a target a little larger than a man, they stationed about twenty yards away from it in a lateral direction one of their number known as Big Bob, to warn away the shrimpers. The first few shots flew wide of their mark, some of them so ferociously near to Bob that he got nervous, and was about to go away from there, when suddenly—spang! went a big ball through the centre of the target. "I'm all right now," said Robert, calmly feeling for his pipe; "they've laid on another gunner, and the fool is firing at me. I'll have a good smoke."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. For Sale in Greenland.

THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John E. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into pasturing and tillage; fine fruit orchard, etc., well known for the large quantity of plendid strawberries produced.

The house has an evergreen hedge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a full orchard of 300 apple trees, 30 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1300 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of fruit have been sold in a season, besides abundance retained for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between Greenland Station and Concord railroads. For sale at a bargain, if enquired for immediately.—C. G. ROBINSON, on the premises, or Butler & Laighton, Market Square, or Butler & Co., Market street. je1

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall carry them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall cut or bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 11. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 12. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. aug3 dlw

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper. If he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you nine boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NEUROLGIA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong,

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damage and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide spread reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still ranks the most effectual cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Fetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood, are the most concentrated purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all the other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR. Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and inherited predisposition, all turn the hair gray and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brushy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair restored with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickened, and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Daily Chronicle.

Rousing up a Slow Fighter.

He immigrated from Virginia City, and arrived afoot. Through motives pecuniary this was done, and, boots having been sacrificed on the way, his advent was made in feet encased in canvas, of texture coarse and strength prodigious. An humble man was he, who learned his trade in San Francisco, and who, during hours of idleness and relaxation, whiled the dreary hours away, during his early manhood, by running with the "masheen," and improving his mind and muscle by perfecting himself in the use of modern slang, and the cultivation of the art of striking from the shoulder. A mighty man was he, who in prosperous days wore a long-tailed black coat, a white handkerchief around his neck, and pantaloons turned up at the after part of the extremities, exposing a dainty stripe of red morocco lining; but his glory had departed, and, as was heretofore remarked, his hegira was accomplished independent of horse or locomotive. His once gorgeous wardrobe was disbanded, and he entered the "Queen of the East" like the maid who milked the cow with the crumpled horn, all forlorn. Upon his entrance into town, and before his attire was renovated in any marked degree, he skirmished around among the different saloons, receiving a subcutaneous application of much strong drink, and was as happy and contented as is customary under such blissful circumstances, until some of the boys conceived the unfortunate idea of joshing him. They criticised his raiment, scoffed at his general appearance, and cast reflections upon his immediate descent by asserting that he was an example of the theory of evolution. He bore it all with special fortitude and Christian resignation, until one of his tormentors suggested fight, and then his eyes twinkled, and his mouth twitched as if with pleasurable anticipations, and he requested an adjournment to the sidewalk. The congregation adjourned. When outside, this man from Virginia dropped his head, and, in quiet and subdued tones, but partaking strongly of the ancient Jackey intonation, he spoke: "Mister, yer a stranger to me, and I ain't had no introduction, but jist hit me one for luck, kinder you know, for my future happiness depends upon it," and he received it just under the ear; but it fazed him not, and without any apparent perturbation he again spoke, saying: "Mister, please thump me and thump me good, for it's sorter blissful, and makes a fellow think of old times, when 'I' run a full rope, and carried a fox tail;" and he got it the second time, with the same result as the first. "Now," continued the hard-headed citizen, "just gimme one more, and make it a lifter;" but the striker was weary, and refused to do the bidding, whereupon the solicitor softly remarked in a monotonous sort of way: "Well, if yer won't I guess I'll mash you," and he did in a manner, too, that made him revolve like a fly-wheel, and when the recipient landed the Western Weston was atop of him. They were separated, but the gentleman from Virginia has not been "joshed" to any great extent since Sunday night.

A Stern Father and His Degenerate Sons.

[Utica Herald.]

On Saturday, July 4th, Mr. Jones gave to each of his boys twenty-five cents, to be expended as their inclination might dictate, but at the same time he intimated that it would be well for them to donate the money to the cause of foreign missions on Sunday. The boys, with a perversity hardly to be credited when we reflect on the advantages they have enjoyed from the cradle, went to a disreputable shop, and bought, one five cigars, the other, twenty-five cents worth of fire crackers. Sauntering home, one smoking and the other toying with the fire crackers in his coat-shirt pocket, they met their kind father on Chancellor Square. The smoker threw away his cigar, which lit on a bench, and the boy with the fire crackers, feeling sure that his father would see right through his coat shirt, sat down on the same bench. The father commenced the kind and instructive remarks which he had hastily prepared when he saw his boys coming, but had not finished when, without warning, his son on the bench suddenly became the centre of a brilliant, sharp and rapid series of pyrotechnic explosions. The unhappy youth gave one yell, which in its vigor far surpassed the finest vocal effort of Capt. Jack, and immediately left his affectionate parent and disappeared down Bleecker Street, with the fireworks still in progress, and that is all we can learn concerning the disappearance of the boy Jones. What makes the affliction doubly sad for Mr. Jones, is the fact that the lad went off before the parent had finished the instructive observations he was delivering when the affair occurred.

A Novel Vessel.

The Inflexible, the latest pattern of warship, now building for the English navy, is an extraordinary vessel. What may be called her distinguishing characteristic is that she will have, in the sense of vulnerability, no "wind and water-line" at all. Every one must know that the vitals of a man-o'-war lie along the belt of her flotation—a breach of her sides in that region lets in the sea and swamps her. The Inflexible carries all her side armor upon a central space 110 feet in length. It is twenty-four inches thick, and protects with that monstrous wall of solid iron her engines, her crew and her battery of four eighty ton guns. Along the rest of her—fore and aft—there is no vertical armor, but a thick inside cushion of cork of enormous buoyancy, more than sixty feet square in section, surrounding bunkers full of coal for the supply of the ship. A horizontal deck of thick metal extending fore and aft from the citadel, at a depth of six or seven feet from the water-line, will cut off all this unarmored upper portion from the real head of the vessel.

Thus if the enemy should send shot or shell through every coal bunker and corner of the Inflexible, forward and aft, letting in the water everywhere, he could only—if the design answers expectation—lower her a single foot in the sea. Her citadel, it may be confidently expected, he could not pierce; at any rate with guns at present in use. In a word, the constructors of the Inflexible give an enemy the upper slices of the ship, except her citadel, to do as he likes with, and it is by making the ends floatable under any circumstances that the iron work of the ponderous citadel, with its turrets and freeboard, can be carried. The ram and the torpedo are therefore the only perils which threaten this forthcoming fighting ship; but, perhaps, these also might be provided against if her bottom under the water-deck were constructed in many compartments.

Eternal Desolation.

[Overland Monthly.]

In the northwest corner of San Bernardino County, lying partly also in Inyo County and by the newly-surveyed line partly also in the State of Nevada, is a region paralleled by few other spots upon the face of the earth. We say the world is instinct with the life. Here, if the phraseology may be pardoned, is a place instinct with death. A huge basin, whose rim is the ancient hills, stricken with the barrenness of eternal desolation; whose bosom, the blasted waste of the desert—treeless, shrubless, and waterless, save a few bitter pools like the lye of potash water; surrounded by mountains that tower thousands of feet above the sea-level, itself lying three hundred feet below the sea. It is a very "Gehenna"—a place of death and bones. Birds do not fly over it. Animals do not enter it. Vegetation cannot exist in it. The broad sands absorb the heat, the bare mountains reflect it, the unclouded sun daily adds to it. Ninety degrees in the shade (artificial shade, there is no other) means winter. One hundred and thirty and one hundred and forty degrees, that is summer.

The hot air grows hotter, wavers, trembles with heat, until nature, goaded to madness, can endure no more; and then the burning blast rouses itself—rouses in its might; rouses as an angry beast, with a hoarse ominous roar: sweeps mile after mile, on, ever on, over the broad reach of the desert, bearing in its black, whirling bosom—black as the midnight—dust, sand, alkali, and death. Sometimes a murky cloud gathers upon the mountains above; then there is a rush—a warning sigh on the winds,—a low rumbling in the air; the hills quiver, the earth trembles, and a torrent, half water, half mud, bounds from the hills, leaps into the desert, plowing chasms like river beds in the loose sand. The clouds scatter, the sun comes again, the eternal thirst of the desert is not quenched. The raging river was only a dream.

In the year 1849 a party of emigrants entered the basin. Day after day they toiled on, thirsting, dying. The pitiless mountains walled them in; no escape. One by one they dropped and died. A few, abandoning everything, scaled the mountains, and escaped. The others lie as they fell, dried to mummies—no birds even to devour their flesh; no beast to prey upon them. Wagon-tires unrusted; gun-barrels bright, untarnished. Such is the place. Mile after mile silence reigns; silence—and death.

Cut This Out.

Every person should know how to treat a flesh wound, because one is liable to be placed in circumstances away from surgical and veterinary aid, where he may save his own life, the life of a friend or of a beast, simply by the exercise of a little common sense. In the first place, close the lips of the wound with the hand, and hold them firmly together to check the flow of blood until several stitches can be taken and a bandage applied. Then bathe the wound for a long time in cold water. "Should it be painful," a correspondent says, "take a panful of burning coals and sprinkle upon them common brown sugar, and hold the wounded part in the smoke. In a minute the pain will be allayed, and recovery proceeds rapidly. In my case a rusty nail had made a bad wound in my foot. The pain and nervous irritation were severe. This was all removed by holding it in smoke for fifteen minutes, and I was able to resume my reading in comfort. We have often recommended it to others with like results. Last week one of my men had a finger-nail torn out by a pair of ice-tongs. It became very painful, as was to have been expected. Held in sugar smoke for twenty minutes, the pain ceased and promised speedy recovery."

—The Chicago Journal says, "The mania for shams made the Mill River Reservoir dam a cheat." We have always felt the same way about a cheat, but did not dare express ourselves.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1874.

Dangerous Reservoirs.

Massachusetts has about the same luck with its reservoirs as Chicago does with fires. There has been excitement at Lee lest that town be subjected to a flood similar to those on Miller's and Westfield rivers. On Sunday, the 12th, it was discovered that a hole had been pierced through the dam of Scotch pond, and only the discovery and the prompt drawing off of the water saved a disaster which would have been ten-fold worse than the one at Middlefield. Scotch pond is 200 feet above the village, yet only one and one-half mile distant. It has been ascertained that the primary cause of the Middlefield disaster was the giving away of the Goose Neck reservoir, located far up in the hills, near the Hinsdale and Peru town lines, so that three reservoirs were actually carried away, instead of two, as reported. There is no probability that any of them will ever be rebuilt. Other villages farther up the stream are apprehensive of danger from reservoirs. The people of Becket are beginning to think that they stand in jeopardy. It was deemed advisable to open the gates of some of their large collections of waters Monday. The village was well nigh flooded by the falling rains. Some buildings were for a time in such danger that goods were removed from them. A little break in the dam of a reservoir added to the freshet would have washed them out completely.

The new dam erected last season on the old Parker mill site in Hubbardston by the town gave away on the 12th, causing great damage and loss of property.

Readables.

The Indiana democrats in State convention have passed resolutions favoring the redemption of the five twenty bonds in greenbacks; a return to specie payments as soon as the business interests of the country will permit, and opposing the Baxter temperance bill and favoring a license law.

Chicago had another fire Wednesday afternoon. Twenty houses were destroyed. Says the Chicago Tribune of the 15th: Every cool-headed observer of the previous fire must have felt that we have paid a penalty; after allowing our magnificent business centre to be surrounded with wooden rookeries, we have come off cheap. A great gilded martyr around which faggots have been so profusely piled has not yet been burned to death. Perhaps this small calamity will show us how to save it. Perhaps not. There are now some sixty acres of burned territory between the faggots and the victim. This gap may be the means of saving what is left. If so, let us thank God. The predestined fate of every wooden building in a large city is to be burned some time. We have now offered up sixty acres of our combustibles as a sacrifice to the genius of fire institutions, meaning thereby the freedom of every man to keep a tinder box and an oil factory where it suits him best. Would that we could say this is the last of such mad folly. If not, Chicago still has thousands upon thousands of wooden shanties to feed future fires and go down.

The race at Saratoga Lake, Wednesday, between the Freshmen crews of Princeton, Yale and Brown colleges, was won by Princeton in 18,12 1-4. Yale was half a length behind, and Brown five and a half lengths. Mileox of Yale won the scull race in 14,12 1-4, two lengths ahead of Devens of Harvard, and twelve ahead of Phillips of Cornell.

Gov. Weston, with the advice of his Council has made the following appointments:

For Merrimack county—William W. Flanders of Wilmot, County Solicitor, vice L. F. Flint, removed; William Yeaton of Pittsfield, Register of Probate, vice Isaac Hill, removed; Edwin Judkins of Franklin, Sheriff, vice Frank S. Dodge, removed. For Carroll county—William M. Pitman of Bartlett, Judge of Probate, vice Larkin D. Mason, removed; County Solicitor, O. C. Moulton of Ossipee, vice Josiah Hobbs, removed. Hon. Hiram R. Roberts declined the appointment of Judge of Probate for Strafford County, and Moses C. Russell of Great Falls was appointed. John P. Hazelton and Martin H. Cochran of Suncook were removed, and Elijah B. Hazzen and John H. Sullivan were appointed Police Justices to fill their places. Samuel Upton and Henry E. Burnham, Police Justices of Manchester, were removed, and Joseph W. Fellows and Newton H. Wilson nominated to fill the vacancies.

Mr. James A. Edgerly, the Great Falls lawyer who was shot at a few months ago because he had been prosecuting liquor dealers, has been sending postal cards to every dealer in the place, announcing that he will prosecute all sales of liquor made after the 20th of this month. The rumsellers are especially vexed that the democracy did not relive them by repealing the law which Mr. Edgerly uses to their discomfiture.

The Great Scandal.

The Brooklyn Argus of the 15th says: A gentleman of high standing in the community, who has taken an active part, both as the friend of Mr. Beecher and of Mr. Tilton, said, this afternoon, "Mr. Tilton is in a tight place and he realizes it. Mr. Beecher would not permit any one to broach the subject of a compromise at this stage of affairs, and the committee have scouted the idea. They have already heard enough to convince them that Mr. Tilton has a weak case and that he is at present trying to avoid an issue."

Mr. Tilton said to a Brooklyn Union reporter the same day: "I have tried for four years, using my best wit, which has proved small, in endeavoring to cloak and conceal the facts which are now to be divulged. The responsibility of divulging them belongs not to me, for I would rather keep them buried. This responsibility belongs to Mr. Beecher, who has commissioned six men of his own church to examine into the facts, which, when they are made known, will put an end to Mr. Beecher's ministry, show him to have been guilty of a degree of criminality which the world little suspects, and to have attempted to shield himself by putting forth another man's breast as the armor which was to receive the blow. As to compromise I know nothing. I shall accept none. It is a day of battle and death."

A Fast Editor.

[Middleport (Ohio) News.]

We have been hauled over the coals, with the thermometer at 90, for our article suggesting a race between the Kittydid and Chesapeake. Every steamboat explosion since the day of Fulton down to the present time have been related with all their horrible details. We have been charged as an accessory before the fact, with blowing up both boats. To this last we plead guilty, but we did it through the paper, and no one was hurt. In vain we asserted that no boat was ever blown up in a race, or if she was, would have blown up anyway. We referred to the J. M. White, Eclipse, Pike's Natchez, to the "old Pittsburg line boats," that were undoubtedly run hotter than any other boats before or since. We showed conclusively by evidence of the engineers of every boat that ever exploded a boiler, that it was too much water, and not too much steam that did the mischief. We contended that no engineer was ever found asleep on the foot-box, during a race, but, on the contrary, they were on the alert to see that their machinery was working all right, and that the water did not get too high. We, in common with all mankind, have a certain regard or affection for anything fast—except a woman—be it boat or horse. Our heart goes out in sympathy to the old darkey who said he would rather be Captain of the Wild Wagoner than door-keeper in heaven. We admit the expression is not altogether chaste, but it is very expressive, and we believe came from the heart. We, unfortunately, are not so situated pecuniarily as to own either boat or horse, but we take pride in our watch. She did not run to suit us—in fact, was rather slow—we docked her, and gave her more stroke. The result was wonderful. She is now the fastest watch in town. She will make forty hours in twenty-four, and do all her stopping. We will run her against any watch above the falls. We believe in fast boats, fast horses, and fast watches; and if we owned only a hen-coop we would have that fast, particularly in this neighborhood.

Hand-shaking.

How did people get in the habit of shaking hands? The answer is not far to seek. In early and barbarous times, when every savage or semi-savage was his own law-giver, judge, soldier and policeman, and had to watch over his own safety, in default of all other protection, two friends and acquaintances, or two strangers desiring to be friends and acquaintances, when they chanced to meet, offered each to the other the right hand, the hand alike of offense and defense, the hand that wields the sword, the dagger, the club, the tomahawk, or other weapons of war. Each did this to show that the hand was empty, and neither war nor treachery was intended. A man cannot well stab another while he is in the act of shaking hands with him, unless he be a double-dyed traitor and villain, and strives to aim a cowardly blow with the left while giving the right and pretending to be on good terms with his victim.

The custom of hand-shaking prevails more or less among all civilized nations, and is the tacit avowal of friendship and good will, just as a kiss is of a warmer passion. Ladies, every one must have remarked, seldom or never shake hands with the cordiality of gentlemen, unless it be with each other. The reason is obvious. It is for them to receive homage, not to give it. They cannot be expected to show to persons of the other sex a warmth of greeting which might be misinterpreted, unless such persons are very closely related to them by family or affection, in which case hand-shaking is not needed, and the lips do more agreeable duty.

—At a recent prayer meeting of colored people at Erie, the decency and good order of the meeting being disturbed by a negro named Brown, whose prayers in public were only incoherent ravings, the pastor inquired: "What fool niggar's dat prayin' down dar nea' do'?" A dozen people replied with one voice: "It am Brudder Brown, sah." "Den," replied the pastor, "Brudder Brown subside, and let some one pray dat's better 'quainted wid de Lord."

—A bachelor had the blues, and applied to a doctor for medicine. The doctor inquired into his case, and wrote a prescription in Latin, which the bachelor took to the drug store. Translated, the prescription read: "Seventeen yards of silk, with a woman in it." After the druggist got through laughing, the bachelor proposed to a lady that evening, and was married in two weeks.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious sleeps are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his improved COMPOUND AND PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 19 D 6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his ourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aspirate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

Something certain at last.—PILES is not only one of the most painful of human diseases, but professional men had almost despaired of finding a remedy, until the introduction of ANAKESIS by Dr. Silsbee, and after an experience of 20,000 cases in five years, doctors agree that an infallible remedy has been found. Sufferers will appreciate ANAKESIS after trying everything else in vain and then experiencing the bliss of instant relief and ultimate cure.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

Preserve the beauty of the teeth with SOZODONT, and then, when the hair is silvered and the eyes dimmed with years, the mouth will still reveal two glittering rows of unsullied ivory.

Hair Restorers, &c., &c.—All sulphur and lead compounds have nearly disappeared; their poisonous mixtures having been found both ruinous to the public health and death to the human hair. Messrs Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors of the Celebrated Pain Killer, have lately introduced the Rearine which is rapidly taking the place of all other hair preparations, being a health-giving dressing perfectly delightful to use, prepared from the pure grease of the Canada Bear. 12

Heimbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Heimbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

TRAVELLERS will find an easily prepared and most satisfactory beverage in the Vanilla Chocolate prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston. Established 1780. A single trial of this agreeable drink will prove the truth of our endorsement. Most dealers sell it.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the whisker from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and efficiently produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the handwriting of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensable prerequisite to appointment.

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

He goes to Switzerland to superintend the manufacture of a new style of watch now in course of construction for that house at their works in Geneva, and will be absent about three months.

The Concord Monitor says; Probably of all the the contemptible legislation effected at the late session, the amendments to the Portsmouth charter are the worst, albeit that to the Nashua charter is only a little way behind.

The picnic of the Wolfe Tone Club at Cushing's grove, Dover Point, Wednesday, was a successful affair, about 500 persons from this city attending, besides many from Dover.

The laying of the cable was completed Wednesday night at midnight, and the party on board was landed Thursday morning at four o'clock. Several ladies were quite sea-sick. An elegant dinner was served on the Faraday.

Mr. Philip Hichborn, Assistant Naval Constructor, U. S. N., who for the past four years has been attached to the navy yard, is ordered to go to New York, without delay, for examination for promotion. The examination will be competitive, but Mr. Hichborn's friends have no fear as to the result. This is the first instance where an Assistant Naval Constructor, standing at the head of the list on the Naval Register, and who has always attended to his duty to the satisfaction of the Navy Department, has been subjected to a competitive examination.

Christopher Remick, of Kittery, was sunstruck in that town last Tuesday.

The meanest specimen of a newspaper reporter that we have met with during our twenty years' connection with the press is a representative of the Boston Globe sent here for the purpose of reporting the cable matter. We only hope that the Globe will send him again, so that we may be able to secure his photograph. We have a use for it.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Dover Democrat writes as follows: A few weeks since we were driving down one of the roads in Virginia, and were surprised to find an old Portsmouth face emerging from a plantation on which a neat two story house was standing. The situation and surroundings were very comfortable and betokened the abode of some well-to-do farmer. The face we saw was that of a former millionaire of our city, whose palatial residence a few miles out used to be the resort of the wealth and fashion of these parts, and where an Ex-President made his head quarters, but in an evil day, copper stocks and New York brokers were too shrewd, and the lawyers and sheriff made sad havoc with the princely mansion. It is now in the hands of the receiver and the former occupant a Virginia farmer.

Democrats and Students.

[Boston Traveller.]

The recent session of the New Hampshire Legislature was prolific of much partisan legislation, in which the democratic majority showed of how little value were their ante-election promises, and how little sincerity there was in their clamor for reform and improvement in our civil service. No pains were spared to bend legislation to party purposes in every conceivable direction. Neither long and valuable public services, experience nor peculiar capabilities, nor even obscurity, served to shield an office-holder from the vengeance of the now dominant party of New Hampshire. With vulture eye it discerned the possibility of profit in the most inconsiderable position, and the humble J. P. shared the fate of his more conspicuous fellow official, and saw himself succeeded by some place-hungry partisan to whom the petty perquisites of the office were welcome after long-enforced abstinence.

But it was not only in establishing political proscription, in gerrymandering cities, and in reviving a worn-out system of judiciary, that the democratic majority of the legislature showed how recklessly partisan it was, and how little it cared for the public weal when compared with party prosperity. It fully realized the truth that the liberal spirit of education is opposed to democratic principles and democratic practices, and it resolved, since it could not bend or break that spirit, to obstruct its progress and punish its authors. Against the protest of the minority, despite the angry remonstrance of the people, in their blind desire to sweep away everything between the democracy and continued possession of the loaves and fishes, and to be revenged for past opposition, the democratic leaders hurried through the legislature a bill relating to the right of students to vote, which should have been entitled, "An act to punish students for their republican predilections and to obstruct education." The measure provides that residence in any town merely for the purpose of obtaining a literary education shall not qualify a person to vote in that town, thus disfranchising the students of the State. The act takes effect upon its passage.

The intention of the measure is made all the more apparent by the last provision, by which it is meant to deprive the republicans of student support at all future elections. A more shameless attempt to punish men for their opinions recent legislation has not afforded, and the measure smacks more of the days of the Stuarts than of modern times. The literary institutions of the State every year send out hundreds of cultured young men who naturally are attracted by its high ends and aims to the republican party. To punish these institutions this disgraceful measure was passed; but it has a farther-reaching and more detestible purpose, and one which clearly shews how deep and ineradicable is the democratic hate and fear of enlightment, the child of education. It is intended by this measure, which makes temporary loss of citizenship the price of higher education to students over twenty-one, to drive from New Hampshire those whose principles render them so obnoxious to the democracy, and thus cripple those institutions, and consequently that whole system of education of which the Granite State is so justly proud. And this measure is the work of that party that is so horrified at republican corruption and incapacity! Whatever wrong acts the republican party has committed, it cannot be charged with having opposed enlightenment; and it is reserved for the democrats of New Hampshire to lead in an attack on education, avowedly in the interest of party. We believe, however, that democratic intolerance overreached itself in this case, and that the measure which they hoped would be a stepping stone to continued power, will prove a stumbling block in their path. The people will not put up with the party that attacks education by disfranchising students, although they might have forgiven many other sins, and this that party will learn to its cost at the next election.

When the people of New Hampshire reflect how false to the interests entrusted to its charge, and to party pledges as well, was the recent legislature, they will refuse to vote for the continuance of that party's power, when such a vote would be in favor of political proscription, partisan legislation and above all, a popular endorsement of a most unscrupulous attack upon education, on whose progress the success of the State depends, as well as the happiness of the people. New Hampshire, when called upon, will answer, that it will have no more to do with the party that, not content with gerrymandering and proscription, must needs attack the schoolhouse and the college.

—A Chicago clergyman preached a sermon one Sunday in a billiard saloon. He made nineteen points.

—A man named Howard, of Delaware, has been sent to State prison for five years for stealing a flat-boat loaded with tar. A blacker crime was never committed.

—Said Young America to his papa: "Pa, are you a Britisher?" "Yes, my son, I was born in England." "Well, we whipped you," retorted the youngster.

—They are approaching an election in Indiana which will "turn on liquor." If turned on more freely than heretofore, the boldest may well hold his breath until it is over.

—A Bowery merchant who had declined to advertise in the Commercial Advertiser, because "nobody would see it," came around a few days after to offer $25 to have his name kept out of the police reports.

—It is a solemn thing—a very solemn thing, to get married—to feel that henceforth through life the mild-eyed girl at your right is to be the only female in the wide world duly licensed to throw flat-irons at your head.

—A Paterson, N. J., man who had placed several lightning rods on his house was delighted, during a recent storm, at seeing it struck in two places, while the house of his neighbor, who was too mean to pay for a lightning rod, was not struck at all.

—The Marquette Mining Journal says: One sad result of the panic is that several have felt constrained, by way of economy, to give up their church pews. If business don't pick up soon, we fear some of our citizens will be obliged to sell one or two of their bull-dogs.

—A Danbury man, on hearing the bells toll for the death of Mr. Sumner, rushed out and exclaimed, "Where's the fire?" "There is no fire; Charles Sumner is dead," was the reply. "Did he live here?" "No." "Going to be buried here?" "No." "Well, what's up, then?"

—Mr. Nathaniel Ordway, of Newburyport, has a half-grown chicken which has deserted the rest of the flock, and taken up his abode with the pigs. He lives with them, eats with them, and roosts on their backs during the night. The quadrupeds seem fond of his company, and show him all imaginable courtesy.

—The former Chief of Police of Terre Haute, Ind., was recently married under unusual circumstances. His little son, tired of living without a mother, suggested to his father the lady whom he would accept as a stepmother. The lady was sought, and listened to the singular proposition. She awakened her little daughter and laid the subject before her. The child consented to her mother's marriage, and it took place the very next day.

—"And when in after days," said a learned counsel in the court room, "we meet together around the social hearth, where I shall no longer be oppressed by the heat and burden of the day, and you, gentlemen, will find yourselves in other scenes than this, at rest from arduous labors, then, as we talk together of by-gone times, may you be able to say that the first thing you did on returning to the jury room was to unanimously agree that you could place no reliance whatever upon the testimony of that man Smith."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or examining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form so secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are carried off by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 21. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m10 d3m

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for an ordinary stove; thus all waste is saved.

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Barlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Jobbers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impuré state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

Prepared by Dr. H. S. Flint & Co.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by a corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the surest effectual relief of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their effects, which is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Kept by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic CURING Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Inflammation, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. These effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure the worst cases. Being free from all the ills of the blood, they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 1. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No render of me at at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may the direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25-d8m

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR. Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked, and baldness, if still hair thickens, and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. It promotes a sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustrous and richness of tone it imparts.

Irish Bulls and Blunders.

The Irish have achieved a great celebrity in the matter of bulls and blunders. By the uninitiated, these are terms which are constantly confounded; but, when they are looked into, it will be seen there is the greatest difference between them. Blundering arises from stupidity, and the stupid are a race who are found all over the world; but the bull—a peculiarity that belongs exclusively to Ireland—is always connected with thought, and originates in the imaginative power of its people. It is not at all a dull absurdity which no one can comprehend—it is always comprehensible, even when it is most confused. It proceeds, not from want, but the superabundance of ideas, which crowd on each other, so fast in an Irishman's perioranium that they get jammed together, so to speak, in the doorway of his speech, and only tumble out in their ordinary disorder.

Confusion may, indeed, be called a national characteristic. It pervades all Irish history. If the stream of the latter in early days has its gleams of bright tranquility, sorely troubled does it become as it descends the steps of time, till, as it flows on in the latter ages, it encounters obstructions, political and religious, which give it turmoil and perplexity that we cannot survey without deploring. As with the affairs of unhappy Ireland, so has it ever been with the peasantry. Public and social disorders have communicated a jar to the brains of Pat; and, if he can be accused now and then of being a little erratic in his sayings and doings, he can at least console himself by pointing to a long historical authority. He may say:

"Arrah! now, why wouldn't I be confused? Wasn't all of us confused, and from the airliest times, and isn't a man to be consistent? Would you have him turn his coat when scarcely a rag of it is left him?"

A good example of a bull may be cited in the case of two Irishmen, who, fancying that they knew each other, crossed the street to shake hands. On discovering their error:

"I beg your pardon!" cried the one.

"Oh, don't mention it," said the other. "It's a mutual mistake; you see I thought it was you, and you thought it was me, and, after all, it was neither of us!"

A good pendant to this is told of two friends who met, and referred to the illness of a third:

"Poor Michael Hogan! Faith, I'm afraid he's going to die."

"And why would he die?"

"Oh, he's got so thin! You're thin enough, and I'm thin; but, by my sowl, Michael Hogan is thinner than both of us put together!"

A bull is sometimes produced by the false use of a word, as in the case of an Irish watchman giving evidence at a police office:

"What is this man's offense?"

"He was disorderly, your worship, in the strass, last night."

"And did you give him warning before you took him into custody?"

"I did, your worship; I said to him, 'Disparse!'"

Again, a bull may be occasioned by a confusion of identities, as when it was said of an ugly man that he was handsome when an infant, but he was unluckily changed at nurse; or as it was shown in the fervor of a girl, who, desiring her lover's miniature, and he fearing it might lead to discovery—

"Oh, it needn't," she exclaimed; "I'll tell the painter not to make it like you!"

And again, a bull may be owing to a limited amount of knowledge, as in the case of an old woman going to the chandler's for a farthing candle, and being told it was raised to a half-penny on account of the Russian war—

"Bad luck to them!" she exclaimed; "and do they fight by candle-light?"

Apart, however, from all of these, the ordinary sayings of the Irish have an imaginative quality which is just as characteristic, and not at all confusing. As for instance, when they say of a man who is irretrievably ruined:

"Saltpetre wouldn't save him, and that is a strong pickle;" or when they would advise another to avoid arrest: "Be off while your shoes are good;" or, as they delicately say of an elderly lady whose number of years they forbear to mention, "A kitten of her age wouldn't play with a cork."

And apart from all these, again, is the genuine humor of the Irish, which has nothing of the bull in it, whatever, but, on the contrary, the clearest notions, and very often the shrewdest sense. I will only cite a couple of instances, which will not be the less welcome if they happen to have been heard before:

A gentleman seeing an Irishman staggering homeward from a fair, observed to him:

"Ah, Darby, I'm afraid you'll find the road you're going is rather a longer one than you think."

"Sure, your honor," he replied, "it's not the length of the road I care about; it's the breadth of it is destroyin' me."

And again, in the bog of Aughrim, in the last century, plenty of gun-barrels used to be found as a memento of its great battle, and there was a blacksmith who dug them up in order to make use of their material. On one occasion one of them exploded in his furnace, when he exclaimed:

"Bad luck to your love of murther! isn't the battle of Aughrim out of you yet?"

SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1874.

No--He Thanks You!

The democratic leaders thought to be rid of Judge Hiram R. Roberts, of Rollingsford, by making him Judge of Probate for Strafford county, which Hiram cannot "see," and therefore declines. The railroad war in the democratic ranks divides the party in twain. The railroad influence nominated Weston for Governor and carried through the legislature the bill consolidating the Boston & Lowell and Lowell & Nashua railroads. Judge Roberts was second in the race for Governor, and by usage is entitled to the succession next year. He was ably supported for the nomination this year by John H. Pearson, the People newspaper and the anti-consolidationists. The declination of Judge Roberts means that he is to be the democratic candidate for Governor next March or there will be such a precious row that it will be of no use to nominate any one else. Pearson's blood is up! His opponents won a temporary victory in nominating Weston this year, and foolishly thought their victory complete. Not so the anti-consolidation leader, who proposes to triumph next year by means of the foolishness of his opponents.

A Democratic Prohibitionist.

Mr. Joshua L. Foster, now of the Dover Democrat, was one of the strongest opponents of the prohibitory law during the years he conducted the Portsmouth Times; but some time ago he experienced a change of heart in this matter, and has ever since been a red-hot, outspoken prohibitionist. We need to know what wrought the change; we merely state the fact. In a recent editorial on the action of the legislature on the free rum bill, he speaks of his stand for temperance as follows:

"We took the ground that, whereas, the sale and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage was publicly and unequivocally acknowledged and proclaimed to be a great evil by all parties and by the best men of all parties, therefore it was the clear and bounden duty of the legislative authority to put the law against it and upon the side of moral right."

The Democrat then claims that the democratic party as such is a prohibition party, in the following language:

"The democratic Legislature of New Hampshire, representing the sovereignty of the people and the unmistakable voice and will of the democratic party, affirms the correctness and justice of our position, and we stand in perfect harmony on this question with the overwhelming majority. These are the plain, simple, unvarnished facts, and we record them with becoming modesty and the most unbounded pleasure. We now most devoutly hope that this extremely annoying and troublesome liquor question has received its final settlement. A republican Legislature enacted the prohibitory law, and now a democratic Legislature has adopted it as its own by refusing to repeal it and by refusing to enact the license and local option principle in its stead. This ought to settle the policy of our State, and put this vexed question out of our party politics. We shall not disturb the settlement, and anybody who attempts to do so should be considered as no real friend of the democratic party. The representative sovereignty of the State in democratic hands has spoken and let all the people say Amen."

Mr. Foster does not quarrel with the rum plank of the platform on which the democrats (with the assistance of the prohibitionists,) won their accidental victory, nor with the Rum Leagues which furnished money to aid in carrying the State; neither do we quarrel with him for those omissions, though we should like to have the free-rum platform and anti-rum legislation of the democracy reconciled.

State News.

William W. Colburn, who has filled the office of principal of the High School in Manchester for about thirteen years to the entire satisfaction of the people, has been elected principal of the High School of Springfield, Mass., at a salary of $3000.

Intelligence has been received in Manchester, that William Hayward, the well known ballad singer, died suddenly at Sidney, Cape Breton, on Thursday. He was a native of Manchester, where his mother still resides. He leaves a widow and one child.

They have had to "pass" the July term of the Probate Court over in Strafford county, on account of the failure to seasonably appoint new officers to take the place of those removed for political heresy. Thus the public business suffers while the scramble for place and plunder goes on.

The democrats who had the independence to vote against Sinclair's license law in spite of all caucus and personal dictation, were: Prescott of Deerfield, Holtt of Durham, Lane of Lee, Fletcher of New Durham, Hall and Boody of Strafford, Annis of Albany, Drew of Wolfeboro, Fellows of Chichester, Jones of Pembroke, Sargent of Hudson, Russell of Mason, Chapman of Windsor, Wetherbee and Holbrook of Swanzey, Weeks and Rixford of Winchester, Thissell of Lempster, Daniels of Plainfield, Akers of Errol, Knight of Gorham.

The Manchester Union, democratic, is responsible for the report that the editor of Foster's Democrat is sad. He lent his free pass over the Eastern Railroad to a friend, and as such articles are forfeitable if transferred, the conductor very properly appropriated the ticket. Joshua appealed for its return, but in vain. Joshua denies the report.

The late Hon. Anson S. Marshall, who was killed by a rifle shot at Concord, on the Fourth of July, had secured an accident insurance policy for $5000. He had also secured a life insurance policy in two other life insurance companies, for $2000. The three policies are for the benefit of Mrs. Marshall.

The Boston and Athletic base ball clubs sailed from Philadelphia, Thursday, for England. They will return in September.

On Thursday, the Chicago base ball club, every member of which had been burned out of house and home by the Sunday fire, beat the Philadelphias, 10 to 3.

Two Belfast (Me.) boys named Edwin Kean and Russell Howard attempted to cross the river at that city in a boat made out of a dry-goods box, but it filled and capsized. The Kean boy was rescued, but the Howard boy was drowned. His body was recovered in a few hours.

It is stated that the editor of Foster's Democrat stepped inside the door of a shop used as a democratic headquarters, where several of the unterrified were growling over what had and what had not been done by the democratic legislature, and sung out: "Buckrams to the front; how do you feel, d—— ye? Pretty set to lend the democratic party!" and then turned upon his heel and left.

The new passenger station at Dover, on the Boston & Maine Railroad, was opened for business on Wednesday. The building is of brick and granite and contains every accommodation for the travelling public.

Keene has raised $300 for out-door concerts this season.

William W. Fox jumped from a passenger train near Amoskeag station, Thursday, and received injuries which will probably prove fatal.

Readables.

Advices from Spain state that the Carlists, after a repulse in a second assault on Puigcerda, have abandoned the siege.

A female passenger, supposed to be Miss Clara W. Corey of Providence, jumped overboard from the steamer Long Branch, when off Providence on Wednesday evening, on her excursion trip to Newport. A boat was lowered; but as she sprang overboard forward of the wheel no trace of the unfortunate woman could be found.

The Newport (R. I.) girls have taken to bathing in public without fig leaves, and one of the papers mildly says it would seem that this thing had gone about far enough and needs looking after.

While four boys, Charles Berger, Daniel Wilkinson, Martin K. Kirke and Alfred Winters, were swimming in Long Island Sound, near Glen Cove, Wilkinson became exhausted or was seized with the cramps. Winters and Kirke went to his rescue, when he violently clutched both, and as they were unable to free themselves from his grasp all three were drowned.

Lowell was visited by a terrific storm at noon of Thursday. The steeple of the Congregational church was blown over and many other buildings had exposed portions blown away, while several were struck by lightning. The damage to trees was very great. A severe tornado was reported at the same time in Lynn, Lawrence, Milford, N. H., Newburyport, and Rockland, Me.

Thirteen mad dogs were killed in New York by policemen on Thursday.

Goldsmith Maid trotted a mile in two minutes and sixteen seconds, Thursday.

The Boston aldermen have acted commendably in refusing to grant licenses to circuses which have children exhibiting as acrobats, gymnasts or equestrians, who are under fifteen years of age. The training of children to such deeds of daring is encouraged to a great extent by the patronage extended to circuses indiscriminately. Were the aldermen of every city and the selectmen of every town in the land to follow the humane action of the Boston authorities, there would be less suffering among the poor, abused children who are compelled to exert themselves unnaturally under penalty of beatings which would horrify the spectators who so generally applaud the appearance of these "little innocents" in the ring.

Vociferous Applause.

It isn't often that a member gets so literally "stamped out," says the Mirror, as did the gentleman from Newmarket, Mr. Mellows, on Tuesday night. A long bill, tinkering the school laws, was under consideration, and Mellows took the floor for a long speech upon it. He had spoken almost a minute when a most vigorous stamping of feet rang through the hall. Taking this to be "immense applause" the member straightened up, and with a gorgeous smile upon his countenance, waited for it to subside, taking meanwhile a new chew of tobacco to steady his nerves for another effort. When he launched out again the stamping was repeated, and as it became more immense with his every attempt to get in a sentence, it crept through his brain that instead of being rapturous approval of his speech the noise was a notification that the House had heard about enough of his talk for one session. Then he got mad and bellowed like a bull, putting his voice against the three hundred boots which were beating a lively retreat on the dusty floor, but it was an unequal contest and the orator finally retreated in a very demoralized condition.

AGENTS WANTED for

"TELL IT ALL"

By Mrs. T. B. H. Stenhouse, for 25 years wife of a Mormon High Priest. With an introduction by HARRIET BEECHER STOWE. Two years ago the author wrote a pamphlet on Polygamy which excited the Mormon newspapers to Sacrilegly incite her to write a book and "Tell it All." Eminent men and women urged her to accept the challenge, and "Tell it All" is the result. It is the only book on this subject ever written by a Mormon woman. 625 pp. superb, by illustrated and bound. It outsells all other books three to one. It takes like wildfire. Sp-100,000 will be sold. Agents, now is your opportunity. Our Descriptive pamphlet, terms, &c., sent free to all. Address, A. Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious sops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his Improved COMEDONE and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great Vegetable Specific for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult Dr. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 16 D6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his suavest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All diseases which those demoralizing nostrums aggravate, under pretence of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. Jes4 1w

Something certain at last.—PILES is not only one of the most painful of human diseases, but professional men had almost despaired of finding a remedy, until the introduction of ANAKESIS by Dr. Silsbee, and after an experience of 20,000 cases in five years, doctors agree that an infallible remedy has been found. Sufferers will appreciate ANAKESIS after trying everything else in vain and then experiencing the bliss of instant relief and ultimate cure.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

In the Golden Age of Girlhood

Preserve the beauty of the teeth with SOZODONT, and then, when the hair is silvered and the eyes dimmed with years, the mouth will still reveal two glittering rows of unsullied ivory.

Heimbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Bears.—Since Messrs. Perry Davis & Son commenced the manufacture of Bearine, the Canada trapper has found a lucrative business in capturing old Bruin. Messrs. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and difficult to eradicate. It purifies the blood, throws out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disorganize. Ayer's Sarsaparilla expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Throat, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats,
Flowers and Ribbons,

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay as the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And for dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

Local Matters.

Down the River.

A choice delegation of city and county officials, with a sprinkling of civilians,—an extremely select and intellectual party,—went down river on Thursday to have a cunner fry on the rocks, a sail, and a good time generally. The dinner was prepared on Fishing Islands, and was just ready for eating when the shower of that day commenced to threaten them. Oh! then and there was devouring in hot haste; the Judge wasn't to be swindled out of his dinner by any mere thunder storm,—he only insisted that the old sailors of the party shouldn't ask him to go out in the boat in a squall and get drowned,—he could combat water on dry land better than anywhere else; the Deputy Sheriff wouldn't even look at the approaching thunder storm until he had eaten the solitary cunner which had cost him two hours' hard labor to catch and cook; and the Marshal wasn't to be driven from those delicious fried onions by anything short of a second deluge. The rest of the party didn't care anything about the shower anyway, until it struck them, when they struck for the shelter of the rocks, and got off with a full set of wet shirts all 'round. The excursionists had a jolly time in spite of the shower, and mean to try it again. That crowd don't care much for water.

"Fashion."

As our reporter of the High School Exhibition (last year and this) protested against the custom on the part of the young lady graduates of "dressing" so much for the occasion, we have procured for publication the "composition" of Miss Maybel Moses, on "Fashion," read at the late Exhibition, that both sides of the question may be heard. Here it is:

Among the ladies of to-day, whether going to the theatre, to parties, to church or even to walk, the great cry seems to be, "What shall I wear?" This is not so surprising after all, for we all like to look well. Fashion pleases the eye with its various forms and colors. People of different complexion, size and education must differ in dress, and fashion is but the rule that is dictated by the needs of society.

The fashions of older times far surpassed ours in eccentricity and the great extremes to which they were carried. In the fifteenth century Moustrelet in his Chronicles relates an amusing story of a wandering priest, who uttered such anathemas on the high head-dresses of the time that none dared wear them in his presence. He excited the little boys by granting them certain certain days of pardon, to pull down the steeple-caps of the fashionable ladies. These young rascals succeeded so well that the ladies were often forced to seek shelter in places of safety, and the holy father triumphed at last, and celebrated his victory by a bonfire of head-dresses, before his pulpit in the principal square of the city. But no sooner had the energetic friar gone to preach his crusade elsewhere than the embroidered turrets again rose to the height of two or three feet. That friar had ideas beyond his age. How he would have delighted in the light, pretty, lace bonnets of to-day. He might possibly have been charmed into Pere Hyacinthe's position. He would have agreed (with us ladies) that the small hat is most stylish and convenient.

The wearing of flowers at the throat or in the hair is now very fashionable, and a pretty, artistic idea. Flowers are always becoming and seem to have been so regarded long ago. When Charles the Eighth of France made his entry into Naples, the ladies of that city placed upon his head a chaplet of violets. What would the gentlemen of to-day think of such a reception from their lady friends?

The pretty, stylish, comfortable walking dress of to-day compares favorably with the immense hoops of twenty years ago, which caught and upset everything they came near. These were borrowed from the reign of George Second of England, when ladies wore a kind of side hoop petticoat remarkable for its inconvenience. To avoid disarranging the dress, coaches were made with movable roofs and a frame and pullies by which the ladies were dropped in at the top. The excess of skirts and the exceedingly small cap fashionable at this time gave an appearance of inferiority that lessened the true dignity of woman.

Chains were fashionable in the sixteenth century and were frequently bequeathed in wills. In 1517 Sir Thomas Parr, father-in-law of Henry Eighth of England, left by his will to his son a chain of gold weighing two pounds, which had been given him by that monarch. Rings and charms have a long history. Archbishops were wedded to the church with rings which were rich with gems, chased flowers and religious emblems. Mottoes were for a long time in general favor, sometimes engraved on the outside, sometimes on the inside of the ring.

In looking over the old fashions we find that we are wearing our grandmothers' styles, with only slight changes. In all ages have there been leaders of fashion whose extravagance has furnished a never-failing subject to the satirist. We of the present day suffer persecution on account of our ruffles. The flowers and clouds have ruffles, too. We cannot help liking them, and our sewing machines hem them, buzzing away all the time so that we cannot gossip with mother and sister. Has it occurred to the strong moralist that the hum of the sewing machine is quite an effective bridle to that "unruly member" so productive of discord in this fair world of ours?

There may be some cynical critics who will to-day more closely observe our dresses than our essays, and will mournfully wish that the "High School girls wouldn't dress for a ball." Well, we do not often graduate and who can blame us on so important an occasion for liking to look as pretty as we can? We are going to be economical; we shall wear our white muslins to all the weddings of our friends for some years; and not long ago a young lady of this school wore her graduating dress at her own wedding. When they look a little mussed for festive occasions we can catch up the trains and wear them to church, or make them over for our little nieces. The critics ought to remember that New England girls understand making a thing at the same time pretty and useful.

Paymaster Geo. H. Griffing of the Receiving Ship Sabine received a dispatch on Friday stating that his oldest brother, Mr. Charles H. Griffing of West Hartford, fell into the Connecticut at Middle Haddam, Thursday, while attempting to get on an excursion boat, and was drowned.

The Rochester Courier says of the defeat of the license bill in the legislature: Kent of Portsmouth was the happiest man in the House; and his speech, coming as it did from a reformed man, touching in its portrayal of the dangers of intemperance, pleading, as it did, against any encroachment of the power of rum, helped defeat the bill, and Mr. Kent had a right to be proud of its defeat.

The cable steamers Faraday and Ambassador went to Halifax to take in coal, thence go to Torbay to lay the Newfoundland section, and then home to England, which ought to be reached by the middle of August. After loading, the ocean cable will be laid and, it is expected, opened for messages by the tenth of next September.

The republicans of Portsmouth have commenced their work for the municipal campaign of September. The wards will be thoroughly canvassed and the party will go to the polls more determined and harmonious than for several years past.

On Friday there were about 300 boarders at the Appledore House and 75 at the Oceanic. Steamer Appledore makes trips Saturday evenings, returning after the "hops."

A pleasant picnic party of 150 persons from the Court Street Christian Society passed a day at Cushing's grove, two miles above Dover Point, on Thursday. Station Agent Samuel Barrett, of this city, Conductor True W. Jones, Col. "Jo" Cushing and wife, and Mrs. Drew (who offered the use of her residence during a shower) were especially courteous to the picnickers, who returned home delighted with their day's enjoyment.

The Journal refers to the essay on Fashion which we give in to-day's paper, and the fashion the young lady graduates of the High School have of getting themselves up for the occasion in array which beats Solomon and his lillies all to pieces, as follows: "The essay on 'Fashion' by Miss Moses, demands more than passing notice, for it was a delicately written and ingenious argument from her point of view. But we must here digress and again strongly protest, as we had occasion last year, against the increasing uselessness, so to speak, of overdressing, which for so many years has seemed to form a particular feature of the graduating classes. The dresses may possibly be utilized in the manner referred to so wittily by the essayist; still it should be remembered that the great expense which each one is in a manner compelled to bear can hardly be afforded by the parents of the majority of the members of the class, especially coming as it does at the end of a long school term, the necessary and useful expenditures of which are large enough."

W. Scott Smith, the Washington correspondent of the Traveller, Gen. H. B. Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, and Miss S. M. Brady, of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, are summering with G. H. Jenness, Esq., at his Rye Beach residence. It takes newspaper people to search out good accommodations.

The city fathers went through the usual routine of business, Thursday evening, granting A. F. Craig leave to encumber Union and Middle streets for building purposes, granting leave to the St. Olivet Baptist Society to put in new benches and a pulpit at the South ward-room, and authorizing the erection of a gas post on Hanover street near the Pearl street church. The committee on fire department was authorized to purchase a lot on Deer street for a new engine house, for $600. Chapter 15 of the revised ordinances was amended.

It may be well to have the names of the streets painted correctly, and in this connection we would suggest that the time-honored name of "Vaughan" should not be belitted by the omission of the second "a," as painted on the gas-lantern at the corner of Congress and Vaughan streets.

Rev. Father Waldron of Baltimore will preach on Sunday at half-past 10 o'clock, A. M., at St. Mary's church, for Rev. Canon Walsh, who has been dangerously ill for several weeks, but is now gradually improving in the genial air of the "Westworth," where he is sojourning at present. Father Waldron is a native of this city, where he has many friends, and a large audience will greet him on this occasion.

Eld. J. Couch will preach to-morrow in the Advent chapel on Hanover street. The public is cordially invited.

Miss Fanny Peterson, Miss Mary Harratt and Miss Emily Bracelin came near drowning Friday evening, through the upsetting of a boat at the navy yard landing. They were rescued with difficulty by a seaman from the Wabash, who promptly jumped overboard to lend a hand, and Messrs. Nathaniel and Frederick Danielson.

At a meeting of the Republicans of Ward Six, held in the State street ward room on Friday evening and presided over by Mr. Daniel L. Randall, the following named gentlemen were elected a ward committee to serve until the September election: Daniel L. Randall, Samuel H. Kingsbury, J. Horace Kent, John Knowlton, Plumer D. Norton, Washington Freeman, Thomas E. Call, Edward J. Moulton, Josiah T. Brown, Joseph W. Neal.

Masonic Excursion.

[Manchester Mirror.]

Trinity Commandery of Knights Templar of this city starts on the twenty-sixth of August on the morning train for Portsmouth, being joined at the station by Mount Horeb Commandery of Concord. From Portsmouth the two Commanderies go to the Isles of Shoals, where they will meet Hugh de Payne Commandery of Keene which will have left home the day before and have spent the night on the island. Trinity Commandery will spend the day and take dinner at the Shoals, return to Portsmouth and stay over night, go to Haverhill the next morning and take dinner there, then go to Lawrence and spend a few hours in that city, coming home the same evening. The Concord Commandery leaves Portsmouth the same day and returns home by way of cars and boat to the Weirs and down the Montreal road. The Keene Commandery stays at the Shoals and in Portsmouth till the evening of the 27th and then comes to this city, where its members will be received by the Commandery here, spend the night and go home at eleven o'clock the next day. Trinity Commandery will be accompanied by Dignam's Band, Mount Horeb by Brown's Band of Fisherville and Hugh de Payne by some band from Keene's vicinity. The programme foreshadows a large and splendid affair.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Reasonable conditions. Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary fees to be paid to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

20 State Street, Boston,

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of your Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of fermentation and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not soluble, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution, and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Microscopic Writing.

Mr. William Webb, of London, has produced a curiosity in microscopic writing. He has accomplished the feat by means of machinery on glass, with the aid of a diamond. The writing consists of the Lord's prayer, which is written on glass in a space equal to one two hundred and ninety-fourth part of an inch in length by one four hundred and fortieth part of an inch in width, a space corresponding to the dot over the printed i. The dot of writing has been enlarged by means of a photograph so as to occupy a space of about two inches long by one and a half broad.

The photograph brings the words out legibly, the number of letters being 227; such is the fineness of the original writing that 20,431,458 letters written the same way would only cover one square inch of glass surface. The whole Bible, including the Old and New Testaments, contains 3,566,480 letters; therefore Mr. Webb could write the entire contents of more than six Bibles within the space of one square inch. Two specimen plates of this microscopic writing have been produced for the United States museum, at Washington, at a cost of $50 each.

The Webb machine, however, does not equal in fineness of writing or the perfection it has attained, a similar machine, the invention of Mr. Peters, a wealthy banker of London. This machine produced writing, as long since as 1855, nearly three times as fine as Mr. Webb's. It was competent to engrave the entire contents of the Bible, twenty-two times over, within the space of a single square inch.

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the Medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 30 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education, evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such case the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

CRUMBS Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. OF Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish. COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. OF Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets. COMFORT

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. OF In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS Have just taken the premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, OF in competition with several of the best old stove polishes. COMFORT

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the Lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of their vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among nearly every one civilized enough to read, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, and CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. Its prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other substance capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to doby one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may, give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 21. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m26 d2m

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable, and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and bald or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, humors, all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Daily Chronicle.

Getting a Free Pass.

"Is the superintendent about?"

The clerks at the Boston and Providence Railroad office in Boston looked up from their books and accounts and saw a specimen of the genus New England Yankee, since the day of enterprise yearly getting scarcer. An old man of 67 or 70 years of age, whose face continued exposure to the sun had browned to a mahogany color, whose thin iron grey hair struggled out from under a felt hat a little the worse for wear, whose "store clothes" were a dozen years old in fashion, whose expanded bony hands and vast extent of wrist projected far beyond the coat cuff, and broad square brogans, tied with leather strings and guiltless of blacking, stuck far through the end of his pantaloons.

One of the officials, in answer to the inquiry, pointed toward a desk, where sat an alert looking, clean cut, all alive sort of a man, and said "That, sir, is Mr. Folsom."

"Harnsome!" said the old fellow, "yaas, so, so; but praise ter the face is open disgrace, as Aunt Jerusha used to say."

"What can I do for you to day?" asked the superintendent, cautiously eyeing the visitor who stood before him, in the midst of a subdued snicker from the clerks.

"Day! Yaas, very fine day. Don't spose you remember me, do ye?"

"Your name I must have forgotten."

"Mustapha Cotton? Thunder, no! Cotton was the feller what did the gradin.' I only furnished the sleepers."

"What grading do you mean?" said the superintendent.

"Gradin' done mean? Gosh all hemlock! I should think it was. Bottom dropped right aout on't."

"What contract are you talking of, sir, and what do you want of me?" said the official, a little nettled.

"What do I want to see, why yew if yew air the superintendent. Yew air, a'nt ye!"

"Yes," said the railroad officer, with a nod, "I am."

"Wall, ye see, I'm a little deaf, and I used to furnish sleepers fur the road, I did. Sold nigh six hundred an only forty thrown aout."

"You must be mistaken," said the railroad man, shouting into his visitor's ear, "we haven't made any contracts for sleepers for some years."

"Seven years! Wall darn it all, 'twas longer ago n'that. I made the trip with Raymond Lee—d'ye remember Raymond Lee—little fellar, not ser tall as yer—smart ez er steel trap."

"Yes, I remember him; he was superintendent of the road twenty years."

"Twenty years ago? Yaas, yaas. Wall, I moved east more'n ten years ago; I was farmin' on it then up back of Attleberry; owned a piece of land up there on sheers with Jo Fairbanks—him as broke his leg in a harrow in the widder Burt's field—darned fool—told him the steers would start as he might hev known—"

"Well, well," said the railroad officer impatiently,—"what is your business?"

"Wall, I hev been runnin' a thrashin' machine last fall down ter Augusty, Maine, tendin' a saw mill till last week; lumber ain't mov'n so quick ez it used to, and—"

"What is your business here, I mean?" said the superintendent, "What do you want?"

"Want—why I want to go to Attleberry."

"Well, why don't you go? There's the station, and the train leaves in ten minutes."

"Wall, I han't got no ticket—en ef you could give me a free pass—"

"Why should I pass you free? I can see no reason."

"Why, you know, I sold them sleepers to Raymond Lee a cussed sight too low, an he said—"

"What!" shouted the exasperated officer. Do you mean to come to me for a free pass over this road because twenty years ago you sold Mr. Lee fifty dollars' worth of sleepers? This is too much."

"Tew much! No, sir; yew couldn't buy them air sleepers naow for double the money, an' Raymund Lee he wan't so close o' his passes, fur when I cum down here an settled with him an got talking with him, he told me if I'd only go up to Attleberry he'd gin me a pass—"

"Good gracious!" said Folsom, sinking back in his chair, hoarse and exhausted with shouting, with the great drops of perspiration on his forehead, "so will I if you'll only go. Mr. S., buy him a ticket for the next train, and charge it to my account. I won't write him a pass, he might come back here on it."

Barnum's Hippodrome.

The chief place of amusement in New York at the present time, and one which monopolizes nearly the whole of public attention, is Barnum's Hippodrome. The Hippodrome occupies the entire block bounded by Fourth and Madison avenues, and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, the site of the old Harlem and New Haven depot. The building is 427 feet long by 200 feet wide, with a seating capacity of 10,000 and standing room for 5000 more. All the best seats are opera-house chairs. Instead of the ordinary circus ring there is a race track, 35 feet wide at the ends and 26 feet wide at the sides, its continuous length (inside measurement) being one-eighth of a mile. Upon this course the grand procession and the races take place. The space enclosed by the race course is devoted to some of the other performances, and is beautified by flowers, shrubs and fountains. Within this enclosure is the band-stand and director's stand, the latter being upon the side, the same as the judges' stand at a race course. A substantial roof covers the seats and the track, leaving an elliptical space 80 feet across for a canvas covering, which is supported by six centre-poles. This centre space is to be covered by a substantial and graceful roof of iron and glass during the tour of the company to Boston. The immense amphitheatre is conveniently divided into balcony, parquette, private boxes, family circle, etc., and there are commodious entrances on Fourth and Madison avenues. The exits are eighteen in number. The museum and menagerie are located on the ground beneath the tiers of seats, and the dressing-rooms are similarly situated on the opposite side. The menagerie contains an immense collection of rare animals, and in the museum will be found an innumerable display of curiosities of all kinds. The horses are stabled elsewhere.

The entertainment exceeds in extent and variety everything in the way of arenic sports ever seen—at least in modern times. At the beginning there is the "Congress of Nations," an immense procession, with allegorical or characteristic representation of all the leading nations of the world. This employs between four and five hundred persons and a large number of horses, together with elephants, camels, etc. The regular sports of the arena succeed this grand display, and in addition to the races, which constitute the most exciting feature, there are some very remarkable performances. The Herculean feats of M. Henri Joignery, the French athlete, naturally excite wonder and surprise. After making "boys' play" of enormous dumb-bells of several hundred pounds' weight, he lifts a horse and his rider while suspended by his feet to a trapeze. Satsuma and Little All-Right do some astonishing balancing acts, and Mlle. Victoria's performances upon the lofty wire are of the most thrilling kind. A slender wire is stretched half the length of the hippodrome, thirty-five feet from the ground, and upon this the young lady performs, while enveloped in a sack, with a bandage over her eyes. She also traverses the wire on a velocipede. The racing, however, as already intimated, is the chief charm of the entertainment. There are flat races by ladies on English thoroughbreds, Roman chariot races, with each vehicle drawn by four horses abreast, a Roman standing race, where each rider stands upon two swift running horses, a race with English and American jockeys, pony races, and by way of variety, elephant and camel races. Some of these are intensely exciting, and they are carried on in most cases in real earnest. The chariot races are perhaps the most interesting. The drivers are generally ladies, and as the steeds are sent helter skelter around the track, each driver striving for the mastery, the scene is most animated. The enthusiasm of the participants in the races is often quite as great as that manifested by the audience, and several accidents have occurred. At one stage of the entertainment twenty or more race horses are set at liberty on the track, and from their eagerness to press to the front it is evident that they enjoy the contests of speed quite as well as their masters and jockeys. A finer spectacle than these magnificent animals coursing around the tracks at full speed was never witnessed. Another feature is entitled "Twenty Minutes of Fun, or the Lancashire Races." The inner enclosure suddenly becomes a tented field, over which roam hundreds of men, women and children. There are wheelbarrow races, sack races, donkey races and the climbing of greased poles, with all the other vagaries of a Lancashire gathering, and all these are taking place simultaneously, or nearly so. By the brief description given it will readily be gathered that Boston has a rich treat in store in Mr. Barnum's approaching visit to that city.

The Great Boat Race.

[Boston Journal.]

After postponing the college races on Saratoga Lake two days, a fair start was had Saturday. As soon as the nine boats were in position, a howitzer on the adjoining hill belched forth the signal for the start at forty minutes past eleven, and amid breathless anxiety the start was effected.

Words cannot adequately describe the beauty of the scene. Fifty-four stalwart backs were bent forward as if moved by one set of muscles, and in an instant the prows of nine graceful shells were parting the waters and leaving the southerly shores of the lake rapidly behind.

The boats are off! cry the college boys as the American ensign on the staff of the signal station announces that the gun just heard, the smoke of which is curling up over the green background of Snake Hill, was the signal for starting.

"We will give you the position of the first prow across the first mile," says the engineer. "Three crews are pretty even," says old collected. "I tell you they are struggling hard." "Terrible hot for such work." "Ha! there is a flag! It is Columbia! C-o-l-u-m-b-i-a-a-a!" shouted the boys bearing Columbia's colors. "There goes Harvard's flag! she is second." "Trinity is third!" "Princeton third!" They are pretty close to each other, and a look up the lake descries their blades flashing, with every indication of nine clear, double banks of straining spruces, bent by the stroke like moving knots of eels beneath the oily skins of as many half-dozen brawny skins. It was a grand sight.

At the start Columbia and Williams shot ahead, leading Dartmouth and Wesleyan about a length, Harvard and Yale close on to Wesleyan, the magenta a little ahead, and Trinity and Princeton last.

At the first half mile Columbia was a clear length ahead of Wesleyan, Harvard coming up on Wesleyan at the last quarter of the first mile. Harvard and Wesleyan were neck and neck and having a beautiful brush for the lead. Williams was leading Dartmouth, Princeton and Trinity still at the rear.

Yale was now coming up steadily, had collared Harvard and was gaining on Wesleyan and Columbia rapidly, and rowing about 33 strokes to the minute.

At the mile and a quarter Yale had lapped Columbia and had left Wesleyan in the rear. A spurt of Harvard brought her up close to Yale, who had showed her head to the front, Columbia and Harvard neck and neck.

At this juncture Yale stopped rowing, and to all appearance had been fouled by Harvard. At the mile and a half Columbia was leading Harvard, who were pressing hard for the lead, Wesleyan lapping Harvard and creeping upon her.

At the finish of the second mile the race was between Columbia, Harvard and Wesleyan, who was spurting and coming up fast amid intense excitement. Wesleyan soon shot ahead of Harvard, and was rubbing Columbia hard, Williams, Dartmouth, Cornell and Trinity next in order, and about three lengths behind the leading crews, Princeton being in the rear seven lengths.

At the first quarter of the last mile Williams pulled up on Wesleyan and struggled hard for a good position; Williams, four; Dartmouth, five; Cornell, six; Trinity pressing Cornell, Princeton being practically out of the race.

Off the Wesleyan Boat House, Columbia was drawing away from Harvard, who was lapped and soon passed by Wesleyan, who was pulling thirty-six strokes. A most beautiful struggle ensued between the three leading crews, Harvard spurting beautifully to 36 strokes, but unable to keep pace with the powerful strokes of Columbia at thirty-six to the minute, and Wesleyan pulling 38 to the minute and straining every nerve for the first place.

Williams was coming up well on Wesleyan on the west side and taking a diagonal course for the finishing line. "She won't do it!" cries the crowd, but the purple is making a magnificent fight for the next better place, and her men jump forward and give the finish to their stroke as well as they have shown in practice; but she is left no better, for the next dozen sweeps of Dartmouth's strong men take the green in fourth.

B. Frank, captain and stroke of the Columbia fainted and was seized by the crew and carried on their shoulders up the hill to Moon's Lake House. Before reaching the house he had recovered entirely.

This is the most reliable time taken: Columbia, 16 minutes 42 seconds; Wesleyan, 16 m. 50 s.; Harvard, 16 m. 54 s.; Williams, she being third with her stem over the line, 17 m. 8 1-4 s.; Dartmouth, 17 m. 31 s.; Trinity, 18 m. 23 .; Princeton, 18 m. 38 s.; Yale not taken.

The crowd began to pour down to the dock, and stream along it more like mad than sane people to see the winning crew, then pulling to the slip at Moon's float. The scene on Moon's grounds cannot be described. The New York students roughed each other and smashed hats, danced, sang, leaped, and secured a band of music and kept it continually playing "Hail Columbia." The headquarters of Columbia were at Congress Hall, and around the hotel it seemed as if Hades itself had overflowed and deposited its surplus of shrieking humanity upon the spot.

The college from which comes the victorious crew is an ancient seat of learning in New York city, and was formerly called King's College.

A French View of the War.

"The History of the Civil War in America," by the Count de Paris,—the two first volumes of which are announced to appear shortly in the French capital—is attracting much attention in European literary circles. The last number of the Revue des Deux Monde contained several passages from the work, and among them the following:

At the beginning of the year 1861 one of those acts of violence which ambitious men often know how to disguise under names which are the finer in proportion to the culpability of their motives, rent the United States republic and kindled in it civil war.

A coup d'etat was attempted against the Constitution of that republic by the powerful oligarchy which reigned in the South and had long domineered in the councils of the nation. Whenever the common law, which insures equally to the few and isolated the respect of their rights, and to the majority the full enjoyment of political power, is violated by any section of society, despotism is founded, unless that attack is severely repelled. Beaten in the presidential election of 1860, the Southern States wished to recover by intimidation or force the influence which they had hitherto exercised for the advantage of slavery, and while proclaiming aloud the words "independence and liberty," they trampled under foot a sacred contract as soon as the national vote pronounced against their policy. But success, that great justifier of providential men, was wanting to them, and victory sanctioned the cause of right and legality.

It was then seen what a fund of energy the wide and constant practice of liberty amasses among nations happy enough to possess and wise enough to guard it. America had already solved one of the most difficult problems of our age by developing liberal institutions amid a democratic society, but no great internal crisis had yet come to try their solidity. Many people asserted that at the first storm this fragile plant would be plucked up from a soil incapable of nourishing it. The blasts of civil war arose, and it was, on the contrary, the vigorous tree of American institutions which, extending its shadow over the country in which it had struck such deep roots, preserved them from imminent destruction.

At this crisis the American people learned to value their Constitution more than in the past, and proved to the world that the statue of Liberty is not a vain idol deaf in the hour of danger, but the holy image of a powerful divinity which must be invoked in adversity.

Happily the comparison between the noble movement of 1775 and the resort to arms by the slave-owners in 1861 was as false from the military as from the political point of view. At the time the colonies rejected the authority of the mother-country all the strategic points of their territory were occupied by the English. It was sheer necessity to conquer the whole. They had nothing to lose, and could not deem themselves beaten even when the enemy was still in the heart of the country. In 1861, on the contrary, the Confederates, masters of all the territory which they claimed to withdraw from the legal power of the new President, had need of that vast region, on the one hand, to maintain the institution of slavery, and on the other, to support their numerous armies. When it was invaded they felt themselves vanquished. What was possible in the war of independence, when the number of the combatants was limited, was no longer so. Washington and Gates, Howe and Cornwallis, had usually under their orders only 10,000 or 15,000, and very rarely 20,000 men. These small armies could subsist upon the country they occupied. It was not, indeed, always without difficulty, and Washington's soldiers suffered terribly in the winter they passed at Valley Forge. The English army, traversing a comparatively rich country, from Philadelphia to New York, was obliged to carry its provisions with it, and Cornwallis lost all his baggage in North Carolina, which he marched through as a conqueror; but neither were subject to the vast commissariat system which supposes a fixed and assured basis of operations and without which considerable armies cannot be supported in America. They subsisted and sojourned for long months beside an enemy who was master of the country.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious sleps are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and in every case infallible. Or for his improved COMPLEXION AND PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult H. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 10 1-6m

The "Gentleman in Black," who is the tutelar demon of dram-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters dired with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

Something certain at last.—PILES is not only one of the most painful of human diseases, but professional men had almost despaired of finding a remedy, until the introduction of ANAKESIS by Dr. Silsbee, and after an experience of 20,000 cases in five years, doctors agree that an infallible remedy has been found. Sufferers will appreciate ANAKESIS after trying everything else in vain and then experiencing the bliss of instant relief and ultimate cure.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

In the Golden Age of Girlhood

Preserve the beauty of the teeth with SOZODONT, and then, when the hair is silvered and the eyes dimmed with years, the mouth will still reveal two glittering rows of unsullied ivory.

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Bears.—Since Messrs. Perry Davis & Son commenced the manufacture of Bearine, the Canada trapper has found a lucrative business in capturing old Bruin. Messrs. Davis & Son pay a good price for the grease, and the skins are always sought after. Messrs. Davis & Son have a mode of refining the grease, perfuming it, &c., making it superior to any other we have ever seen. 13

Special Notices.

Chapped Hands, face, rough skin, pimples, ringworm, salt rheum and other cutaneous affections cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the Juniper Tar Soap, made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. Be certain to get the Juniper Tar Soap, as there are many imitations made with common tar which are worthless. f5

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats,
Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

Local Matters.

Laconics.

Papers will now be sent free through the mails to subscribers living in the county.

The name of the young man whose prompt gallantry probably saved the lives of two of the three young ladies who were accidentally thrown into the water at the navy yard landing on Friday evening, is Henry Taylor, and he belongs to the Receiving Ship Sabine instead of to the Wabash as at first reported. Mr. Taylor found the job he had undertaken difficult enough to make him very glad when other assistance arrived, and would prefer not to have his courage and humanity tested in that way any more. We are pleased to announce that probably nothing more serious than a little nervousness and extra caution in boating matters will result to the young ladies.

There were 500 boarders at the Appledore, Sunday. The Saturday night "hop" was largely attended.

An unknown correspondent, in a communication lauding the Isles of Shoals as a place of summer resort, gives the remark of "a gentleman who had travelled in Europe," as he surveyed the view from the piazza of the Oceanic,—"This view reminds me of the Bay of Naples more than any other place I ever saw,—lovely, grand, enobling." As the Bay of Naples is a pocket of water surrounded by magnificent mountains, and the Shoals are rugged islands in the open ocean with only the flat coasts of New Hampshire and Maine in sight, we think the imagination of that traveller must be of more value than his memory.

Mortie Raynes, eight years old, while wrestling with a youngster named Green, who is about the same age, Friday evening, was tripped and fell on his right arm, breaking the small bone below the joint. Dr. Parsons dressed it.

Sergeant of marines Dillinger reports being attacked near Portsmouth Bridge, Thursday night at 11 o'clock, by three unknown ruffians, who knocked him down. He vanquished them with a lantern which was near by. The bridge is poorly lighted and regarded, by those whose misfortune it is to cross it after dark, with fear as just the place for any kind of villainy.

Base Ball.

The third and last game of the series between the High School and Kearsarge Mills nines was played at the Plains on Friday, the latter club winning the game and series; the score by innings is as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—Total
High Shool	0	0	3	12	0	0	2	9	—26
Kearsarge Mills	3	1	0	13	2	1	1	5	14—30

The only home run made was by Foley of the Kearsarge Mills club, who also made a clean score. Umpire, J. Sullivan; time of game, three hours.

The Interests Of The People.

Foster's Democrat doesn't believe a bit in a new party, or the necessity for one,—all that is needed is for "all honest men to unite to proudly float once more the banner of democracy," to "make the old party good strong, honest and thoroughly democratic," and to "pledge the party anew, under the best and bravest leadership, to the interests of the people!" That sounds real good; the only trouble is in the carrying out of such a high-toned progamme. "The old party" is "thoroughly democratic" enough, but nothing short of a miracle could metamorphose it into a "good, honest" party; and this "pledging the party to the interests of the people" dodge is played out, the performances of the party after gaining power never running in the same groove as the promises of the party to gain power. It is well understood that when a democrat or a democratic platform professes devotion to "the people" that "the party" is meant. The democratic legislature expressed the most chivalric devotion to "the interests of the people" and the most unbounded deference to the people's will; and the democratic representatives from this city have always been noted for studying only the will and caring only for the interests of the people,—that is,—if we are to take their own professions as a guide. But that the democratic party is really the possessor of all their "devotion" was shown by the gerrymander of this city, which the republican representatives of Portsmouth plainly proved was solely for the purpose of giving control of the city to the democratic party, which the democratic representatives admitted to have only two-fifths of the voters! "Devotion to the interests of the people" and "deference to the will of the people" are high-sounding phrases, but they are terribly out of place in democratic mouths. Dear brethren of the democratic party, if you really possess no modesty for mercy's sake do sham a little,—and don't outrage decency and insult the common sense of the dear "people" any more by prating of virtues concerning which you are totally ignorant.

Game Laws of Maine.

Having already printed in full the game laws of New Hampshire, we now publish several sections of the "act relating to game" passed at the late session of the Maine legislature, that our readers may know just what birds they may or may not kill in that State:

SECT. 1. No person shall kill or have in his possession, except alive, or expose for sale, any woodduck, woodcock, or English snipe, commonly so called, between the first day of January and the fourth day of July following, or kill any quail, grouse or partridge between the first day of January and the first day of September following, or have the same in possession or expose the same for sale, except alive, between the first day of February and the first day of September following, under a penalty of not less than five nor more than ten dollars for each bird so killed or had in possession or exposed for sale.

SECT. 2. No person shall at any time or in any place within this State, with any trap, net, snare, device or contrivance, other than the usual method of sporting with firearms, take any wild duck of any variety, quail, partridge, grouse or woodcock, under a penalty of five dollars for each bird so taken.

SECT. 3. No person shall kill or have in his possession, except alive, any of the birds commonly known as larks, robins, swallows, sparrows or orioles, between the first day of January and the first day of September following, under a penalty of five dollars for each bird so killed or had in possession. This section shall not apply to any person who shall kill on his own premises any robin during the period when summer fruits are ripening.

SECT. 4. No person shall at any time maliciously take or destroy the nest, eggs, or unfledged young of any wild bird of any kind, excepting crows, hawks and owls, or take any eggs or young from such nest, except for the purpose of preserving the same as a specimen, or of rearing said young alive, under a penalty of not less than one nor more than ten dollars for each nest, egg or young so taken or destroyed.

SECT. 6. This act shall not apply to any person who shall kill any bird or take any egg for the purpose of having the same set up as a specimen.

Section 5 provides that penalties may be recovered, with costs, in any municipal or police court of the State, one half to go to the poor of the place in which conviction is had and the other half to the complainant; and it also provides for imprisonment in case of non-payment of fines, at the rate of one day for one dollar of fine.

State News.

Mr. Benning W., Sanborn, a prominent citizen and wealthy merchant of Concord, died very suddenly, Friday, while riding in his carriage on the way to Deerfield. Mr Sanborn was sixty one years of age.

At a meeting of the governor and council, Isaac Spaulding of Nashua, Dexter Richards of Newport and Charles A. Tufts of Dover were appointed trustees of the asylum for the insane.

Lightning has been sparing butchers much trouble in the cow-killing line all over the State, during this month.

The Gorham bears have begun their work of killing sheep early. They have killed several, going almost into the yards for them.

The leading mountain houses employ seminary and college students of both sexes for table waiters.

The Dover Five Cents Savings Bank has elected A. H. Young, President; C. H. Sawyer and E. V. Brewster, Vice Presidents; and Calvin Hale, Treasurer.

The Epping camp ground is being put in readiness for the camp meeting which begins there August 24.

The young man awaiting trial in Dover for alleged complicity in the 4th of July outrage has forfeited his bond and run away. The officers hope to secure him. He was believed to be innocent until this last act.

While dining in H. D. Corliss' saloon, Manchester, Elijah Watson, forty years of age, a resident of that city, and employed on the Concord Railroad, got a piece of tripe in his throat and choked to death, Friday.

It is proposed to build an insane hospital in connection with the county house at Dover. The county's insane have been maintained at the Concord asylum for the past few years, but it is thought that an outlay of $3000 to $5000 at the county house would reduce the expense of keeping them one-half.

Mr. Horace Gillis, for many years clerk at Indian Head House, Nashua, hung himself in Hudson, Friday afternoon, at the residence of his brother, John Gillis. He was discovered immediately after committing the deed, and a physician was called, who says there is no chance for his recovery. Last Spring, he showed symptoms of insanity, and was taken to the insane asylum at Concord. Having, as was supposed, recovered, he was allowed, last week, to return to Nashua. He was about fifty-five years of age, and highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and one daughter, who is married and lives in Fitchburg.

William Wadleigh, 16 years old, was drowned Friday night, while bathing in Squog River.

Readables.

Advices from Spain state that the Carlists have seized about 600 men, women and children on the Cantabrian coast, to hold as hostages to be shot in case of an attack by republicans.

During the last year there were sold by the Post-Office department 138,815,500 stamped envelopes, through postmasters, being an increase of about 600,000 over the preceding year.

Mr. Marlett, the keeper at the Whirlpool, at Niagara, reports that the body of a man is in the Whirlpool. It can be distinctly seen from the bank. All efforts to get the body have proved unsuccessful, as it is hurried around. One time his head and arms are visible; at another his legs are to be seen. His pantaloons are tucked in his boots. The body will probably stay in the Whirlpool for weeks. It is dressed like that of a sailor.

Miss Lucy Corliss, a young lady who graduated at Vassar in 1873 and has since been first assistant teacher in the Gloucester (Mass.) High School, was instantly killed on Friday by a rock thrown from a blast in the Rockport Granite Company's quarry, which passed through the top of a carriage in which she was riding with her brother and a lady friend. The other occupants of the carriage were not hurt.

Express 7 and 8 on the Erie Railroad met one mile east of Canaseraga, Saturday morning. Several persons were killed and others injured. Train 8 had the right of the road, but the engineer of train 7 mistook the conductor's orders and went on after being told to stop.

The yacht Foam, which left Toronto for Niagara on the 11th, with nine persons on board, has been found three miles from shore, sunk, with only three feet of her mast out of water. All on board were undoubtedly lost.

A very singular accident has occurred in St. Johnsbury, Vt. In turning a somersault nearly two weeks ago, Charles Wheeler came down upon the back of his head, doubling his neck under him. He is still living, although completely paralyzed below the injury to his spine. The doctors disagree in their diagnosis and treatment, and nothing is done for him.

In Boston a little boy at a circus threw stones at the camel's hind legs the other day, until the animal lost its patience. At that moment the boy lost his balance, as also his happiness and his beauty. The camel's hoof is large, and his leg muscles powerful.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Examinations made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 50 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE out from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the SEA. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 50 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposed matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. —It is somewhat unaccountable how these sober and sedate old fellows, as soon as their families have gone to the country to spend the heated term, commence to wear their Sunday clothes every day, and to argue that four hours' sleep is all that the human frame requires to be healthy.

—A Greek scholar has tried punning, and says—"Alpha Betacal dissertations don't Sigma Phi anything to us, but we once Nu a man who Keppa Phi Rho bank, and Lambda pal because he Beta pile on a Gamma cards, and then Delta Beta Rho of trumps to his opponent than to himself."

—As the sun in all its splendor was peeping over the eastern hills, a newly-married man exclaimed: "The glory of the world is rising." His wife, who happened to be getting up at that moment, taking the compliment to herself, simpered: "What would you think, my dear, if I had my new silk gown on?"

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensable prerequisite to appointment.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other stove polish.

Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt or dust when used.

Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

Are put up in neat style and in a form much more convenient for use than any other polish.

In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus silvaraste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, (by express, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

Prepared by Dr. H. S. Flint & Co.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NEURALGIA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide & world-wide, or maintained, so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cure of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, thoroughly well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole system. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, from its blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus nearly every sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickened; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the softness and richness of tone it imparts.

The University Race.

[New York World.]

At last it comes—twenty minutes to eleven—just a jet of smoke from the starter's pistol. Before we at the half-mile post get the sound of it we see the gleaming of the oars, the rise and fall of pulsating crews, the actual shoot of the boats. It seemed to be alike in all. "Three short strokes to get way on her, and then steady." Steady enough it is all down the line after the first is over. Columbia must have taken more than her three strokes, for in twelve strokes from the start Columbia has gained, perceptibly even to us, on the boats on either hand of her. She has the lead at the start; who is to have it at the finish? Wise heads wag at the impetuosity of Columbia, but heads and bodies are wagging to some purpose in the Columbia boat. As they go she and Williams draw out more clearly from the ruck on the westward, and Harvard begins to drop her neighbors on the eastward. The favorites are all together, Yale fourth, Harvard fifth, Wesleyan sixth, Columbia seventh. If there are no dark horses we can see this race. Williams, pulling a long thirty-two and keeping well up with Columbia, begins to look like a dark horse. At the half mile Columbia quickens her stroke and leaves Williams little by little, and in a minute clear water shows between them, with Dartmouth lengths behind. Trinity and Princeton have already dropped to the rear and are fighting out their ancient feud of Arminius and Calvin by ordeal of oarmanship. This is no place for them. The big ones are converging and shaking the rest from their flanks. Columbia leads a length or so at the three quarter, but as they near the mile, Harvard makes at her, and Wesleyan quickens and melts into the mass of them, and together and abreast the four of them pass the mile. It is anybody's race. From our side there is nothing to be seen except the Harvard's handkerchiefs, and now and again a glimpse of the white shirts of Yale beyond her. Harvard and Yale have crossed into each other's water, which is an awkward business, with two other boats close aboard between them and the shore, and going off shore is a waste of time. There, Harvard drops astern and stops rowing! It is only for three or four strokes, and then they pick her up again and shoot her along toward the three leaders. Harvard has risen to thirty-eight; Yale is steady at thirty-six—we cannot see the others. The first mile is Columbia's—whose shall be the second? For with the second when the pace has been so hot all through as this is likely to go the third. We are not long in finding out. One of them draws out of the ruck now an inch, now a foot, until one by one the men are brought into view past Harvard's bow, and the rocking stroke, up to thirty eight now, tells us before we can make them out that it is Columbia. As Columbia gradually draws out at one end, Yale suddenly drops back at the other and the oars fall. It is a bad time for fouls, but the pace is too good to inquire whether Harvard or Wesleyan has done it. Yale is out of the race and the race little more than half rowed. It is just ten minutes since the start, and almost two miles gone. Now then, Harvard, if Columbia leads you at the end of this mile the colors go down the Hudson. Who beats Harvard wins this race. Dana knows that as well as we, and calls on his men. There is spring and swing enough left in them for a dozen boat races, hard as this mile and a half have been rowed. Harvard rises to thirty-eight, pulled clean and hard, but Columbia is as far off as ever, then to thirty-nine, forty, forty-one. And this at the end of twelve minutes' hard rowing, and as thorough and perfect a stroke as she pulled at thirty-four. The outsiders have dropped off, all but Wesleyan, which has taken and means to hold a place not too far off Harvard's flank. It is New York and Boston now. Dana came up with a rush in that awful spurt, and the clear water was narrowed to a ribbon, though it was never quite gone. But other people can spurt too. Rees quickens a little and holds him there, quickens a little more and drops him a little, spurts up to forty with an effort as gallant as Harvard's own, and lengthens his lead to a length, two lengths, yes three lengths, as they enter the last mile. Barring accidents and miracles, Columbia wins this race.

But Columbia will have to row for it even now. There is a hot, hard fight going on behind her. Wesleyan ranges up and challenges Harvard as Harvard drops to her pace, and there she goes on the west of Harvard past Harvard's boat-house and the sedges. At his own boat-house his own champions are standing, and as Eustis hears their shouts he spurts hard at Harvard, and again, and again, and again, creeping up at each spurt till he laps, till his boat's nose is up with Dana's oar, till the strokes are side by side and the boats are shooting together. Poor Harvard has had all the hard work to do to-day, as she always has, and she has done it well as she always does. First she tackled Columbia, then Yale, then Columbia again, and now the Wesleyans are tackling her. And so they swing into the finish. Columbia is putting in her six sickles for the harvest, not hurrying but not resting, holding her lead and even increasing it, in spite of the hot spurts behind her. Wesleyan and Harvard are doing all that every man of the whole twelve can do, at the risk of starting every blood-vessel in all their bodies, for second place. Not far behind them is Gunster, bent on a good place for Williams at last, pulling the same long, strong, and steady thirty-two that he has pulled all down the course, beset by Dartmouth and Cornell, and behind these three come Trinity and Princeton.

And now the finish—a speck of time but the hottest and fiercest of the struggle and crowded with events. So clear was the perfect air that from their seats on the stand the spectators could see at the very start nine plashing spots upon the lake against the dark and darkly-shaded base of the bluff beyond Columbia's quarters. A glass showed little more, but the signal service did its work, and suddenly from the top of the pole it had reared on the platform out in the lake, floated, unexpectedly to the majority, the blue and the white of Columbia herself, with the great magenta second, the green third and the orange fourth. Judge then what the cheering was, since the New York boys had been loudest when it was only whistling to keep their courage up. The air under the blue and white bannerst over on the grand stand was filled with blue and white hats, and resounded with the polysyllabic war whoop of the excited boys. Yale over at the extreme west, under the proud blue, was mute and a little sulky. Harvard "rah'd" as she always does, with reason or without reason, whenever anybody else is making a noise. But Columbia roared and roared again, and then again, many syllabled and vigorous. The glancing oars draw nearer and nearer, and we fancy we can see the boats. We do see them, and are beginning to try and count the shape of the foremost out at the east. Down comes Columbia's blue and white from the signal staff, and up goes the unstreaked blue of Yale. At the mile and a half line, the race half rowed, Yale is ahead, it seems. Now it is Yale's turn, and all west of the stand is a howl of excitement and a whirlwind of blue ribboned hats in their turn. This is getting too hot for us to keep our places. We get ready to run and lift our voices to shout. You see the whole crowd leaning forward, swaying with the rise and fall of the oars out there on the still water, looking with all their soul in their eyes except what is in their throats, yelling all the college yells at once. Then—it is too far yet to make out the crews or read with a glass the big numbers on their backs—we see the signal-man busily engaged with a bundle of flags. There is a cluster of men and women on the signal-boat, and to them shouts some one from an upper seat in the turbulent synagogue which hushes for the answer.

"Who is it? Quick! Who is it?"

The men are too excited to hear, or too busy to answer, but a girl on the stand cries clearly over the brief space of water.

"Columbia now!"

"Hurrah! hurrah!! hurrah!!! C-O-L-U-M-B-I-A-A-A-A!!!!" and a thunder-storm of violent cheering follows. This is the last of the accented yell. With Columbia ahead at the end of the second mile, the boys can't mind their stops. They grow wilder and louder and hoarser, every man on his feet, every woman on her feet, blue and white ribbons fluttering, everything that is blue and white in the air. New York and New York City first in the great race, and only a mile to come. They forget the proverbial fates of the last mile. They forget that Harvard, who is second, rows a deadly boat, and compels hard racing whether she win or not. They only see the blue and white atop on the staff, and if their enthusiasm will do any good they throw it all in gratis.

Now, then, the shells have drawn so near that we can pick out the leaders. One is clearly ahead, keeping the middle course so straightly that we wonder if it has been ahead and had the choice of water all the way. The blue and white is still up—it must be—it is Columbia. The men with the glasses say they can pick out the gigantic "7" on the shoulders of the bow oar, and how beautifully the boys are pulling out there, as steadily and coolly as on a practice trip, without break or flaw. It is not the best stroke on the lake—the easiest always, but not to the eye the most forceful—but here it is leading the nine crews, with three lengths of clear spurt too. Rees quickens a little and holds him there, quickens a little more and drops him a little, spurts up to forty with an effort as gallant as Harvard's own, and lengthens his lead to a length, two lengths, yes three lengths, as they enter the last mile. Barring accidents and miracles, Columbia wins this race.

But Columbia will have to row for it even now. There is a hot, hard fight going on behind her. Wesleyan ranges up and challenges Harvard as Harvard drops to her pace, and there she goes on the west of Harvard past Harvard's boat-house and the sedges. At his own boat-house his own champions are standing, and as Eustis hears their shouts he spurts hard at Harvard, and again, and again, and again, creeping up at each spurt till he laps, till his boat's nose is up with Dana's oar, till the strokes are side by side and the boats are shooting together. Poor Harvard has had all the hard work to do to-day, as she always has, and she has done it well as she always does. First she tackled Columbia, then Yale, then Columbia again, and now the Wesleyans are tackling her. And so they swing into the finish. Columbia is putting in her six sickles for the harvest, not hurrying but not resting, holding her lead and even increasing it, in spite of the hot spurts behind her. Wesleyan and Harvard are doing all that every man of the whole twelve can do, at good. In a second it seems, though it is longer, there is a rift of clear water, with the new crew ahead of it and Harvard behind; who can it be but Wesleyan? And Wesleyan it is, and the lavender goes above the crimson, and a stentorian cheer mingles suddenly with the great volume of hooting and then passes away and is lost. Now, ye Methodists, but one boat to pass! Can you do it? We know you will try, but there are four lengths to gain before you lap. On they come, Columbia steady and swift, and Wesleyan straining every muscle in the terrible tug. Harvard keeps up, but can do no more.

Where is Yale? Not in sight even, unless that she be almost motionless out in the lake, letting anybody pass her. Something must have happened, but what do we care for that here in the heat of the fight, and the end so near? Now away out some seven lengths back of the tugging lavender and crimson are three crews, pretty evenly matched apparently, and with little chance except for the fourth place among them. The nearest have green caps—Dartmouth, the pullers of forty-odd to a minute, pulling now desperately and with the last bits of force left in them, but coming down at a tearing pace. Then somebody with blue—no, purple caps. What, Williams, and so well placed and with so much go left in her so late in the race? The other crew is Cornell; she whom sickness visited so hardly during the last week of practice. They come on in a clump, one first now, now another, Williams steadiest of the three. Out in the field are Princeton and Trinity, and away off, slowly paddling toward the finish, is Yale. And now in less than a minute it will be won, and if Columbia can hold her steady stroke she will have won, in less than a minute, the best college race ever rowed. Hold out? Of course she will. Do you see any faltering? Do you not rather see that with Wesleyan and Harvard, but upon as the best crews on the water, tearing with all the force they can put on, first to beat each other, and then to overhaul the blue and white, not one hair's breadth has been gained? Four full lengths of clear water there were a full minute ago—four full lengths of clear water there are now in the breach. It does not lessen—it does not widen. Such as it was, it is, and by all that is plucky and strong, such it shall be to the end. Shout, now, up there on the grand stand! You have reason to split your throat. Here they come the first six, at every stroke as good a first as at the last stroke, and now almost home. A little further, a second, a breath, over the finish they go, slackening at once into the reach of smooth water beyond. Lost and won! Will the shouting never be over? Again, again, again, they are starting the same cheer. The stand is emptied in a second, and along the shore below, almost within reach of the six heroes, a crowd is galloping, every man shouting his best, every man pressing to the front, and the accented yell comes up again stronger and louder than ever. The scrimmage goes on without notice of the beaten crews, except that two colleges are straining their eyes to see who is second. Ah, it is Wesleyan beyond a doubt, and that settled, all betake themselves to their roaring again. Except that Harvard is third, the signalmen can make nothing of the order, and while we are waiting for the verdict of the judges, suppose we shout all of us with right good will and with such lungs as we have left for the grand crew which has won this great race. Alas, that no official time was taken in anything like a reliable way, and that the times as taken variously on the press boat and on the grand-stand, stood so far apart. The first was 16m. 42 1-4s. and the other 17m. 12 3-4s., and that was all, except that everybody accepted the shorter time of course.

THE REFEREE'S DECISION.

The crowd surged in and out and about Congress Hall, now shouting, now singing, and always fiercely discussing the question of fouls and the impending decision. Many a time and oft Cook rehearsed to eager listeners his version of the encounter between the magenta and the blue at mile and a half point. The Harvards denied his averments. Wesleyan charged Columbia with rocking them by yawing across their bows, and Columbia pooh-poohed the imputation and gallantly supported the Harvards against the Yales. At length, after hours of turmoil, about five o'clock Mr. Brocklesby, of Trinity, the president of the judges, appeared upon the clerk's counter in Congress Hall, and read amid the Harvard "crabs," Columbia's orthographic cheer of "Columbias," and the hisses of the Yales and their sympathizers, the decision.

The claims of fouls the Committee decide as follows:

Harvard's claim against Yale disallowed, in accordance with rule 14.]

Yale's claim against Harvard not entertained, as Yale violated rules 7 and 8, under which the race was rowed.

Wesleyan's claim against Columbia not entertained, as the steering of each boat was somewhat wild, with no apparent wilful attempt to foul. [This decision is in accordance with rule 14.]

The delight of the Harvards and their backers was unbounded. Yale's chagrin was unmistakable, but their belief in their superiority was equally evident. Mr. C. H. Ferry appeared among them on the shoulders of the backers of the blue, and announced a challenge from Yale to Harvard to pull on the Saratoga course within a week. Next a Yale graduate, named Adee, appeared above the press and vociferously offered to bet $7,500 even on Yale against Harvard in case the latter accepted the challenge just made. A similar bet of $2,000 even on Yale was offered, but the Harvards took them not, though some friendly Columbians were nearly constrained to back down the blue. The following correspondence passed between the Harvard and Yale captains:

SARATOGA, July 18.

The Yale University Crew hereby challenge the Harvard University Crew to row a race under the regulations of the regatta of 1874 at a time to be appointed within a week. R. T. COOK,
Capt. Yale University Crew.

Harvard replied as follows:

SARATOGA, July 18, 1874.

After the conduct of the Yale University Crew, not only during but also at the conclusion of the race just completed, the Harvard University Crew refuse to entertain any challenge whatever from the Yale University Crew. WENDELL GOODWIN, Capt. Harvard University Crew.

Harvard vs. Yale.

The New York Herald says of the collision at Saratoga Lake:

Dana says that Cook tried spurt after spurt to strike Harvard's rudder, but that the latter would each time quicken and get clear; that then Yale, tired at last of the wash, drew off to starboard and the next minute getting up alongside, Cook put his oar into the outrigger of Morse, Harvard's No. 4, and pulled hard to send his own boat ahead and hold Harvard back; that Morse, finding this in order, responded in like fashion with his oar on Cook's outrigger, while Bacon, starboard stroke, scraped his oar along the top of Yale's rudder, breaking it partly off; that he, Dana, at different times cautioned Cook, telling him "if there's a foul, Cook, it's yours;" that Cook's response bordered closely on the blasphemous; that Yale for a moment drew two or three feet ahead of Harvard, but that when he saw that she had spent her force he spurted and drew past again; that Cook, seemingly maddened by the damage to his rudder, ordered his men to row hard starboard, evidently meaning thereby, as he almost inevitably would, to turn short toward Harvard and smash into her side; that in the effort to obey that order, Yale's forward starboard, the bow oarsman, broke his oar, and that from that time Yale paddled hopelessly home. So Dana told, and Otis, Morse, Goodwin and Bacon all corroborated the story; for all seemed to think that both Yale and Wesleyan had left their rightful courses and crowded in toward her, one on each side, one of them thinking that a line sixty feet long would have covered all three.

The rumor had been about all the week that Cook had said if he could not beat Harvard his crew and the Wesleyan as they flanked Harvard, would run her down and keep her from winning. Three or four times it had been told the Harvard men, but they laughed at it. They said that whether true or not the sequel had borne out the alleged plan completely. Naturally enough, from these various facts, their feelings toward Yale were not entirely friendly or conducive to good fellowship.

Our Faces.

The countenances of a nation define the characteristics of its people. Every human face indicates the moral training as well as the temperament and the ruling traits of its owner, just as much as every human form indicates the quality and amount of physical exercise. This is proved by the varieties of human faces everywhere visible. Those whose lives have been given to physical labor, unbrightened by an education of ideas, have always a stolid, stupid expression, even while their limbs and muscles are splendidly developed. The more savage a people, the uglier they are in facial development. The very features of their faces are disfigured by violent and ungoverned passions. People whose employments are intellectual, invariably have a large, clear gaze, a bright out-raying expression, as if from inward light shining through a vase. Where a fine organization and deep sensibility accompany the practice of intellectual pursuits, often the features take on a transparent, luminous look. Persons endowed with powerful sensibility, however plain their features, always have moments of absolute beauty. "My sister-in-law is plain," said one lady to another, who possessed such a countenance, "but I have seen her so absolutely beautiful at times that she drew everybody in the room toward her. When she is very happy her face kindles with an absolute radiance." The refining effect of high culture, added to deep religious feeling, not only subdue evil but beautify and elevate the entire expression and bearing of an individual. Thus it is a physical as well as moral fact that it is in the power of every person to improve his own beauty as well as bearing by a constant control of passion and temper, and a deep and constant cultivation of the intellectual faculties, pure affections and the moral nature.

Fred Myer's Bear Hunt.

[Lexington (Ky.) Gazette.]

The belligerent settlers, who "swar they ain't a-gwine to 'low no sich new-fangled doin's as railroads in that settlement," are not the only adversaries the Southern Railroad may have to encounter in Casey County. As the grading is pushed on through the mountains, temporary huts are erected, and frequently quite a brisk village appears this week where last nothing denoting civilization was to be seen. At some of these shanties Bridget has her pigs, and latterly some unseen enemy has been playing havoc with them.

It was not until Thursday a week ago, near dusk, some of the men coming in from a walk espied at a distance a huge black bear, scenting about the dead body of one of the work mules. The men were unarmed, and very willingly gave bruin a wide berth.

On Saturday, however, two men, Peter Rogan and Frederick Myers, both from Cincinnati, yielded to entreaties of Bridget to "kill the varmint that's killing all the pigs," and went forth to prepare the ground for the encounter. First making sure from the signs that the bear nightly visited the spot, they selected a place about thirty feet from the dead mule, and dug a pit about the size and depth of a grave in which to ambush themselves.

When night came on they armed themselves with a rifle and revolvers each, to say nothing of the butcher knives they were accustomed to carry in their belts, and set out to meet the enemy. Myers says:

"It looked mighty lonesome round there, and we didn't know but some of them mountain devils who'd been murderin' the boys might be sneakin' in the brush. Fact is, I'd just as soon been snug in camp; but as long as we'd started we wasn't goin' to back. Well, when we got close to the mule the smell was offul. I always noticed an old carcase smells worse at night than in daylight, and that old mule was smellin' its cussedest. However, we dropped into the pit and then the smell wasn't so bad. We squatted down awhile to get our noses free of the stench, and began to think about when the bear would come. 'Spose we'd been there nigh onto two hours, and began to think the bear wasn't comin' that night, when we heard the brush crack. Then all was still for awhile. We began to suspicion he'd put out, and both of us was just gettin' to our feet when we heard the old fellow snort. We dropped back to the bottom and lay quiet, neither of us darin' to speak. But somethin' awful was goin' on outside. The brush was snappin' and flyin' about, and the old bear seemed to be pawin' up the ground fearful. Well, I didn't know what to do. If I climbed out I knowed I was good to be that bear's supper. If I stayed quiet I didn't know what second he'd throw himself into the hole and craunch me up like I have craunched a little fried fish. Peter was scrouched down in the corner, shakin' like a leaf. I knowed he wouldn't be no use in a fight, and 'twasn't worth while to count on him.

"Well, I gathered my gun and rose up cautious and just raised my eyes above the ground. Gentlemen! that bear was standin' by that mule with his neck roached up like the roof of a house, and looked mighty nigh as high, and the maddest lookin' varmint I ever saw! I saw him seize hold of that mule and sling it round in the air like it had been a kitten, and I dropped back a prayin' that there might be meat enough on that mule for that bear's supper."

"But didn't you shoot?"

"Shoot the d—l! Do you take me for a born idiot?"

A Maysville Charivari.

[Maysville (Ky.) Bulletin.]

A few evenings since one of our quiet, staid citizens took unto himself a wife. The boys, with whom he is quite popular, determined that he should have a genuine charivari—a custom, or rather, we should say, compliment more honored in the breach than in the observance. A friend, who has the good of newspapers at heart, intimated the matter quietly to our suburban reporter, who was promptly on hand at the appointed hour. Exactly at 9 o'clock, when the bride and groom were seated in their cosy little cottage in a circle of congratulating friends, Prof. Hancock's string band, numbering between eighteen and twenty performers, filed slowly down the street. Our reporter thinks they used a wood file, but he didn't observe very closely. On taking their position, and discovering a representative of the press present, they treated him with distinguished consideration. They threw rocks at him, and ran him up into a stable loft so he could see good. They then proceeded to business. The band, which was supplied with all kinds of instruments, from a jewsharp to a cow's horn, then struck up the well-known tune of "The monkey married the baboon's sister," which was rendered in an artistic manner, and brought down the house, or at least all of it except the cook. After playing several other well-known airs, a compromise was effected by the distribution of a lot of refreshments. The band then retired and reappeared about an hour afterward, having reconsidered their action by a unanimous vote. Another compromise was then effected by the judicious distribution of a few bricks. Our reporter then departed to his peaceful hamlet, in the third story back room of a warehouse, where he wrapped the drapery of his couch about him and laid down to pleasant dreams, wondering if such an ugly man as he was could ever get married.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within two feet of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

The office of master mason, at the navy yard, for many years filled by Mr. John E. Giddings, has been abolished.

Ass't. Surgeon P. M. Rixey has been detached from the "Sabine" and ordered to the steam frigate "Congress," European station.

Rear Admiral W. Reynolds, U. S. N., Chief of Bureau of Equipment & Recruiting, arrived at the navy yard, Monday, and received a salute of thirteen guns from the Receiving Ship "Sabine."

Simon G. Gilman of Saco has been appointed foreman painter at the navy yard.

Mr. Josiah Norton of York severed two arteries in his leg with a scythe last week, and came near bleeding to death.

About nine o'clock, Sunday evening, a pleasure wagon containing six persons struck a curbstone at the corner of Elm street near the ward-room, and both front wheels were crushed. No person hurt.

Yacht Enigma, of Boston, arrived at Star Island, Sunday, being the first to arrive of the Boston fleet which will engage in the ocean race. Other yachts arrived on Monday. There will be a hop at the "Oceanic," Friday evening next, in honor of the yacht club. Steamer Major will make a trip from this city.

The wife of Charles H. Thayer of Manchester, 23 years old, died suddenly of convulsions at Rye Beach on Sunday.

Boat race in the river at seven o'clock, this evening, between the Lelap club's six-oar and a four-oared boat, from Portsmouth Bridge to the beacon and return.

Charles Francis Adams is at the Shoals.

First Assistant Engineer Joseph B. Upham, Jr. has returned from the East India squadron, on sick leave.

The St. Paul's M. E. Society, of Manchester, will have an excursion from that city to the Shoals to-morrow. The excursionists will dine at the Appledore.

Nice band at The Wentworth.

A Strange Grave and A Haunted House.

A little of "the ancient City of Gorgeana and modern Town of York," in Maine, "written, compiled and typographically composed," as well as published, by George Alexander Emery, contains a strange story which foreshadows some remarkable developments to take place on the 28th of next month. The story is as follows:

"Near the southwest corner of the old burying ground is a grave, with head and foot-stones, between which, and lying on the grave, is a large, flat rock, as large as the grave itself. The inscription reads thus: 'Mary Nasson, wife of Samuel Nasson, died, August 28, 1774, aged twenty-nine years.' No one, at least in this town, seems to know anything about her origin, death, or even of the singular looking grave. No other occupant of a grave bearing this cognomen can be found in this cemetery, and the name is unknown in the town. A great many surmises and conjectures have been advanced in regard to this matter in order to arrive at the facts, if there be any, and to clear up the dark affair, but nothing definite has come out of the effort. The writer of this, when a youth, living in York, was given to understand that this stone was placed there to keep down a witch that was buried beneath. But this could hardly be true, for numerous reasons: she had been married, and witches seldom or never marry; besides, gravestones abounding in praises of the deceased would not have been permitted in those times; and last, but not least, it would have been very doubtful, indeed, if the powers that were would have allowed, or even suffered her burial in this graveyard. If a witch, she would have been interred in the rough sands of the sea at low-water mark, where the tide ebbs and flows twice in twenty-four hours,' or on a highway, at the junction of three roads.

An old, overgrown, two-storied dwelling-house, formerly occupying the site of the present one, now on the corner next southeast of the Court House, prior to the year 1829, was said to have been haunted, or at least infested with one evil spirit, not material, who was incarcerated in a designated apartment in this house. After a certain period of years, this spirit was, in the parlance of those days, to be "laid," and permitted to depart, when it would proceed to walk thrice around this burying-yard and evoke the denizen of this grave to join it. After this, both were condemned to perform a penance by travelling 100 years on the face of this mundane sphere, before departing to the realms beyond time into eternity. But this spirit, in the meantime, having become turbulent and troublesome it was deemed advisable to anticipate the 100 years' period that had not then expired for the "allaying," and proceed to perform that ceremony, which was accordingly done. This may be the veritable Juif Errant, who, when seen, is always represented as being alone, walking around the earth to employ his time, to be in readiness for a companion whose bonds to the grave are soon to be loosed.

Those "Temperance" Hypocrites.

Says the Rochester Courier: It may be a matter of surprise to some to know that the prohibition party were not deeply interested in the question. The Prohibition Herald, very singularly, had no words to say in favor of prohibition, or none condemning license, all through the six weeks the legislature was in session. Its editor was a "dumb dog" who dared not bark. Was he in favor of license? It looked like it, and it looked as though he was afraid to show his true colors. Messrs. Blackmer and Barrows did appear before the judiciary committee, "aired their eloquence," and there their help and influence stopped. While that committee might have respect for Mr. Barrows, they could have none for Blackmer, for they had heard the story of the prohibition candidate for Governor, how he had talked prohibition, and then when election day came, had peddled votes for Mr. Heard, the license candidate for Representative from Sandwich, and elected Mr. Heard by his own vote, over Wm. M. Weed, a man who not only believed in the prohibitory law but had helped enforce it time after time. The judiciary committee couldn't see much consistency in John W. Blackmer's coming before them to urge the keeping of the present law upon the statute books. While we have no words of condemnation against any man for voting license if he believes in it, yet to talk prohibition and then vote license is altogether "too thin," politically, to make people believe in the honesty of such individuals.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan

Ask your Druggist for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion, which is harmless and a very sure and infallible. Or for his Improved COMEDONE and PIMPLE REMEDY, the great SKIN MEDICINE for Pimples, Black Heads or Flesh Worms. Or consult B. C. PERRY, the noted Skin Doctor, 49 Bond St., New York. a 10 1y 6m

The "Gentleman In Black," who is the tutelar demon of Gem-shops, assumes his sourest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is reported "down below." The People's Vegetable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters filled with rum. All diseases which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indigestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheumatism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it. je24 4w

Something certain at last.—PILES is not only one of the most painful of human diseases, but professional men had almost despaired of finding a remedy, until the introduction of ANAKESIS by Dr. Sitsbee, and after an experience of 20,000 cases in five years, doctors agree that an infallible remedy has been found. Sufferers will appreciate ANAKESIS after trying everything else in vain and then experiencing the bliss of instant relief and ultimate cure.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Principal Depot, 46 Walker street, New York.

In the Golden Age of Girlhood

Preserve the beauty of the teeth with SOZODONT, and then, when the hair is silvered and the eyes grow dim, your toilet table will still reveal two glittering rows of unsullied ivory.

Helmbold's Buchu is still in the zenith of its popularity. Notwithstanding the absence of Dr. Helmbold, the celebrated medicine is still manufactured at the laboratory at Philadelphia, and is sold by all respectable druggists. It is warranted for all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Beware of counterfeits. Genuine has proprietor's private stamp. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Bears.—Since Messrs. Perry Davis & Son commenced the manufacture of Bearine, the Canada trapper has found a lucrative business in capturing old Bruin. Messrs. Davis & Son pay a good price for the grease, and the skins are always sought after. Messrs. Davis & Son have a mode of refining the grease, perfuming it, &c., making it superior to any other we have ever seen. 13

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and careful and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mouldy which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. —This advice comes from Detroit: "If you want to be famous, you must discover a comet or hang around a reservoir and look out for breaks."

—At a recent wedding in a town near Newburyport a new and unexpected feature was introduced. In the middle of the ceremony the bridegroom fainted away, and it was only after a long and vigorous application of the usual remedies that he was restored, when he manfully came up to the scratch for another round. The clergyman commenced de novo, and by the exercise of due skill and caution got safely through.

—The smallest post-office in the world is kept in a barrel which swings from the outermost rock of the mountains overhanging the Straits of Magellan, opposite Terra del Fuego. Every passing ship opens it to place letters in or to take them out. Every ship undertakes to forward all the letters in it that it is possible for them to transmit. It hangs there by its iron chain, beaten and battered by the winds and storms, but no locked and barred office on land is more secure. It is not in the track of mail robbers.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because polish, far better than they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt or nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 sticks; 1 stick is enough for any stove thus all waste is saved.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 75 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

'Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry'

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

Clergymen, Lawyers, Singers,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among the sick and suffering, are many million times the extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the digestive or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

The great JURUBEBA, the vegetable TONIC and INVIGORATOR, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

LAWS

OF THE

UNITED STATES

PASSED AT THE

FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 25.]

AN ACT relative to private contracts or agreements made with Indians prior to May twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-two.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That hereafter it shall not be lawful for any United States officer, or other person under its employ or control, to recognize the binding force or legality, or in any manner sustain or enforce, or counsel or give any aid or assistance to sustain or enforce, any contract or agreement made by any person or persons, or corporation, with any band, tribe, or nation of Indians, or individual Indian or Indians, not a citizen of the United States, entered into prior to the date of the act of Congress entitled "An act regulating the mode of making private contracts with Indians," approved May twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, for the payment or delivery of any money or other thing of value, in present or prospective, or for the granting or procuring any privilege to him or her, or any other person or persons, or corporation, in consideration of services for, or advancements made to, said Indians relative to their lands, or to any claim growing out of or in reference to annuities, instalments, or other moneys, claims, demand, or thing under laws or treaties with the United States, or official acts of any officer thereof, or in any way connected with or due from the United States, unless such contract or agreement shall have been reduced to writing and duly signed by the parties in interest thereto at the time it was entered into and fully made known to the parties at the time the contract was signed, and then not until such original written contract shall first have been presented to and examined by the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and these facts by them severally endorsed thereon, and a copy of said contract and of any assignments that may have been made thereon duly entered of record in the office of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

SEC. 2. That in addition thereto there shall also be filed in said Commissioner's Office, and retained therein as official papers, and be examined by said Commissioner and Secretary, and that fact indorsed on them, the following statement of facts touching each and all such contracts and agreements so presented; which statements shall be sworn to specially by all and severally the person or persons claiming interest in and seeking the support and enforcement of such contract or agreement, and not by agent or attorney: First, that the writing presented for examination and record, as provided for in the first section of this act, and purporting to be the original contract or agreement, is in fact such, and that it was entered into and reduced to writing at the date and for the purposes it purports to have been made and executed; secondly, such sworn statement shall give particularly the names of the real parties in interest in the original contract or agreement, naming them if not named in the written contract or agreement, and if either of the contracting parties is a band, tribe, or nation of Indians, or a corporation or firm, the name of the person, officer, or agent contracting in their behalf, together with his authority for so doing, shall be specially stated; thirdly, a particular statement of all and singular the services rendered or the thing or things done under such contract or agreement prior to said filing, with those things to be done or rendered, together with a particular statement of any and all moneys paid or advanced by either party under such contract or agreement, giving in all cases the time, place, and real value of services rendered, or thing or things done, or the kind and manner of payment, whether in money, property, or credits, up to the date of the filing of the said sworn statement; fourthly, state specifically whether the original contract or agreement had been submitted to any Secretary of the Interior, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, superintendent of Indian affairs, Indian agent, commissioner, or other person having official control of or connection with Indian affairs, giving the time when, place where, and person by name to whom such submission was made, and whether by said officer indorsed or not, or whether any such officer was cognizant of such contract or agreement having been made, though not submitted to him for approval.

SEC. 3. That the Secretary or Commissioner of Indian Affairs is hereby empowered to require, in writing, any additional facts or proofs that may be necessary to aid in determining the true character of the contract or agreement, or assignment thereof.

SEC. 4. That no such contract or agreement shall be recognized by any officer or employee of the United States until the Secretary of the Interior shall, after full consideration of any such contract or agreement, together with the proofs and papers in this act required to be filed, and such as the Secretary of the Interior or Commissioner of Indian Affairs may require in addition thereto, the Secretary of the Interior shall consider to be just and reasonable, and not tainted with fraud, and not exorbitant in its demands: Provided, That the Secretary of the Interior shall in all cases enter, in writing, on such original contract, on the record in the office of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs wherein such original contract is recorded, an official statement, showing that the contract or agreement and proofs have been filed in accordance with the provisions of this act and considered by him, and in his opinion said contract or agreement or assignments thereof are not exorbitant and not fraudulent, and that they are just, the same shall be valid.

But if, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior such contract or agreement, or the assignment thereof, is fraudulent or exorbitant, he shall officially enter his rejection, in writing, upon the record of such contract or agreement, and they shall not be considered of binding force by any officer or employee of the United States.

SEC. 5. That it is hereby made the duty of the Secretary of the Interior to cause an investigation to be made of all existing contracts or agreements, within the purview of this act, now on file in his office, or of the office of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, or any other office or bureau under his control, and by special notice to the party or parties in interest compel, in the case of each such contract or agreement so found on file, the same strictness of official examination, and indorsement, record and sworn statement of fact, as is required by the several provisions of this act: Provided, That the investigation of facts touching the character of any contract or agreement contemplated by this act may be made by a commissioner appointed by the President for that purpose, who shall report all such facts to the Secretary of the Interior in writing.

After the Race.

[New York World.]

How, nobody saw, but the Columbia shell was found lying empty away off beyond Moon's pier and in the crowd on the shore was the stroke in a dead faint. What we did see was five men riding up hill on the top of a crowd, and a crowd very much in a hurry too, and one man whom they were carrying into the hotel. The people pressed after anxiously, but it was only a faint, an utter giving way of the bodily and mental strength that had lasted so long and done so much. Faints like this do little harm, and after a little space Rees was well again, the hero of the week and of the College year not only, but of Columbia, so long as she shall have an oarsman in her classes. All Columbia rushed up to Moon's however, and for an hour the place was wild with boyish exultation, the very best atmosphere possible for a fainting visitor to get well in. But there is something else going on. Here is a crowd at the pier, which looks as if there was an ugly spirit in it. Pretty wicked looking some of those blue and crimson fellows are just now. And we catch such exclamations as "Broke their oars and rudder!" "Wouldn't turn out!" "Shameful!" "Beastly conduct!" and there is a prospect of something warm. The crowd surges this way and that, and finally a judge appears and is laid hold of by twenty hands at once. He explains briefly "Claim of foul between Yale and Harvard; also by Wesleyan against Cornell." The Yale boat has paddled up across the finish line and to the pier. Its rudder is twisted over to port, and the bow oar is broken short off. How did it happen? The Yale men are looking very black, and there are symptoms of a scuffle. Happily that blows over. The beaten boats all gather at the pier, and then Harvard, Yale and Wesleyan pull over to the signal stand. Harvard comes up first. "How was it?" cry twenty voices. Dana answers, "Yale came up against us on the port side and I warned her to keep off, but she no attention and ran right on us."

Goodwin, the captain, pulling port waist, exhibits the blade of his oar, from which a bit is broken. "Were you ahead?" asks some one. "I don't know," says he—"had my eyes in the boat." Cook speaks for Yale, and says that Harvard gave his boat her wash three times, and that when Yale was pulling around the last time Morse plunged at her shell with his oar, and half tipped it over, Dana's oar smashing the rudder, and the bow oar being broken some how in the contact. Wesleyan says Columbia took her water. At last the judge announces that all these questions will be weighed and settled later. The crews pull to quarters to get on their human clothes, and the carriages after much cheering and Columbia-ing take up the long and dusty route home to Saratoga.

Broadway was full of carriages and colors and shoutings. As the Columbia omnibuses swung round the corner they were stopped, and searched for crews, as if there had been a duty on Columbia oarsmen and somebody was trying to smuggle them in. One or two of them evaded the inspectors and were rushed off to private rooms where all the forbidden fruit of training time was crammed into them. Cornell, it was said to be, drove up to the door with his father and mother, and was torn by all the available handles of him out of their embraces through the door of the barouche and ridden on a dozen shoulders up the steps and through the verandah and the drawing room. Every oar was a shrine. If the boat had been brought down it would have been cut up into skewers to adorn the buttonholes of the Columbians withal. In half an hour all the men of Harvard and Columbia, the protested against, had coalesced, and all the men of Wesleyan and Yale, the protestants. Harvard and Columbia got a band and went clanging and shouting through all the hotels and all the streets together, cheering every window where magenta or blue and white hung out, weeping on each other's bosoms. Harvard hoarsely "rah'd" Columbia. Columbia vociferously spelt out its card. It was very jolly and very crazy, and withal there was nothing offensive in it, except naturally to the ardent Yale or Wesleyan breast. After New York and Boston had good naturedly turned Saratoga upside down, Yale and Wesleyan turned out, and the procession of the protestants was smaller and less hilarious. Under all this it was plain enough to be seen that the old grudge between Yale and Harvard was "bitten in" deeper by the race than ever, and that only a little drink and a little folly were needed to turn this carnival into a pandemonium. It is greatly to the credit of the sense and temper of all the college men here that except in one or two isolated and unnoticed instances the bitter feeling found no more expression than angry words. A car-load of Columbians in a special car, hung with all the blue and white cambric that could be found in Saratoga, went down with the train at four to diffuse the orthography of the word "Columbia" along the Hudson River, and to announce that the crew would arrive at Forty-second street on Monday afternoon at three.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22, 1874.

Beaten Again.

It will be remembered that there has been a long and vigorous contest relative to the appointment of a High Sheriff of Grafton County. Next to his own prospects for the United States Senate "Boss" Bingham's highest ambition has been to have Jeremiah Blodgett of Wentworth made High Sheriff, and he has moved everything in his power to carry this object. A well known wholesale liquor dealer of New York, who is Bingham's "right bower" and was hanging around Concord during the session of the legislature, was pressed into service, and to use his language, said "Sinclair must be squelched and the only way to do it is to make Blodgett Sheriff." But Sinclair didn't propose to be squelched and squelched he was not, for the council by a vote of three to two nominated Nathan H. Weeks (Sinclair's candidate) of Plymouth High Sheriff.

To show the utter disregard of "Boss" Bingham for everybody except for political ends, his actions before the Governor and Council towards his own brother, Mr. George A. Bingham, a gentleman in every respect, are the best evidence. Mr. George A. Bingham, as well as Mr. Sinclair, was an advocate of Mr. Weeks, and among other things urged as an objection to Mr. Blodgett that he would be wholly under the influence and control of his brother Harry, and that such a state of affairs would not be conducive to the welfare of the democratic party. Harry thereupon (as usual) lost his self control, jumped to the floor and with clenched fist charged his brother with deliberate falsehood; when George said, "May it please your excellency and the Honorable Council, if I do not at this time and in this place resent the insult which my brother has placed upon me, I beg you to believe that it is not because I do not feel the indignation which every man should feel under such provocation; but the peculiar circumstances of the case, the time and the place forbid my noticing the outrage and punishing its author as it deserves."

The Council stood two democrats for Blodgett and two democrats for Weeks; Councillor Lovell, the only republican, gave the casting vote for Weeks. It is intimated that a well known and influential republican member of the last session from this city was instrumental in securing Mr. Lovell's vote for Weeks; this, perhaps, was in part payment for Bingham's insult during the session to the aforementioned republican member.

Dissensions.

A Dover dispatch to the Traveller says:

"The recent appointments by Gov. Weston in Strafford county are variously criticised by both democrats and republicans. It is said that they were engineered by Thomas J. Smith, of Dover, late Clerk of the Senate, and they do not give satisfaction even to the democrats themselves.

In Carroll county the appointments seem good enough, with the exception of that of Sheriff. It was conceded by the working democrats of Carroll county that J. Q. Roles, of Ossipee, would be appointed High Sheriff of that county. He was strongly recommended, is amply qualified and an honest man. He has represented his town many times in the Legislature, and was a very active member at the last session; is a strong advocate of retrenchment and reform, but he thought he had a right to prefer Albert R. Hatch for Governor at the last democratic State Convention, and carried his county that way. So, of course, the wishes of his constituents that he should be Sheriff were of no avail with Governor Weston."

At Manchester, there is great disgust over the appointment of Joseph Fellows to be Police Judge, the legal fraternity being almost unanimously opposed to it. Gov. Weston took the advice of Daniel Conner, an Irishman, instead of Lew. Clarke and other democratic lawyers. This raises another muss.

Pomeroy Confesses.

That devil's imp, Jesse Pomeroy, has confessed that he killed Katy Curran. He said:

I opened my mother's store in the morning at half-past seven, and the girl came in for papers. I told her there was a store down cellar. (This last word was afterward changed to "stairs," because, as Pomeroy said: "If I had said down cellar she would not have gone.") She went down to about the middle of the cellar and stood facing Broadway. I followed her and put my left arm about her neck, my hand over her mouth, and with my knife cut her throat, holding my knife in my right hand. I then dragged her to behind the water-closet, laying her head furthermost up the place, and put some stones and some ashes on the body. I took the ashes from a box in the cellar. I never knew the girl before. I sent a boy to Hoyt & Lawrence's store near by, and bought the knife for twenty-five cents. The knife was taken from me when I was arrested. When I was in the cellar I heard my brother at the outer door which I had locked. After he came in I ran up the stairs and found him going toward the cellar in Mitchell's part. He came back. The two girls that worked in a store for mother usually got there about nine o'clock. Mother came later. Brother Charles and I took turns in opening the store till about April. My mother and brother never knew anything about this affair. I forgot to tell you I washed my hand and knife that were bloody at the water pipe.

Mrs. Pomeroy, mother of Jesse, the child-murderer, says her husband was a butcher, and that during the period of her pregnancy she went daily to the slaughter-house to witness the killing of the animals, and that somehow she took a particular delight in seeing her husband butcher the sheep, the calves and the cattle, and not unfrequently she assisted him in this bloody work. She also said that after Jesse was born, and became old enough to have a knife in his hands, he was all the time, when opportunity offered, jabbing a knife into pieces of meat, and, when still older and about his father's market, he did the same thing.

State News.

Mrs. Senator Cragin is reported to be lying dangerously ill at her residence in Lebanon.

Henry Ward Beecher and family will be at the Twin Mountain house on Saturday, and will probably remain until September. He will preach there every Sunday.

The republicans, at the close of the session of the legislature, fairly gushed in the eulogies upon the speaker, piling speech upon speech until it was time for the departure of the trains. They talked against time, to prevent the reconsideration of the vote on the license bill, until enough members had left town to prevent a quorum being assembled, when the session expired.

During a quarrel between Thomas Foley and Thomas Gleason, at Manchester, Monday evening, Gleason was stabbed twice, once near the heart. His condition is critical. The two men had a dispute in the afternoon and met to fight it out.

Canaan is in a breeze of excitement over the discovery at Goose pond of a small fragment of a man's skull and bunches of hair. It is presumed that a Frenchman named Bullie, who disappeared some time ago, has been murdered.

Readables.

The London critics complain of Mr. Charles R. Thorne's "American accent," and lament that so fine an actor "cannot speak English."

It is reported that the Mexican government has offered to cede to the United States all Mexican territory lying north of a line of latitude drawn from the mouth of the Rio Grande to the Pacific ocean.

It is the opinion of the New York Times that no more striking comment on the impenetrable density of the average democratic intelligence can be found than the preposterous revival of the repudiation theory in the Indiana platform.

The Kennebec Journal is out with an address to the lumbering interest in Maine, full of big and italic type, pitching into the reciprocity treaty and the free trade plank of the democrats of the State. It calls for a positive, emphatic, indignant protest against "the sacrifice of Maine's interest to the advantage of the British dominions."

The Philadelphia Child Robbery.

[Cin. Times.]

The Philadelphia child-stealing case still continues a profound mystery. The father indicated his readiness to pay the $20,000 demanded for the return of the child, but the kidnappers are doubtless frightened by the watchfulness of the police, and are not yet ready to make the transfer. They are still communicating with the bereaved father by means of anonymous letters, and receiving answers through advertising columns of the Philadelphia Ledger. In the Ledger of the 14th, appears the following: "Ross—Too late for the Evening Star. It is ready. You have my word for it." The interpretation is plain. The father has received another communication, but too late to reply, as requested, in the Evening Star. He informs them that "it" (the $20,000) is ready, and that they may rely upon his word for a fair exchange. In the Ledger of the 15th, just at hand, we find another personal, as follows: "Ross—Am anxiously waiting an answer." It is evident that the thieves still doubt the good faith of the proposed ransom.

The history of the whole affair is one to make a man's blood boil with uncontrollable indignation. The poor father, already hard hit by the late panic, struggling to raise $20,000 to buy back his only child from the hands of kidnappers, is a spectacle that might make a philosopher tear his hair with wrath. It is more than probable that the thieves are professionals from across the water. Their work was done carefully and systematically from the first. For four or five days they contented themselves with making the acquaintance of the child and his playmates, giving them candy and toys, so as to acquire such terms of intimacy that the little fellow would make no outcry when the kidnapping should take place.

It would seem as if the police force of Philadelphia, the second city in the Union, when urged on by such intense public feeling should be equal to the situation and succeed in finding some clue to the villians. We know too well, however, the narrow scope of the detective's power. He has one simple set of resources to which, after the manner of Procrustes, he seeks to fit all occurrences. Provided the crime is within the limits of his researches he ferrets out the criminal; but give him something out of the ordinary run, and he is completely at fault. The trouble is that some of the rogues have genius of the highest order while the detective force commands only talent, and that of a very ordinary cast. We shall not be surprised to see the boy in question exchanged for the $20,000, and the Philadelphia policemen remain in as sublime ignorance as now.

But if such should be the result, it behooves every parent in cities of the first-class to provide their children with a bodyguard. We discoursed at length a few weeks since, on the rapid contagion of peculiar crimes, a fact which social statistics most clearly establish, and if this case of child-stealing goes unpunished we hazard the prediction that the year will not pass without a half-dozen more of like nature.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of inferior drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to a true or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being a one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus broadly, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its graceful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons,

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor, or any alderman of the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the manufacture of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar, nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Henry F. Wendell, Esq., has been appointed Deputy Sheriff of Rockingham county, and notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wendell is one of the staunchest of democrats and most respected of citizens, the young democrats who wanted the position for one of their number are wild with rage and many threaten to vote the republican ticket. One of the disappointed ones say it will make trouble at the next election. The republicans of the third ward have a better chance to win at the next election than for years if they will only put some new blood into their ward committee and weed out some of the do-nothings.

The prizes for the Oceanic yacht race, at Star Island, rank among the most elegant ever offered for a boat race in New England waters. They are in three sets; a large and elegant silver soup dish, gold-lined and handsomely frosted, with a gold-lined ladle, an elegant silver pitcher, and a pair of beautiful napkin rings, mounted on silver boats, with a miniature image of a sailor on one side, and an anchor with oars on the other.

Mr. Frank Whitehouse of Dover has been appointed foreman of masons at the navy yard.

It is reported that Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler is to be relieved from duty at this navy yard.

A new steamer, the Everett, accommodating 250 passengers, is running between Newburyport and Haverhill, and will make trips to the Shoals, Hampton and Rye.

Benjamin Oliver, who died at Newcastle on the 15th inst., aged eighty-nine, was a soldier in the war of 1812, serving for several months in the defense of this harbor, and was allowed a pension in 1871 for services performed nearly sixty years previously.

The Kearsarge Mills have resumed work.

A lad named Silva was severely injured by a runaway horse near "The Wentworth," Tuesday afternoon. A surgeon took fifty stitches in his neck.

At a meeting of the republican ward committee of ward 6, held at the Common Council room on Wednesday evening, J. Horace Kent was elected chairman, Plumer D. Norton, Secretary, and John Knowlton, Treasurer. Sub-committees were appointed to perfect a canvass of the ward.

Hon. Daniel Marcy has laid another keel.

A horse belonging to Mr. Ass T. Walker ran away on Market street, Tuesday afternoon, taking the sidewalk; he smashed the soap-cart to which he was attached and then butted against the North church, where he fell, slightly disconcerted.

A magnificent Japan lily (Lilium Auratum) is now in bloom in Mr. L. G. Davis' garden at No. 25 Austin street, and is well worth seeing by lovers of rare and choice flowers. It is five feet high, and is crowned with twelve large flowers, making a bouquet nearly the size of a half-bushel.

Conductor Ansel Tucker, the veteran of the Boston & Maine Railroad, died at the Falmouth Hotel in Portland on Tuesday.

A Boat-Race.

Since the disputed race with the Exeter students, the Lelap Boat Club of this city has been unable to find an opponent worthy its skill and endurance until a race was arranged a few days ago by three oarsmen from Kittery and one from Portsmouth. By the terms of the race the Lelaps were not to allow any time for the difference in the number of oars, the "Crest," the club-boat, pulling six oars, and the "Columbia," its opponent, four. The former boat weighs 383 pounds, and the latter 292, each carrying a coxswain. The "Crest" is familiar to all persons who visit the wharves, of an evening, or take an occasional trip down river, as a working boat, smoothly finished, and undeniably fast, with her regular crew at the oars. The "Columbia" is not so well known, and is a lap-streak working boat. Her crew had been in her but four times previous to the race, which came off as duly announced, at high tide, Tuesday evening at seven o'clock, a large number of spectators lining the wharves.

The Lelap crew has been in training for two weeks, and No. 2 has trained down from 175 to 163 pounds, being the heaviest man in the boat. The crew is as follows:

Chas. O. Tiffany, No. 6, bow; height 5 ft.; weight 128 lbs.

Appleton Tredick, No. 5, height 5 ft., 10 in.; weight 143 lbs.

Israel Kimball, Jr., No. 4; height 5 ft., 10 1-2 in.; weight 140 lbs.

John Stimpson, No. 3; height 5 ft., 8 in.; weight 158 lbs.

C. Percy Lamprey, No. 2; height 6 ft.; weight 163 lbs.

Arthur W. Walker, stroke and capt., No. 1; height, 5 ft., 9 in.; weight 133 lbs.

Fred G. Moses, coxswain; weight 115 lbs.

Weight of boat and crew, 980 lbs.

Average weight of crew, 140 lbs.

Average pulling weight, (boat and crew,) 227 lbs.

The crew of the "Columbia" is as follows:

Chas. C. Dixon, bow, No. 1; height 5 ft., 8 1-2 in.; weight 155 lbs.

Chas. Grant, No. 2; height 5 ft., 9 1-2in.; weight 170 lbs.

Gilbert C. Remick, No. 3; height 5 ft., 9 1-2 in.; weight 160 lbs.

James H. Dow, No. 4, stroke and capt.; height 5 ft., 8 1-2 in.; weight 142 lbs.

Frank Marr, coxswain, weight 105 lbs.

Weight of boat and crew, 1024 lbs.

Average weight of crew, 146 3-5.

Average pulling weight 256 lbs.

The starting point was from boats moored below Portsmouth bridge, the course being estimated at two and a quarter miles in length, being from the boat to the beacon and return, the turn at the beacon being made from starboard to port. Messrs. J. B. Upham, Jr., Geo. G. Kimball, (of the Savannah Boat Club,) Plumer D. Norton and Robert G. Magill acted as judges, with Dr. James R. May as starter and referee.

Shortly after seven o'clock, the movements of the boats lying off Badger's Island gave notice that the start had been effected. In a few minutes the "Columbia" passed down, showing clear water of a boat's length between her and the "Crest." The "Columbias" were pulling a stroke of 38, the "Lelaps" running up to 44. When within 100 feet of the beacon, both crews pulling a parallel course, with the outside ("Columbia") boat a length and a half ahead, the "Crest" varied her course and ran against the "Columbias'" stroke oar, which obliged that oarsman to take in his oar. [This "foul" ultimately gave the race to the "Columbia."] In going around the beacon, the "Crest" was ahead one length, but the boats collided. After getting around, the boats started for the stake boat. The "Crest" then took the lead and increased it to the judges' boat, arriving in 16 minutes and 20 seconds, after the start, some lengths ahead of the "Columbia." A charge of "foul" was entered by the latter crew, and admitted as a necessity and not an intention on the part of the "Lelaps." The judges and referee adjourned to the Rockingham and finally decided as follows:

ROCKINGHAM HOUSE, JULY 21, 1874.

The Referee and Judges, to whom were submitted the decision of the recent race between the "Lelaps" and the crew of J. H. Dow, decide in favor of Mr. Dow's crew, by reason of a foul by the "Lelaps."

They impute no blame to either crew, and suggest that the race be rowed again at some convenient time.

J. R. MAY,
Referee for the Judges:

The Congregational Church in this town, which has been undergoing extensive repairs for the last three months, was occupied by the Society last Sabbath; it having been completed and re-dedicated a short time previously. The building has been somewhat remodelled, is neat, easy and substantial, modern circular pews having been substituted for the old tiresome ones. The gallery has been cut down and a pipe organ put in. The audience room has been handsomely and tastefully frescoed and carpeted and will compare favorably with any of the city churches. The committee superintending the repairs have very satisfactorily performed the duties of the position. One of the committee, a late county commissioner, who, by his energy and enterprise, has accumulated abundant means, has given it much of his personal supervision, and has paid the lion's share of building expenses; for which generosity every person of the society should manifest gratitude. York.

The old adage that "lightning never strikes twice in the same place" does not hold good in York, Me., for a correspondent in that town writes us as follows: York and vicinity seems to have more than a fair share of visits of lightning, which has in some cases done serious damages. During one of the recent showers a bolt was seen to descend to the earth, form itself into a ball and roll through a field toward the house of Andrew J. McIntire, entering one door and passing out of another, when it exploded, giving the building which was near it a shaking up. Mrs. McIntire, who was in the house at the time, received a severe shock, rendering her insensible and making it necessary to call in medical aid. On Thursday of last week lightning struck the chimney of the house of Mr. Edwin A. Tomlinson and passed down into the cellar where it scattered things promiscuously. Fortunately no person was in the house at the time. During the same shower a gentleman, (a visitor at the Bowden House, York Beach,) received a shock and was made insensible. The house of Mr. Tomlinson is near the spot where the lightning struck three years ago, when it killed a young lady and injured several others.

—A certain "Uncle James" of our acquaintance, whose execution is not quite equal to his preference for the violin, was paid a delicate left-handed compliment the other night by his little niece, who, on being awakened some time in the small hours of the night by the hideous performances of two fellows under the window, naively remarked, "Mamma, I don't like to hear Uncle James play on a violin."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Models made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

Keep Cool! Keep Cool!
SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.
N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.
The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Portsmouth Chronicle.

—A country paper says that, in reply to a question from the lecture committee of the chief town of the district, as to the subject of a lecture to be given at the institution, the lecturer telegraphed, "A Taste of Naples and Rome." The operator made it read, "A Taste of Apples and Rum."

—A boy was engaged in nocturnal cherry stealing, a short time ago, and was observed by the owner of the fruit, who, unnoticed by the young robber, placed a large stuffed dog at the foot of the tree, and retired to watch the result of his strategy. The boy descending observed the dog, and then the fun commenced. He whistled, coaxed, threatend unavailingly, the animal never moving, and finally the youth, accepting the inevitable, settled down to passing the night in the tree. After some hours had passed, wearily enough to the lad, morning dawned, and the proprietor of the tree, coming from the house, asked him how he came to be in the tree, to which the boy answered that he took to it to save himself from the dog, who had chased him quite a distance. It isn't healthy for a smaller boy to say "stuffed dog" to that youth now.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer glose than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus allwaste is saved

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 15 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bluing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by its long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Colic, Flatulence, Dermatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to change the disease-breeding germs of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the papillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Pains in Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the system. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damaged waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

How a Rat Whipped an Alligator.

[N. O. Picayune.]

A wholesale drug store on Magazine street is the happy possessor of a young and domesticated alligator. The little crocodile has become quite the pet and plaything of the establishment; he is of an amiable disposition, fond of music and dinner, and quite submissive, shedding tears and showing repentance whenever it is found necessary to correct him. It was resolved by the clerks in the establishment that as the alligator had reached his third birthday, and increased to three feet in length, to utilize him, to put him to some other employment than that of mere pet. At first it was thought that he might be turned loose to reduce the republican vote of this State, by picking up stray picaninnies, for whom he is commonly supposed to have a great love; but this was thought a chimerical and dangerous enterprise and, therefore, given up. It was finally concluded to make use of Crocky, the alligator, as a cat. The store teemed with rats and mice, who made daily inroads on the quinine and ipecac; and it is well known that alligators have a special and inestimable hatred toward rats. A rat, to practice on, was caught the other day, imprisoned in a barrel of calomel. There he had spent at least a week on this meagre, insufficient and injurious diet; he was thin, weak and melancholy; his health was broken, his constitution gone. Rat and alligator were put together in a box, and a numerous audience crowded around to get the front place. The two enemies soon awoke to an appreciation of the case. The rat safely and snugly ensconced himself in a corner. The alligator hesitated a second, scratched his head (metaphorically), and having made up his mind as to the mode of attack, advanced slowly toward the rat with wide-open jaws. The rat trembled, there was no escape, nothing but the wide-open mouth of the alligator before him. Without hesitation, like Curtius, he jumped straight into the yawning gulf and getting a good hold on the lower lip of the alligator, swung himself to the ground. The "saurian" gave a squeak and swung himself around, the rat finally letting go, victor in the first round. The alligator, however, was not daunted, and advanced with the same tactics. The rat this time, by a most agile movement, leaped entirely over the alligator. Getting behind him he now proceeded to chaw and gnaw away. The unwieldy animal could not get around to defend his hind legs. By a good use of his tail, the alligator again got free and advanced desperately, though with flagging courage, at the daring rodent. With equal success the rat again sprang into the air, alighting on the alligator's back. The fight was over then. The alligator could not shake his enemy off, could not dislodge him; and finally gave up the fight, laying himself down on his belly in a submissive attitude. The rat was set at liberty and given the run of all the drugs and medicines, whilst the poor alligator was doomed to disgrace and ridicule. His master no longer feels proud of his rough pet, and offers to go in bathing among a thousand full-grown crocodiles, without the least danger.

Through the Air to Europe.

Mr. Donaldson, by his late experimental balloon trip, has so inspired the management of the New York hippodrome with the idea that the "westerly current" exists that they have gone to the expense of importing cloth from Europe for the purpose of making a balloon for him to go to Europe in. The cloth is said to be the finest ever made for the purpose. It is composed of silk and linen, and woven in the strongest manner. The balloon is to be 47 feet in diameter, and will be inflated with 36,000 feet of gas. Its lifting power will be 2500 pounds, while the basket and net weigh 500 pounds. Professor Donaldson expects to carry nine people besides himself, and he estimates the weight of humanity and ballast at 1628 pounds. A boat has been constructed for the trip, as the professor intends to come back by water, or at least part of the way, and every precaution will be taken for safety that can be thought of. Mr. Donaldson says that there are three currents to contend against after the altitude of 2000 feet is reached, but that he can so manage his balloon as to take either one of them.

A Vagabond For Money.

[Providence Press.]

Mr. James Coleman, a newspaper reporter of New York, passed through Providence on his journey to Boston to claim a wager of $50,000, made with a sea captain of Newburyport, Mass., named James Delacour, that he, Coleman, was to lead the life of a vagrant for five years, which Mr. Coleman claims to have done; he says he drank no hot tea or coffee, or reposed in a bed during that time. He walked from Boston to Key West, Fla., and returned to New York in the same manner, there being stipulations to that effect; he was to perform all his journeyings on foot, except in crossing the rivers. On his journey South he had for companion John Madden, a brother to an eminent literary lady of "Tablet" notoriety, and an illiterate Irishman, who excelled as a flutist. Mr. Coleman's appearance is like one on his "last legs;" he is completely "used up," and his weary life has rendered him less than the ninth part of a man.

The Great Scandal.

The effect of the publication of Theodore Tilton's statements charging criminal guilt on Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs. Tilton will be more demoralizing to the morals of the present generation than a half dozen rebellions hinging on political changes. A large majority of people reading the charges made by Mr. Tilton will naturally believe every word he has put forth, while of the minority many will unconsciously feel that denial of the truth of the scandal will not convince them of its untruth. Mr. Tilton must have been outraged beyond measure to have deliberately determined to sacrifice his wife to public scandal. Forgiveness for her sin so humbly confessed would have made of Mr. Tilton a moral hero whose greatness would have been in proportion to his self-sacrifice. His first and nobler impulses led him to the agreement to let the scandal die out naturally. His wife's weakness and his children's happiness were ever-existing arguments calculated to persuade him to reticence. His duty it seemed was to repel all insinuations against Mrs. Tilton's honor, with her atonement. But nobler minds than Theodore Tilton's have been selfish and weak; other men have been wronged and become revengeful. Viewing the affair from the stand-point of the injured husband, provocation was sufficient against Mr. Beecher and his friends to justify the exposure, leaving aside the great pain inflicted on Mrs. Tilton. Why her husband should have placed her in such a position of humiliation after her confession and her endeavors to throw off the influence of Mr. Beecher, is not generally known, although Theodore Tilton may be able to reconcile it with his conscience.

Admitting Mr. Beecher's guilt, of which proof is strong, there rises to the surface the thought, overwhelming in its very nature, of what a hypocritical life his has been. The most trusted of men, the religious teacher, a father in fact to the religious community, a man of great inspirations, capable of great deeds, with a kindly nature to all, whose love for mankind is shown by his utterances, whose public life had been a blessing to a nation—the appalling fact comes home to each admirer that he who had grown into their confidences has violated the most honorable of trusts, has been guilty of the betrayal of the friends with whom he had been most intimate, whom he had joined together in the holiest ties that men and women can assume. The case would be less heinous were it not the result of deliberation. Mrs. Tilton says her religious adviser appealed to her through that very religion which should have been her protection and her safety — basely misused the arguments which should have urged her to cling to her virtue, for her downfall. Can baseness go farther? Though repeatedly urged to quit the path of rectitude, she would not consent and in her fearlessness of yielding wrote to her absent husband, who little suspected the temptation she had thus far overcome: "That word 'faithfully' means a great deal. Yes, darling, I believe it, trust it and give you the same surety. With regard to myself, I am faithful to you, have been always and shall forever be, world without end. Call not this assurance impious. There are some things we know. Blessed be God!"

One must needs read the ardent letters of love and esteem which Mrs. Tilton wrote to her husband before the tempter came, to realize the great wrong committed on the peace of that little family, on whom the utmost happiness seemed to have settled. These letters show that Mr. and Mrs. Tilton were enjoying an experience that does not fall to the lot of every man and woman in this world. That experience only exists now in the memory as a dream that has no realization, that fades away and leaves naught but the bitterest fruit.

The guilt of Mr. Beecher, if guilt it is, will make the whole Christian world shudder. If the morals of our race are worth preservation, if there is anything in the grand teachings of the best men and women, if there is virtue in virtue, then is the chief instrument of this great wrong unfit for the high place he has publicly adorned, unfit to associate with those who have implicitly believed in and trusted him; and should be suffered to return to his society only as an humble suppliant for mercy and forgiveness—never as an honored friend or trusted teacher.

Tilton's Statement.

The publication of Theodore Tilton's sworn statement of criminal guilt on the part of his late wife, Elizabeth R. Tilton, and Henry Ward Beecher, will shock America as no event for years has done. Mr. Tilton's statement commences with the following:

First. That on the 2d of October, 1855, at Plymouth church, Brooklyn, a marriage between Theodore Tilton and Elizabeth M. Richards was performed by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, which marriage, thirteen years afterwards, was dishonored and violated by this clergyman through the criminal seduction of this wife and mother, as hereinafter set forth.

The fourth statement is that on the evening of October 10, 1868, or thereabouts, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton held an interview with Henry Ward Beecher, at his residence, she then being in a tender state of mind, owing to the recent death and burial of a young child, and during this interview an act of criminal commerce took place between the pastor and his parishioner, the motive on her part being, as hereinbefore stated, not regarded by her at the time criminal or wrong, which act was followed by a similar act of criminality between the same parties at Mr. Tilton's residence during a pastoral visit paid by Mr. Beecher to her on the subsequent Saturday evening, followed also by other similar acts on various occasions, from the autumn of 1868 to the spring of 1870, the place being the two residences aforesaid and occasionally other places to which her pastor would invite and accompany her, or at which he would meet her by previous appointment; these acts of wrong being on her part from first to last not wanton or consciously wicked, but arising through a blinding of her moral perceptions occasioned by the powerful influence excited in her mind at that time to this end by Henry Ward Beecher as her trusted religious preceptor and guide.

In the statement published is the following letter from Mrs. Tilton, written July 4, 1871:

O my dear husband! May you never need the discipline of being misled by a good woman as I was by a good man!

I would mourn greatly if my life was to be made known to father. His head would be bowed indeed to the grave.

Do not think my ill-health is on account of my sin and its discovery. My sins and life record I have carried to my Saviour. No! My prostration is owing to the great suffering I have caused you.

In a letter written to a mutual friend by Beecher, the following words speak for themselves:

If my destruction would please him [Mr. Tilton] all right, that shall not stand in the way. I am willing to step down and out. No one can offer more than that. That I do offer. Sacrifice me without hesitation if you can only see your way to his safety and happiness thereby. In one point of view I could desire the sacrifice on my part. Nothing can possibly be so bad as the power of the great darkness in which I spend much of my time. I look upon death as sweeter far than any friend I have in the world. It would be pleasant if I could see that rebuilt which is shattered; but to live on the sharp and rugged edge of anxiety, remorse, fear, despair, and yet to put on an appearance of serenity and happiness cannot be endured much longer. I am well-nigh discouraged. If you cease to trust me, to love me, I am undone. I do not know any person in the world to whom I could go.

On another occasion Mr. Tilton, after leaving his house in early morning, returning to it in the forenoon, and on going to his bedchamber found the door locked, and when on knocking the door was opened by Mrs. Tilton, Mr. Beecher was seen within, apparently much confused and exhibiting a flushed face. Mrs. Tilton afterwards made a plausible explanation, which from the confidence reposed in her by her husband was deemed by him satisfactory.

Cruel Mercy.

The discovery of the cowardly and brutal murder of the little Curran girl by the Pomeroy fiend,—it would be an insult to the brute creation to call him a beast, his unvarying selection of his victims from the young and helpless showing him to be as far behind even the cowardly wolf, hyena and tiger in brute courage as he is ahead of them in bloodthirsty ferocity and the pleasure he takes in inflicting needless suffering,—is a sad commentary on the cruelty of that mistaken humanity which, separating the criminal from his crime, looks upon the malefactor as a deserving object of sympathy rather than a blot upon the reputation of the human race, while the innocent victims of crime, and the rights of society, are utterly ignored. With these philanthropists the comfort and reformation of the criminal seem to be the only objects in view; the safety of honest men from the criminal's evil acts is but a secondary consideration. The Pomeroy boy, before his committal to the Massachusetts Reform School, committed many crimes each as well worthy death as that of Evans; his victims, numbered by the dozen, included little girls disfigured for life and mutilated in a manner too disgusting to particularize, little boys emasculated and worse than murdered; yet in spite of these notorious facts "generous-hearted philanthropy" set him free after a few months' pleasant detention in a State institution, to be once more a "lion" of the dime-novel species and to still further gratify his "irresistible" desire to inflict tortures upon everything weaker than himself. To this unwise action at least two murders are directly traceable, aside from the fact that Pomeroy would have had no chance to commit his latest crimes while in the Reform School; for he never (so far as is known) committed murder until his ridiculously-light punishment for other crimes taught him that he would get off just as easily for heavier offences. Cool and calculating, he no doubt reasoned that the same mistaken sympathy which had remitted his punishment for a score of crimes, —a sympathy which sees only a martyr in him who preys on society, and the more outrageous the crime the bigger the martyr,—would take care he did not suffer much for the commission of a few more. And while we consider every breath he draws an insult to humanity and an outrage upon helpless innocence, we do not regard him as the sole murderer of the Millen and Curran children; the parties who, knowing the devilish, cowardly ferocity of his disposition, set him free to work his own sweet will, are as blood-guilty as he; and at the bottom of all is the mawkish sentimentalism which can use no harder term than "poor fellow" when speaking of a criminal, and sends bouquets to brighten the murderer's cell while thistles are growing on the murdered one's grave.

The sober, sedate Worcester (Mass.) Gazette comments as follows on the accountability of Pomeroy for his acts, and the proper disposition to make of him whether he is accountable or not:

"A simple, and natural explanation of his horrible tendencies is now put forward. If it be true that his mother found a pleasure in visiting the slaughter-house of her husband and even in killing animals with her own hand, then her son's love for tormenting human beings follows almost as a matter of course. How far such an unfortunate being is morally responsible for his acts is a difficult problem to settle accurately, and even the practical question of what shall be done with him presents some difficulties. To shut him up in prison for the rest of his life, gives the risk of an escape or a pardon. To put a boy to death for doing what he has not the power to help, appears at first sight cruel. To us, it seems only rational to consider him something less than a human being—as to a certain extent an animal, dangerous and cunning. It will then be a duty,—painful indeed, but still a duty,—to put him out of the world, and we are not sure but this course would be quite as much a kindness to him as a matter of justice to the community."

The Boston Herald throws doubt on Mrs. Pomeroy's story of her daily gratification of a morbid delight in scenes of blood and slaughter, the Herald reporters having learned from sources considered reliable that the father of the monstrosity never had a slaughtering-house, and that he was working on the Charlestown navy yard for many months previous to the child's birth. It says "if these statements are true the nicely-spun theories of those who think Jesse is not accountable for his evil deeds are knocked higher than a kite." We do not see what difference it should make in the final and speedy disposition of Pomeroy, whether he is reponsible or not for his acts. If responsible he is worthy death a hundred times over; if not responsible he is a bloodthirsty wild beast, entirely beyond the possibility of reformation, and to keep him alive will be but an encouragement to other boys of similar (if less overpowering) predelictions to give free rein to their murderous impulses, under the assurance that "I couldn't help doing it" will secure them a martyr's crown instead of the hangman's rope.

—It is said that the prettiest girl in Harrisburg is a newspaper carrier. She carries them in her bustle.

—The proverb that "God helps those who help themselves" was well paraphrased by a little fellow who tumbled into a fountain and was nearly drowned. Pale and dripping he was put to bed, and when his mother requested the young man to thank God for saving him, Young America answered, "I 'spose God did save me, but then I held on to the gwass, too."

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged rum with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any offal of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any filthy nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is attached, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Laconics.

Mr. Lynch, who has charge of the repairs of the government buildings under the Treasury Department, in this part of the country, is engaged upon certain outside repairs upon the Custom House building, such as painting the walls, repairing the roof, etc. Plans are being drawn with a view to heating the building by steam boilers placed in the basement, and considering the lofty dimensions of the rooms, it may be that this will prove an economical measure.

The cable between Torbay and Rye Beach is working to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned. Dr. Dehms, who has been engaged in a series of interesting experiments which it was hoped would be of substantial benefit to the telegraph company and telegraphy in general, made a hasty departure for Germany on the 21st, having been summoned home, by cable, on account of the alarming illness of his wife.

South Seabrook was granted a post-office by Congress at its last session, and mails will be made up for there as soon as a postmaster is appointed.

We commend the following, from an exchange, to the attention of persons who send in papers containing articles of great personal interest to the senders but of little interest to the editor or the public, without any mark by which the interesting articles may be known: "Fellows who send stamped copies of newspapers addressed personally to some one on the editorial staff of a journal, and forget or neglect to mark what article they wish specially seen, are the cause of much profanity, or rather would be if editors swore. The journalist takes no delight in searching through the columns of a newspaper he has seen days before, for the stamped copies are always late."

On Thursday, the 16th, the church bells in Seabrook were rung for an hour (from 12 o'clock to 1,) in honor of the defeat of the free rum license bill.

The "Lelap" boat crew challenged the "Columbias," Wednesday, to race over Tuesday's course at half-past seven o'clock of that evening, but the challenge was not accepted as one of the "Columbia" crew could not row. There is a general desire for a fair race between these crews and we hope arrangements will be made for it next week. Both crews have in practice beaten the time made on Tuesday. We unintentionally gave the weight of the "Lelap" crew for the weight of crew and boat, in Wednesday's issue. The weight of the "Crest" and crew is 1363 lbs.; that of the "Columbia" and crew, 1024 lbs.

A very large party from Manchester went to the Shoals on Wednesday, in steamer Appledore.

Mr. Charles Varrell was thrown from Stokell & Co's wagon on Wednesday, through a wheel coming off, but fortunately escaped injury.

Any persons on whom the city census takers may not have called will confer a favor by handing in the statistics of their families or households, at the City Rooms, as soon as convenient.

There are grave doubts of the recovery of the Silva lad, who was so badly injured by a runaway horse near "The Wentworth."

That custom-house step ladder was found under the cherry tree of an occupant of that stone mansion, who had it sent home with the hung out. That's the kind of a turn-down collar he is!

Edward Stickney, fourteen years old, was climbing a fence on Wednesday morning when the top board gave way and he fell, breaking both bones of his left arm near the middle. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Folsom.

Portsmouth's population is about 10,500, and several more to hear from.

The New York and Brooklyn Yacht Clubs are seriously considering the question of participating in the Oceanic regatta, which will take place off the Isles of Shoals next month. If not in a body it is probable that some of the speediest yachts in these clubs will compete for the Oceanic cups.

State News.

In Suncook and Hooksett there are fourteen brickyards, owned and operated by eleven different firms and individuals. The annual aggregate for the past five years, has averaged 16,000,000 bricks, requiring an annual consumption of more than 8,000 cords of wood.

The first Representative ever sent from Dunbarton was elected in 1775, and was Caleb Page. In 1874 Caleb Page was again elected to the same office, not the same man however.

Miss Nancy W. Covell, "disenfranchised citizen" of Keene, covetous of the fame of the Glastonbury sisters, advertises that the authorities of the city have again subjected her to "taxation without representation," and, being "menaced by penal law," she has paid the same under protest.

A young man named John Kenney, who resides in Manchester, while jumping over some posts fell and broke both bones of his left leg.

Beecher had better be consigned to the care of the Shakers.

Charlie Shedd, a deaf and dumb boy aged eight years, was drowned while bathing in the Nashua River, Wednesday.

A boy ten years of age, named Hargrave, was drowned in the Nashua river, Wednesday. He had been playing on logs.

—One hundred dollars damages for breaking his wife's head, and no offset allowed because she ate onions. The jury had no scents.

—The Detroit Free Press tells us that Wisconsin won't let a clergyman kiss the bride any more, and fees have jumped from fifty cents to five dollars.

—This is the way she put her foot in it: Just as she was about to take the seat he offered her in the street-car, she said, snappishly: "If there were any gentlemen in the car they would not allow a lady to go the length of it before giving her a seat." Then the brutal man slid quickly back to his seat and quietly remarked: "I think the ladies are all seated." This was followed by an audible smile from several male tyrants in the car, and the lady (?), making a frantic plunge for the bell-strap, was soon ushered into the street, temper and all.

—One of the students at Davidson College who was too lazy to do anything right, was in the habit of cleaning out his lamp chimney by running his finger down it as far as he could and twisting it around. After he had cleaned it out in this partial manner, one day not long ago, a fellow student took it up, and carried it to the residence of one of the professors, with the inquiry, "Why is it this chimney is smoked just up to this point and no farther?" The learned gentleman entered into an elaborate scientific explanation of why it was, arguing with great lucidness, and citing various authorities to show the correctness of his reasoning. When he had finished, the student said to him, "No, sir, you are wrong." "Why is it, then?" inquired the professor. "Because the fellow's finger wasn't long enough to reach any farther," replied the student.

How a Pedagogue Makes Love.

[Indianapolis Sentinel.]

Mr. Mills, Southside School Superintendent, makes out examination questions for teachers in a way peculiar to himself, winding up every question with "If so, why?" or, "If not, why not?" One of the teachers tells this story about him: She says she boarded once at the same place where his "girl" boarded. One night he came, rang the bell, and asked the servant, "Is Miss ——in, and if so, why? Is she engaged, and how?" Then he went in, and the little tattletale, listening at the key-hole, heard him say, "My darling, do you love me? If not, why not?" After a while—"Give a synopsis of your employment during the week. Analyze thoroughly and completely the state of your sentiments towards me." When he left, after kissing her, he remarked, "Be prepared on next Sunday at half-past two P. M. to state, accurately and concisely, when, where, and by whom and under what circumstances our marriage shall be performed."

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to ascertain the validity and utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART."

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE out from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. My strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of your Ale of Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. LAWS

UNITED STATES

PASSED AT THE

FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 26.]

AN ACT to amend the act entitled "An act to regulate the carriage of passengers in steamships and other vessels," approved March three, eighteen hundred and fifty-five.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the thirteenth section of the act entitled "An act to regulate the carriage of passengers in steamships and other vessels," approved March third, eighteen hunded and fifty-five, be, and is hereby, repealed; and that hereafter each and every collector of customs to whom shall be delivered the manifests or lists of passengers prescribed by the twelfth section of the act aforesaid, approved March third, eighteen hundred and fifty-five, shall make returns from such manifests or lists of passengers to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, in such manner as shall be prescribed by that officer, under whose direction statements of the same shall be prepared and published.

Approved, May 7, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 27.]

AN ACT to amend the thirty-first section of an act entitled "An act for enrolling and calling out the national militia, and for other purposes," approved March third, eighteen hundred and sixty-three.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all officers on duty at any point west of a line drawn north and south through Omaha City, and north of a line drawn east and west upon the southern boundary of Arizona, shall be allowed sixty days' leave of absence without deduction of pay or allowances: Provided, That the same is taken but once in two years: And provided further, That the leave of absence may be extended to three months, if taken once only in three years; or four months, if taken once only in four years.

Approved, May 8, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 28.]

AN ACT in relation to the customs duties on imported fruits.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to suspend the repayment of all duties heretofore paid on imported fruits until further legislation by Congress authorizing the same, or until the final decision of the Supreme Court, except in cases where suits in court have been discontinued by instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury. And the error in the punctuation of the clause relating to fruit-plants in the fifth section of the act approved June six, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, entitled "An act to reduce duties on imports, and to reduce internal taxes, and for other purposes," of inserting a comma instead of a hyphen after the word "fruit" is hereby corrected, and said clause shall read as follows: fruit-plants tropical and semi-tropical for the purpose of propagation or cultivation: Provided, That the duties imposed by virtue of this amendment shall not be levied or collected upon fruits entered for consumption at any port of entry prior to July first, eighteen hundred and seventy-four.

Approved, May 9, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 29.]

AN ACT to establish an assay-office at Helena, in the Territory of Montana.

Be is enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and required to establish an assay-office at Helena, in the Territory of Montana, the said assay-office to be conducted under the provisions of the act entitled "An act revising and amending the laws relative to the mints, assay-offices, and coinage of the United States," approved February twelfth, eighteen hundred and seventy-three.

SEC. 2. That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be constructed a suitable building at Helena, in the Territory of Montana, for the purpose of said assay-office, and provide the same with the necessary fixtures and apparatus, at a cost not exceeding fifty thousand dollars, which sum is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved, May 12, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 30.]

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the establishment of a military prison and for its government," approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-three.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said act be, and the same is hereby, so amended that all acts and things therein required to be done and performed at Rock Island, in the State of Illinois, shall be done and performed on the military reservation at Fort Leavenworth, in the State of Kansas: Provided, That the Government buildings now on said military reservation at Fort Leavenworth shall be modified and used so far as practicable for the purposes of said prison.

Approved, May 21, 1874.

[GENERAL NATURE—No. 31.]

AN ACT repealing the act entitled "An act fixing the time for the election of Representatives from the State of California to the Forty-fourth Congress."

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the act entitled "An act fixing the time for the election of Representatives from the State of California to the Forty-fourth Congress," approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, be and the same is hereby, repealed.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

Are put up in a neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 and 3 sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove thus all waste is saved.

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the proped name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide spread reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in time. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most concenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It imparts the required quantity of Nature's own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

"Old Pizen."

[Virginia City (Nev.) Enterprise.]

In the early days, many years ago, Senator Jones was engaged in mining on the Stanislaus River, California, at a place called Cherokee Flat. It was a small camp containing scarcely more than a dozen habitations, all told. The most imposing structure in the camp was a boarding-house owned by a Mr. Joggles, a Missourian. This Joggles was a man of sporting proclivities. He owned a vicious-looking old bull-dog, with but one eye, whose nose was covered with scars, and whose front teeth were always visible, even when in the most friendly mood. This dog he was ready to back against any dog on the river for a fight. He also had two or three game roosters of whose prowess he was boastful. But his especial glory and pride was his fighting horse, a large, powerfully muscled and exceedingly vicious "broncho," which he called "Old Pizen." And "pizen" he was to all four-footed creatures in that region; indeed, was so "mean" that he was almost poison to himself.

The fierce, unsocial beast had taken possession of a large grassy flat about a half a mile above the camp, and would allow no other animal to come upon what he viewed as his private domain; nor for the matter of that, to come anywhere near the camp. At Cherokee Flat the old broncho was monarch of all he surveyed. He had whipped and run off every other animal that had ever been brought to the camp. The miners several times swore vengeance against "Old Pizen," and would have shot him but they liked Joggles, and the soul of Joggles delighted in Old Pizen, therefore they left him alive. Not content with conquering intruders, the old broncho would chase them for miles, running them clear out of the country. The moment he saw a strange animal he laid back his ears and went for him, using both heels and teeth.

About all this Joggles didn't care a cent. When told of one of the exploits of the animal he would laugh in spite of himself, and would swear that Old Pizen was the "biggest fightin' hoss on the Stanislaus," and he would "back him agin any critter that ever wore a har." He would tell how a big American horse chased away by Old Pizen was found forty miles distant with his tail chawed off to a mere stump. When he thought of the comical appearance the maimed horse must have presented with his little stump of a tail, Joggles would laugh till tears ran down his cheeks.

The fame of the "fighting horse" extended miles around the camp. Prospectors passing that way with pack animals were warned against him. "Beware of the fighting horse!" was the word through all that section of the country. Sonora, the county seat of Tuolumne county, was the source whence the miners at Cherokee Flat drew their supplies of "grub" and other necessaries. The town was fifteen or twenty miles distant, and the miners would occasionally go up there to order what they wanted, and have it "packed" down to their cabins. One day J. P. Jones and one of his partners went up to Sonora to procure supplies for their company, known as the "Buckeye." They remained over night in town, intending to return the next day. In the morning soon after they arose, they heard a terrible commotion in a livery stable just across the street from their hotel. Running over to ascertain the cause they found that a big Spanish jackass had found his way into the stable through a rear door, and was on the war-path among the horses. He had cleaned out several stalls almost at a dish, and then reached that occupied by a powerful black stallion. Here he found work to do. As Jones and partner entered a furious battle was raging, the horse using his heels! and the jack his teeth. The horse being confined by a strong halter the jack had rather the best of it. After tearing and mangling the flanks of the horse frightfully, the furious jack, unmindful of the blows the stable-men were raining upon his back, suddenly crowded himself forward in the stall and seized the horse by the under-lip. Here he held on like a bull-dog, the poor horse quivering in every muscle and moaning in agony.

One of the proprietors of the stable drew his revolver and was about to shoot the savage ass, when his owner arrived and a fierce wrangle ensued. The owner of the fighting jack drew his pistol, and for a time it looked as though there was likely to be "a man for breakfast." Finally, however, the owner succeeded in getting him away from the trembling and mangled horse, and drove him out of the stable.

It now occured to Mr. Jones that there was an animal that would make Old Pizen sick at the stomach. A word of this thought to his partner, and they agreed, if possible, to secure the fighting jackass. Following the owner of the jack, they soon came to an understanding with him. They were told that the jack was a good pack animal and quiet as a lamb when no horses were about. When he came where there were horses his whole nature changed and he went for them with the fury of a tiger. The jack being an unusually powerful animal, the owner asked $75 for him. Jones and partner agreed to run him a trip on trial and gave the owner $75, which he was to keep in case the jack was not returned within a certain time.

Having secured the fighting jack, Jones and partner packed him and started home in high feather. As soon as he was out of town the jack became docile and sleepy as any old "burro" that ever trotted a trail. Before getting home the beast became absolutely lazy, and Jones & Co. began to fear that off his own dunghill their jack was of no account as a fighter.

It was about sundown when the men reached Cherokee Flat and drove up to the door at the "Buckeye Company's cabin." Their partners had quit work and come up from the bar. They were getting supper, but for a time discontinued the work of frying bacon and baking slap-jacks to come out and ask "J. P." and companion how they came by the big donkey. In as few moments as possible Jones made them acquainted with the character of the beast. When he had finished his account of the scene at the livery stable every man of the Buckeye Company was firmly convinced that the big jack could "walk the log" of Old Nick himself, but mum was the word. No hint of the fighting qualities of the animal was to go out of the cabin.

Presently Joggles, whose boarding-house was just across the street, espied the jackass, and came over to where he was being unpacked. A smile struggled about the corners of his mouth as he came. Walking up to the beast, and eyeing him from stem to stern for a time, Joggles said:

"Purty good chunk of a jackass. Bin buyin' him?"

"Well," said Jones, "I don't know. We have him on trial. We may buy him. He is big and strong, and seems nice and quiet—may be a trifle lazy."

Joggles, who seemed to be calculating about how many mouthfuls he would make for Old Pizen, at last said:

"Well, yes, he seems rather quiet."

Having unpacked the jack, one of the "boys" gave him a slap with a strap, as much as to say: "You are now at liberty, old fellow; go off and enjoy yourself as you please."

"What!" cried Joggles, opening his eyes in amazement, "you ain't going to turn that jack loose here? The first thing you know he'll poke off up to the flat where Old Pizen is. Then he'll be a dead jack as sure as you live. Why, he wouldn't make a mouthful for Pizen!"

"Well, I don't know," said Jones, "the jack is a very quiet old fellow, and I guess Old Pizen won't think him worth bothering with. Besides the chances are that he will stay and pick about camp—won't he him his way to the flat at all."

"Well, just as you please," said Joggles, pretending some concern; "but you know what Old Pizen is?"

"Yes, I know," said Jones, "but Pizen is getting old. I guess he don't thirst for the fray, as in his younger days. I shouldn't wonder now if that old jack were to whip him—in case they should get together," added Jones, laughing.

"What!" cried Joggles, turning red, "that blamed old jackass whip Pizen! Not much! I'll bet you $100—yes, I'll bet you $200—he can't whip one side of him! Come, now!"

"The trouble is," said Jones, "the jack is in a strange place. He might not fight. However, he looks as though there might be some fight in him. If the two ever get together, I rather think he'll make it warm for the broncho."

"You do, eh?" said Joggles, "Well I don't. Here, here, now—back up your opinion, or take water. Here's $200! I'm willin' to jist let the animals alone—let them find their way to each other—and I bet this $200 that when they do meet Old Pizen whips—that he eats your jack up alive! Come now, Pixley, here, shall hold the stakes. See me, see me! come down! Two hundred goes that Pizen whips!"

Beecher's Denial.

On Wednesday evening several of the deacons of the Plymouth church, with Mr. Shearman, Mr. Rose and General Tracy, met at Mr. Beecher's residence, and, after a counsel lasting about three hours, drew up the following statement of Mr. Beecher, as for publication:

I do not propose at this time to prepare a detailed examination of the remarkable statement of Mr. Theodore Tilton, made before the committee of investigation, and which appeared in the Brooklyn Argus of July 24, 1874. I recognize the many reasons which make it of transcendent importance to myself, the church and the cause of public morality that I shall give a full answer to the charges against me, but, having requested the committee of investigation to search this matter to the bottom, it is to them that I must look for my vindication. But I cannot delay for an hour to defend the reputation of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton, upon whose name, in connection with mine, her husband has attempted to pour shame. One less deserving such disgrace I never knew. From childhood she has been under my eye, and since reaching womanhood she has had my sincere admiration and affection. I cherish for her a pure feeling such as a gentleman might honorably offer to a Christian woman, and which she might receive and reciprocate without moral scruple. I reject with indignation every imputation which reflects upon her honor or my own. My regard for Mrs. Tilton was perfectly well known to my family. When serious difficulties sprang up in her household, it was to my wife that she resorted for counsel, and both of us acting from sympathy, and, as it subsequently appeared without full knowledge, gave unadvised counsel which tended to harm. I have no doubt that Mr. Tilton found that his wife's confidence and reliance upon my judgment had greatly increased while his influence had diminished in consequence of a marked change in his religious and social views which were taking place during those years. Her mind was greatly exercised lest her children should be harmed by such views, which she deemed false and dangerous. I was suddenly and rudely aroused to the reality of the impending danger by the disclosure of domestic distress, of sickness, perhaps unto death, of the likelihood of separation and the scattering of a family, every member of which I had tenderly loved. The effect upon me of the discovery of the state of Mr. Tilton's feelings and the condition of his family surpassed in sorrow and excitement anything that I had ever before experienced in my life. That my presence, influence and counsel had brought to a beloved family sorrow and alienation gave in my then state of mind a poignancy to my suffering which I hope no other man may ever feel. Even to be suspected of having offered, under the privileges of a peculiarly sacred relation, an indecorum to a wife and mother, could not but deeply wound any one sensitive to the honor of womanhood.

There were peculiar reasons for alarm in this case on other grounds, inasmuch as I was then subject to certain malignant rumors, and a flagrant outbreak in this family would bring upon them an added injury derived from these shameless falsehoods. Believing at the time that my presence and counsels had tended, however, unconsciously, to produce a social catastrophe represented as imminent, I gave expression to my feelings in an interview with a mutual friend, not in cold and cautious self-defending words, but eagerly taking blame upon myself, and pouring out my heart to my friend in the strongest language, overburdened with the exaggerations of impassioned sorrow. Had I been the evil man Mr. Tilton now represents I should have been calmer and more prudent. It was my horror of the evil imputed that filled me with morbid intensity at the very shadow of it. Not only was my friend affected grievously, but he assured me that such expressions, if conveyed to Mr. Tilton, would soothe wounded feeling, allay anger and heal the whole trouble. He took down sentences and fragments of what I had been saying, to use them as a mediator. A full statement of the circumstances under which this memorandum was made I shall give to the investigating committee. That these apologies were more than ample to meet the facts if the case is evident, in that they were accepted. That our intercourse resumed its friendliness, that Mr. Tilton subsequently ratified it in writing and that he has continued for four years, and till within two weeks, to live with his wife, censurable if the original charges had been what is now alleged. That he would have condoned the offence not only with the mother of his children, but with him whom he believed to have wronged them, the absurdity as well as the falsity of this story is apparent when it is considered that Mr. Tilton now alleges that he carried this guilty secret of his wife's infidelity for six months laid up in his own breast, and that then he divulged it to me only that there might be a reconciliation with me.

Mr. Tilton has since, in every form of language and to a multitude of witnesses, in written statements and in printed documents, declared his faith in his wife's purity. After the reconciliation of Mr. Tilton with me, every consideration of propriety and honor demanded that the family trouble should be kept in that seclusion which domestic affairs have a right to claim, as a sanctuary, and to that seclusion it was determined that it should be confined. Every line and word of my private and confidential letters which have been published is in harmony with the statements I now make. My published correspondence on this subject comprises but two elements, namely, the expression of my grief and that of my desire to shield the honor of a pure and innocent woman. I do not propose to analyze and contest at this time the extraordinary paper of Mr. Tilton, but there are two allegations which I cannot permit to pass without special notice. They refer to the only two incidents which Mr. Tilton pretends to have witnessed personally, the one an alleged scene in my house while looking over engravings, and the other a chamber scene in his own house. His statements concerning these are absolutely false. Nothing of the kind ever occurred, nor any semblance of any such thing. They are now brought to my notice for the first time. To every statement which connects me dishonorably with Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton, or which in any wise would impugn the honor and purity of this Beloved and Christian woman, I give the most explicit, comprehensive and solemn denial.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Henry H. Farnham, of Dover, 25 years of age, took a bath at Old Orchard beach, on the 21st. His blood being in a very warm condition, the shock of the cold water produced congestion of the brain, and he was taken to the hotel in an unconscious state, dying the next morning.

Jesse Pomeroy's mother says of that wretch: "I think his vaccination had more effect on him than anything else. He was vaccinated when he was four weeks old, and shortly after his face broke out and had the appearance of raw flesh, and some fluid issued from the wounds that burned my arm when dropped on it, from which fact I judged the fluid was poison. This lasted until he was six months old, when his whole body was covered with large abscesses, one of which was over the eye, and occasioned the cast or fallen appearance that it wears at present. At the time it was thought he would die, but he recovered slowly, and Dr. Lane, who attended him, stated that all the sickness was occasioned by vaccination."

A certain bright little girl in New Bedford, about ten years old, wishing to secure some cancelled executive postage stamps, of her own motion and without the knowledge of her friends, wrote to President Grant, asking him to send her a few. After a few days she proudly exhibited a letter from the President, enclosing a full set of uncancelled stamps, and his photograph.

Poor little Pomeroy has confessed that he murdered the Millen child. The unfortunate couldn't help doing it, so of course he should not be blamed.

—An exchange gives the following account of a weasel's strategem, with the suspicious remark that it is vouched for by a friend: A grist mill was infested with large rats, until a weasel came there, and destroyed nearly all of them. There was, however, one large rat which he could not conquer. They had several pitched battles in which the rat whipped the weasel, until whenever the rat appeared the weasel would seek safety in flight. They were watched for several days when the weasel was observed to be digging a hole in the earth under a pile of lumber. After he had completed it he approached the mill, and the rat came after him as usual. He made some show of fight until he had got the rat into his hole. The rat followed, when the weasel was seen to come out at the other end of the hole, and run in at the entrance after the rat. Subsequent examination proved that the weasel had made the hole large enough for the rat to enter, but had contracted the other end so that he could not get out. Having thus trapped his antagonist, the weasel took him in the rear, and easily conquered him.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and remedy in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

Not Wholly Imperturbable.

[Indianapolis Sentinel.]

The telegraph editor was quiet and gentlemanly in all his movements. He seemed to have learned thoroughly in the college from which he had graduated but a year ago the old Horatian maxim—"not to admire." Through all the intricate debates of Congress on the currency question he had threaded his way without kindling with enthusiasm as the fortunes of the inflationists sunk or rose. The Mill River disaster found him undisturbed and left him in repose. The varying platforms of the administration party from Maine to Iowa brought him no vexation of spirit on their floating and disjointed planks. His only anxiety amidst the harrowing imputations of the Beecher-Tilton scandal, which lacerated the feelings of thousands throughout the land, was to grace the news with appropriate head lines; and when Prince Bismark staggered before the assault of an assassin, the pistol bullet just grazing the great brain that has carried the fate of Europe for ten years, he only wondered how large a capital letter should be used to make the announcement. But last night there came a change, although even the fire in Chicago did not bring it about. With a sparkling eye and flushed face he broke out of his own room, swinging a sheet of manifold paper. "Hope elevated and joy brightened his crest" as he called out gleefully, "We've scooped 'em at last!" Was Butler struck dumb? Had Grant refused a renomination? Was Moses sent to State prison? Alas, no! But Yale had beaten Harvard at base ball by a score of four to nothing.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions disease of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

—OF—

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First, We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future once before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 23. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden by any section of this ordinance to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Mr. Thomas N. Doutney of Boston will deliver an original lecture entitled "Murdered, and run dead it," in Mechanics' Hall, Sunday evening. Mr. Doutney is a reformed drinker and formerly kept a retail liquor saloon in Boston. He relates his experience both as a seller and drinker, and his lecture is full of realistic characters, with dialects vividly and graphically portrayed. He is now an active worker in temperance. The lecture will be free.

State News.

Nellie Whittier of Contoocookville, while climbing over a fence, made a misstep and fell, putting out her hand to save herself, sustained a fracture of both bones of the left arm below the elbow.

A little boy of Mr. Charles Webster of Contoocookville while being drawn in a baby carriage, was thrown out and had his collar bone broken on Thursday last.

The hair which was found in the woods near West Canaan, Saturday, proves upon examination by physians to be fur, and the persons who thought that they had discovered traces of the missing Frenchman, Boulave, are discouraged.

Democratic Harmony.

The democratic papers have said a good deal, first and last, about democratic currency, "and we would gladly explain what it is, if we could; but we do not know and cannot find out, for the more we extend our researches among democratic authorities the more we don't know what the democratic authorities mean when they talk of a democratic currency. The democratic papers of New Hampshire have had much to say about democratic faith in hard money, but the democratic legislature tabled a resolution approving Grant's veto of the bill to put hard money payments further off; perhaps a reason for that action may be found in the following, which we clipped from a New York paper just after the veto was given: "The crazy bill vetoed by the President was the work of a democratic Senator from North Carolina. In the Senate the democrats have contributed half, or more than half, their votes to plunge the country into the gulf of illimitable and irredeemable paper money. In the House a strong majority of the democrats were inflationists. It helps them but little to say, what is probably true, that some of them hoped to force legislation for which the party in power would be held responsible. Men who play at this game, with the permanent interests of the whole country at stake, cannot be trusted, and will not be."

The hard-money plank of the Maine democratic platform has been lauded by the party press of the East; but the Cincinnati Enquirer don't like it, and says: "The platform of the Maine democratic convention is one of specie resumption. No such idea could be adopted by the democratic party of the West. The Maine folks, therefore, mean a separation from their Western and Southern brethren."

The Evansville (Ohio) Courier, another democratic paper, says plainly that the Western democracy has always been for sale, but intimates that hard-money Tammany need not bid any more. We quote as follows: "Tammany is a hard money society, and has always bought and sold the Western democracy. Bondholders and bank capitalists, they have little sympathy for the great mass of producers in the West."

Truly, a harmonious and united party, especially on this currency question.

—Colorado wants more women. That's the way with the world. One would think that the possession of the original potato-bugs would satisfy most Territories.

—A Cincinnati reporter says that there is something grand in a pair of runaway horses, but we believe that a good deal depends whether a man is on a fence or trying to climb over the end board of the wagon.

—A far-sighted fellow at Bristol, Eng., wrote to his fiancee: "I wish, my darling, that you would not write me such long letters. If you were to bring an action for breach of promise against me the lawyers would copy the correspondence between us and charge fourpence for every folio of seventy-two words. The shorter the letters, the more we save from the lawyers."

—What can be pleasanter than the life of a Missouri farmer? At daylight he gets up and examines the holes around his cornhills for cut-worms: then he smashes coddling-moth larvæ with a hoe-handle until breakfast. The forenoon is devoted to watering the potato-bugs with a solution of Paris green, and after dinner all hands turn out to pour boiling water on the chintz-bugs in the corn and wheat fields. In the evening a favorite occupation is smudging peach trees to discourage the curculio, and after a brief season of family devotion at the shrine of the night-flying coleoptera, all the folks retire and sleep soundly till Aurora reddens the east, and the grasshoppers tinkle against the panes and summon them to the labors of another day.

—A conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad tells the following: At an eastern station he received on board a fine-looking specimen of an old country gentleman. When he passed through the cars the old gentleman handed up his ticket, which was duly punched and returned to him. After passing the next call station, the conductor again called for the old gentleman's ticket. He looked up in surprise, and informed the puncher of tickets that he had thrown it out of the window. "Why did you do that?" asked the conductor. The old man replied, "Why, I thought if you didn't want it, I didn't." The face of the old man was so honest, and his knowledge of railroad travelling evidently so limited, that the conductor accepted his word, and carried him to his destination.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated sample of Ale by you, for me, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.
The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. LAWS

UNITED STATES

PASSED AT THE

FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

CONVENTION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND BELGIUM.

EXTRADITION.

Concluded March 19, 1874.
Ratification advised by Senate March 27, 1874.
Ratified by President March 31, 1874.
Ratified by King of the Belgians April 20, 1874.
Ratifications exchanged at Brussels April 30, 1874.
Proclaimed May 1, 1874.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a convention between the United States of America and His Majesty the King of the Belgians was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at Washington on the 19th day of March last, which convention, being in the English and French languages, is word for word as follows:

The United States of America and his Majesty the King of the Belgians, having judged it expedient, with a view to the better administration of justice, and to the prevention of crimes within their respective territories and jurisdiction, that persons convicted of or charged with the crimes hereinafter specified and being fugitives from justice, should, under certain circumstances, be reciprocally delivered up, have resolved to conclude a convention for that purpose, and have appointed as their Plenipotentiaries: the President of the United States of America, Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States; and His Majesty the King of the Belgians, Maurice Delfosse, His Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary in the United States; who, after reciprocal communication of their full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles, to wit:

ARTICLE I.

The Government of the United States and the Government of Belgium mutually agree to deliver up persons who, having been convicted of or charged with any of the crimes specified in the following article, committed within the jurisdiction of one of the contracting parties, shall seek an asylum, or be found within the territories of the other: Provided that this shall only be done upon such evidence of criminality as, according to the laws of the place where the fugitive or person so charged shall be found, would justify his or her apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed.

ARTICLE II.

Persons shall be delivered up who shall have been convicted of or be charged, according to the provisions of this convention, with any of the following crimes:

1. Murder, comprehending the crimes designated in the Belgian penal code by the terms of parricide, assassination, poisoning, and infanticide.
2. The attempt to commit murder.
3. The crimes of rape, arson, piracy, and mutiny on board a ship, whenever the crew, or part thereof, by fraud or violence against the commander, have taken possession of the vessel.
4. The crime of burglary, defined to be the act of breaking and entering by night into the house of another with the intent to commit felony; and the crime of robbery, defined to be the act of feloniously and forcibly taking from the person of another goods or money by violence or putting him in fear; and the corresponding crimes punished by the Belgian laws under the description of thefts committed in an inhabited house by night, and by breaking in by climbing or forcibly; and thefts committed with violence or by means of theft.
5. The crime of forgery, by which is understood the utterance of forged papers, and also the counterfeiting of public, sovereign, or government acts.
6. The fabrication or circulation of counterfeit money, either coin or paper, or of counterfeit public bonds, bank notes, obligations, or, in general, anything being a title or instrument of credit; the counterfeiting of seals, dies, stamps, and marks of state and public administrations, and the utterance thereof.
7. The embezzlement of public moneys committed within the jurisdiction of either party by public officers or depositaries.
8. Embezzlement by any person or persons, hired or salaried, to the detriment of their employers, when the crime is subject to punishment by the laws of the place where it was committed.

ARTICLE III.

The provisions of this treaty shall not apply to any crime or offence of a political character, nor to any crime or offence committed prior to the date of this treaty, except the crimes of murder and arson; and the person or persons delivered up for the crimes enumerated in the preceding article shall in no case be tried for any crime committed previously to that for which his or their surrender is asked.

ARTICLE IV.

Neither of the contracting parties shall be bound to deliver up its own citizens or subjects under the stipulations of this convention.

ARTICLE V.

If the person whose surrender may be claimed pursuant to the stipulations of the present treaty shall have been arrested for the commission of offences in the country where he has sought an asylum, or shall have been convicted thereof, his extradition may be deferred until he shall have been acquitted, or have served the term of imprisonment to which he may have been sentenced.

ARTICLE VI.

Requisitions for the surrender of fugitives from justice shall be made by the respective diplomatic agents of the contracting parties, or, in the event of the absence of these from the country or its seat of government, they may be made by superior consular officers.

If the person whose extradition may be asked for shall have been convicted of a crime, a copy of the sentence of the court in which he may have been convicted, authenticated under its seal, and an attestation of the official character of the judge by the proper executive authority, and of the latter by the minister or consul of the United States or of Belgium, respectively, shall accompany the requisition. When, however, the fugitive shall have been merely charged with crime, a duly authenticated copy of the warrant for his arrest in the country where the crime may have been committed, and of the depositions upon which such warrant may have been issued, must accompany the requisition as aforesaid. The President of the United States, or the proper executive authority in Belgium, may then issue a warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive, in order that he may be brought before the proper judicial authority for examination. If it should then be decided that, according to the law and the evidence, the extradition is due pursuant to the treaty, the fugitive may be given up according to the forms prescribed in such cases.

ARTICLE VII.

The expenses of the arrest, detention, and transportation of the persons claimed shall be paid by the government in whose name the requisition has been made.

ARTICLE VIII.

This convention shall take effect twenty days after the day of the date of the exchange of ratifications, and shall continue in force during five years from the day of such exchange; but if neither party shall have given to the other six months' previous notice of its intention to terminate the same, the convention shall remain in force five years longer, and so on.

The present convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged, at Brussels so soon thereafter as possible.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the present convention in duplicate, and have thereunto affixed their seals.

Done at the city of Washington, the 19th day of March, anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence.

Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt or trouble of removing nor dust when used.

Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish.

In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove old stove polishes. thus all waste is saved

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, express and post office nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blueing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Fever, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effectiveness as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the whiskers from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodide of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and difficult. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements and the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leuchorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, in so combined as to have the character of an ailiment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and wasts, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Rumors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system.—Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then JURUBEBA, the wonderful TONIC and INVIGORATOR, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic stimulant, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by great permanency; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

"Old Pizen."

[Virginia City (Nev.) Enterprise.]

Thus urged, "J. P." covered the coin in Pixley's hand, and once it was done a better pleased man than Joggles was never seen on the Stanislaus. He thought he had the deadest thing in the world. The bet made, away ran Joggles to tell all the "boys" in camp what a dead thing he had on Jones; always closing up with "Old Pizen'll chaw him up—chaw him up alive!" The last thing he said to his lodgers that night before he went to bed was:—"Knowin' Pizen as he does, Jones must be goin' crazy. That jack'll be chawed up—chawed up alive!"

All the evening the jack remained browsing about the camp, and the next morning was still there— standing with head down and eyes closed, dreamily moving his ears, and lazily switching his scanty tail. Joggles smiled contemptuously every time he looked at the old jack. Standing on his porch as the miners of the camp passed on their way down to their claims on the river, Joggles facetiously inquired whether any of them would like to back "that ferocious beast against Old Pizen for another $200?"

At last all the men of the camp were down on the river at work. About nine o'clock in the morning one of the men of the Buckeye Company happened to go from the bar up to the bank of the river for something. A moment after, grinning gleefully, he called out to those below:—"The impatient Joggles is going to bring on the game. There'll be some fun before long; I see him starting the old jack along up the valley toward the flat. He's on the sly, and is getting rather keen to see that fight!"

Watching Joggles, he was seen on the edge of the timber throwing rocks to urge the jack to move up a streak of open ground that lead to the flat between two groves of pines. Presently he came back, and seated himself on the porch, getting up once in a while and stretching his neck to see if the jack was gone in the right direction. He was dying to have the animals get together. At last a man who had climbed upon the bank reported that the jack was not to be seen, and that he had no doubt gone over the ridge into the flat.

All was excitement now among the men, and two or three of them were constantly on the river bank listening for sounds of the fray. Presently they cried out that the battle had begun. All hands hastened to the top of the high, steep bank, whence was to be had a fair view of the open ground leading up to the ridge, beyond which lay the flat where roamed the fighting horse. Although half a mild distant a terrible squealing and braying could be distinctly heard—cries of rage and pain from the contending animals. A great cloud of red dust could be seen rising from the ridge. This cloud, that told of the battle, moved to and fro; sometimes appeared to approach quite near to the crest of the ridge, then again to recede. All this time there was heard the most fearful squealing and braying imaginable—sometimes very distinctly, again more faintly, as the varying breeze wafted the sounds or as the scene of the battle shifted.

Looking toward the camp, Joggles was seen jumping up and down, and running frantically about, evidently intensely excited. Soon he was observed to get a ladder, and mount upon the roof of his porch, and thence to climb to the top of the house, vainly stretching his neck to obtain a view of the fight. Now the cloud of dust was seen to rapidly approach the crest of the ridge, and soon it came whirling over it. Then were seen two dense clouds of dust, both rolling directly in the direction of the camp. Wild snorts and hoarse brays were heard. Swiftly the red clouds rolled on, and soon in the foremost the form of an animal could be seen. A puff of wind showed this to be the broncho—Old Pizen. At the distance of three or four hundred yards behind rolled a rapidly following cloud, as we have sometimes seen two small whirlwinds in playing mood. What was in this last cloud could not be seen, but the "Buckeye boys" felt that their jackass was there.

Down into the camp charged the terrified broncho, snorting with fear at every jump, and occasionally half turning his head in order to see if the terrible jack was still in pursuit. As the frantic horse tore through the camp with nostrils distended, mane flying in the wind, and tail sticking out straight behind, Joggles was heard shouting wildly from the roof of his house, "Whoa, Pizen! whoa, Pizen!" But just at that moment there was no "whoa" in Old Pizen. Down through the little town he came, making directly for the bar, as though in search of human assistance. Straight on he came till he reached the bank of the river, here fully twenty feet in perpendicular height. At the bank he halted, hesitating to take the fearful leap, and with eyes starting from their sockets took one long, despairing look behind. There came the venomous and indomitable jackass, never breaking his steady, rolling gallop. With outstretched neck, ears laid back, tail whipping up and down with each bound, on he came. The old broncho erected his tail, took one more glance at his approaching foe, gave a snort of terror, and leaped from the bank down into the river.

Luckily for him the water was deep. Rising to the surface he swam to the opposite shore, and came out all right on a bar that put out from the bank on that side. Here he halted, evidently feeling himself safe.

The jack thundered on, and came near plunging into the river before aware of its presence. But by bracing all aback till his haunches almost touched the ground, he came to a halt. But it was only for a moment. Seeing the old broncho on the other shore he stretched out his neck and gave a diabolical "yee-haw," unhesitatingly plunged into the river, and diligently struck out for the horse.

This reckless and energetic persistence on the part of the enemy was evidently unsuspected by the broncho. He gazed for a few moments at the jack as he rose to the surface and began swimming, as though thunderstruck at the fearful energy displayed by the little beast, then tossing his tail aloft, and giving a tremendous snort, he dashed away down the river at the top of his speed.

The jack was soon over the narrow stream. On landing he snuffed the ground a moment, then raising his head, and catching a glimpse of the fleeting horse, away he plunged in keen pursuit. A bend in the river soon hid the animals from view. As the men were still standing gazing after them a great crash was heard. More than one voice then cried: "The gulch! the gulch. By heaven they have both gone into Devil's Gulch!"

What was referred to as "Devil's Gulch" was a narrow ravine, with rocky perpendicular walls, which put into the river about fifty yards below the head.

"Something fell into the gulch, sure," cried a man, "and it must have been either the horse or jack, or both."

All now started for a crossing some distance up the river, in order to go down the other shore, and see what had happened. Joggles, who had before this descended from the roof of his house, now came puffing and blowing across lots, and joined the party from the river, fifteen or twenty men in all, as they came from the several claims.

"D——n a jackass, anyhow!" was all that Joggles said, as he came up with the crowd. As all knew his feelings no one said a word.

Rounding the bend they came in full view of the gulch. There, upon its rocky brink, stood the jack. With outstretched neck he was gazing intently into the chasm below. His ears were looped forward, as though to shade his eyes, and give a clearer view of what lay at the bottom of the gulch. The sound of approaching footsteps at length attracted his attention. Turning his head, and seeing the party drawing near he moved back from the brink of the precipice, gave his tail a flourish, and uttered a series of triumphant "Yee-haws!"

Looking down into the chasm the men beheld lying on the bottom—motionless in death—Old Pizen, the fighting horse of the Stanislaus. His head was doubled under him—his neck was broken. When he came out of the gulch, after having ascertained this fact, Joggles was deadly pale. Drawing and cocking his six shooter, he advanced toward the party and said: "J. P. Jones, you knew what that jackass was. Don't speak! Let no man here speak a word."

With this he turned suddenly to where the jack stood with head down, moping sleepily, and sent a bullet through his brain. The beast fell without a moan, when Joggles advanced, and deliberately emptied the contents of his revolver into his carcass. He then seized it by the ears, dragged it to the brink of the precipice and tumbled it down upon the body of the broncho, saying: "As you are the only thing that ever whipped him, — me, you shall lie and rot with Old Pizen—Old Pizen, the fightin' Hoss of the Stanislaus."

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1874.

Mrs. Tilton's Denial.

Following is the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton in reply to that of her husband:

To pick up anew the sorrows of the last ten years, the stings and pains I had daily schooled myself to bury and forgive, makes this imperative duty, as called forth by the malicious statements of my husband, the saddest act of my life. Besides, my thought of following the Master contradicts this act of my pen, and a sense of the perversion of my life faith almost compels me now to stand aside till God himself delivers. Yet I see in this wanton act an urgent call and privilege from which I shrink not. To reply in detail to the 22d article of arraignment, I shall not attempt at present, yet, if called upon to testify to each and all of them, I shall not hesitate to do so. Suffice it for my purpose now that I reply to one or two of the most glaring charges. Touching the feigned sorrow of my husband's compulsory revelations, I solemnly avow that long before the Woodhull publication I knew him, by insinuation and direct statement, to have repeated to my very near relations and friends the substance of these accusations which shock the moral sense of the entire community this day. Many times, when hearing that certain persons had spoken ill of him, he has sent me to charge them for so doing, and then and there I learned he had been before them with his calumnies against myself, so that I was speechless.

This reiteration in his statement that he had persistently striven to hide these so-called "facts" is utterly false, as his hatred to Mr. Beecher has existed these many years, and the determination to ruin Mr. Beecher has been the one aim of his life. Again, the perfidy with which the holiest love a wife ever offered, has been recklessly discovered in this publication reaches well-nigh to sacrilege; and added to this, the endeavor like the early scandal of Mrs. Woodhull to make my own words condemn me has no parallel. Most conspicuously, my letter quoted the reading of "Griffith Gaunt." Had Mr. Tilton read the pure character of Catherine he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human may affect an ideal. But it was her character and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it to which I referred. Hers was no sin of criminal act or thought. A like "confession" with hers I had made to Mr. Tilton in telling of my love to my friend and pastor one year before, and I now add that, notwithstanding all misrepresentations and anguish of soul, I owe to my acquaintance and friendship with Mr. Beecher as to no other human instrument that encouragement in my mental life and growth toward the divine nature which enable me to walk daily in a lively hope of the life beyond. The shameless charges in articles 7, 8 and 9 are fearfully false in each and every particular. The letter referred to in Mr. Tilton's 10th paragraph was obtained from me by importunity and by representations that it was necessary for him to use in his pending difficulties with Mr. Bowen. I was then sick nigh unto death, having suffered a miscarriage only four days before. I signed whatever he required without knowing or understanding its import. The paper I have never seen and do not know what statement it contained.

In charge eighteen, a letter of mine addressed to Mr. Francis Moulton was quoted to prove that I never desired a separation, or was advised by Mr. or Mrs. Beecher to leave my husband. I reply that the letter was of Mr. Tilton's own concocting, which he induced me to copy and sign as my own, an act which, in my weakness and mistaken thought to help him, I have done too often during these unhappy years. The implication that the harmony of the home was unbroken until Mr. Beecher entered it as a frequent guest and friend, is a lamentable satire upon the household where he himself years before laid the corner stone of free-love, and desecrated its altar up to the time of my departure, so that the atmosphere was not only Godless but impure for my children, and through this effort and throes of agony I would fain lift my daughters and all women from the insidious and diabolical teachings of these latter days. His frequent efforts to prove me insane, weak-minded, insignificant, of mean presence—all sank in the category of heartlessness, selfishness and falsehood, having its climax in the present endeavor to convince the world that I am, or ever have been, unable to distinguish between the innocent and guilty love. In summing up the whole matter I affirm myself before God to be innocent of the crimes laid upon me; that never have I been guilty, of adultery with Henry Ward Beecher in thought or deed; nor has he ever offered to me an indecorous or improper proposal. To the further charge that I was led away from my home by Mr. Beecher's friends and by the advice of a lawyer whom Mr. Beecher had sent to me, and who in advance of my appearing before the committee arranged with me the questions and answers which are to constitute my testimony before the committee, I answer that this again is untrue, having never seen the lawyer until introduced to him a few minutes before the arrival of the committee by my step-father, Judge Morse; and further in reply submit the action before the committee and the separation from my husband.

The publication of Mr. Tilton's letter in answer to Dr. Bacon, I had not known or suspected when, on Wednesday evening, he brought home the Golden Age and handed it to me to read. Looking down its columns I saw, well-nigh with blinding eyes, that he had put into execution the almost daily threat of his life, that he lived to crush out Mr. Beecher, that the god of battles was in him, that he had always been Mr. Beecher's superior, and all that lay in his path, wife, children or reputation, if need be, should fall before this purpose. I did not read it. I saw enough without reading. My spirit rose within me as never before. "Theodore," I said, "tell me, what means this quotation from Mr. Beecher? Two years ago you came to me at midnight, saying, 'Elizabeth, all the letters and papers concerning my difficulties with Mr. Beecher and Mr. Bowen are burned, destroyed, and don't you betray me, for I have nothing to defend myself with.'" "Did you believe that?" said he. "I certainly did, implicitly," I said. "Well, let me tell you they all live, not one is destroyed." If this was said to intimidate it had quite the contrary effect. I had never been so fearless nor seen so clearly before with whom I was dealing. Coming to me a little later he said, "I want you to read it; you will find it a vindication of yourself. You have not stood before the community for five years as you now do." Roused still further by the wickedness hid behind so false a mask, "Theodore," I said, "understand me, this is the last time you will call me publicly to walk through this filth. My character needs no vindication at this late hour from you. There was a time when, had you spoken out clearly and manfully for me, I would have been grateful, but now I shall speak and act for myself. Know also, in the future, if I see a scrap of paper referring to any human being, however remote, if it seems to me you might use or pervert for your ends, I will destroy it." "This means battle on your part then," said he. "Just so far," I replied. I write this because these words of mine he has since used to my harm.

The next morning I went to my brother and told him that now I had decided to act in this matter; that I had been treated by my husband as a nonentity from the beginning—a plaything, to be used or let alone at will; that it had always seemed to me that I was a party not a little concerned. I then showed him a card I had made for publication. He respected the motive, but still advised silence on my part. I yielded to him thus far,—as to appearing in the public print; but, counselling with myself and no other, it occurred to me that among the brethren of my own communion I might be heard. Not knowing of any church committee, I asked the privilege of such an interview in the parlors of those who had always been our mutual friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ovington then learned for the first time that the committee would meet that night, and advised me to see these gentlemen, as perhaps the Godliest persons I could consult. This I accordingly did. There, alone, I pleaded the cause of my husband and my children, the result being that their hearts were moved in sympathy for my family, a feeling their pastor had shared for years, and for which he is now suffering. On going home I found my husband reading in bed. I told him where I had been, and that I did not conceal anything from him, as his habit was from me. He asked who the gentlemen were, said no more, rose, dressed himself and bade me good-bye, forever. The midnight following I was awakened by my husband standing by my bed. In a very tender kind of voice he wished to see me. I rose instantly, followed him into his room, and sitting on the bedside he drew me into his lap, and said he was proud of me, loved me, that nothing ever gave him such real peace and satisfaction as to hear me well spoken of. That meeting a member of the committee he had learned that he had been mistaken as to my motive in seeing the committee, and had hastened to assure me that he had been thoroughly wretched since his rash treatment of me the night before, etc. Then and there we covenanted sacredly our hearts and lives, I most utterly renewing my trust in the one human heart I loved. The next day how happy we were! Theodore wrote a statement to present to the committee when they should call upon him, to all of which I heartily acceded. This document, God knows, was a true history of this affair, completely vindicating my honor and the honor of my pastor. In the afternoon he left me to show it to his friends. He returned home early in the evening, passing the happiest hours I had known for years, renewedly assuring me that there was no rest for him away from me. So in grateful love to the dear Father I slept. O that the end had then come! I would not then have received the cruel blow which made a woman mad outright.

The next morning he called upon our friends Mr. and Mrs. Ovington, and there, with a shocking bravado, began a wicked tirade, adding, with an oath and violence, the shameless slanders against Mr. Beecher, of which I now believe him to be the author. This fearful scene I learned of next day. In the afternoon he showed me his invitation from the committee to meet them that evening. I did not then show my hurt, but carried myself calmly without, all night till early morning. Reflections upon this scene at Mr. Ovington's convinced me that, notwithstanding my husband's recent professions to me, his former spirit was unchanged; that his declarations of repentance and affection were only for the purpose of gaining my assistance to accomplish his ends in his warfare upon Mr. Beecher. In the light of those conclusions my duty appeared plain. I rose quietly, and having dressed, roused him only to say: "Theodore, I will never take another step by your side. The end has indeed come." He followed me to Mrs. Ovington's to breakfast, saying I was unduly excited, and that he had been misrepresented perhaps, but leaving me as determined as before. How to account for the change which twenty-four hours have been capable of working in his mind, I leave for the eternities with their mysteries to reveal. That he is an unreliable and unsafe guide, whose idea of truth-loving is self-loving, it is my misfortune in this late sad hour to discover.

July 23, 1874. ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

It is proposed to have a reunion of all the State posts of the Grand Army of the Republic. There are eighteen posts of the order in the State, with about 600 numbers.

As Mr. John Perry and his daughter, of Henniker, were riding home from Francestown a few days ago, their horse was frightened by a flash of lightning, just as they were crossing a bridge in Deering, and threw both Mr. and Miss Perry into the rapid stream. Both succeeded in getting out of the water and were not much injured. Their escape from drowning was fortunate, for the water was five feet deep and very rapid. A valise belonging to Miss Perry went down stream and has not been recovered.

Samuel J. Hubbard of Walpole fell a distance of five or six feet on Monday (20th), and striking upon a stone sustained a fracture of the skull, from which he died in about two hours. Age 75 years.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause the same to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such conditions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Republican Meeting.

The republicans of Ward Seven are requested to meet at the Common Council Chamber on Monday evening, July 27th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing a Ward Committee. PER ORDER.

Down The River.

The select party of officials and intellectual gentlemen whose first trip down the river we chronicled last week, made the second regular trip of the series on Thursday, having been enlarged and improved by the addition of one more judge and one more newspaper man. The correctness of our expressed opinion (based on the contempt exhibited by the party for a thunder-shower) that "that party don't care much for water" was shown by their not having any in the boat when they started, and the prompt manner in which one of the number went overboard to get some as soon as the omission was discovered, without waiting to go through the usual formality of removing his store clothes. The exuberant and noisily-expressed sympathy of the rest of the party was extremely comforting to the soaked man; and the popular providore's admonition, "Here, confound it! don't get drowned yet; wait till you've helped cook the dinner!" as he pulled the unlucky chap out of the water by the hair of his head, was a touching tribute to true merit. A merrier party hasn't been down river this year, nor had a pleasanter sail, or a better fry on the rocks, or a more satisfactory Frye in the boat. The only unpleasant incidents of the trip were two little controversies,—one between the deputy-sheriff and the commander-in-chief as to whether the wind was east or south-west, and one between the two judges as to whether a military band performing somewhere in the distance was playing a dirge or a polka, the latter disputants finally compromising on circus-music. One of the judicial delegates carried a pollock through the streets on his way home, in such style as to to deceive a confiding public into the belief that he caught it himself; and it is said that by the use of legal fiction he actually sought to impose on his wife's credulity in the same way, but it wasn't of the requisite thickness.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the committee on fire department was allowed further time on proposed bell on Cabot street, school house and reservoir. The committee with the Mayor, reported recommending the purchase of a lot of land, 40 by 118 feet, on Bridge street, for $1000. Report accepted and laid over for one week.

Petition of J. W. Stavers for plank walk, Islington street, was referred to committee on streets.

Brick sidewalk granted heirs Edward Parry, Pleasant street; relay sidewalk granted J. D. Akerman, State street; also heirs of E. F. Sise on State street.

The petition from Major Edwin A. Tilton asking for the appointment of S. B. Cunningham to 1st Lieut. and C. P. Lamprey 1st Lieut. and John Ritchie 1st Lieut., was referred to the committee on Independent Battalion with power.

Petition of C. E. Myers for repair of sidewalk in Austin street granted.

Subject of authorizing B. Cheever to construct a tomb in Cotton's burying grounds was referred to committee.

Committee on claims reported on Richard Davidson's bill for witness fees recommending that the bill be paid; the report was accepted and the bill ordered to be paid.

Voted, That so much of Charles W. Shannon's bill for witness fees as covers parties sent to city House of Correction be paid.

Petitition of William H. Sise and others for location and acceptance of a gas post corner High and Hanover streets, was granted.

Committee on school houses were authorized to purchase new furniture and make repairs at Plains school, also repairs at Spalding and Cabot street school houses.

Subject of certificate of stock in P. & D. R. R. was referred to committee on P. & D. R. R., with power to adjust the same.

Laconics.

The Methodist Society has concluded to hold its picnic at Cushing's grove, Dover Point.

A. J. Penhallow is to deliver the lecture before the Sons of Temperance to-morrow at 4.30, P. M.

The Journal says Mr. Mercer Goodrich is likely to be City Clerk in case the democrats should win at the September election. We hope our old schoolmate won't put too much dependence in democratic prospects.

The compact part of the city has been pretty thoroughly canvassed by the city census takers, but the sum voted for the purpose of defraying the expenses was not large enough to warrant a full canvass of the suburbs; enough is known, however, to show that the population is largely in excess of what the national census made it out to be. In most instances the gentlemen employed by the city were courteously received, and the information desired cheerfully given; but a few churlish boors were found, who took pleasure in airing their boorishness because they could do so without fear of the law.

The certificates of stock in the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad were issued on July 1st, and the shares are being delivered to subscribers as fast as called for.

The hearing of the appeal of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad from the vote of the City Councils ordering said railroad to build a bridge over the highway crossing at Freeman's Point, will be held by the County Commissioners at the Common Council room at 10 o'clock, on Wednesday, July 29. Ex-Commissioner Wm. L. Pillsbury of Londonderry was appointed by the court to serve in this case in place of Mayor Miller, who will appear with the City Solicitor for the city. Commissioners Pollard and Durgin will also be in attendance.

Rev. Dr. Peabody, formerly of this city, preached in Rev. Mr. Gage's church, (Orthodox,) in Hartford, Conn., on a recent Sunday, to very general acceptance.

Eben Simpson S. F. E. Co., No. 2, of Biddeford, Me., will visit this city on the 3d and 4th of September. They will be the guest, of Kearsarge S. F. E. Co., No. 3,

The Assessors of Taxes will have one more meeting for abatements, before the expiration of the six per cent. discount; they meet Wednesday evening next.

Rev. James Pike, D. D., of Manchester, will preach in the Methodist Church Sabbath morning.

Steamer Appledore will make a moonlight excursion on Sunday evening, to Boar's Head and back. Fare for the round trip, fifty cents. The steamer will leave Pier wharf at seven o'clock.

The guests at Lougee's Sea View House, at Rye Beach, give a grand "hop" this (Saturday) evening; dancing to commence at half-past 8 o'clock.

Mr. Thomas F. Doutney, of Boston, a reformed drinker and liquor retailer, will give a free temperance lecture to-morrow (Sunday) evening in Mechanics' Hall.

Auctioneer Wendell will sell at noon today, at the auction rooms on State street, ten shares National Mechanics & Traders' Bank and five shares National Bank of New Hampshire. See advertisement.

J. C. Butler is to have a double-barrelled excursion to the Shoals on Tuesday next, on Steamer Appledore. Fare 75 cents for the round trip. Boat will leave Portsmouth at 11 A. M., and 6 P. M.; returning at 3.15 and 8 P. M.

Mr. James W. Lord is chief clerk at the famous "Gardner House," Chicago.

The position of time clerk in the department of Yards and Docks at the navy yard, heretofore held by Capt. Geo. W. Towle, has been abolished. Mr. John H. Knox, discharged as store clerk in the Equipment department on Thursday, was on Friday appointed clerk to Executive officer Young.

Mrs. Emma A. Wentworth, a former resident of this city, and in years past a popular operatic singer, died on the 22d of consumption.

The Eastern Railroad proves an exception to the almost universal rule of dull business and decreased income. For the first six months of the financial year, beginning on the first of December, its net income was larger by more than one thousand dollars per day, Sundays included, than for the same period of last year. There was a large decrease in expenses, with a small increase of income, notwithstanding the dullness of business in most of the towns on the line of the road. The public, as well as the holders of the stock, will gladly learn of this encouraging state of affairs with that corporation.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the Medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Keep Cool! Keep Cool!

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE somewhere can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. My strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Particular attention is given to family orders, for whom we manufacture a superior article. Orders by mail promptly attended to. The attention of invalids is especially called to the following certificate from the Mass. State Assayer:

20 State Street, Boston.

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from the malt and hops, and which is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the impurities, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

The Real Culprit.

The discovery that Jesse Pomeroy's father worked on the Charlestown navy yard at the time of his now infamous son's birth, and for months previous to that misfortune, convicts Ben Butler of being the one really to blame for young Pomeroy's crimes, as Butler runs that navy yard.

P. S. A look into history satisfies us that we were hasty in blaming Ben Butler for Pomeroyism, as at the time old Pomeroy was working on the navy yard, sixteen years ago, the democrats were running it.

P. S. No. 2. A second look into history satisfies us we were right in blaming Ben Butler, as he was a democrat sixteen years ago, and at that time ran the democratic party of Massachusetts, including the navy yard.

—Imported nightgowns are advertised at $70. How is that for high, in what Longfellow calls the trailing garments of the night?

—Prof. Aytoun, who married the daughter of Christopher North, being too bashful to "ask pa," got the girl herself to perform that disagreeable duty, whereupon the eccentric old Kit pinned this label on her back, and told her to show it to her lover, "with the author's compliments."

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always survives restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thin brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because polish, far better than they give a finer glass than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove and this alone will make its surface as bright as a mirror. It will last much longer than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper. If he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blacking, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry!

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most concentrated purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for the intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the chemistry of an element, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful TONIC and INVIGORANT, which acts so powerfully on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

Ask your druggist for it. jy22 4w

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humor and Diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are liberally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

The Coming Fuel.

[New York World.]

A letter which recently appeared in the World detailing a new process for the conversion of peat into fuel in forty-eight hours has attracted general attention, and brought to light another invention of a still more remarkable character, which completes the process in thirty minutes. The last takes the spongy, wet, sticky bog-earth, and changes it into dry fuel, hard enough to take a polish, and dry as cannel coal. Peat, everybody knows, is coal soft and unbaked. In some slowly-drying lake, moss and turf have grown, layer above layer, tree trunks have sunk into the mass, and the whole has slowly thickened and increased year by year till the lake is gone, and a quaking bog is left in its place, on whose surface the moss and grass and sedge spread and thicken, till it has grown above the old level of the lake, spread up the hillside, risen twenty, thirty, forty feet, drowning out whole forests with a steady rise. Meanwhile the old layers are gradually changing, the plant stems turn black as the carbon separates from the hydro-carbons of organic growth, till at last the sticky black clay is the best fuel known—if it will only burn. All the curious chain of chemical compounds that make a fuel worth something in the manufacture of gas are there—enough of carbon to equal the best coal; none, or the merest trace, of phosporous and silicon, that makes fuel worthless in iron manufacture; less cinder and less ash than any other natural fuel known; no smoke and no slag, more volatile products and more carbon; all this—and with it 30, 40, 50, 60 per cent. of water, and water does not burn. In time nature can be trusted to dry the peat, and give in place coal, draining the water with sudden tilts of strata, squeezing it out with great masses of overlying rock or ocean, baking it with internal fires, and at last—in a few million years more or less—the result is coal. The new machine takes the peat and drops it out in hard cylinders, dry and solid in half an hour more or less. Men have tried to dry peat time out of mind. Irishmen take it now as they did a thousand years ago, cut it into square blocks, and dry it in the sun. Half the water leaves it and half stays, and a loose, light, fibrous mass is left with no cohesion, which cannot be handled for transportation or burnt in any furnace more elaborate than cotter's hearth. It will not "stand" blast, men say. In all temperate climates the peat, even to get this product, can be dried only four or five months of the year. If a large supply is wanted it must be done under cover. The first frost leaves a worthless, disintegrated mass, and the manufacture takes from two to four weeks, a long while in a short season. It is some fifty years since men began to improve on the rude process. Peat has been squeezed into cones fitting into each other, rammed into cylindrical moulds with heavy pistons, whirled in centrifugal drying machines, stamped into square, smooth blocks, stirred and puddled in the hope that it would set; but stamped, or whirled, or puddled it still takes days, perhaps weeks, to dry. Heat, artificial or natural, must be applied to complete the work, and the resulting product has too much water and too little cohesion. The new process is the result of years of experiment in a secluded nook on the Hudson at an expense of some $50,000. Three things must be done. The peat must be dried, it must be left in a solid mass, and must not be unnecessarily handled. It costs something to pick up a block of peat, and carry it ten feet even. A combination of two previous processes is used in the new machine. The peat is dried by the direct application of furnace heat, and solidified by the blows of an iron plunger. To these is added the novel feature of the new machine—drying by utilizing the latent heat of steam. The peat is fed into an ordinary pugmill vat where the semi-fluid mass is stirred—very much as the cream in a freezer is kept in motion—and partly dried by a steam-jacket which surrounds the vat.

Into the peat a pipe communicating with a high-pressure boiler is led, and just opposite the mouth of this pipe another opens, which runs on out of the vat and through the furnace which heats the boiler just mentioned. When the machine is in motion the successive jets of superheated steam in their leap from pipe to pipe force along a steady stream of peat, and by successive blows push it on its way through the furnace. Here it might become hardened and stick, if it were not for another property possessed by peat that under high temperature its tarry and pyroligneous particles melt, and the whole becomes a plastic yielding mass which slides along under repeated impacts from the steam. At last the peat is discharged into a cylindrical chamber, while the steam rises to the surface of the chamber and is conveyed to the steam-jacket surrounding the peat vat. Freed from the steam the peat comes under the blows of a heavy iron plunger, worked by an eccentric, which forces out a coil of solid peat, anywhere from two to eight inches in diameter, according to the size of the machine. To travel from the vat to the plunger, and to pass from wet peat to dry fuel has taken about thirty minutes. This machine turns out an article ready for fuel; it loses none of its volatile products, and it is turned into a solid, homogeneous body by the cementing effect of the half-melted pitch. The same furnace drives the engine used in running the machine, furnishes the superheated steam, and dries the peat in its passage, etc. The latent heat of the superheated steam which puts the peat in motion is utilized in the steam-jacket around the vat. One of these machines with a two-inch aperture, has been in successful operation during an entire season. A fragment of its product has been analyzed by chemists, and found to be an ideal fuel. Practical men, like managers of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company and the New York and New Haven Railroad, stand ready to take it at the rate of 50,000 tons a year, or more, at the rate of $5 a ton. A fuel for locomotives which has no slag or cinder and handles easily is simply invaluable. One of the largest blast furnaces in the country has also made an attempt to obtain the use of this new fuel. As to the practical working of the process on a large scale, the plans and drawings for large machines have been exhaustively examined by Mr. Bromley, of the Quintard Iron-works, and he pronounces it "theoretically and practically perfect" in a written opinion which he prepared after a long conference with the inventor. Those familiar with the product of the ordinary peat machine are aware that it is a light or dark brown product, shading almost to black, spongy, lighter than water and apt to crumble, and almost invariably requiring an exposure to the air or furnace heat before it is sufficiently dry for fuel. A fragment of the new peat fuel is a jet black cylinder, not easily cut with a knife, hard enough to take a polish, showing a clearly defined cleavage, weighing seventy-five pounds to the cubic foot, and containing less than 5 per cent. of water. The best Irish peat charcoal has 20 per cent. more heating power than the best Newcastle coal, and 100 per cent. more than German coal; and it is the opinion of experts that the new fuel, from its weight and the preservation of the volatile compounds in peat, will be of equal value, inflammable gases playing an important part in the reduction of refractory ores. The use of peat in the manufacture of gas has been limited by the same difficulties which have prevented its use as fuel. There seems to be no reason why the new product should not furnish cheap illuminating gas.

Geographically peat is one of the most widely extended of modern deposits. Every State of the Union has more or less extensive peat beds. The manufacture of the new fuel can be carried on at a rate which permits its supply at a large profit at $5 a ton. The new invention has been patented in this country as well as in France, Germany and Great Britain, and a company has been formed in this city to begin manufacturing during the ensuing summer.

Mrs. Tilton's Love Letters.

TUESDAY MORNING, Jan. 28, 1868.

My Beloved:—Don't you know the peculiar phase of Christ's character as a lover is so precious to me, because of my consecration and devotion to you? I learn to love you from my love of him. I have learned to love him from loving you. I couple you with him. Nor do I feel it one whit irreverent, and as every day I adorn myself consciously as a bride to meet her bridegroom, so in like manner I lift imploring hands that my soul's love may be prepared. I, with the little girls, after you left us with overflowing eyes and hearts, consecrated ourselves to our work and to you. My waking thoughts, last night, were of you. My rising thoughts, this morning, were of you. I bless you, I honor you, I love you. God sustain us and help us both to keep our vows.

SATURDAY EVENING, Feb. 1, 1868.

Oh well I know as far as I am capable I love you. Now to keep this fire high and generous is the ideal before me. I am only perfectly contented and restful when you are with me. These latter months I have thought, looked, and yearned for the hour you would be at home, with longings unutterable.

MONDAY, Feb. 3, 1868.—9 o'clock, A. M.

What may I bring to my beloved this bright morning? A large throbbing heart, full of love, single in its aim and purpose, to bless and cheer him. Is it acceptable, sweet one?

MONDAY MORNING, Feb. 24, 1878.

Do you wonder that I couple your love, your presence and relation to me with the Saviour. I lift you up sacredly and keep you in that exalted and holy place, where I reverence, respect and love with the fervency of my whole being. Whatever capacity I have I offer it to you. The closing lines of your letter are these words: "I shall hardly venture again upon a great friendship. Your love shall be enough for the remaining days." That word "enough" seems a stoicism, on which you have resolved to live your life; but I pray God that he will supply you with friendships pure and with wifely love, which your great heart demands, withholding not himself as the chief love which consumeth not, though it burn, whose effects are always perfect rest and peace. Again, in one of your letters you close with "Faithfully yours." That word "faithfully" means a great deal. Yes, darling, I believe it; trust it, and give you the security. With regard to myself, I am faithful to you; have been always, and shall forever be, world without end. Call not this assurance impious. There are some things we know. Blessed be God.

HOME, Feb. 29, Saturday Evening.

Oh, did ever man love so grandly as my beloved? Other friendships, public affairs, all fall to naught when I come to you. Though you are in Decorah to-night, yet I have felt your love, and am very grateful for it. I had not received a line since Monday, and was so hungry and lonesome that I took out all your letters and indulged myself as at a feast, but without satiety, and now I long to pour out into your breast of my abundance. I am conscious of three jets to the fountain of my soul to the great love and yourself, to whom as one I am eternally wedded, my children, and the dear friends who trust and love me. I do not want another long separation. While we are in the flesh let us abide together.

WEDNESDAY, March, 1868.

Oh, how almost perfectly could I minister to you this winter. My heart glows so pleasurably, I am conscious of a great inward awakening toward you. If I live I shall teach my children to begin their lives where now I am. I cannot conceive of anything more delicious than a life consecrated to a faithful love. I insist that I miss you more than you do me, but I shall see my beloved.

YOUR OWN DEAR WIFE.

Thanks.

The following resolutions were unanimously passed by the members of the New Hampshire Press Association, who participated in the recent excursion, at a meeting held on board the steamship Providence, a few hours before reaching Fall River.

Resolved, That the New Hampshire Press Association recognize the courtesies received on their summer excursion from the Eastern, Boston & Maine, Boston, Lowell & Nashua, Concord, Northern, and Central Vermont Railroads; also, the kindness of the Rensselaer & Saratoga, and Old Colony Railroads, the Champlain Transportation Company, the Day Line of Steamers on the Hudson river, and the Old Colony Steamboat Company for transportation furnished at reduced rates. We also gratefully acknowledge the liberality of the several proprietors of the Junction House at White River Junction, Vt.; Van Ness, at Burlington, Vt.; Fort William Henry, at Lake George; Congress Hall, at Saratoga Springs, and the St. Nicholas Hotel at New York city. During our prolonged stay at the latter excellent establishment, the attention shown was fully appreciated, and we commend it to our friends who visit the Empire City.

Resolved, That we extend our renewed thanks to the chairman of the Executive Committee, John M. Hill, Esq., of Concord, for the able and satisfactory manner in which he projected and arranged the details of this most successful trip; and we also return our grateful thanks to the President, P. B. Cogswell, and the Treasurer, Thomas W. Lane, for their constant and untiring efforts to render the excursion so enjoyable in every respect.

Butler's Opinion That Tilton Has A "Case."

The Tribune says that the following is told by such intimate confidential friends of Mr. Tilton's that it may fairly be regarded as his version of the points involved:

Mr. Moulton, who it seems has from the first claimed to be friendly to both parties (though of late acting wholly with Mr. Tilton), and had sought to bring about a reconciliation, wished to be well advised in the matter that he might make no mistake in the course he should pursue. For this reason, having knowledge of all the evidence of Mr. Tilton, he consulted with Gen. B. F. Butler, his counsel in the famous Woodruff & Robinson revenue frauds, placed before him all the facts in evidence, which the latter examined. Mr. Butler told him that Mr. Tilton had a "case" which could not easily be broken down, and that he, Mr. Moulton, if friendly to Mr. Beecher, should do all in his power to prevent the presentation of the facts to any fair committee or tribunal, or he could not save Mr. Beecher. Mr. Moulton, it is also said, upon receiving this statement from Gen. Butler, asked him to see the counsel of the committee and express to them his opinion. This Gen. Butler did, advising that, if Mr. Tilton was prepared to make a statement embodying the facts which had been placed before him, there should be no quorum present at the meeting, but that some means should be taken to settle the matter privately. He also remarked, after the statement had been made but before it was published, that he believed the committee to be much less desirous to go on with the investigation than the preceding day. This accords with statements made on Tuesday night by friends of Mr. Tilton, that the session of Tuesday afternoon was mostly given up to deliberation regarding some manner of settlement, when Mr. Tilton assured the committee that he was unwilling to have his statement published. Mr. Butler did not see Mr. Tilton's statement as prepared by him, but only the facts and documents which composed it.

Rough Life in Texas.

On the night of the 22d of June, fifteen armed and masked men in Gaudaloupe county, Texas, rode up to the house in which Mr. C. W. Washburn was sleeping (he being the teacher of the public school in a colored settlement), took him from his bed, tied him, carried him two miles into the woods, and were about to kill him, when one of the number intceeded for his life, and they finally inflicted one hundred lashes with a bull whip, and gave him six days in which to leave the country. Mr. Washburn has been one of the teachers of the American Missionary Association for several years, and is of delicate build and health. They told him that they would kill or drive off every white teacher of a day school or Sunday school who taught the negro; that this was a white man's country, and that no negro should be taught; and that they meant yet to have him back in his old condition.

The same night a party of armed and masked men went to the house of Mr. John H. Gesner, whose son superintended the colored Sunday School, and dragged the latter out of doors with his father, mother and sister. The family were from Chicago, and cultivated a little farm. They used the father very roughly, and threw the daughter against the house, tearing her clothes and bruising her; but she rushed again to her brother and threw her arms around his neck so that they failed to get a rope around it, though they struck at him with a pistol. The screams of the females aroused some of the neighbors, who fired off pistols to awaken others, and so alarmed the ruffians that they mounted their horses and rode off. Subsequently Mr. Washburn and the Gesners were escorted to Seguin by the colored people. The Gesners will be compelled to lose their crop, worth $500 and to quit the country.

Tilton's Position.

We can conceive of few provocations which after deliberation would cause an honorable and high minded man to expose his family to disgrace, as has Theodore Tilton. The following extracts, however, present the view from other stand-points:

[Springfield Republican.]

The war on Mr. Tilton continues, and grows fiercer even. We do not now pronounce upon the wisdom of his course. But the candid reader may profitably look at the matter from Tilton's point of view. He forgives the original offence. He is treated with ingratitude. He sees a plot, as he believes, to ruin him. Leonard Bacon, honestly enough, brands him before the country as a knave. Last of all his wife leaves him to testify against him, and Mr. Beecher airily challenges him to tell the worst he has to tell. How many men in the country would longer have kept silence?"

[N. Y. Graphic.]

Yes, but will not the opponents of Tilton be justified if it is proved that he deliberately maligned his own wife, and then his pastor and friend? Still, as a matter of fairness, Mr. Tilton's position ought to be considered. He has tried to be magnanimous—if he was really injured. With the proofs in his possession, such as he has now given to the public, if he had shot Mr. Beecher he would probably have come out as a hero—as the vindicator of his domestic hearth. And he would probably have been triumphantly acquitted by a jury. But he tried to do what the press and current Christianity constantly urge and applaud. He pardoned the offence; he accepted an apology; he became the victim of a wretched scandal; he lost position and character; he was accused by the friends of the man who had injured him of being a malignant libeller; he was publicly called by Dr. Bacon "a dog and a knave," and was, in fact, the scapegoat of the whole affair. That he should be finally stung into a justification of himself, even at the cost of the reputation of his own wife, is what might naturally have been expected. He cannot be blamed for what he has done, if he really has a case. It is sad, sad business, look at it whichever way we may. But we insist that to prejudge it, to blame Theodore Tilton because he did not speak, and then to curse him after he has spoken—all this will inevitably recoil upon the authors of such injustice if it is proved that he really has a case.

Readables.

As a young lady was going aboard of the steamer at Portland on Wednesday she lost a gold locket from her neck and it fell into the water. A young man, who was standing near and saw the accident, took off his coat and dived for the locket, and though he did not succeed in getting it at first, persisted in his endeavors until he found the jewel. The girl's father offered the fellow a handsome reward, but he refused it.

Two men, named Lousten and Belch, attacked J. Clark, while the latter was chopping wood at Worthington, Ohio. Clark killed Lousten with his axe, and then took a pistol away from Belch and beat his brains out. Clark was arrested, and acquitted on the ground of self-defence.

An immense waterspout burst in the mountains near Eureka, Nevada, on Friday, the water sweeping down through the town, killing twenty persons and destroying much property. At Elko a waterspout crossed the Central Pacific Railroad track, making a wash-out which wrecked an emigrant train and caused the death of five passengers.

Says the New York Graphic: "If Mr. Beecher is to be saved he must be rescued from his indiscreet and too zealous friends, who show more of a disposition to save him by crushing another than to tell the whole truth and be just."

The eastern Kentucky mails bring accounts of several terrible tragedies. In Montgomery county Mrs. Stevens met a woman of easy virtue named Eveline Hubbard in the fields, and attacked her with a hatchet, splitting her skull, killing her instantly. Mrs. Stevens suspected Eveline Hubbard of too great intimacy with her husband. In Breathitt county recently Jerry Little attacked two brothers named Jett, killing one and severely wounding the other. The difficulty arose from a family feud. In Morgan county Johnson Oakley shot and killed Wesley Richardson, and severely wounded a man named George with a stray bullet. In the same row several other parties were badly beaten with clubs and stones.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by the timely use of this medicine. The product should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, trimmed,

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other nuisance or offensive matter, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed, and if such nuisance may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Local Matters.

Republican Meeting.

The republicans of Ward Seven are requested to meet at the Common Council Chamber on Monday evening, July 27th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing a Ward Committee. PER ORDER.

Look Out!

The saloon kept by James Rutledge, near the Eastern depot, was broken into Friday night and property to the amount of about twenty-five dollars stolen. The thieves entered through a small window facing Depot Avenue. This is the second time this saloon has been broken into within a few weeks. An attempt to enter Gerrish's saloon, on the same night, was unsuccessful. On Friday afternoon the house of Charles Garland, of Rye, was entered by tramps and $60 stolen. A man calling himself John West, of South Boston, is under arrest here for stealing a pair of shoes from a store door. The police have been warned that a gang of tramps and petty thieves from the eastward have been traced to this vicinity, and we are desired by the City Marshal to notify citizens that a little extra caution in locking doors, looking after window fastenings and making sure that nothing worth stealing is left out of doors, will do no harm.

Laconics.

The position of time clerk in the construction department at the navy yard has been abolished, and its duties will be performed hereafter by the chief clerk, Mr. Timothy Dame. Mr. John E. Colcord, the former time clerk, has been appointed store clerk in place of Capt. Chas. H. Chase, who has been suffering from a protracted illness. Mr. Edward P. Marden, chief clerk in Steam Engineering, who has been very ill, is also discharged, his duties devolving upon the time clerk.

The Independent Battalion will go target shooting soon. The piccolo corps will enlist with them for a year.

Lieut. William I. Moore, U. S. N., has been detached from the iron-clad Ajax and ordered to report for duty at Newport.

The Eastern Railroad Company will redeem $750,000 6 per cent. bonds, due August 1. A portion of these ($75,000) was originally issued in 1854, twenty years to run, and the balance in 1863 to 1864.

A boy named Harmon, six years old, living on Water street, was missing on Friday afternoon, and his mother and the neighbors searched for him all night. When steamer Appledore arrived from the Shoals, Saturday morning, the youngster turned up, bright and lively. He had quietly stowed himself away in that vessel and when outside the harbor came to the front. The Laightons cared for him tenderly and sent the little chap home much delighted with his voyage.

From now until the close of "the season" there will be a grand hop, to the music of Andrews' Orchestra, every evening except Sunday, at the Ocean Bluff Hotel of Job Jenness & Son, at Kennebunkport, Me. The Ocean House hops at Rye Beach used to draw many visitors from this city, and as the Messrs. Jenness' new location is almost as easily reached as the old one, they will probably receive calls from many of their Portsmouth friends this season. A trip down on the train which leaves here at five minutes past 3 o'clock each afternoon, a hop in the evening, a few hours' ramble about Kennebunkport next morning and a return to this city by the forenoon train, offers a very pleasant occasion for very little trouble or expense.

State News.

Ex-Governor Stearns's dog bit Hon. George G. Fogg of Concord. There is nothing to indicate that the dog was mad, but Mr. Fogg would quite as lief not have been bitten.

The old Bellmill, at Peterboro', was deserted by the operatives on Tuesday, a rumor having obtained currency that it is unsafe; a cheerful prediction is that it will sometime tumble into the pond below.

Edward P. Kempton of Contoocookville dropped dead of heart disease at Milford on Thursday. Shortly after the arrival of his body home his wife fell dead from the same cause.

Broom-making and shoemaking are the alternatives now offered the boys of the reform school at Manchester. At the latter trade they are already proficient enough to more than supply their home demand.

How a Salary-Grabber was Flanked.

Colonel Orzo J. Dodds, late member of Congress from the first district of Ohio, tells a good story about a call he recently received at his office, from a man who claimed to be an editor from Arkansas. He was a very seedy-looking chap, and appeared as though he had but recently come off from about a six-weeks' spree. Bowing profoundly, then striking an attitude, with one hand on his heart, and the other extending a badly used plug hat, he exclaimed with a dramatic air:

"Have I the honor of addressing the Hon. Orzo J. Dodds?"

"My name is Dodds, but I am no longer an Honorable," said the Colonel.

"Not an Honorable? Dodds not an Honorable? Now, by St. Paul, when I can scan that honest face, on which all the gods do seem to set their seal," ("green seal," murmured Dodds, to himself,) "I read nothing *dis*honorable."

"That's right," said Dodds; "never read anything dishonorable. But to business."

"Yes, as you say, to business. I am a printer—I might say, with no unbecoming blush, an editor. I am from the noble State of Arkansaw; the only State, by the way, able and willing to support two governments at the same time. But I have been unfortunate. Much have I been tossed through the ire of Juno, and"—

"Juno how it is yourself," broke in the Colonel.

"Buffeted by the world's rude storms, you see me here a stranded wreck. Scarce three months past I left my office in charge of my worthy foreman, and sought the peaceful vales and calm retreats of Muskingum valley, where my childhood sported. Returning, I stopped in Cincinnati. I fell into evil company, and—but why dwell on details? Enough, that I am, that—that I am disheartened, ruined, broke. A mark for scorn to point her slow, unerring finger at. As I was about to give up in despair, having given up everything else I had, I thought of you. Sir, I am here. You have not sent for me, but I have come. Your name, sir, is known and honored from one end of this great republic to the other. It—

"Glows in the stars,
Refreshes in the breeze,
Warms in the sun,
And blossoms on the fees."

"When the national treasury was threatened by a horde of greedy Congressmen you stood like a wall of adamant between the people and those infamous salary-grabbers. Lend me $1!"

"My dear sir," the Colonel hastened to explain, "you mistake the case entirely. I was one of the grabbers."

"You were!" (grasping the Colonel's hand warmly.) "So much the better! Let me congratulate you that a parsimonious public could not frighten you out of what was fair remuneration for your invaluable services; I am glad that your pecuniary circumstances are so much better than I supposed. Make it $2!"

And the Colonel did. It was the only clean thing left for him to do.

—They get up stupendous jokes in Texas. Recently the entire police force of Jefferson was arraigned for vagrancy in the Mayor's Court. The charge was preferred by the families of the policemen, who stated that the parties arraigned had no visible means of support, having received but $12 from the city during five months.

—Two St. Louis women were refused places as drivers on street cars, ostensibly because they couldn't manage mules. This was frivolous. They had both been married for years.

—An Iowa woman who put vitriol on her scalp to remove dandruff, says it was the dandruffest experiment she ever tried.

New Publications.

IN HIS NAME; A Story of the Waldenses, Seven Hundred Years Ago. With Frontispiece Illustration. Square 18mo, cloth, red edges. Price $1.25. Rev. E. E. Hale has made out of rather slight materials a story so interesting and so manly and thoroughly Christian in tone that he deserves the thanks of all lovers of a pure and noble literature.

William F. Gill & Co. of Boston have published a series of Jules Verne's interesting narratives in a volume of 285 pages entitled "FROM THE CLOUDS TO THE MOUNTAINS." It is just the book to amuse children, and we are greatly mistaken if children will be the most interested readers. For sale at Foster's book-store.

JOHN ARDEN, by Rebecca Harding Davis, author of "Life in the Iron Mill," "Dallas Galbraith," "Waiting for a Verdict" &c., is quite equal to either of her other volumes. It is illustrated, and substantially and neatly bound, and will be found a cosy companion in the cars or the steamboat, or in the quiet retirement of home. Published by Orange Judd & Company, Broadway, New York.

While the older people are getting their magazines for summer reading, the wants of the little people ought not to be neglected. It may be taken for granted that every child who has seen a single number of "THE NURSERY" wants every number as soon as issued. The August number is a delightful one, with almost pleasant reading for those who can either read or listen, and numerous pictures that will delight the youngest.

TEMPEST TOSSED; by Theodore Tilton, recently published by Sheldon & Co., is one of the most readable novels of the present day, interesting in plot, thorough in detail, and finely written. The book is entertaining from beginning to end, narrating the singular experience of four persons floating about for fourteen years in a wrecked ship, and several years afterward rescued by old friends from an island. The author has worked up a love story in which the child of the wreck and the child of the searcher for the lost family are the characters; and Mr. Tilton weaves a most ardent love story from their accidental meeting—which is as marvelous as the tale he has concocted. Much information is spread throughout the six hundred and odd pages, and Mr. Tilton's fancy is allowed to soar aloft in its wonted ecstatic manner. A battle between a Government gunboat and a Confederate privateer makes the closing pages vividly interesting. The book is for sale at the bookstores.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

It's Mighty Improvin'.

The Irish peasantry have tales of a parabolic character—stories which, by means of some striking action or circumstance, set forth a hearty moral. On hearing such, their usual phrase is, "Oh, it is mighty improvin'."

And that, too, is what Molly Malone, a worthy washer-woman used to say—and say almost invariably—after hearing a sermon on Sunday. One day, however, her clergyman, who was not quite content with this generality, spoke to her respecting his discourse, and Molly suddenly became what they call in Ireland a little bothered. Nevertheless, she got out of her difficulty with one of those parabolic answers which are such favorites with her class, and which, while it completely evaded the question, satisfactorily replied to it.

Well, Molly, you liked the sermon you say.

Oh, yes, your riverance—it was mighty improvin'.

And what part did you like best?

Well, sure, sir, I liked every part.

But I suppose there were some portions of it that you were more struck with than you were with others?

In troth, please your riverance, I don't remember any part exactly, but altogether 'twas mighty improvin'.

Now, Molly, how could it be improving if you don't remember any part of it?

Well, your riverance sees that linen I've been washing and dhrying on the hedge there?

Oh, certainly.

Wasn't it the soap and wather made the linen clane, sir?

Of course they did.

And isn't that linen all the better for it?

Oh, no doubt of that, Molly.

But not a dhrop of the soap and wather stays in it. Well, sir, it's the same thing wid me. Not a word o' the sarmint stays in me—I suppose it all dhries out o' me—but I'm the better and the claner for it, when it's over, for all that.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Messrs. Isaac Cook & Co.

Gentlemen—I have analyzed and investigated samples of Ale Wort, for you, and have seen the practical working of McCormick's purifying process.

The small proportion of decomposing matter (the germs of acetification and mould) which exist in wort as it comes from malt-mill, and which, when is not visible, is removed by this process. If the wort is passed through this apparatus when hot, all the valuable constituents are held up in clear solution and are not removed by the filter, while the IMPURITIES, which are coagulated by boiling, are completely separated and removed. Respectfully,

S. DANA HAYES,

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt nor dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for any stove than any other polish. In each box are 1 dozen sticks; 1 stick is sufficient for an ordinary stove; thus all waste is saved.

The cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper, if he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Blacing, free of cost.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NEFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and obstinate diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for the intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Erysipelas, Dropsy in the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "on Demand Life," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the system. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and buildingupon an Iron Constitution.

"Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably believe to give it a trial."

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful TONIC and INVIGORATOR, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetiser, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

Ask your druggist for it. jy22 4w

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of being a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worm, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the skin, Humor and Diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

SIR MARMADUKE'S MUSINGS.

[The following verses written by Theodore Tilton and dated "Sleepy Hollow, Nov. 1, 1874," possess a singular interest now.]

I won a noble fame,
But, with a sudden frown,
The people snatched my crown,
And in the mire trod down
My lofty name.

I bore a bounteous purse,
And beggars by the way
Then blessed me day by day,
But I, grown poor as they,
Have now their curse.

I gained what men called friends,
But now their love is hate,
And I have learned too late
How mated minds unmate,
And friendship ends.

I clasped a woman's breast,
As if her heart I knew,
Or fancied, would be true.
Who proves!—alas, she too!—
False like the rest.

I now am all bereft—
As when some tower doth fall,
With battlements and wall,
And gate and bridge and all—
And nothing left.

But I account it worth
All pangs of fair hopes crossed—
All loves and honors lost—
To gain the heavens at cost
Of losing earth.

So, lest I be inclined
To render ill for ill—
Henceforth in me instil,
O God, a sweet good-will
To all mankind.

[It is said that Mr. Tilton wrote the above with a loaded pistol lying on the desk, intending to blow out his brains and leave the poem as the only explanation. Why he did not follow out the programme is an unsolved mystery.]

A Little Investment of Heart.

[St. Louis Republican.]

There is a little story going the rounds which teaches a lesson of forbearance and charity toward a first false step, and illustrates at the same time the angelic virtue of gratitude. The story goes that in 1864 Mr. Barnum had organized a troupe to traverse the New England States and give exhibitions. Tom Thomb and wife, and other little people, were the features of the show, which was managed by Mr. Wm. L. Miller. The troupe, after a successful tour, finally arrived at Whitehall, New York, and took a short rest. Miller had $2,000 in his cash-box. He wanted to go a fishing, and left the box with the Thumbs, who were domiciled in the principal tavern of the place.

The little General and his wife took a notion to walk out in town and thoughtlessly left their room door open and the cash-box in an exposed place. Miller returned with a string of fish, and, wishing to write a letter, went to the cash-box for pen and ink. He discovered that the $2,000 package of greenbacks was gone. That was a pretty kettle of fish. It was quickly ascertained that the chambermaid of the hotel was gone, too. The Thumbs explained that they had been out walking, and had forgotten all about the box. The case looked quite clear. The chambermaid was hunted up. She was found dusty and travel-worn fifteen miles out of town, and increasing the distance every step. She was brought back, acknowledging that she had done the theft, and gave up the money. Miller was so glad to get it, that he felt like kissing the girl—who was pretty, another inducement to this style of expressing thanks. She explained that she expected to be married soon, and wanted an outfit. She went into the room, saw the money, and the temptation was so strong that she could not resist it. She was very sorry and begged not to be persecuted, as such exposure would blast all her life-prospects. The girl had always borne an excellent character. Her first stumble was upon a big pile of money, and she fell.

Miller's heart, already softened with the beauty of the poor young thing, who wanted to dress finely and make herself look still prettier in somebody's eyes, relented, surrendered, almost broke. He left town with his troupe, kept the matter quiet and the girl kept her place. She finally married the rich lumber merchant, and he soon died and left her a wealthy young widow. She had a profitable lumber business, and a good deal of cash—nobody knew how much but herself, and she wouldn't tell. She was not in the market for a second marriage venture, but she thought much of Miller and his kind treatment of her in 1864. If Miller would come along again, unincumbered and willing, she might take him into the lumber business as an equal partner. She thought a great deal of Miller, and proved it. If any sympathizing reader supposes that the rich widow and Miller will marry and enjoy the lumberman's legacy, read on.

A short time ago there was an inquiry in the paper for a certain William L. Miller, who was manager in Barnum's show in 1864. He turned up in New York. The world had not heard of him for a long time. He was living in a quiet way, entirely out of the public eye. He wondered what anybody could have to tell him for his advantage, but he went to see. He learned about two months ago the widow of a lumber dealer of Whitehall had died and left her entire estate to William L. Miller, who was manager of a show, and visited Whitehall with Tom Thumb and party in 1864. The bequest, it was expressly stated, was in gratitude for Miller's act of forbearance toward her which saved her good name and made her fortune. Miller was not long in identifying himself as the man inquired after, and received $100,000 in cash, and a lumber yard worth $50,000, as the proceeds of a little investment of heart, made ten years before. Almost as happy a conclusion as if there had been a wedding, and Miller had become the manager of another troup of little people.

The New York Political Campaign.

Forecasting the Presidential contest in 1876 seems at this time premature, yet there is more at stake in the coming election in New York State than at first meets the eye. Pennsylvania is no longer looked forward to by democratic savans as likely to keystone the arch required to bridge their passage to the promised land of victory. They must regain the Empire State or enter a hopeless campaign beaten in advance. To carry the country in 1876 they must needs have the electoral vote of the largest State in the Union, and to make sure of the bare possibility of doing so, they must elect a democratic State government in 1874. So we see Judge Church, who would like to be the democratic standard bearer of 1876, named as the probable candidate for Governor of New York in 1874. With Judge Church in the gubernatorial chair, republican chance of success would be lessened. Pendletonism rears its head again in the democratic counsels of the West. His ideas leading to repudiation, are likely to prove as dangerous in the nominating convention of 1876 as they were previous to that of 1868. Then by a herculean effort and rare strategy George S. Pendleton was defeated on the verge of victory, and Horatio Seymour, whose ideas were diametrically opposed to those of "gentleman George," became the nominee. Should the New Yorkers obtain control of the incoming State government, they will have in Judge Church a Presidential candidate of no diminutive claims. The old greenback battle may be renewed and a democratic candidacy similar to that of Horatio Seymour may again disgust the reckless partizans who favor the Pendleton theory and repudiate their whiskey bills, after the adjournment of the convention which they had expected to capture.

Interesting Correspondence.

The following letters may or may not explain themselves. We publish them as a matter of record. The first is to Theodore Tilton:

December 30, 1870,—Midnight.

My Dear Husband:

I desire to leave with you before going to bed a statement that Mr. Henry Ward Beecher called upon me this evening and asked me if I would defend him against any accusation in a council of ministers, and I replied solemnly that I would, in case the accuser was any other person than my husband. He (H. W. B.) dictated a letter which I copied as my own, to be used by him as against any other accuser except my husband. This letter was designed to vindicate Mr. Beecher against all other persons save only yourself. I was ready to give him this letter because he said with pain that my letter in your hands addressed to him, dated December 29, "had struck him dead and ended his influence." You and I are pledged to do our best to avoid publicity. God grant a speedy end to all further anxieties. Affectionately,

ELIZABETH.

The apology which Mr. Beecher dictated to Mr. Moulton was as follows:

My Dear Friend Moulton:

I ask, through you, Theodore Tilton's forgiveness, and I humble myself before him as I do before my God. He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been. I ask nothing except that he will remember all the breasts that would ache. I will not plead for myself. I even wish that I were dead, but others must live to suffer. I will die before any one but myself shall be inculpated. All my thoughts are running out toward my friends and toward the poor child lying there and praying with her folded hands. She is guiltless, sinned against and bearing the transgressions of another, and her forgiveness I have. I humbly pray to God to put into the heart of her husband to forgive me. I have trusted this to Moulton in confidence.

H. W. BEECHER.

In the above document the last sentence and the signature are in the handwriting of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

February 7, 1871.

Mr Dear Friend Moulton:

I am glad to send you a book, etc. Many, many friends has God raised up to me, but to no one of them has he ever given the opportunity and the wisdom so to serve me as you have. You have also proved Theodore's friend and Elizabeth's. Does God look down from Heaven on three unhappier creatures that now need a friend than these? Is it not an intimation of God's intent of mercy to all that each one of these have you tried and proved friends?—but only in you are we thus united. Would to God, who orders all hearts, that by his kind mediation Theodore, Elizabeth and I could be made friends again. Theodore will have the hardest task in such a case. But has he not proved himself capable of the noblest things? I wonder if Elizabeth knows how generously he has carried himself toward me. Of course I can never speak with her again without his permission, and I do not know that even then it would be best.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 7, 1871.

My Dear Mrs. Tilton:

When I saw you last I did not expect ever to see you again, or to be alive many days. God was kinder to me than were my own thoughts. The friend whom God sent to me [Mr. Moulton,] has proved, above all friends that I ever had, able and willing to help me in this terrible emergency of my life. His hand it was that tied up the storm that was ready to burst on our heads. You have no friend, Theodore excepted, who has it in his power to serve you so vitally, who will do it with such delicacy and honor. It does my sore heart good to see in Moulton unfeigned respect and honor for you. It would kill me if I thought otherwise. He will be as true a friend to your honor and happiness as a brother could be to a sister. In him we have a common ground. You and I may meet in him. The past is ended, but is there no future, no wiser, higher, holier future? May not this friend stand as a priest in the new sanctuary of reconciliation, and mediate and bless Theodore, and my most unhappy self. Do not let my earnestness fail of its ends. You believe in my judgment. I have put myself wholly and gladly in Moulton's hands, and then I must meet you. This is sent with Theodore's consent, but he has not read it. Will you return it to me by his own hand. I am very earnest in this wish for all our sakes, as such a letter ought not to be subject to even a chance of miscarriage.

Your unhappy friend, H. W. BEECHER.

SCHOHARIE, June 29, 1871.

My Dear Theodore:

To-day, through the ministry of Catherine of Gaunt, a character of fiction, my eyes have been opened for the first time in my experience so that I see clearly my sin. It was when I knew that I was loved, to suffer it to grow to a passion. A virtuous woman should check instantly an absorbing love. But it appeared to me in such a false light that the love I felt and received could harm no one, not even you. I have believed unfaltteringly until four o'clock this afternoon, when the heavenly vision dawned upon me. I see now, as never before, the wrong I have done you, and hasten immediately to ask your pardon with a penitence so sincere that henceforth, if reason remains, you may trust me implicitly. Oh, my dear Theodore, though your opinions are not restful or congenial to my soul, yet my own integrity and purity are a sacred and holy thing to me. Bless God with me for Catherine of Gaunt and for all the sure leadings of an all-wise and loving Providence. Yes, now I feel quite prepared to renew my marriage vow with you, to keep it as the Saviour requireth, who looketh at the eye and the heart. Never before could I say this. When you yearn toward me with true feeling, be assured of the tried, purified and restored love of

ELIZABETH.

HOMER, N. Y., July 18, 1874.

On Sunday, June 1, 1873, two days after the surreptitious publication of the "triparitite covenant" between H. W. Beecher, H. C. Bowen and Theodore Tilton, I walked with Mr. Beecher from Plymouth church to the residence of Mr. F. D. Moulton, in Remsen street. On the way to Mr. Moulton's house Mr. Beecher said to me that if Mr. Tilton would stand by him he would share fame, his fortune and everything he possessed with him (Tilton.)

The best argument against another reelection of President Grant, if he is not already satisfied with two terms, is the conviction in every well-seasoned brain that no man should be honored by three Presidential terms in this country.

Whoever was second at Saratoga, Morrissey was first. After the race it was estimated that his bank, in one evening, took in from $100,000 to $150,000. His tables were splendidly laid, and every temptation to the appetite was offered; after that the green cloth was spread and the "Tiger" appeared. One young man from Cambridge, of wealthy parentage, is reported to have lost $2500; and another from the same place $2100.

Victoria Woodhull, "the purest of her sex," says Theodore Tilton is right and must triumph over Beecher. Probably Demosthenes told her that, on the housetops. She further says both sides in the great scandal case are lying about each other. Now that Victoria proposes to bring her "blameless purity" to bear on this matter we may expect its speedy and satisfactory settlement.

The jail turnkey, Mr. Bradley, is reported as saying that Jesse Pomeroy, beneath his placid appearance, seems to have a latent something which old officers cannot describe, but which causes an innate feeling of distrust and dread on their part. He gives nobody any trouble, is respectful in his address, and courteous, but there is something in his manner which causes aversion. The boy eats moderately and is intelligent. Occasionally he writes a letter, but only to his mother.

The New York Herald of Sunday publishes the report of an interview with Theodore Tilton, in which he says that two-thirds of his charges are admitted by Mrs. Tilton and Mr. Beecher, the former referring to her absorbing love for the latter, who also admits the authorship of the letters. Mr. Tilton says nothing remains for him to do but to prove the criminal charges, of which he claims to have "direct and positive proof."

William A. Bates, the miserable brute who was arrested in Framingham, Mass., for outrageous cruelty to his little children, was sentenced to twelve months in the House of Correction.

Mrs. Theodore Tilton was born in Salem, Mass. Her father, Joseph Richards, was formerly a tenor singer in the old North Church in that city, but removed to New York many years ago.

Fishing schooner White Fawn, of Gloucester, Mass., has been lost with all on board.

Salem, which only a year ago claimed to be the port of Essex county, has almost ceased to be a place for entering and clearing vessels from and for foreign ports; and finds herself away behind Newburyport in the amount of customs collected. The East India business fled to New York in the last generation, that being the best distributing point for the whole country; but African and South American commerce took its place. Gradually they have been going, and Capt. John Bertram, who was the last to do it, has removed his business to Boston. A few Salem vessels run to Cayenne, but they bring back no cargoes. The shipping at Salem wharves is all coastwise and largely coal carrying. And the importing at Newburyport is almost entirely the West India trade of one old firm, that of R. W. Bagley & Son.

You think Mr. Beecher is an abused man, do you? You think Mr. Tilton has no reason for jealousy, eh? Now imagine yourself in Mr. Tilton's place, knowing that your wife, who confesses her "absorbing love" for the great preacher, had been continually writing letters to him! How would an ordinary married man like that—a man possessed of no especial attractions or great ability? Imagine then the loved pastor writing you a letter asking your forgiveness, saying that you would have been a better man than he under like circumstances and that he even wished that he were dead! How you would love and respect that religious teacher, forgive him and let him keep on in his good works—wouldn't you?

Keokuk has been tossing pennies to a hand-organ man, who owns a $15,000 farm in Wisconsin, and feels bad about it.

We have better news about the peach crop in Delaware. In Ohio and Indiana the wheat harvest will be better than the average. In Indiana corn is slow, and there are fears about fruit. The good news from the South continues. In Texas corn is not doing well, but all other crops show good promise. News from Wisconsin and Illinois leads to the belief that the grain crops will be better than they have been for ten years. The tobacco crop seems to be backward.

Says the Boston Herald: "Mr. Beecher's legal friends are managing the case just as they would if they knew him to be guilty but hoped that it could not be proved."

Cyrus Plumer, who was convicted in the United States circuit court at the October term, 1858, of murder on the high seas, has been pardoned by the President. He was sentenced to be hanged, but his sentence was by warrant dated July 5, 1859, commuted to imprisonment for life. He has now been pardoned, having been imprisoned fifteen years. The reasons set forth by the President for granting the pardon are that during the term of his imprisonment his conduct has uniformily been good, that the confinement is telling upon his health, and that his pardon has been strongly recommended. The pardon was signed on the sixteenth of July, and is unconditional. Plumer was a boatsteerer on board the whaling barque Junior, of New Bedford, and killed the captain by shooting him with a whaling-gun, Plumer being then at the head of a mutiny. The mutineers abandoned the vessel in boats, but were captured in Sidney, Australia, and sent home for trial.

A despatch from Eureka, Nevada, says that a terrible water spout burst in the mountain, Friday, and swept through the town, killing twenty persons and causing great destruction of property. It had been raining with great violence from early morning till noon, when the cloud burst on a lofty range of mountains to the eastward, and a vast volume of water rushed down the canyon where the town is located. The eastern part of the town was flooded in ten minutes by a fearful rush of water which constantly increased in violence, depth and impetuosity. The people in that portion were hemmed in, and every moment the houses were torn from their foundation and swept away with the occupants. Ropes were procured and a line formed. Brave men, thus protected, dashed into the torrent and saved many lives. Only a few women and children were lost. The body of Mrs. Brady was recovered. Rodger Babinett, reporter, of the Sentinel, is drowned. The Sentinel office was swept away. The bodies are being brought to the court house as soon as recovered. Three Chinamen were lost. Thirty houses were swept away, and all that part of the town containing the dance-houses and other places of amusement are gone. The flood lasted only half an hour. The total loss of of life is not yet known, but it is believed that it will reach twenty-five or thirty persons.

The Hallidaysburg (Pa.) Register hoists the name of Hon. James G. Blaine of Maine for the Presidency. Second the motion, until some more available, capable and straight-forward statesman (and we do not know who he can be) comes to the front. Foremost in the ranks of republican leaders, Mr. Blaine has the confidence of the country, believes in as speedy a return to specie payments as is possible under existing circumstances, and has the respect and good-will of its best and most thoughtful citizens. If other candidates stand better with the people, let their friends bring them forward for inspection.

Cincinnati Times says: When Charles Reade brought a libel suit against the Round Table for describing "Griffith Gaunt" as a "nasty novel," he got but a sixpence damages. If he had had the evidence of Mrs. Tilton that the narrative of the priest's love for Catharine Gaunt brought her to a full sense of her iniquity—if Charles had had this the jury might have done better for him.

Gen. Butler denies that he is in any way connected with the Beecher-Tilton controversy. Mr. Frank D. Moulton did ask the General's opinion of the whole matter, stating what he knew of it, and he replied that Mr. Tilton could make a strong presentation; and it was with knowledge that he advised that every effort be made to bury the matter as privately as possible.

At East Fairfield, Me., on Thursday, as Mrs. Mary Ann Porter and her two children were returning from picking raspberries, one of the children climbed upon a shelving rock that projected over a deep hole in the creek where the water is some six feet in depth. The rock being covered with slime the child slipped in. The mother jumped in after her, and then the other child followed. Two little boys saw them struggling in the water and ran for help. Some time elapsed ere assistance came, and when taken out mother and children were dead. Mrs. Porter had parted from her husband, Lewis Porter, and was working hard to maintain herself and her two children.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious soops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the Summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other nuisance or cause of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and aldermen, or by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other things, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no specific penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Laconics.

There is a general remonstrance against the proposition to take away the fence from the custom-house yard. It can be improved to a better purpose without removing the fence.

The two fine landscapes in oil from the easel of our talented Portsmouth artist, Mr. T. P. Moses, "Sunset on the Catskill Mountains," and "Portsmouth Harbor and Fort Point," have been disposed of to Mr. Henry C. Miller of Boston, a grandson of old Strawberry Bank.

A new boat club has been formed here, consisting of Messrs. Sampson, Hazel, Hidden and others. Let there be three entries in the next boat-race, and let the course be straight-away.

The five Granges in Rockingham County are talking of having a grand mass picnic about the middle of August, at some point to be selected by a committee of arrangements.

A Rye Beach correspondent says: Here is the place to see a storm with rearing, tearing, moaning, foaming waves and scowling tempest. Here is the place to watch the sun go down in glory, and the moon and stars and long-tailed comets come blinking into brightness. This is the place in whose bathing waters the playful Thomas Cod and the fascinating sculpin wag their tails and shake their fins and gasp and die in fishers' boats. Hither come the festive city maidens and the rollicking college boys to flirt it in the moonlight, and to trip it on the well-waxed ball-room floor. Health, scenery, fun and flirtation all are here. There is no sorrow here, nor do mourners go about the streets. The motto of the place is, "Eat, drink, laugh, and grow fat."

Many of the vessels which have brought coal to Portsmouth are going to eastern ports to lay up, as the present rates of freights are not considered worth accepting.

Several newspaper publishers in this State have been invited to attend the session of the circuit court of the United States in this city to hear discussion upon the validity of the Montague patent in printing presses, which they are using under a sale from the Boston and Fairhaven Iron Works. Mr. Cyril C. Child of Boston claims damages as assignee of the patent for the use of printing presses, etc., in violation of this patent.

Is the Concord Patriot, which copies an article from the St. Louis Times, prepared to endorse the insinuation in that article that the republicans of New Hampshire have "robbed the State?" If so, will the Patriot please state who they were, when it was done, and how?

If you want one of the best of times take the 11 o'clock boat for the Appledore today, Col. Butler's excursion being "on." You can chowder with Cedric and Oscar, picnic on the rocks, fish and bathe, play billiards and dance, and then come steaming home by moonlight, singing "Ho Muggin! Ho Muggin."

Quite a number of theatrical personages having quartered with Mr. Keen at Kittery Point, a proposition has been made that they unite in the presentation of some popular play at the Temple. All the party acceded to the novel proposition, and the evening of August 4th has been designated as the time. The drama of "London in 1687" and the farce, "An Object of Interest," will be produced. The company includes Miss Fanny Herring, Mr. Thos. H. Burns, Mrs. E. M. Leslie and others.

"Pop" Lolley is sixteen years old and has legs. He has been wanted by the police for peppering a horse in a cruel way. Monday evening, "Pop" was going through the streets and espied the City Marshal. "Pop" dropped two cushions he had taken from somewhere, and ran. The Marshal gave chase, Charlie Maloon joined, E. J. Moulton ditto, "Pop" dodged and Ed. went into the dust. "Pop" was then stopped by another man who rushed after him out of a house. That's all we know about it.

Mechanics' Hall was crowded last Sunday evening to listen to the temperance address of Mr. Thomas N. Doutney of Boston. Mr. J. Horace Kent presided and prior to introducing the speaker of the evening, referred briefly to the late action of the legislature relative to the license bill. Mr. Doutney spoke an hour and a quarter and the best evidence of his success was that not a person left during that time.

Geo. Gibbons and John West, two tramps, go to the house of correction for 60 days for stealing shoes.

State News.

Three ladies and two gentlemen were poisoned at Manchester on the 22d, by drinking milk; one of the ladies, a Mrs. Lambard, is still very sick. The poison is supposed to have been in the milk cans.

George Knox of Berwick, eighteen years of age, was drowned Sunday, while bathing in Salmon Falls river.

There is no small pox at Newmarket.

Reports from all the sections of the State predict plentiful crops of fruit and grain this year. Corn, wheat and oats are everywhere in good condition, and the hay crop will be immense. Berries and fruit of all kinds are doing well, and there will be potatoes in abundance.

On Saturday night, a large dwelling-house and stable at West Goffstown, owned by Rodey Johnson and John Grier were totally consumed by a fire, which is supposed to have been the work an incendiary. Two families occupied the house, and one of them lost all their furniture and the other family saved theirs. Loss about $4000. Insurance $2700.

Belief and Action.

[Merrimac Valley Visitor.]

Suicides are becoming very common in New England. Their increase, we think, is greatly owing to a change of religious sentiment. No Catholic, in his right mind, will commit suicide; and no orthodox Protestant can do it, since self-destruction would close the door of heaven upon such a soul. It was from this opinion, that in former times suicides were generally deemed insane at the time of the act. Later, some sects have abolished hell—stricken it from spiritual geographies—and others have made it a temporary stopping place where the spirit could shake off the remains of evil and put on garments suited to a better condition; and thereby it has been deprived of its terrors. We do not know of any large Protestant sect which now preaches it as a place of literal punishment. It becomes, therefore, more a question of policy with large classes, whether they will suffer here or rush to the unseen and untried, where they believe their evils will not be increased; and with such, suicide is no evidence of insanity; it may in their opinion be proof of great wisdom, as it is to suffer the amputation of a limb affected with incurable cancer. In some parts of France, where the religious sentiment is not strong and Reason is the goddess worshipped, suicides are frequent; but in no other civilized country more so than in New England to-day.

Beecher's Mistake.

[Springfield Republican.]

The mistake has been in allowing to come to the public surface a grievous scandal which should long ago have been settled and hushed in the private circles where it originated, and herein Mr. Beecher seems to us to have made a great mistake. Upon any theory, he has shown in these last years, and especially in these last months, a force, a nerve, a quality of self control that are almost without a parallel. With this constant anxiety at his heart, he has been more intellectually active, versatile, brilliant, than in any happier period of his life.

If he had only carried this splendid courage of the platform into the relations of his private life; if he had only had the courage to say to say to his friends, his clerical brethren, the members of his church, the members of his family, when he saw them in their zeal hurrying on the catastrophe: "I appreciate your devotion to me, your belief in me, your desire to serve me. But you must not attempt to serve me by attacking Mr. Tilton; that is an injury and not a service. We have had a difference, and have made it up; what it was is our own affair. Enough to know that in striking at this man you strike at me."

Had Mr. Beecher said this, even a brief fortnight ago, there is every reason to believe that Mr. Tilton's statement would not now be under the eyes of the American public and on its way across the Atlantic. But he lacked the courage or the perception of his opportunity. He allowed his next friends to go on defending him by making out Mr. Tilton all that is vile and base. He put himself in the apparent attitude of conniving at this vindictive warfare. There could be but one result to all this. It seems inconceivable that he could have been blind to it.

—Chicago Again! Another Half Million Thaws and Resolves Itself into Adieu! was the heading in a Detroit paper over an account of the latest big fire in the Cremation City.

—A fruit dealer in Boston has struck a new idea. Instead of giving chromos or any such nonsense, to each one who purchases two watermelons he gives a bottle of cholera mixture.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such case the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

For Sale in Greenland.

THE fine country residence and farm formerly occupied by Rev. John F. Adams,—buildings in thorough repair, land well divided into mowing and tillage; one half of it well manured, etc., well known for the large quantity of plendid strawberries produced.

The house has an evergreen hedge around it and the buildings are in thorough repair. There is a fruit orchard of 300 apple trees, 20 cherry trees and as many pear trees—and a nursery with 1500 young apple trees. From the grape vines on the place fifteen bushels of fruit have been sold in a season, besides abundance reserved for home use. Part of the land heavily wooded and there is a great quantity of muck on the estate. In the pasture there is a never-failing spring. The farm is situated midway between depots of Eastern and Concord railroads. For sale on easy terms, if enquired for immediately,—of O. G. ROBINSON, on the premises, or Butler & Laighton, Market Square, or Bailey & Co., Market street. je1

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—A young Albany (Oregon) couple were out on a door-step on Gospel Ridge, late one Sunday night looking, at the comet, then visible in the northern heavens. At least it was evident the young lady wanted to see the comet, because she was overheard to tell the young gentleman to "keep his face out of the way so she could see the comet!" Then there was a noise like the sudden drawing of a horse's hoof out of the stiff mud, and then—and then—well, the old man thrust his head out at the front door of that house, and the young astronomers turned their backs to each other, and began counting the stars aloud with great vehemence. The old man told them that the spheroidal mass which they had been so diligently contemplating on the ethereal dome scarcely demanded any more of their united attention that evening, and the young man would very much oblige him by peregrinating in the direction of his own local habitation at that immediate period of time, or he would enable him to see stars with more multitudinosity.

—A singular circumstance is reported by a gentleman from Boonville, who is reliable authority, as having recently occurred in that place. An old hen came off her nest with a brood of brand-new little chickens, having hatched out all her eggs save one, which remained in the nest. The old cat belonging on the premises took possession of the nest and came off with a flock of little cats and a chicken—she having hatched out the remaining egg.

—Describing the culinary arrangements of the Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga, a correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says that all the grinding of coffee, turning of ice-cream freezers, roasting-spits, and a dozen other things, are done by little steam-engines that you could carry off in one hand. During the regatta week the hotel fed 5000 people a day, and on one day thirty head of cattle were consumed.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; the hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and flexibility it bestows.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a modern stove polish, far better than any other in existence. Are better because they give a finer gloss than any other polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Yield a brilliant silvery sheen, with less than half the labor required when other polishes are used.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are a neat and cleanly article, making no dirt or dust when used. Can be used even in the parlor without the trouble of removing furniture or carpets.

Has no disagreeable sulphurous or strong acid smell when prepared for use, but are pleasant and harmless.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are put up in neat style and in a form more convenient for use than any other polish. In each box are 1 stick; 1 stick is sufficient for any stove; thus all waste is saved.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Are the cheapest polish in the market, because one box at 10 cents will polish as much surface as 25 cents' worth of the old polish.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

Have just taken the 1st premium at the Indianapolis Exposition, in competition with several of the best of old stove polishes.

BUY CRUMBS OF COMFORT of your storekeeper. If he has them, or will procure them for you; if not, send us one dollar, your name, and the name of your nearest express station, and we will send you ten boxes, and samples of Bartlett's Blacking and Pearl Bloning, free of charge.

CRUMBS OF COMFORT can be had of all Wholesale Grocers and Dealers in the United States, and Retail Dealers will find them the most profitable, from the fact that they are the fastest selling article of the kind in the market.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of ever forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

CURING

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent surgeons, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever has won a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of security from their fatal effects, that is well-founded, if taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for ready and prompt relief in the members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray, or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels those humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

It is a wonderfulappetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful success in Mexico, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the skin, Humor and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Man as a Processionist.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The tendency of men to herd themselves into processions is one of the mysteries of human nature, which is only equalled by the tendency of those who are not in the herd to stand in the broiling sun and admire the others. Why this should be so, what peculiar satisfaction the man in the procession derives from it, and what object he has in view, are problems yet to be solved; and yet it is probably the height of the ambition of every average man to see the day when he shall go in a procession; happy if he can carry the Star Spangled Banner or some other banner bearing a strange device; thrice happy if he may ride a horse, terrify the women and children with the caracolings of his fiery charger, and shout hoarsely at his division of the procession. All of this is more remarkable from the fact that the procession is but a child's sport, with the difference that the paper hats have been changed for beavers with feathers in them; the lath swords for steel ones; the tin pan and whistle for the drum and fife; the red flannel stripe and bit of blue ribbon for a variegated uniform bespangled with jewels and gaudy with tinsels; and the stick which the leader straddled so gracefully for a live horse, which the leader, nine times out of ten, straddles ungracefully.

The effects of the procession upon the individual hardly has a parallel among natural phenomena. Your butcher or your shoemaker may be, and probably is, a very ordinary man; not blessed with wealth or beauty; having no soul craving or yearning desires for the good, the true and the beautiful; the owner of a brood of rather dirty and promiscuous children; with an intellect capable of the scientific carving of a sheep or skillful cobbling of a boot. There is nothing majestic or awful about him. You would not invite him to your soiree as a paragon. Indeed, in his morning fall out at your house, your servant receives him, and they gossip together in a friendly way. But once array your butcher in a plug hat and white apron; throw an emblazoned crimson scarf about his muscular shoulders; put a boiled shirt on him and stick a rose in his button-hole; hang two or three tinsel crosses and other ornaments on his manly breast; and, if he be a large butcher, let him carry a banner stuck in a pouch, looking as if it were rooted in his ample corpus, and he becomes metamorphosed into another creature. As he marches along in his stately manner, keeping time, time, time, in a sort of Runic rhyme, to the tintinnabulation of the band, he is an awful and majestic being, who towers above you as you stand upon the curbstone, and looks down upon you as one of the sans culottes. Yesterday he would have taken off his hat to you; to-day, if he sees you at all, he only sees you as an atom; one of a thousand, admiring him as a magnificent being, only equalled by a royal potentate and possibly by a Sultan in the grandeur of his bearing and the gorgeousness of his apparel. As you retire to your chamber at night with the confused pictures of flags, banners, crosses, swords, aprons, horse-collars, trombones and guns flitting before you, the vision of this majestic creature appears, looming up like Mont Blanc among lesser hills. You regret now that only yesterday you vexed his great soul with complaints about tough beef; that you had threatened to discharge this awe-inspiring creature and employ another. You regret your dullness in not recognizing the possibilities lying dormant in him, and you mentally resolve to make your respects to him, the Thrice Illustrious Prince, or most Eminent Grand Seigneur, or High and Top-Lofty-Baron, commanding the Most Stunning Knights of Pythagoras, and request the pleasure of eating tough steak hereafter.

There is one man in the procession, however, who does not possess these attributes. He is the last man. It is said that there must be a last man in a procession; but it must always be so until some way is discovered of making up the procession in a circle, and then giving it a motion like a rotary shell, turning around its own axis and going straight ahead also. This last man is a weary, worn, pathetic creature, who looks as if life was a burden to him. He is a rusty, seedy biped, without any good clothes. No stars blaze on his breast. No banner shields him from the fiery sun. His ear never hears the inspiring notes of the band. He catches the dust of the procession. Bystanders rush in front of him with impunity. He has no pride at all. There is no pomp about him, no majesty of mien. He always looks sick, tired, dishevelled and forlorn. Small boys jeer at him. Bus-drivers contemptuously order him out of the way. Reckless young men make desperate efforts to drive over him. He gets mixed up among newsboys, bootblacks, yellow dogs, advertising wagons, fan sellers, drays, and frantic women running after erratic children, and loses the procession, and by the time he regains it he is a poor, harassed and dejected man and brother, and no object of pity. The chances are that if he does not go off with sunstroke, or get run over by an ice-cart and have to be taken home in an express wagon, he will, as the result of his pathetic situation, get drunk with remarkable despatch before sunset. So long as there must be a last man in every procession, there should be some compensation. He should be made attractive. Let him be handsomely decorated and comparisoned. Let him have on two aprons. Let him carry a banner and have an American flag in his hat. Let him also have a drawn sword with which to keep off the small boys and yellow dogs, and thus the last man in the procession will cease to be the most wretched object in existence.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1874.

Flood in Pennsylvania.

On Sunday Alleghany City, Penn., was inundated by floods caused by a tremendous rain (a waterspout according to some accounts), and that city and the surrounding country suffered terribly, many lives being lost and immense quantities of property destroyed.

In the thirty-sixth ward the most costly results of the deluge were felt. The immense body of water which swept down into Sawmill Run raised the stream with great rapidity and sent it whirling, with tremendous velocity and power, to the river. A large quantity of barrels and lumber was carried away, and fast piled up against the new iron bridge, which did not long resist the fury of the assault. The bridge, by which Carson street crosses the river, was swept from its abutments. So great was its force that a large number of barges, with coal, were torn from their fastenings and swept down the river. A tow-boat was carried away at Wood's mill. A tremendous slide occurred, covering the rails of the Pan Handle road to the depth of eight feet. A train going toward Pittsburg was struck there and not dug out until nearly morning. Another train was bottled up just below Sawmill Run. The sewer on Madison avenue and Vista street burst, inundating the whole upper part of the city. On Spring Garden street a number of houses were swept away, the water attaining the depth of ten feet, causing a large loss of life in that neighborhood. The destruction of property cannot now be estimated. The damage on the south side is great, a large number of stables and other buildings having been swept away. Several lives were lost there.

Despatches on Monday night said: "The loss of life by the flood is appalling. Thirty-eight bodies have been removed in Butcher's Run district, and as many persons more are missing who are supposed to have been lost. The havoc at Wood's Run is frightful. The place was a perfect sheet of water. Nine bodies have been recovered there thus far, and five or six persons are still missing. On the south side, in Sawmill Run district, eight bodies were recovered and thirty-seven persons are missing. A whole block of buildings was swept away in that district, and fifty persons perished in the flood there. For more than a mile out on Spring Garden avenue the marks of devastation are everywhere seen. The houses are thrown together in heaps. Some twenty-five or thirty slaughter-houses on the avenue were washed away. Many buildings that were not totally destroyed are seriously damaged. The water, rising to the height of fifteen feet, flooded the first floors of all the houses, and in many places the second stories. Several houses were swept into the middle of the street, and others carried off hundreds of yards and shattered to pieces. A house containing two or three families, at the rear of Centre street, was destroyed, and it is supposed all the inmates were drowned. In Temperanceville and Sawmill Run the elements made sad havoc. The fierce torrents of rain swelled every little tributary of Sawmill Run into a boiling stream, and the accumulating water rushed with irresistible fury down the valley, sweeping everything in its course. The track of devastation is marked by the wreck of dwellings and bridges, immense heaps of stones, large piles of drift-wood, and the torn and ragged sides of hills. Seven lifeless bodies have already been found, and from twenty-five to thirty persons are missing. The iron bridge crossing Sawmill Run at Main street, and five other bridges above, were swept away. At McLaughlin's, about eleven miles west, on the Pan-Handle Railroad, eleven persons are reported drowned, also hundreds of cattle, horses, sheep, etc."

It is thought that the loss of life will reach fully 200 persons, and the loss of property will be proportionately large. The Evening Chronicle places the loss at 142, and the names of the missing parties are continually coming in. The extent of territory damaged is not less than twenty to twenty-five miles in diameter, and how the main portion of the city of Pittsburg, lying as it does in the centre of this circle, escaped further injury, appears miraculous. A prevailing theory is that the disaster was caused by some kind of a waterspout. A gentleman who watched the storm from a point a few miles down the river, where there was little rain, says that by the fitful flashes of lightning he could see a large inky-black, funnel-shaped cloud, which overhung the city, the narrow ends being the lowest, while the dark parts gave vent to almost continuous flashes of lightning.

The course of the flood was probably 200 feet wide, and frame and brick buildings fell before the devastating element as though they had been sand. In some instances houses were literally turned upside down. On Chestnut street the water attained the depth of fully twenty feet. A large frame building, occupied as a beer hall, was moved from its foundation and floated directly across the street, completely obstructing the way.

On Tuesday evening over 100 bodies had been recovered. The list of the dead in Alleghany City numbers 125; Lower Alleghany, 9; Saw Mill Run, 14; Big Branch Saw Mill Run, 6; Little Branch do., 27; Charters Creek, 20; other suburbs, 18. Total 219.

At Pittsburg the same flood destroyed much property, though no lives are reported lost. The union depot was inundated to the depth of three or four feet, stopping all railroad travel, and many streets were rendered impassable.

The Great Scandal.

The following card from Mr. Tilton is published:

"I respectfully call public attention to the fact that, though the Plymouth church committee have this morning published eight or ten columns of the irrelevant and desultory conversation between Mr. Beecher's counsel and myself in the committee-room, yet this voluminous report strangely omits the most important part of my testimony, namely, that the criminality which my sworn statement charged upon the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and his religious victim was confessed to me not only by herself but by Mr. Beecher. Furthermore, that it was confessed by her and him to Mr. Moulton as the friend and counsellor of both; and still further that Mr. Moulton's office, as mediator for four years between Mr. Beecher and me, was based on the one sole fact of this preexisting criminality between Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton. This statement I made to the committee with my utmost plainness of speech. I furthermore stated to the committee that Mr. Beecher's apology to me, instead of growing out of any circumstances with which Mrs. Woodhull was connected, was communicated to me by Mr. Beecher nearly six months before I ever met, knew or saw Mrs. Woodhull. The omission of these facts from the committee's report forces me to lay them before the public as a necessary part of my case."

In response to an inquiry of a reporter, whether Frank Moulton would make a statement to the committee, Mr. Tilton said: "Mr. Moulton will not appear voluntarily before the committee, nor has the committee invited him to make a statement. Mr. Moulton, as a matter of honor, will not tell what he knows except before a tribunal that has the power to compel him, unless upon the consent of both parties—Mr. Beecher and myself."

STATEMENT OF ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.

The Brooklyn Argus reports an interview with Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, who says: Some time,—I think it was in the fall of the year, though I won't be positive,—while Mrs. Bullard was still connected with the Revolution, Susan B. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Bullard and myself were in Brooklyn together. It was in the afternoon, and, after calling at the office of the Revolution, Mr. Tilton and myself accompanied Mrs. Bullard to her residence, and remained to dinner. Through some misunderstanding, Miss Anthony went with Mrs. Tilton and dined with her instead of us. There was some feeling on the part of Mrs. Tilton in regard to this, although it was quite unintentional on my part. Well, at the table no one was present but Mrs. Bullard, Mr. Tilton and myself. Theodore told the whold story of his wife's faithlessness. As I before observed, he did not go into the details, but the sum and substance of the whole matter he related in the hearing of Mrs. Bullard and myself. We were reformers, and he gave us the story as a phase of social life. This was the first I heard of it.

The next evening, hearing that Miss Anthony was a little piqued at me for leaving her on the day before, I returned to my home here. To my surprise I found Susan awaiting my arrival. That evening, when we were alone, I said to her: "Theodore related a very strange story to Mrs. Bullard and me last evening." Then I recounted to her all that he had told us. Miss Anthony listened attentively to the end; then she said: "I have heard the same story from Mrs. Tilton." We compared notes and found by both man and wife the same story had indeed been told.

The confession was made in this wise: When Mrs. Tilton returned home that evening some angry words, growing out of the separation in the afternoon, passed between him and his wife. Both became intensely excited, and in the heat of passion and in the presence of Miss Anthony, confessed each to the other of having broken the marriage vow. In the midst of these startling disclosures, Miss Anthony withdrew to her room. Shortly after she heard Mrs. Tilton come dashing up the stairs and Mr. Tilton following close after. She flung open her bed-room door and Elizabeth rushed in. The door was then closed and bolted. Theodore pounded on the outside and demanded admittance, but Miss Anthony refused to turn the key. So intense was his passion at that moment that she feared he might kill his wife if he gained access to the room. Several times he returned to the door and angrily demanded that it be opened. "No woman shall stand betweed me and my wife," said he; but Susan, who is as courageous as she is noble answered him with the words, "If you enter this room it will be over my dead body," and so the infuriated man ceased his demands and withdrew.

Mrs. Tilton remained with Susan throughout the night. In the excitement of the hour, amid sobs and tears, she told all to Miss Anthony. The whole story of her unfaithfulness, of Mr. Beecher's course, of her deception, and of her anguish, fell upon the ears of Susan B. Anthony and were spoken by the lips of Mrs. Tilton. The next morning Mr. Tilton told Susan never to enter his house again. She told him she should enter whenever she chose, but I believe she did not go there again.

By Mr. Tilton's cross-examination, observed the reporter, it appears that Mrs. Tilton was far from friendly to Miss Anthony. How could she have made this confession to her?

"On the contrary, Mrs. Tilton thought a great deal of Miss Anthony, Miss Bullard and all those ladies. I was very intimate with her before Mrs. Woodhull's thunderbolt. At the time of our first knowledge of the affair, Mr. Wilkeson also heard of it. He besought the ladies not to make it public. To him it was a matter of money. He was a stockholder in Plymouth church, in the Christian Union and in "The Life of Christ." Now the destruction of Mr. Beecher would be the destruction of all these. Hence his concern in keeping the matter secret."

In Westfield, Mass., on Saturday, three men stopped a team containing a quantity of seized liquors, drove away the teamster and took possession, having been hired to do so by Elisha Tobey, the dealer from whom the liquors were taken. Officers from Springfield recaptured the liquor, and a crowd of armed men threatened to take it from the officers again by force, though it was at length stored in a place from which it was finally stolen the same night. Several ringleaders in Saturday's riot, Tobey and other liquor dealers, were arrested on Monday, and the men who seized the team will be tried for highway robbery. A detachment of State constables, headed by chief Boynton, went to Westfield Tuesday morning, and warm work was looked for if the liquor men persisted in their illegal acts. Such exhibitions of violent lawlessness do not help the cause of free rum a bit.

Disasters on Shore.

A series of terrible disasters, fearfully destructive to life and property, has occurred within a few days in this country and in Europe, wind, lightning, rain waterspouts, avalanches and floods having swept away or crushed and destroyed hundreds of houses and many hundreds of human beings. In addition to the great flood in Pennsylvania, of which an account is given elsewhere, we note the following:

A terrible thunder-storm passed over Sarnia, Ontario, on Sunday, lasting from one until three o'clock. A number of houses and barns were struck by lightning. The Presbyterian church was struck and badly damaged. The streets were flooded with water and many sidewalks carried away. Reports from various placesi n that section indicate that the storm was of the most severe character and the loss of property very heavy.

A landslide at Alana, in the province of Navarre, Spain, caused by the fall of overhanging rocks, destroyed that place. Two hundred dead bodies have already been recovered.

A violent storm of rain and hail is reported from Austria. The town of Azagra was overwhelmed by the torrent. Sixty-four houses were demolished, and a few of the inhabitants escaped with their lives. Railways were badly damaged in every direction.

On Sunday a storm swept over Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, doing great damage to crops, and causing floods which washed away many bridges.

Readables.

The Indian office has information of the arrest of a notorious whiskey trader and horse thief named Martin, alias "Hurricane Bill," in Kansas, and his having been turned over to the United States marshal at Leavenworth. Martin has been one of the principal operators in stirring up the present Indian troubles, by killing buffalos and stealing horses from Indian reservations.

Miss Marietta Ball, a young lady aged twenty years and employed as a school teacher in St. Albans, Vt., was outraged and murdered in the woods while on her way from the school-house to a friend's residence on Friday afternoon. The crime was not discovered until Sunday morning. Miss Ball bore an excellent reputation, and the excitement occasioned in St. Albans by her brutal murder is intense. The Mayor has offered $3000 reward for the capture of the murderer.

Forty-one Carlists, most of them ecclesiastics or members of the nobility, have been arrested at Barcelona, Spain, by way of reprisal against the inhuman conduct of the Carlists. There is a report current that the Carlists have been again beaten by the republican troops, and sustained very heavy losses. Two companies of Carlists who refused to surrender were cut to pieces.

A gentleman and lady, passengers on the Boston & Albany railroad, were seriously if not fatally injured Monday evening by stones thrown through a car window by roughs.

Steamer Milbank, from Carthagena for Sunderland, Eng., was sunk off Dungeness by another steamer and fifteen of her crew perished. Steamer Tai Omin was lost on Japan, June 15, with twenty-seven of her crew.

The Beecher Tilt.

[Merrimac Visitor.]

Mr. Beecher has made a firm and positive denial of each and all the charges of Theodore Tilton. This was expected; but the simple denial does not answer. It may be that Tilton is insane; but the letters are not insane—they indicate method and reason. We wish it could be that the plea of insanity could cover both Beecher and Tilton; but there are facts. Any man can judge from and for himself, whether he would be more likely to commit the crime charged upon Beecher, or manufacture a falsehood, as said of Tilton, when that falsehood was to do him no good, but cover his family with ruin and disgrace forever. That is likely to be fair judgment; for whatever be the differences of education and position human nature is the same everywhere and at all times. If Beecher be innocent that will yet appear; if guilty, then Tilton deserves the sympathy of mankind. However it may prove, this is the greatest sensation of its kind the world has ever known; and we hope it may never be repeated. "In Adam's fall we sinned all"—let everybody take warning from the Beecher-Tilton scandal.

People should be careful when strongly impelled to slap a fly that has got its inquisitive proboscis into your face. Be sure your knife is in your pocket and the pen on the rack. By observing the above you may save the expense of an eye-glass.

Business Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny thereby, attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has popped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious sops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or otherwise act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

Local Matters.

Laconics.

The yacht race to take place off the Oceanic Hotel on the 20th of August excites unusual interest. Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury, Commodore Benjamin Dean, E. E. Preble, U. S. N., Hon. A. H. Rice and Commodore J. M. Forbes are to be the judges.

Dr. C. A. Norton is about removing to Manchester, where he will continue to practise as a homeopathic physician.

Col. J. C. Butler's first excursion to the Shoals, Tuesday, drew together a merry party of about three hundred persons. The Appledore was gaily dressed with flags, and looked finely as she steamed down the river.

C. N. Shaw & Co. will occupy their new store on Market street the latter part of this week. Their old stand, corner State and Pleasant streets, is offered for rent.

City Marshal Johnson sent five tramps out of the city, Tuesday; but he says there are plenty left, and extra caution is advisable.

Tom Collins was sent to Brentwood for sixty days, Tuesday.

The Methodists picnic to-day at Cushing's grove, Dover Point.

George Johnson, a colored desperado from Quebec, stole a team at the Cape Neddick House, York, on Sunday. He was arrested in Portland on Tuesday.

Justice on a Gate-Post.

[New Orleans Picayune.]

Our old friend, Judge Tom Farrar, of Lake Providence, who is known throughout the State as a lawyer and jurist of eminent abilities, and a gentleman of most lovable character, tells at his own expense, and with the keenest gusto, a story which we think too good to lose. It appears that some years ago, while riding through one of the prettiest districts of North Louisana, he came, about sundown, to a creek which was so deep as to necessitate a swimming feat. The Judge, being a man of vigorous and invincible determination, no sooner realized this emergency than he promptly dismounted, undressed himself with great dispatch, and attired only in his high plug hat and a pair of spectacles, bestrode his gallant cob and urged him to the venture.

After a desperate struggle the other side was gained, and the Judge again dismounting, this time with a profound sigh of relief, was about to resume his integuments, when the horse, prompted by some diabolical spirit, started from his side and trotted slowly down the road.

Of course, the judge had no recourse but to trot after him; and thereupon there ensued one of the most remarkable and picturesque chases ever known in history or tradition. The horse appeared to have no motive save that of keeping a certain distance ahead of the judge, and of finding some comfortable barnyard where he might refresh himself after such gigantic efforts. The Judge, whatever might have been his ambitions, confined himself to the effort of keeping the truant beast in sight. It must have been a cheerful and invigorating experience to see the judge trotting briskly along that smooth and sandy road, his venerable plug hat pulled over his eyes, and his spectacles bobbing up and down upon his nose. The chase was long, and the moisture of great exertion would gather on his brow, and when he reached around for his handkerchief, alas! it was not there. All of which had the effect of impressing the judge with his very peculiar and unfortunate situation, and imparting renewed play and lightness to his legs.

So the two bowled pleasantly along, preserving a steady relative distance, until just as the setting sun was reddening the distant hills, and touching the judge's manly form with gold, the horse whisked suddenly into a gate and bolted with eager haste toward a stable dimly visible in the distance.

The farm-house sat in a grove of trees whose shadows made a great darkness around it, and from this grove, as the Judge was scampering furiously after his horse and wardrobe, there issued sundry yellow dogs, surly of mein and shaggy of appearance. The Judge felt that it would be utterly impossible, under these circumstances, to assume that majesty of aspect and fearlessness of gaze which is currently believed to be the correct thing with dogs, and so, seeing a friendly gate-post near at hand, he gave one wild bound and reached its summit just as the leanest and fiercest of the dogs snapped viciously at his legs.

When the uproar had subsided, and the Judge, realizing the absurdity of his situation, had regained his customary frame of mind, a female voice was heard calling from the house.

"Who's there?"

"A fellow-creature in distress, madam."

"Where are you?"

"On the gate-post," said the judge, beginning to enjoy the joke.

"What can I do for you?"

It was too much. The Judge's old humor and quizzical love of merriment came over him:

"Call off these dogs and bring me all the fig leaves on the place!"

What is the Granger?

But who and what is the Granger after all? He goes off to deliberate in a room with the blinds down, has passwords and signs and grips, and allows nobody to hear what he says or to see what he does. He must have many secrets. Most assuredly he has. In the first place, they relate entirely to his own affairs, and it is for that reason alone that he has failed to gratify the general curiosity by publishing them at large. For instance, the Grangers make their hard living by tilling the soil. When one of them begins life, it is a great matter to him to get his reaper, mower, his thresher, and his hundred other machines and implements, as well as the household furniture, his clothing and his groceries, his "one-horse shay" and his parlor organ at something near half the price of the retail merchant, or the manufacturer's agent. This he does by co-operation with others situated like himself; but how and where he does it is one of his secrets, and a very precious one at that.

In like manner, when at the end of a season of incessant toil he sees his fields yellow with the harvest of bread and his fatted herd lowing in the pasture, he reflects that he and the consumer of all this produce are frequently situated far apart, and that a host of intermediate agents and traders absorb a large portion of its value in money. He resolves to put in his own purse the difference between the price paid by the consumer less transportation, and the price usually paid to the farmer. He does this by means of the Grange; but the precise method of it is another of his grand secrets. When he has accomplished these two capital operations he has made and saved enough to make his business profitable, and to give his wife and children some of the luxuries and advantages in which the families of flourishing middle-men are commonly indulged.

An association which promises him such results, and which at the same time vindicates the independence of him and his class opens to him a prospect full of roseate and radiant hues as compared with the servile and beggarly condition from which he is rising. Heretofore he has taken what was offered and given what was asked. Henceforth he will, like other classes of men, combine with those whose interest are identical, and do himself the justice of which he has been so long deprived. His power in virtue of this wide-spread and coherent organization may well be considered tremendous. A million of members to-day will be two millions by the next spring, and when they begin to hold back crops or send them forward according to their own good pleasure, New York and Chicago, Wall street and the produce exchanges, will begin to count a new and terrible, because unknown and unmanageable, force in the business of the country.

To the Granger the Grange is an unmixed good; to the speculator an unmixed evil. The manufacturer and the wholsaler find their accounts in the certain sales and the cash payments which are a part of its economy; so that nobody but the blood-suckers, the speculators in grain, the middlemen and the politicians have anything to fear.

Anecdote of Landseer.

A pleasant instance is related, illustrating Landseer's genuine kindness of heart. Once being informed that an artist of some considerable merit was in pecuniary distress, having been unable to sell any of his pictures for some time, Landseer immediately visited him. He found the poor fellow sadly contemplating a picture which had just been refused by several dealers. The work was good, but the artist lacked a "name." The subject of the picture was a rural homestead, with human figures and a mare and foal. Landseer looked critically at the horses, then said, "There are several errors here; lend me your pallette and brushes." Landseer painted on the horses for several hours. When he had finished, he said to the artist, who was known to be too proud to accept pecuniary assistance, "I think I can help you without offending you;" and he wrote in the corner, "Horses, by Edward Landseer." Next day the picture was sold for $2,500.

—The women cleaned the saloons out of Urbana, O., and now rattlesnakes, that for 50 years have been unknown, infest the place to that extent that not a man dares stir abroad without his bottle of whiskey as an antidote against the apprehended poison.

—A ten-year-old Socrates lately stated the situation as follows, at a Detroit police station:—"Oh, it's the old folks again, pounding and mangling each other, and smashing up the dishes. I've talked to 'em, and reasoned with 'em, but they keep right on. I guess you'd better bring 'em both in, and give 'em three months each."

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical Staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these boards should be address-ed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such case the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

King Lager.

The Germans have numberless odd legends, and not the least odd among these is that of Gambrinus, or King Lager, as he is now almost universally called. Gambrinus was a fiddler, who, being jilted by his sweetheart, went out into the woods to hang himself. As he was sitting on the plow, with the cord about his neck, preparatory to take the fatal plunge, suddenly a tall man in a green coat appeared before him and offered his services. He might become as wealthy as he liked, and make his sweetheart burst with vexation at her own folly, but in thirty years he must give up his soul to Beelzebub. The bargain was struck, for Gambrinus thought thirty years a long time to enjoy one's self in, and perhaps the devil might get him in any event; as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb. Aided by Satan, he invented chiming bells and lager beer, for both of which achievements his name is held in grateful remembrance by the Teutons. No sooner had the Holy Roman Emperor quaffed a gallon or two of the new beverage than he made Gambrinus Duke of Brabant and Count of Flanders, and then it was the fiddler's turn to laugh at the disconfiture of his old sweetheart. Gambrinus kept clear of women, says the legend, and so lived in peace. For thirty years he sat beneath the belfry with the chimes, meditatively drinking beer with his nobles and burghers around him. Then Beelzebub sent Jocko; one of his imps, with orders to bring back Gambrinus before midnight. But Jocko was, like Swiveller's Marchioness, ignorant of the taste of beer, never having drunk of it even a sip, and the Flemish schoopen were too much for him. He fell into a drunken sleep, and did not wake up till noon next day, at which he was so mortified that he had not the face to go back to hell at all. So Gambrinus lived on tranquilly for a century or two, and drank so much beer that he turned into a beer barrel.

Queer Duels.

One of the queerest duels on record was that in which Sainte Beuve was engaged. It began to rain slightly after he had taken up his position, whereupon he coolly held his umbrella over his head with his left hand, while holding the pistol with his right. The expostulation of his witnesses had no effect upon him. "It is all very well to be killed," said the famous essayist, "but I object to catching cold in my head." There is a droll story about Perpignan, a literary Bohemian, having an encounter with Charles Maurice at five paces. The former having fired and contrived to miss, the other, taking a deliberate aim, said to his antagonist: "Well, now, before I send you into the other world, tell me what you are thinking about." "I'm thinking that if I were in your place I would not fire," said Perpignan; and he owed his life to his presence of mind.

Keep Cool! Keep Cool!

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where shall I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE out from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. My strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of these incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its cost is since and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

DR. FLINT'S QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA—DEBILITY—DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with food as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating, and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an iron foundation.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot resist its use when it is given a fair trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful TONIC and INVIGORATOR, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but it is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not decayed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Acid Stomach, Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in younger old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the skin, Humor and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

The Great Scandal.

On Tuesday Theodore Tilton was arrested on two charges of libeling Henry Ward Beecher, and taken before Justice Riley of Brooklyn. The prosecutions are based on his recent statement arraigning Mr. Beecher. He was arrested at the instance of William J. Gaynor, recently from Boston, where he had a law office at 8 Pemberton square, and who now is a member of the Brooklyn Argus staff. Mr. Gaynor says his only object in causing the arrest is to bring out all the facts. It is understood that Mr. Gaynor has an idea that Mr. Tilton will be best sustained by obliging reluctant witnesses to testify on oath.

The Brooklyn Argus prints part of an interview with Frank B. Carpenter on the subject of the Beecher scandal:—

Mr. Carpenter said that he was first brought actively into the case by Beecher. In May, 1873, Beecher sent for Carpenter, wishing him to come immediately to Brooklyn. Beecher had learned that Henry C. Bowen had reasserted to Carpenter charges which he had formerly made to Tilton against Beecher and which he had withdrawn in the "tripartite," and that Bowen had said in the presence of Mr. E. D. Holton of Milwaukee and Mr. Carpenter that he did not wish them to understand that he had made a retraction. Beecher wished Carpenter to confront Bowen on these points. It was also said that the "tripartite" covenant was to be made public. He went to Moulton's house. Beecher was not there, but Moulton said he wished Carpenter to go to Bowen's residence with Claflin and Moulton. They went, and Carpenter repeated in the presence of Bowen, Claflin and Moulton the statements made by Bowen to himself concerning Beecher. Bowen admitted all, and Claflin expressed his astonishment that Bowen should have told these things after signing the covenant. Claflin was the person who induced Bowen to sign the covenant. Bowen said he protested against making the agreement public. Carpenter said to Bowen that if the statements were untrue he should make a most unqualified public denial, but if true he should stand by them. Bowen had said to Moulton that Beecher had made a confession to him on his knees. Mr. Tilton and Moulton had been told by Beecher that this was a lie. Carpenter said to Bowen, "There is a direct lie between you and Mr. Beecher, and, for one, I want to know the truth." Claflin thought Mr. Beecher ought to be present at this interview. Moulton went to the house for him, but did not find him. Bowen expressed his willingness to meet Beecher next day. Claflin agreed to arrange the interview. A few days afterwards Carpenter saw Claflin, who told him Beecher had said, "There is not force enough in Brooklyn to draw me into a private interview with Henry C. Bowen." Carpenter says in his business relations with Bowen they had frequent conversations regarding his difficulty with Beecher. Bowen said Beecher's friends wanted him to sign a sweeping document, declaring his charges against Beecher untrue. He refused. Claflin then urged him at least to sign a paper withdrawing the charges, and he consented.

Mr. Carpenter here repeated to the writer the substance of a conversation which took place between Mr. Beecher and himself, on Sunday, June 1, 1873, after service at Plymouth church. The statements which Mr. Carpenter says Mr. Beecher made that evening are, if true, of the utmost significance and importance. Mr. Carpenter declares that he will not make public this conversation unless he is called upon to testify before the proper tribunal. It was during this interview that Mr. Beecher told Mr. Carpenter that in case Theodore would make certain disavowals he would share his fame and fortune with him and pour in subscribers to the Golden Age by the thousand. The interview which Mr. Carpenter speaks of occurred on the evening of the same day when Mr. Beecher wrote his touching letter dated Sunday, June 1, 1873. Great significance attaches to Mr. Carpenter's statement from the fact that Mr. Beecher's card exonerating Mr. Tilton from being his slanderer and defamer was published the next day—June 2, 1873. Mr. Carpenter says that Tilton had no vindictive feeling against Beecher and tried hard before publishing the letter to Dr. Bacon to find some means by which Beecher should free him from imputations cast upon him by Dr. Bacon before he decided to publish the letter. Dr. Bacon said to a friend of Carpenter's, "If Mr. Tilton publishes that letter and Plymouth church does not reply to it within twenty-four hours by a suit at law against Mr. Tilton, they will have no case before the Christian public."

In publishing the correspondence of Mrs. Tilton and Mr. Beecher we accidentally omitted the following:

No man can see the difficulties that environ me unless he stands where I do. To say that I have a church on my hands is simple enough. But to have the hundreds of thousands of men pressing me, each with his keen suspicion or anxiety or zeal; to see the tendencies which, if not stopped, would break out into a ruinous defence of me; to stop them without seeming to do it; to prevent any one questioning me; to meet and allay prejudices against Theodore Tilton which had their beginnings years before; to keep serene, as if I was not alarmed or disturbed; to be cheerful at home and among friends, when I was suffering the torments of the damned; to pass sleepless nights often, and yet to come up fresh and fair for Sunday,—all this may be talked about, but the real thing cannot be understood from the outside, nor its wearing and grinding on the nervous system.

Two cases of Asiatic cholera are reported in New York.

At the republican State convention of Delaware, Dr. Isaac Jump of Dover was nominated for governor.

Negotiations for the balance of the five per cent. funded loan have been concluded by the Secretary of the Treasury, with August Belmont & Co., on behalf of N. M. Rothschild & Sons of London, and J. & W. Seligman & Co., on behalf of themselves and their associates. These parties made an absolute subscription for $45,000,000, coupled with the option of taking the remainder of the loan at any time within six months.

The People's Fire Insurance Co. of Philadelphia has suspended.

A queer story of liquor, arson and revenge comes from Brooklyn, Conn., in connection with the burning, three months ago, of the barn of Aaron A. Storrs. After diligent attempts at detecting the incendiary, it now comes out that the fire was set at the instigation of a Mr. Burdick, the hotel keeper of the place, and another liquor seller, who had suffered legal interference in their business at the hands of Storrs and vowed vengeance. The plotters, the former of whom is a man of much property and has at various times held town offices, procured a drunken wretch from Providence, and, after dosing him with whiskey, gave him kerosene and matches and piloted him to the barn, which he fired as directed. The miserable tool in this crime was very much shocked on becoming sober, at what he had done, and now he will probably become State's evidence. He has made partial disclosures touching the matter, but there is a network of circumstances aside from those which seem to involve Burdick in the transaction beyond any hope of escape.

The telegraph is becoming more indispensably useful, every year. The New York Tribune mentions a new application of it in that city. The court rooms are to be connected with the principal law-offices by wires and instruments similar to those which are now used to convey stock intelligence. By this means the state of the calander can be constantly known, and verdicts and decisions be promptly reported to the busy lawyers.

The American yacht Enchantress won the International Race in the British Channel on the 28th of July.

Alderman Bolster of Alleghany City, who with his family was submerged by the great flood in that city—his wife being on a sick bed,—with a superhuman effort gathered up his wife and five children and started to run out of his house that was being swept away. His little boy Charley, who was perched on his shoulder, hearing the cry of a little babe who dwelt in the next house, and to which he was greatly attached, leaped from his father's shoulder, and next morning was found with his little limbs clasping his baby-lover's crib, in which it was dead and smiling.

The place hunters of Ohio are very bitter in their opposition to the new constitution of that State. It provides for biennial instead of annual elections. This feature so objectionable to the office-seeker is in the same degree popular with the voting taxpayers. It is an annual saving of from ten to fifteen thousand dollars to each county in the State. Besides, the people, under the provisions of the new constitution, enjoy a breathing spell from political solicitation and the beggarly petitions of all expectants for office. Whatever may be the other peculiar features of the new organic law, this is an excellent one and commends itself heartily to the approval of the general public.

The Nashville Union says that Andrew Johnson has a sure thing on the Tennessee Senatorship.

Frank Gaynor, the young lawyer who sued Theodore Tilton for libel, pretends that he consulted with no one else on the subject. He doubtless desires notoriety. The trial will open next Monday.

—Wars, comets, pestilence, and toppling dynasties may fill the world with fear or wonder; but nothing goes down to the marrow of a man's soul so much as the announcement of his baby's first tooth.

—If there is any one thing less melodious than the warbling of happy birds on sunny meads, or amid the rustling, fresh and sweet-scented trees, it is a load of bar iron going over a cobble-stone pavement.

—The Bismark (D. T.) paper says: "Last night's train was behind time owing to the grasshoppers on the eastern end of this division, which were so thick as to grease the rails, and compelled the engineer to double the road for fifteen miles, taking half the train each trip."

State News.

The grasshoppers are doing immense damage in Boscawen, Canterbury, Franklin and other towns. One farmer estimates that they have injured his hay crop to the amount of 50 tons, and another puts his loss at 40 tons. They are now making a raid upon the fruit trees and corn tassels, devouring the latter as fast as they appear.

William H. Sanborn of Gilford, who was committed to the lockup in Laconia, was was discovered not long after with his throat cut. The wound was dressed and he was taken home. His recovery is doubtful.

George Ford, aged sixteen years, son of Thomas Ford of Concord, was drowned in an eddy of the Merrimac. He was in a boat with some half a dozen other boys, some of whom rocked the boat in play so that it was overturned. The body was recovered in about half an hour after the accident.

Foster's Democrat complains that the democratic bunglers who re-warded Dover neglected to repeal the law allowing the city councils to change the ward boundaries at any time. It says the republicans are intending to pass an ordinance changing the wards back to their original status.

—A Portland man has a suit of clothes, thirty-six years old, which he has worn at each of his four weddings.

—"Kate, I understand you have accepted a situation as governess. Rather than that, I would marry a widower with six children." "Yes, dear Sophie, and so would I, but where is the widower?"

—An amusing scene occurred the other day at Vineyard Grove, Martha's Vineyard. A couple of Boston snobs were riding in the horse-cars, and noticing the proximity of two verdant individuals from the country, began for their benefit to descant volubly upon a recent (imaginary) trip to Europe. The strangers sat with eyes agog, ears pricked forward, and mouth stretched broadly open, until one of the flashy gentlemen said: "See these boots? They came from London—Paternoster row." (They were of formidable dimensions.) The speaker felt a touch on his shoulder and turned, expecting to be able to impart some valuable information, when he was met by the anxious inquiry, "Did you charter a lengthened steamer to bring those things home in." It is needless to say that the loquacious gentlemen took an early opportunity to leave the car.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious stops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

A Quiet Hint for Husbands.

[Troy Budget.]

Whenever you find a stout, healthy minister of the Gospel hanging around your wife, with a "holy and sincere admiration and affection," which sentiment is reciprocated by your wife, having a "lofty, spiritual, religious yearning and pure platonic love for that priest" that attracts her frequently to his side, do you, unsophisticated young husband, just go right out to the nearest cobbler and buy a heavy pair of pegged stogy boots. Put them stogy boots right on, and the next time that minister calls at your residence to peddle his "spiritual essence" take him gently by the coat collar, make a short oration, whereof the peroration shall be, "get out!" and then clinch the argument a posteriori with them stogys. It's the best way to get along with an intimacy, innocent though it may be, that sometimes brings a "heap of trouble" in its train.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for July, the first number of a new volume, is out. The most noticeable articles among its contents are: "Family Jewels," "Two Cities—Two Books," and Brackenbury's "Narrative of the Ashanti War." The first is a collection of gems of verse which have a family likeness; examples of one subject variously treated by poets of different ages. In the second we have a picture of Florence, in connection with George Eliot's "Romola;" and Venice, with which is associated in like manner George Sand's "Consuelo." The third is a review of an "authentic memoir of that extraordinary war which England made on the Gold Coast last winter." The serials, "Alice Lorraine" and "Valentine and his Brother," are continued. Leon. Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton Street, N. Y.; $4 per year.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove any filth or nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for curing tallow, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer: First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

PER ORDER.

Laconics.

Mr. J. Horace Kent has been chosen president of the New England Reformed Men's Association, at a meeting held in Providence, R. I.

Our democratic neighbor is congratulatory because there is little work at the navy yard at present, which compels mechanics and laborers to accept work at the shipyards at smaller pay than usual. What a subject for congratulation to workingmen!

We invite the attention of all debtors and creditors of Dr. A. P. Stevens to his advertisement in another column. The doctor pays all his debts promptly, and very naturally thinks himself entitled to be paid with equal promptitude. He says there are some people who require much dunning before they are willing to pay dentists' bills.

Col. J. C. Butler ascertained last year that the place to be civilly treated and made to feel at home was at the Appledore, and so his annual excursion this week was made to that point, the party being one of the largest and most agreeable ever gathered under his auspices. The Laightons, Agent Pryor, Capt. Baker and others made everything as enjoyable as possible. The Appledore has been filled to overflowing for a week or two, and besides the excursion party, had forty-five new boarders register their names on Tuesday, there being 450 regular guests besides. The patronage awarded the Laightons would seem to be astonishing were it not for the fact that the proprietors are far-famed for their affability. Nearly every day the Appledore overflows with visitors and the Oceanic reaps a benefit thereby, the latter hotel appearing as lonesome in comparison to its busy neighbor as a canary bird among sparrows. Perhaps the Oceanic will fare better during the yacht race.

There are accomodations enough at the Eastern Railroad depot to supply a menagerie,—eleven hacks, two four-horse stages, four two-horse stages, nine job wagons and four express teams.

Chief Engineer George D. Emmons and First Asst. Engineer Theophilus Cook have been temporarily detached from this naval station and ordered to report to Commodore E. T. Nichols, Commandant of Boston Navy Yard.

Mr. John Locke has been reappointed inspector of timber at the navy yard. Mr. William Emery, draughtsman in Construction, has been complimented by an increase of pay as recommended in the Report of the Secretary of the Navy.

The visitors at Rye Beach are to have an Episcopal chapel built near the Farragut Hotel.

The fourth annual reunion of the veterans of the third New Hampshire regiment will be held at the Boar's Head Hotel, at Hampton Beach, on the third of September next. Colonel W. H. Maxwell of Manchester will preside, and General M. T. Donahoe of Boston will act as toast-master.

Wednesday's rain was welcomed by the farmers, but the picnickers at Dover Point and the excursionists at the Shoals didn't enjoy it so very much.

On Wednesday the County Commissioners had a hearing at the Common Council room, on the petition of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad that the corporation be excused from obeying the order of the city government that a bridge be built over the railroad at Freeman's Point. Frink and Hatch for railroad; Goodall for Wm. F. Fernald and other residents on Freeman's Point, in support of the city's order; City Solicitor Hackett and Mayor Miller for the city. Decision reserved.

It has been definitely arranged between Secretary Robeson and the naval committees of the Senate and the House that the latter shall meet him at Rye Beach, on the 15th of August.

Engineer John P. Kelly has been ordered to the navy yard.

Among the entries for the Isle of Shoals yacht race, August 20, are General Butler's yacht America; Kittie, Captain Ward of the Boston club; Wivern, Captain Wales of the Boston club; Fearless, Captain Phillips of the Eastern club; Clytie, Captain Meredith of the Eastern club; Alarm, Captaiu Preble of Portland; Mist, Captain Pitman of the Bunker Hill club; Latona, vice-commodore of the Eastern club; Coming, Captain Tucker of the Eastern club, and Starlight, Captain Wright of the South Boston club. The judges' stand is to be on Star Island Point, a short distance from the Oceanic. Course No. 1 will be from Star Island round buoy No. 2, off Whale's Back light, round Boon Island to Star Island; distance about 35 miles. Course No. 2 will be from Star Island round Spar buoy, off Newburyport light, and return; distance, about 30 miles. Course No. 3 will be from Star Island round No. 2 buoy, off Whale's Back light, and return; distance about 18 miles.

—A Troy woman had her husband arrested on a charge of non-support. She testified that he had given her a house and lot worth $6000, together with several smaller pieces of real estate, that his life was insured for her benefit to the amount of $5000, and that he gave her $15 of his weekly income of $35. She wanted $25, the brute refused, and she had him arrested, but being blinded by masculine prejudice, the judge dismissed the case.

A Centennial Celebration.

EAST KINGSTON, July 25.

On the 16th of July, the quiet farm house of George B. Webster, Esq., of this place, was filled with a great company assembled to congratulate his excellent mother, Judith Webster, upon the return of her 100th birth day. From an early hour till near night people were seen coming to the place and going from it. Though no public meeting had been called, nearly 100 persons came, and found Mrs. Webster ready to receive her friends and relatives, of whom six generations were represented upon this occasion, coming from different towns and different States. Mr. W. A. Hobbs of Exeter was present and took the picture of the centenarian surrounded by a group of her younger friends. She was unwilling that her pastor, from Kingston, should leave without the usual religious exercises. A large number of her friends feared that the excitement of seeing so many at once, might be too fatiguing to a person so aged, and deferred their visits till the day following; but she endured the excitement of the occasion better than many of her visitors.

M.

KINGSTON, July, 27.

P. S. The old lady retains her faculties remarkably well, walks about the house, and converses cheerfully with friends; but is puzzled to know why the newspapers will put in print so often the name of a poor old woman like her, who has always been contented in the quiet duties of her humble life.

Waterspouts.

[Boston Traveller.]

Waterspouts on land, especially in mountainous localities, are by no means exceptional. Some fifty years ago the inhabitants of that part of Buckland, Mass., known as Shelburne Falls, were startled in midday by seeing the Deerfield river suddenly rise without apparent cause, as it was clear sunshine. An old resident, Colonel Taylor, thus described it: "I was standing on the bridge, when, looking up stream, I saw the water coming down in one apparently solid mass, and in one hour the river had risen eighteen feet, carrying down masses of trees, hewn timber, etc. The Deerfield meadows were completely covered with sand, large boulders, drift wood," etc. It was ascertained the next day that a waterspout, distinctly seen miles away, had burst in a narrow gorge of the Hoosac mountain, at a point in Charlemont known as "Zoar." In 1854 a similar occurrence took place at midday, in the valley of the Wabash, raising that stream, the St. Mary's, the St. Jo, and the Maumee rivers to a fearful height. In 1863 a waterspout burst on the Upper Potomac, below Point of Rocks, swelling the river to such a height as to impede the operations of the army, then on the eve of a movement. In the same year one burst in the Ohio, raising that river some four feet above the highest watermark ever known before.

—"He is so large," said a Marsellaise, speaking of a big fellow; "so large that when he happens to have cold feet, it takes a fortnight for the cold to show itself in his head."

—A London correspondent notes a fancy, now prevailing among English ladies for tight-fitting bodices, or corslets, of a different color from the dress over which they are worn, and of mediæval cut. It is on race courses, at polo meetings, at cricket matches, and at picnics, that the corslets are seen in all their glory. They are made to look like chain armor, either of white steel, of black steel, or of gold; and in order to render the resemblance to the ancient "coat of mail" more complete, the chain is carried down each arm. They have a costly look.

—At South Boston two men had a dispute which came to blows over the question, "What is a zodiac?" In the court to which an appeal was taken, one of the witnesses, describing the quarrel, said it was "only a religious argument, yer honor."

—At many seaside hotels the bedrooms are so ridiculously small that the occupants have to keep their trunks in the corridor outside. At all hours of the day and night one sees female figures robed in white flitting about the halls, with their arms full of the little odds and ends that go to make up a "grand costume."

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1874.

An Army Medical Board will meet at New York City, and a similar board at San Francisco, on the 4th of August next, for the examination of candidates for admission into the medical staff of the U. S. Army.

Applications for permission to appear before these Boards should be addressed to the Secretary of War, through the Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

The application must be in the hand-writing of the candidate, and must state the full name, residence, age, and date and place of birth. Candidates must be between 21 and 28 years of age, and graduates of a Medical College having a thorough and complete course of medical education—evidence of which must be submitted to the Board.

Testimonials as to character and qualifications must be furnished.

If the applicant has been in the medical service of the army the fact should be stated, and in such cases the limit of age may be extended, subject to the decision of the Secretary of War in each special case.

No allowance is made for travel or other expenses of persons undergoing examination, as it is an indispensible prerequisite to appointment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. H. R. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

ATTENTION.

Keep Cool! Keep Cool!

SUMMER is coming! I want a piece of ICE; where can I get it? Why, just send a boy to Perkins', No. 30 South St., and you are sure of it. The Subscriber, having purchased the entire interest of the Portsmouth Ice Co., would take this opportunity to thank his old customers for their past patronage, and would solicit the continuance of the same as well as that of the public generally. Situated as I am, with a large Ice House on Mt. Vernon St., I am prepared to deliver ICE cut from pure spring water, in any part of the city, on the shortest possible notice. By strict attention to the wants of the public and by selecting honest and accommodating drivers, I mean to merit and hope to receive a large share of the public patronage. Special attention given to delivering ICE to the Sick. Orders from Fishermen promptly attended to.

N. B. Hoping all misdemeanors of drivers will be reported to the subscriber before other steps are taken, I promise that all complaints will receive immediate attention. ORDER SLATE at H. M. Clark's provision store,—or orders may be left with the subscriber at No. 30 South St., or sent through the post-office. dawtf GEORGE A. PERKINS.

Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank.

No. 29 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

AARON H. HILL, President. JOHN CHRISTIE, Treas.

THIS Bank pays five per cent. per annum, free of all tax. A greater rate is prohibited by law.

Two dividends are made in the year,—in June and December; and an extra dividend of the surplus earnings every two years. The first extra will be in June, 1874.

Deposits go on interest on the FIRST day of every MONTH, and deposits made during the FIRST THREE days of each MONTH will draw interest from the FIRST day of that MONTH.

Dividends not withdrawn will be added to the principal, and draw interest from the time when declared.

Money is received on deposit, payable on checks at sight.

DR. FLINT'S QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to lose the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, scarching-out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a foul state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by curves, sending reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some vital organ, or organs whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs and Throat, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of these incidents is the shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair re-grows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Bad Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Dropsies and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood, stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

"HOME."

BY S. ADAMS WIGGIN.

There's a land that is beautiful and fair,
And the loved ones of earth gone before,
Never feel either sorrow or care,
Having crossed to the beautiful shore.

They know in that heavenly home
Of our trouble es and trials below,
They guard us as wearyw ross
To the land where the glad waters flow.

They watch by our pillows of pain,
They wipe off our burden of tears,
They cheer us again and again,
They soothe all our anguish and fears.

We know that they're hovering near,
For the rustle of wings on the air
Waftz music so sweet to the ear,
We long and we sigh to be there.

How Cold Cabbage Affected Captain O'Neal.

[St. Louis Republican.]

Everybody on the river, from St. Paul to New Leans, knows Captain O'Neal. He is a safe man to travel with. It is recorded to his credit that, when he is racing and the other boat blows up, he always drops his anchor and goes out fishing for the floating passengers. In old times he never took a nigger of his own to the sit on the safety-valve when he could run ashore and gobble one off the bank; and when all the wood was exhausted, he always threw on the freight of new customers first and kept the freight of his friends till the last. All these and similar acts have endeared Captain O'Neal very strongly to his friends. At present Captain O'Neal is sloshing around on the Capitol City. In fact he commands her, and commands her well.

On the night of the Fourth she was booming along up the river from Vicksburg. Captain O'Neal felt nervous. He had eaten some cold cabbage and things, and it had disagreed with him. He had a presentiment that something was going to happen to the Capitol City. Captain O'Neal thought it was nervousness, but it was cold cabbage. About six miles below here Captain O'Neal thought all danger was over. He was tired out. Ever since he left Milliken's Bend he had expected a burst-up or a snag-up, and so when he reached Chester he went to bed. The captain said he never had such a troubled sleep in his life. His dreams were all the time sending him up in the air, and then, landing him in the water, if such a paradox be admissible. The great trouble with Captain O'Neal in his dreams seemed to be the chambermaid. That alone and unprotected female was always holding out her arms to Captain O'Neal for protection—in his dreams, of course; and Captain O'Neal was forever holding out his manly arms to the chambermaid (in his dreams of course) and jumping over the lee scuppers and carrying the chambermaid to shore. He never perished in the attempt once—in his dreams. Captain O'Neal said he never suffered so much wear and tear in his life in saving a chambermaid, and what with the imaginary blowings up and burstings up and firings up, it kept him busy getting up and down and running at the guards to find out that it was all a dream.

"About six miles below the city," says the captain, "the climax came. I was calming down nicely and the spirit of the cold cabbage had about played out, when with the most unearthly crash that ever broke upon the stilled senses of a sleeping man afflicted with chambermaids, I was hurled into the air through the hurricane roof, up through the texas, through the pilot-house, away up among the little stars in the quiet sky, coming down again through the same holes exactly and landing in my own state-room. I darted on the guards," said the captain, "and there, sure enough, was the chambermaid waiting to be saved. I couldn't exactly understand it, but there she was. The crash was still in my ears; I had been up through the texas and there was the chambermaid. I had been dreaming about that chambermaid all the way from Milliken's bend on false alarms, but there she was that time for good. I thought it was fate, so I gathered her. She isn't a feather, but I gathered her. I don't exactly know what I was going to do with the chambermaid; perhaps run down stairs and jump into the water with her, but while I was thinking about it, she said: "Lor bress the man, cap'n: why, what you 'bout, honey? an' all de people on de Howard a lookin. Fo' de Lord, boss, lef me down, do, fo' all de company." "About this time," said the captain, "I had taken a look at the situation and knew how it was myself. There was the Jem Howard just passing us with a load of Fourth of Julyers, and it was her gun that I had taken for another burst-up. I never felt so wild in my life, and I expect the chambermaid thought so too. But she's all right now, and another thing I tell you. No more cold cabbage on the Capitol City. You hear me."

—A little girl in the infant class of a Brooklyn Sunday school appreciated better the difference between being good from choice and necessity than many elders. At the close of a recent session the teacher said to her; "Beckie, my dear, you were a very good little girl to-day." "Yes'm, I couldn't help bein' good. I got a 'tiff neck," the youthful Beckie replied, with a perfect seriousness.

The Great Scandal.

Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly contains a long review of the Beecher-Tilton matter, the substance of which, outside of the reiteration of peculiar doctrines, as to marriage, of the publishers, is annexed. Mrs. Woodhull asserts that the scandal is very like that originally recited in their paper; that Tilton is guilty of falsehood in testifying; that his statement was grossly exaggerated. Had Tilton's testimony, she says, been the whole truth instead of a part of it; had he not attempted to make himself out a saint; had he frankly acknowledged his harsh and, on account of his own errors, uncalled for treatment of Mrs. Tilton, his statement would have carried the conviction of truth upon its face, but his opposite course, his utter neglect in his cross-examination to admit any of his own ungallant acts and his far-fetched attempts to show that his connection with the editors of the Weekly was entered into to prevent them publishing the scandal, has so complicated matters that, had it not been for the new evidence and that which will be given when Moulton speaks, the final decision might have been indefinitely postponed. It is not Mr. Beecher, Mrs. Tilton and Mr. Tilton who are the real subjects of this terrific scene. The social system is on the defensive, and the circumstances have made these persons its advocates. Mrs. Tilton's course seems dictated by her fear for religion. Mr. Beecher's position has been and is a most trying one. Knowing and living in the truth, he was not yet strong enough to teach it, and thus give his vast influence against old and rotton conditions, and in favor of a new order; but now that the thick veil of hypocrisy has been rudely torn from his face, may we not hope that his manhood will come to his rescue and give to the world the usefulness of one of the greatest men that ever lived. She says:

"I have the power, I think, to compel Mr. Beecher to go forward and do the duty for humanity from which he shrinks, and I believe that when forced to the encounter he will rise to the full height of the great enterprise, and will astound and convince the world of the new doctrine of freedom by the depth of his experience and the force of his arguments. It is Mr. Beecher's friends who have managed the affair. May it not come out after all that Mr. Beecher has been consistent in his own acts? I commit no breach of confidence, as no confidence has been made in me, except as I have compelled them, with a free knowledge that I was endeavoring to induce or force the parties to come to the front along with me in the announcement and advocacy of the principles of the social revolution—Messrs. Beecher and Tilton and other half-way reformers. Let me add that in my view Beecher is to-day as good, as pure and as able a man as he ever was in the past or the world ever held him to be, and that Mrs. Tilton is the pure, charming, cultivated woman, and I know that Mr. Beecher, passing through this cruel ordeal, relieving himself and standing upon the most radical platform, will gather around him an array of glorious and emancipated spirits, and that the new social republic will have been forever established."

The Brooklyn Argus publishes the rest of Mr. Carpenter's story of the difficulty between Mr. Beecher and Tilton. Carpenter is willing to swear that his first absolute conviction that there had been adultery between Beecher and Mrs. Tilton was derived from the statement of Oliver Johnson to that effect. I can prove, he says, that Oliver Johnson used the words, "My lips are sealed by a solemn promise, but if I should disclose what I know the roof of Plymouth church would come right off." Another time Mr. Johnson said to me, I know a great deal more about this case than you do, and what you know is bad enough. Mr. Carpenter also says: "Mrs. Tilton, in my presence, was asked by Mr. Tilton to put in writing something in reference to her relation with Mr. Beecher, that he could show to Dr. Storrs. This was in December, 1872, or January, 1873. Mrs. Tilton assented willingly, and going to her room, returned in a few moments with a manuscript, on which was written, as near as I can remember, these words: "On a certain occasion Mr. Beecher solicited me to become a wife to him, with all that is implied in this relation. This proposition I communicated to my husband." Mr. Tilton took that writing to the Rev. Dr. Storrs. I accompanied him. He said: "Dr. Storrs, I come to you for advice in regard to the proper action to be taken by myself in reference to the statements made in the Woodhull letter." Dr. Storrs replied. "I have not read the statement made by Mrs. Woodhull, but if you think it is of sufficient importance to merit attention I will do so." Dr. Storrs read the remarkable Woodhull story, and a few days later, when Mr. Tilton visited him, said: "Mr. Tilton, I have read this paper carefully, and if the statements are true I draw from them four conclusions." Mr. Tilton asked what the conclusions were. Dr. Storrs then said: First—That Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton had criminal relations. Second—That you discovered that. Third—That Mr. Beecher received a paper from Mrs. Tilton charging that such relations had ever existed. Fourth—That Mr. Moulton got that paper from Mr. Beecher. Mr. Tilton said: "Dr. Storrs, what if those points can't be denied?" Dr. Storrs replied: "If those points cannot be denied I have no advice to give. An evasion would be worse than silence."

Mr. Carpenter also said in relation to Samuel Wilkeson's statement, "Mr. Wilkeson has surely been misinformed. The idea that Theodore Tilton attempted to blackmail anybody I can dispose of in about five minutes, and I am glad you mentioned Wilkeson's communication. Mr. Bowen employed Mr. Tilton to edit the Independent and Union, making a contract for five years. The contract provided that in case Bowen should violate its terms the forfeit should be six months' salary in advance. Mr. Tilton was discharged. He naturally expected that Bowen would, according to contract, pay him six months salary. The matter was left to arbitration. The gentlemen selected as arbitrators were James Freeland, Horace B. Claflin and Charles Storrs. Both Bowen and Tilton declared that they would abide by the finding of these arbitrators. Freeland, Claflin and Storrs examined the contracts made between Tilton and Bowen and in a few moments decided that Bowen ought to pay the principal and interest to Tilton up to the last penny of the amount claimed." This, said Mr. Carpenter, is the truth about the so-called blackmailing operation of Mr. Tilton.

Reporter—In alluding to Tilton's character, you stated that Horace Greeley and Charles Sumner had both alluded to Tilton's case.

Mr. Carpenter—Yes, Horace Greely said to me, "Nobody can make me believe that Theodore Tilton is a corrupt man, no matter what Mrs. Woodhull says." In March 1873, when Sumner was sitting to me for his portrait, he spoke of Tilton in these words: "Theodore Tilton is a great writer. He is a man of genius. In reference to his domestic troubles, I doubt the propriety of longer silence on his part. I think the thunderbolt ought to fall." I said, "How can you say that, when such interests are involved?" Mr. Sumner replied, "I have been called into one such case, and I have seen the utter folly and futility of all measures to cover wrong."

The Brooklyn Eagle says it is authorized to announce that Mr. Beecher has very recently written a letter to Frank Moulton in which he earnestly asks and adjures Moulton to go before the committee, exhibit all he has, and tell all he knows with reference to the controversy between Theodore Tilton and Henry Ward Beecher. The letter is declared to be long, explicit, unmistakable, and to the effect that Beecher has no wish and Moulton no alternative but for the latter to go before the committee and fully and frankly say all he knows forthwith.

The gossips say that Mrs. Tilton denies the statements made by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and that Oliver Johnson denies what Carpenter says of him, saying that Carpenter is a well-meaning tale-bearer.

Readables.

Hon. George S. Houston is the nominee of the Alabama democrats for Governor.

For a week past the New York papers have been denouncing Theodore Tilton, Mr. Henry Ward Beecher being on trial. Now that Mr. Tilton has his chance at a trial, will these papers please give the public their opinion of Mr. Beecher!

The Cincinnati Times says: Tilton may have sworn to some things not strictly true, but we are convinced that he was not guilty of perjury when he said to Beecher's committee: "I am not a very large man."

It will be remembered that in July, 1871, Miss Emma C. Horn and W. R. Scott, two very sentimental residents of Lawrence, resolved to take poison and die in each other's arms. Accordingly both parties took poison and Miss Horn died. Scott recovered to be tried for procuring and administering the poison, and was sentenced to six years' imprisonment, but on account of his good behavior since his incarceration he has received a full pardon from the governor and council. He seems to be a quiet and inoffensive man.

Another salary-grabber has come to grief. Mr. J. M. Tyner went before the Republican Convention of the Eleventh Indiana District for renomination last week, but found the sentiment so strong against him that he was glad to withdraw his name.

The Croton Aqueduct, in New York, has a capacity of 100,000,000 to 118,000,000 gallons per day, and from dam to reservoir is 38.134 miles in length.

The Illinois Central Railroad.—length, Chicago to Cairo 365 miles, Centralia to Dunleith 344 miles; total 709 miles.

The National Road, over the Cumberland Mountains to Illinois Town, is 650 5-8 miles in length, and 80 feet in width. It is macadamized for a width of 30 feet.

The Effect of the Loan.

The reduction of the national debt, and the still greater proportional reduction of the annual interest charge, are worthy of special attention in view of the gratifying impulse which will be given to the movement by the placing of the new loan. The table of reduction as to both items up to the present time stands as follows:

	Principal.	Interest.
1867	$2,678,126,603	$143,781,592
1868	2,611,687,851	140,424,045
1869	2,588,452,213	130,694,242
1870	2,480,672,427	129,235,498
1871	2,353,211,132	125,576,565
1872	2,253,251,328	117,357,839
1873	2,234,482,993	104,750,688

Our annual interest charge has already fallen considerably below that of Great Britain, which for the present year is $133,500,000. The new five per cent. loan, together with the reduction of the principal, now going on at a favorable rate, will soon bring the annual charge below one hundred millions. This, however, constitutes but one feature of the national benefits of the transaction, although it is more obvious to the tax-payer and to the citizen having regard to local results. The New York Commercial Advertiser thus points to other and no less important considerations:

"To place this loan in the very strongest hands in Europe is to remove, in the next two years, the most dangerous issue that now threatens the good name of the country, and which, after six years of quiet from the overwhelming repulse of 1868, has recently been repulsed and boldly avowed by the party in opposition to the present administration. The Rothschilds and their American associates will not only make this particular loan a success, but this great house is able to do for the United States abroad what they have done in times past and are now doing for Russia and France, and are at all times ready, with the Barings, to do for England. It is made their interest, as it will be their pride, to raise our reserved 4 per cent. stock of 1870 to the par of gold, and when this is done the convertibility of our greenbacks is not far off, without the need of a single act of legislation by Congress."

Barnum's Balloon.

[New York Tribune, July 29.]

Despite the fierce wind which blew yesterday, the balloon "Barnum" made its second ascension as was promised. A large audience witnessed the start from the Hippodrome grounds, and Madison square and the adjoining streets were thronged with people. House-tops, wagons, and every other available point of observation were seized and occupied. Mr. Donaldson finished inflating the vessel at 3:30 P. M., and at 4:30 the basket was ready for its passengers. In response to the aeronaut's cry of "all aboard," a representative of Appleton's Journal, a daughter of D. S. Thomas, the Hippodrome press agent, and three other persons, stepped into the basket. The bags of sand were then unhooked from the ropes, and after a moment Donaldson shouted, "Let go all," and the air-ship bounded upward. The instant the great bag passed beyond the sheltering canvas the strong northwesterly wind caught it, and the basket narrowly escaped striking the roofs of several buildings in the vicinity. The vessel swayed violently for a few seconds, but quickly righting, shot rapidly upward about 2000 feet. For about twenty minutes the balloon remained in sight, ascending with rapidity, and moving in a northwesterly direction. The only female passenger who started on the voyage—Miss Thomas—is only 13 years old, and she appeared to be the least agitated of the party.

Nice Correspondent.

The diffusion of an English education and Western ideas among our Indian fellow-subjects does not appear to have exercised as yet a particularly soothing or civilizing effect upon the Bengalee students, if, at least, the following letter may be taken as a fair illustration of their ordinary frame of mind. It is addressed to the editor of a Calcutta daily paper usually distinguished for its advocacy of native rights and privileges:

"Sir—Worst of English men and best of England if you are an Englishman and born in England or in any other part of Great Britain! Every Bengalee mind will be burned with indignation when he will read your malicious article you have written referring Baboo Surandra Nath Banerjee in which you have insulted and attacked the whole and all class of English knowing Bengalee. My blood runs hundred times faster in my body than ordinarily, but I regret that I am yet a lower class student in an English school. I am ready to give my head if in return can take yours. Although a young boy I wonder how a man with all his bookish knowledge of the nineteenth century can be void of all sense, justice and truth. You are certainly a black sheep. We have no other consolation but to wait with patience for a time like massacres at Calcutta black hole, and the same at Cawnpore in the time of mutiny in 1857. I am grieved to hear my learned countryman talk that you and some other dam Europeans who are also paper writers, are the chief cause of the malicious feeling between the Bengalee and the English, otherwise many of the Englishmen are good. Worst you are, and shame be to you, and everlasting damnation be to you that you are doing all injury with your every flesh and bone to our country, although you are breathing its air, eating its bread, and enjoying innumerable pleasures, happiness and enjoyments. You do not know how my elder brothers pained when you insult them. By your treatment we are obliged to think that our life will be sacred if we can die by taking the life of any such a dam man as you are. The burden of Government we can bear with some difficulty considering our helpless position, but the malicious reproach and insult of English paper writes we can not bear. We even wish that God may destroy India at once than to keep it in this lamentable condition. What is your position in England? A lord, a bishop, or a marquis? I know not what you could if you were any one of these. May gracious and just God destroy wholly the blood from whence you have sprang and may he throw you and all your relatives and akins in one place of the hell for ever and ever."

A Pencil Sketch.

Somebody who has seen Mrs. Tilton's portrait says: "Again and again my eyes fell upon it. Something peculiarly charming, and fascinating, and tender, hung about it. Musingly I thought the artist himself a most imaginative genius and consummate creator, or if an actual instead of a fancy subject, his brush must have been inspired. A most symmetrical head, intellect and poetry predominating; a wealth of silken brown hair; soft and soulful eyes of richest hazel; a face of exquisite sweetness and tenderness, and ripe with culture and character, a mouth carved by the gods, and lips full, warm, and suggesting robustness of modest passion; a chin indicating a gentle firmness and abundant will; a shapely neck and graceful shoulders, and a finely developed bust—all harmony; all beauty; all the vigor and tenderness of young life and fascination. The witching eyes seemed to brighten when looked into; a very smile so sweet as to thrill me appeared upon that face when I involuntarily fixed my gaze upon it."

—Recent legislation in Mississippi has created numerous new counties. These changes have proved confusing to some of the old residents, and one, Sandy Brown, who appears to have suffered more than his share of the bewilderment resulting from this cause, finding himself suddenly in the new county of Summer, has sent the following plaintive protest to the Winoma Advance; "Betsy and me has been a livin in this house an on this creek for fifteen year, an we have had now three pair twins, which is a purty hand besides the others what's not twins; an oltho I haint never moved, six of the children has been born in Choctaw, four in Montgomery, and the rest in Summer. An as the county lines is lying about lose and no body don't seem to know how the land lies nor how the letter reads, and sometimes Betsy an me is won side of the line and then tother, I want to advertise my land for sail as Betsy an me never no which side of the line the children may be born on."

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs, with the worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious sops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a simple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock, The Latest Styles, The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay as the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

The Chief Justiceship.

The democratic moguls gathered at Concord Wednesday and Thursday to advise Gov. Weston in the matter of judicial appointments. Referring to the candidacy for the Chief Justiceship, the Monitor of Wednesday said:

We are not surprised that Speaker Hatch should desire the place, or his friends for him. Confessedly the greatest failure as a presiding officer who has sat in the Speaker's chair in this State for a quarter of a century—being wholly unable to distinguish between his duties as Speaker and a democratic partisan from Portsmouth on the floor of the House—and knowing that his chances for a gubernatorial nomination next spring are infinitesimally small, it is natural that he should be allured by the bauble of a Chief Justiceship, for it is as true to-day as ever, that democratic politicians, as well as children, are

"Pleas'd with a rattle, tickled with a straw."

Laconics.

Mr. Channing Folsom, for several years Principal of the Haven School, has been elected Principal of the Belknap Grammar School at Dover. Mr. Folsom is one of the best teachers in this city, and as he has not intimated his acceptance of the call to Dover to the school committee, it is hoped his services will be retained here.

The proprietors of the Appledore House at the Shoals are reaping a nice harvest, and should they be as successful during the month of August as in July, will enlarge their accommodations to the extent of one hundred more rooms, next year.

Now is the time to campout.

The picnic party bound for Cushing's grove, Dover Point, Wednesday, passed the day in the cars playing games. Those who are fond of chowder obtained an abundance at a house near by. The pinic will probably take place at the grove next week.

Bullera cholets are selling at thirty cents per dozen.

Notice the changes in the running time of Mr. Plaisted's "horse railroad."

A. F. Craig's new residence on Middle street will be a very desirable location and add to the attractions of that beautiful avenue.

Five hundred and seventeen barrels of mackerel was schooner Daniel Marcy's last fare into Newcastle.

Two individuals who endeavored to break into the residence of Hon. William H. Y. Hackett, Wednesday night, were frightened away by a domestic.

The Manchester Catholics are arranging for a picnic at Kittery Point in September.

The Times wishes to be understood as contending that labor (during the dull season at the navy yard) on vessels and houses built in Portsmouth increases the wealth of the city; which is obviously true. But isn't it just as true that the merchants and mechanics make more money when work at the yard is brisk, and are thereby enabled to build more vessels and houses out of their savings? We know many democratic merchants who have reason to regret partial suspension of work at the navy yard.

Nellie Grant's Childhood.

[Lacon (Ill.) Journal.]

We recall the time when General Grant lived in Galena and supported his family on $1,200 a year. We were merchandising at that time and business made us a frequent visitor at the store where he presided, as well as acquainted with the following incident, which is strictly true and has never before appeared in print: Among their near and intimate neighbors was the family of a Mr. F., a wealthy merchant, and both having children there naturally grew up considerable intimacy between them. One day Nellie was visiting her friends, and remained to dinner. Mrs. F., a frugal woman, apologized for using napkins fabricated from a worn-out table-cloth, and said she did not suppose her (Nellie's) mother would do that. Answered the matter-of-fact Nellie: "We don't have any at all at our house."

Criminal Practice in Kentucky.

[Cincinnati Times.]

It has been the painful and repeated duty of the press in this vicinity, within the past few years, to point out the frightful increase of the crime of homicide in our midst, and to charge the responsibility thereof directly upon the lenient treatment that the criminals received at the hands of our courts. But often as the lesson has been read, and stale as it may have become, the sacred interests of society, and the protection of precious lives, demand that it shall be pressed with even wearisome importunity until reform is accomplished. An example is just now presented by our sister State, Kentucky, that is, perhaps, the most disgusting to common sense, and the most outrageous to all principles of law and justice of any that have occurred in the history of this valley. A man without character, an outcast from society, dissipated and worthless in the extreme, is sued for divorce by an injured wife. He sees that the case must inevitably go against him, and seeks to intimidate the counsel she has employed and frighten them from their duty. He declares that he must and will have their blood; he demands that they shall fight him a duel or a street fight; he attempts to shoot one of them and is prevented by his own brother. Finally he calls at the office of the one that he has before attempted to shoot, insults him, is ordered out, declines to go, is put out, and then shoots and kills the man whose blood he has declared he will have. He is indicted for murder and imprisoned. Now note what follows:

A change of venue is obtained, and the case carried before a Judge who is known to sympathize with the prisoner. The sheriff who removed the prisoner, (manacled, as the officer's duty required) is called upon by one of the prisoner's counsel and a friend, and attacked and beaten by both of them. The case being before the sympathizing judge, the accused at once moves for bail, and his counsel, in a court of justice, uphold the right of the dual, and maintain the right of the accused to shoot the legal counsel of his wife. The sympathizing judge seems to recognize the force of the argument; declares the prisoner to have acted without malice; declares his crime to be manslaughter only; says he has no doubt that he would return for trial without any bail at all, but does not feel authorized in acting on that belief; and grants bail in the sum of $10,000. The public press at once opens in most indignant censure of that outrage upon justice, and thereupon the sympathizing judge sends a challenge to one of the criticising editors, by one of the prisoner's counsel. The matter is treated with the ridicule and contempt that it deserves, and two of the counsel for prisoner at once rush into print, with cards to sustain the reputation of the sympathizing judge and themselves, with arguments selected from a dictionary of billingsgate.

Such are the facts as so far developed. The secret hidden behind them is so clear that one who runs may read. It is the purpose of the prisoner's counsel to place him under the protection of the "code" and further his acquittal by awakening sympathy in the jury for that doctrine. By arguments, by the assistance of a judge, and by personal acts, they purpose to maintain the right of a man to demand a duel, and, if, declined, to shoot the one who declines.

It is hard to speak of such practices in words decorous enough for the columns of a public journal—contempt and disgust are the only feelings with which it can be met. It is unnecessary to point out that the lofty character of the deceased, and the utterly worthless one of the homicide, show the absurd falsity of the "code" plea. It is enough to outrage all public sentiment to observe bench and bar maintaining the pistol as the highest court of appeal. Terrell swears he will have the blood of his wife's counsel, and shoots him; Hounshell, his counsel, assisted by a friend, commits an assault upon the sheriff who manacled him; Vorhees, his leading counsel, upholds the right of duelling and of street-fight; Major, his pet judge, challenges a criticising editor; and Hodge, one of his counsel, carries the challenge. Disgust is a weak word for the feeling which this mockery of law calls forth. It is an open issue between anarchy, bloodshed, murder, and the protection of society and human life. If we are to return to the violence of the Middle Ages, let us openly abolish the statutes, and let men understand that they must defend themselves. As it is the upright and well-disposed observe the laws, and the villainous and worthless assassinate them while they are doing it.

—A Boston lawyer, under the will of a deceased wife, claimed a life interest in a large estate in Kansas, left by her, but her friends sought to break the will. Ascertaining that under the laws of Kansas he would have been heir to the estate if no will had been made, he permitted them to break the will, and then, to their surprise and disgust, took possession of the estate.

—Two Confederate soldiers were talking together, when one asked the other: "Where was you enduring the war?" The other replied, "I was twenty-four months in the army, sir." "Yaas, wal, whey was you enduring that time?" "I was twenty-three months in the hospital." "And whey was you enduring the other month?" "I was looking for the hospital."

Grand "Hops."

THE first of a series of Grand Hops will take place Saturday evening, July 25th, and continue six evenings in the week until the close of the season. Music will be furnished by Andrews' Orchestra. Ocean Bluff Hotel, Kennebunkport, Me.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. The Peculiarity Of Washoe Butter.

[Virginia City Enterprise.]

It was our good fortune a day or two since to hear the following interesting dialogue in one of our principal "hash-houses." The interlocutors were a dandefied-looking, side-whiskered, lisping, middle-aged man from California, and a burly, round-headed, merry-eyed Comstocker, who was seated at the opposite side of the same table. The men were evidently strangers to each other. The conversation opened as follows:—

Dundreary—Deeah me, this is disgusting! (holding up his knife, and gazing fixedly at its point.) This is eithaw the second or the third hair—I think it's the third—that I've found in this buttah!

Comstocker—You've not been here long, I jagde?

Dundreary—No, sir; I arrived here yesterday morning.

Comstocker—I thought so, otherwise you would not have complained of hair in the butter.

Dundreary—Not complain of hairs in the butter! You surprise me, sir. How could I do otherwise?

Comstocker—Those hairs, sir, are just as natural to Washoe butter as butter is a natural product of milk. They are just as good and just as clean as the butter.

Dundreary—Impossible.

Comstocker—Not at all sir. All our butter comes from the great valleys of our State, where flourishes that most nutritious and truly wonderful plant, the white sage. On this our cattle feed and fatten. This white sage has many virtues. Strange as it may appear to you, sir, from the white sage is manufactured a most wonderful and popular hair restorative.

Dundreary—Ah, yes: I have heard of it—in fact I may say that on one occasion, when I thought I observed my hair growing a little thin, I used some of this preparation.

Comstocker—Well, then, sir, in a country where all the cows are fed on the white sage, do you think it likely that butter will be bald-headed?

Dundreary turned red, pushed back his chair and left, without deigning to answer the conundrum.

—Tender-hearted persons who have read of the fierce raids of Texan steers through the streets of St. Louis will be pleased to learn from the market reports that "there is a better feeling in Texas cattle."

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10 of the City Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

CHAPTER 10.

SEC. 2. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten day from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 8. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other things deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 19. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. No person shall use or occupy any building in the compact part of the city for a slaughter-house, or for trying tallow, or for currying leather, or for the deposit of green pelts or skins, unless under such restrictions and regulations as the health officers may impose.

SEC. 22. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city. m25 d3m

Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank.

No. 29 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

AARON H. HILL, President. JOHN CHRISTIE, Treas.

THIS Bank pays five per cent. per annum, free of all tax. A greater rate is prohibited by law.

Two dividends are made in the year,—in June and December, and an extra dividend of the surplus earnings every two years. The first extra will be in June, 1874.

Deposits go on interest on the FIRST day of every MONTH, and deposits made during the FIRST THREE days of each MONTH will draw interest from the FIRST day of that MONTH.

Dividends not withdrawn will be added to the principal, and draw interest from the time when declared.

Money is received on deposit, payable on checks at sight.

DR. FLINT'S

QUAKER BITTERS.

These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper and other Berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualities. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

And acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, NFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, PAINS OR SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR SIDE, BLEEDING AT THE LUNGS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

By a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

And all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.—Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY AND HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes The Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Consitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building upon an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most efficient cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Jaundice and General Debility. With their departure, health returns.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER!

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties, it renews the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Salt Rheum, and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and purifying the Blood,

are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are so mild and pleasant to take, but powerful to cause. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Great Scandal.

Mr. Beecher intimated to a reporter, Thursday, that his friends might rely on his discretion and his truth. It was enough that he had declared Tilton's charges false. For the present he was prepared to admit that his sky was not as clear as it ought to be. There were hazy clouds in the horizon and these darkened slightly toward the zenith, but the sun of truth would in its own good time burst forth and dissipate them. He was preparing his refutation of all the charges that have been made against him. He felt strong in his own heart. He felt that he had done wrong to no one. He might have been inconsiderate, even indiscreet. That came of impulsiveness. When this story had been told, when his plain, unvarnished tale had been prepared and given to the public, he would calmly await what it, and more particularly his true friends, had to say, and by it he was quite prepared to stand or fall. He felt himself innocent of intention to wrong any one, and with that feeling ever present in his heart, he was prepared to come boldly before the world and battle down the army of scandal-mongers.

Mr. Beecher's friends assert that when Moulton's evidence is submitted, it will entirely exonerate the reverend gentleman from all criminality, and show that the letters of apology were brought about and written for an entirely different purpose from that ascribed by Mr. Tilton.

A Leavenworth (Kansas) despatch says that Colonel Anthony, brother of Susan B. Anthony, states that his sister informed him a year ago that when she was a guest at Tilton's house a violent domestic scene occurred. She retreated to her own room, followed by Mrs. Tilton. The two women bolted the door, placing a bedstead against it, to keep Tilton on the outside. Tilton accused his wife of adultery with Beecher, and she replied with the accusation that he procured an abortion for a young lady of Brooklyn whom he had seduced, calling the lady by name. That night Miss Anthony and Mrs. Tilton slept together, and the latter in seeming mental distress imparted the secret of guilty intrigues with Beecher. Miss Anthony asked her how she came to yield to Beecher's advances, and if he used force; to which Mrs. Tilton replied that no force was used. She yielded without knowing why she did so. She averred that Beecher treated her with the kindness he would a child. She resolved many times to yield no more, but as often her good resolutions failed. This is the whole substance of Miss Anthony's story as related to her brother.

The first game of base ball between the Athletic club of Philadelphia and the Red Stockings of Boston, on English soil, was played in presence of an immense crowd of curious spectators, and was won by the Athletics by a score of 14 to 11.

The New York papers are practically calling on Mr. Frank D. Moulton to testify what he knows in the Beecher case. Should his testimony convict Beecher, how these same papers will go for Frank's scalp!

The Louisvillains are gnawing green corn at two cents an ear.

A special from Fort Worth says Colonel Stewart, a member of the legislature, just returned from Wise county, brings report of another fight near Jacksboro, Texas, Friday last, between the Montague Rangers and a body of the tenth United States cavalry, and the Indians, the latter numbering 500. The Rangers lost 12 killed and several wounded. The cavalry lost several men and their commander was killed. The combined force was driven back to Jacksboro.

Mr. Patrick McGiehan, the well-known yacht-builder of New York, recently took a yacht through the canal to Philadelphia. Three mules were hired to tow it; but shortly after starting a stiff north-easter sprang up, and, hoisting sail, Pat reversed the position, and towed the mules into the canal and through it for nearly a mile, before the accident was discovered.

Miss Ella Johnston accidentally shot Miss

Frank Moulton is thirty-five, has a sandy complexion, is impetuous, fiery and belligerent.

The worst of it all is that Tilton parts his hair in the middle.

The New York Herald implies that Plymouth Church has been adoring Henry Ward Beecher instead of Jesus Christ.

A Pittsburg despatch states that it is feared another disaster threatens Alleghany City. The ravine at Butchers' Run is choked up some two miles with the contents of the destroyed slaughter-houses, and great quantities of meat and a large number of bullocks partially dressed, more than a hundred horses, and perhaps an occasional human body, are imbedded in the mud. The sun which has come out has caused an awful stench, almost overcoming the working parties. The debris can hardly be cleared this week, and if the weather continues hot, the breaking-out of a pestilence is feared, as the Butchers' Run district lies in the midst of a dense population.

"You had better take care of that young one," was the modest remark of Jack Evans of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, as he handed the child he had saved back to its mother, and mounted his engine to move ahead. Jack saw the child toddling on the track, just ahead of his train, and comprehended instantly that it was too late to stop the engine before he reached it. He reversed his engine, ran out on the guard as nimbly as a cat, caught it in his arms and threw himself sideways from the track. The pilot struck him and whirled him twelve or fifteen feet down the bank, bruising him considerably, but he saved the baby's life and handed it back to its mother, with that careless remark, all unconscious that he was a hero.

The proprietors of some of the Saratoga hotels have devised a very agreeable dinner-table compliment to their guests. At every plate the snow-white napkins, tastefully folded, are placed in the clear cut-glass goblets, and carefully disposed in every napkin is a beautiful little button-hole bouquet. These are intended for the guests and are cheerfully appropriated. The effect, both while the bouquets embellish the napkins and after they have been transferred to the button-holes of the gentlemen's coats and to the bosoms of the ladies' dresses is very pretty and pleasing. The Sunday bill of fare is handsomely illuminated, and being so pretty, all of them are carried away from the tables as a sort of souvenir.

Griffith Gaunt.

That was a strange letter which Mrs. Tilton wrote to her husband: "My dear Theodore, to-day, through the ministry of Catherine Gaunt, a character of fiction, my eyes have been opened for the first time in my experience, so that I clearly see my sin. It was when I knew that I was loved to suffer it to grow to a passion. A virtuous woman should check instantly an absorbing love."

A study of Charles Reade's novel, "Griffith Gaunt," reveals the dual life of the devout woman floundering between her strong love of her church and her unconscious love of her priest. It is a singularly well-drawn picture which the novelist paints. Father Francis, a coarse and burly ecclesiastic, yielded place to Brother Leonard, who "looked and moved like a being who had come down from some higher sphere to pay the world a very little visit." Mrs. Gaunt at first could make nothing of him, and complained to her husband that he was a "spiritual machine;" while that genial gentleman answered: "Well, I am of your mind; he is very poor company compared with that jovial old blade, Francis. But why so many words, Kate? You don't use to bite twice at a cherry; if the milksop is not to your taste give him the sack and be damned to him."

But Brother Leonard was really a great preacher, and the first time she heard him Mrs. Gaunt "sat thrilled, enraptured, melted." She soon became the priest's Madonna, filling his rooms with flowers when he was absent and caring for him in secret. And he, in turn, preached only for her. She could not only understand his sermons, but the occult sympathy between them told her he was preaching to her and that she was part of his inspiration. But all the time something whispered to her heart that perhaps Leonard admired her more than was safe or prudent. The spell was on her, however, and it was not easy to foresee the real danger.

His fervent eloquence had appealed at once to her imagination and her religious aspirations. From an interest in the preaching it was only a step to an interest in the preacher; but in all things she treated him simply as a holy man, her spiritual guide. He was so devout that she forgave him for keeping her glove, which he picked up in the wood, and for painting her portrait, for his own delectation. She even obeyed him when he told her to dismiss her Protestant servants and employ Catholics in their places. Busy and malicious tongues told part of this to her husband, and he, as a matter of course, was furious.

She failed to understand the road she had taken. In a short time she had become so zealous in good works that she withdrew from society, surrendered her judgment to her spiritual director, and no longer took an interest in her husband or her husband's affairs. Her husband left her, but returned some time after, and an explanation was had through the intervention of Father Francis; and from the explanation between husband and wife the reader must evolve for himself the effect of Kate Gaunt's ex-what he may of the nature and extent of resemblance in the offenses of Father Leonard and Henry Ward Beecher. We give the passage in full:

It was Mrs. Gaunt, in full dress. Rich brocade that swept the ground; magnificent bust, like Parian marble varnished; and on her brow a diadem of emeralds and diamonds that gave her beauty an imperial stamp. She swept into the room as only fine women can sweep, made Griffith a haughty courtesy, and suddenly lowered her head, and received Father Francis' blessing: then seated herself, and quietly awaited events.

"The brazen jade!" thought Griffith, "But how divinely beautiful!" And he became as agitated as she was calm in appearance. For need I say her calmness was put on? Defensive armor made for pride and her sex. The voice of Father Francis now rose, solid, grave and too impressive to be interrupted.

"My daughter, and you who are her husband and my friend, I am here to do justice between you both, with God's help; and to show you both your faults. Catharine Gaunt, you began the mischief, by encouraging another man to interfere between you and your husband in things secular."

"But, father, he was my director, my priest."

"My daughter, do you believe with the Protestants that marriage is a mere civil contract, or do you hold with us that it is one of the holy sacraments?"

"Can you ask me?" answered Kate, reproachfully.

"Well, then, those whom God and the Church sacrament united, what right hath a single priest to disunite in heart, and make the wife false to any part whatever of that most holy vow? I hear, and not from you, that Leonard set you against your husband's friends, withdrew you from society and sent him abroad alone. In one word, he robbed your husband of his companion and friend. The sin was Leonard's, but the fault was yours. You were five years older than Leonard, and a woman of sense and experience; he but a boy by comparison. What right had you to surrender your understanding, in a matter of this kind, to a poor, silly priest, fresh from his seminary, and as manifestly without a grain of common sense as he was full of piety?"

This remonstrance produced rather a striking effect on both those who heard it. Mrs. Gaunt seemed much struck with it. She leaned back in her chair, put her hand to her brow with a sort of desparing gesture that Griffith could not very well understand, it seemed so disproportionate. It softened him, however, and he faltered out, "Aye, father, that is how it all began. Would to heaven it had stopped there!"

Francis resumed. "This false step led to consequences you never dreamed of; for one of your romantic notions is that a priest is an angel. I have known you in former times try to take me for an angel; then I would throw cold water on your folly by calling lustily for chines of beef and mugs of ale. But I suppose Leonard thought himself an angel too, and the upshot was he fell in love with his neighbor's wife."

"And she with him," groaned Griffith.

"Not so," said Francis; "but perhaps she was nearer it than she thinks."

"Prove that," said Mrs. Gaunt, "and I'll fall on my knees to him before you."

Francis smiled and proceeded: "To be sure, from the moment you discovered Leonard was in love with you, you drew back, and conducted yourself with prudence and propriety. Read these letters, sir, and tell me what you think of them."

He handed them to Griffith. Griffith's hand trembled visibly as he took them.

"Stay," said Father Francis; "your better way will be to read the whole correspondence according to the dates. Begin with this of Mrs. Gaunt's."

Griffith read the letter in an audible whisper.

Mrs. Gaunt listened with all her ears.

"DEAR FATHER AND FRIEND: The words you spoke to me to-day admit but one meaning; you are jealous of my husband. Then you must be—how can I write it?—almost in love with me. So then my poor husband was wiser than I. He saw a rival in you, and he has one. I am deeply, deeply shocked. I ought to be very angry too; but thinking of your solitary condition, and all the good you have done to my soul, my heart has no place for aught but pity. Only, and I am in my senses and you are not, you must now obey me, as heretofore I have obeyed you. You must seek another sphere of duty without delay. These seem harsh words from me to you. You will live to see they are kind ones. Write me one line, and no more, to say you will be ruled by me in this. God and the saints have you in their holy keeping. So prays your affectionate and sorrowful daughter and true friend,

CATHARINE GAUNT."

"Poor soul," said Griffith. "Said I not that women are not wicked, but weak. Who would think that after this he could get the better of her good resolve—the villain!"

"Read the villain's letter," said Father Francis, calmly.

The letter was very humble and pathetic—the reply of a good though erring man, who owned that in a moment of weakness he had been betrayed into a feeling inconsistent with his holy profession. He begged his correspondent, however, not to judge him quite so hardly. He reminded her of his spiritual life, his natural melancholy, and assured her that all men in his condition had moments when they envied those whose bosoms had partners. "Such a cry of anguish," said he "was once wrung from a maiden queen, maugre all her pride. The Queen of Scots hath a son, and I am but barren stock." He went on to say that prayer and vigilance united do much. "Do not despair so soon of me. Flight is not help and the saints, overcome this unhappy weakness. If I fail, it will, indeed, be time for me to go, and never again see the angelic face of my daughter and benefactress." Griffith laid down the letter. He was somewhat softened by it, and said gently, "I cannot understand it. This is not the letter of a thoroughly bad man."

—First boy—"Lemme see your tongue." Second boy—"Lemme see yours." First boy—"There." Second boy—"Your mother only lets you have one piece of huckleberry pie. Had the panic down to your house, didn't you?"

—What can be more startling than to see a delicate and fascinating young lady with a long train suddenly turn around, without giving the unsuspecting individual behind her any warning whatever, gently stoop, reach back with her right foot and kick desperately? She is going to cross the street, and is merely switching off her train for the new direction.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country. Although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c., cannot be imitated.

Blessings brighten as they take their flight.—If you have a good head of hair take care of it; once gone and we realize its loss far more than we appreciate its presence. The BEARINE is taking the place of all other hair dressings, because it is healthful to the hair and delightful to use.

Don't temporize with Piles.—Ointment, lotions, electuaries and all manner of quack nostrums are a waste of time and money. The only absolutely infallible cure for these painful diseases is ANAKESIS, discovered by Dr. Silsbee. It has been pronounced by scientific men as the happiest discovery made in medicine for 200 years, it affords instant relief from pain in the worst cases and has cured more than 20,000 sufferers permanently. All doctors prescribe it.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Depot 46 Walker street, New York.

HENDERSON & CO.,

ANNOUNCE THEIR

SPRING OPENING

— OF —

Bonnets, Hats, Flowers and Ribbons.

The Largest Stock,
The Latest Styles,
The Lowest Prices.

The beauty of Henderson's opening is you are not obliged to turn your purse inside out, and pull out the bottom dollars to pay for a

NEW BONNET.

It is a well known fact that HENDERSON sells everything in the Millinery line full 25 per cent. less than any other house in the city, and the question is often asked "How can he do it?" We answer:

First. We are not dependent on our Millinery trade alone for a living. We do an extensive business in DRY and FANCY GOODS, and our Millinery is sold with our other goods at a cotton cloth profit, so that you are not obliged to pay us the fancy prices charged by dealers doing an exclusively millinery business.

Second. Our business in STRAW GOODS having increased so enormously (our sales in the summer of 1873 being nearly three hundred cases of Bonnets and Hats, the largest retail trade in the State,) that we buy entirely of manufacturers, thus making a saving in this way alone of fifteen per cent., which goes to the benefit of our customers.

Third. We Trim Hats free of charge; you all know that this one item saves you half a dollar. We have opened a larger stock than ever before, and keep the finest as well as cheaper grades of goods.

Hats, not trimmed,

From One Cent to One Dollar.

Hats, trimmed,

From 50 cts. to $10.00.

And five dollar Trimmed Hats will compare favorably with any ten dollar one in the city.

SASH RIBBONS, ... 25 cents per yard.
SILK TIES . . . . . 20 cents each.
FRAMES . . . . . 15 cents each.
